Somethin' to Think About by Gannette Wilkerson

"The Closet"

There are a few basic things a happy family simply cannot survive without - and they are love, a sense of humor, and "The Closet". Yep! You know the one I mean. It's where you cram all the junk you can't bring yourself to throw away but have no other place to put it. It's where you keep the Christmas decorations, the turkey candle, and your "long johns" - in short, everything you'll be needing the next couple of months.

We have a rule around here - to clean out "The Closet" every bi-centennial year. As we slowly opened the door and peeped in, a muffled groan was heard from each member of the clean-up committee, along with a few good reasons for waiting another hundred years. Then as we started digging through the junk, a one-eyed Teddy Bear was grabbed and hugged: "Papa gave me this when I had the mumps", was the tearful response - just as someone stepped on my hand reaching for an old stocking soldered together with half melted Christmas candy. There was a Stanton High School football jacket with a tardy slip, and a note from some dumb girl in the pocket, a box of Girl Scout cookies dated 1966, a Davy Crockett canteen and a diaper bag. "I wondered what happened to that" - if it was said once, it was said a hundred times that afternoon. Our discard pile was small, an empty glitter bottle, the "lucky" stick [used to knock down wasp nest], a poster that said "Donny Osmond for President", a Monopoly game with all the money and chance cards missing, and that note. Everything else was stuffed back into "The Closet" to await the next reluctant clean-up crew.

Funny, but what seems hard to throw away one year becomes more precious each time you run across it. It's not so much the objects themselves, but the memory they represent, and no one is too young or too old to be reminded of that warm feeling you got when Papa smiled, the tooth fairy came, or when a good looking wingback let you wear his football jacket.

So if there is a "The Closet" in your house, clean it out when you are feeling down and who knows - you may find an old note from some old dumb girl. It will probably be the only piece of junk you can part with

And that's something to think about this week

Schleicher Co. goes for FORD, but

CARTER WILL LEAD NATION

While President Ford gained the support of most Schleicher County residents and most West Texas communities, he was not able to maintain this support state wide. Jimmy Carter, after a close race both in the nationwide popular vote and in the electoral count appeared to be the winner. Carter was able to use the Southern states base of support along with some of the more populous states to win the election. Texas, prior to Tuesday's election, was considered to be a toss up for both candidates but by late Tuesday night the state was added to Carter's column due to his support primarily in the South and East Texas region.

Citizens of Schleicher County turned out in record numbers to cast their votes in Tuesday's general election. Contrary to opinions expressed by pollsters earlier who predicted a low voter turnout nationwide for the election, Schleicher County had a total of 1,012 votes cast which amounted to 74% of the registered voters in the county. County records show that this was the largest voter turnout since the clerk's office began keeping voter records. The close Presidential race perhaps stimulated most area voters to go to the polls, because the final results show that at least in Schleicher County all incumbents and unopposed candidates were either re-elected or elected for the first time.

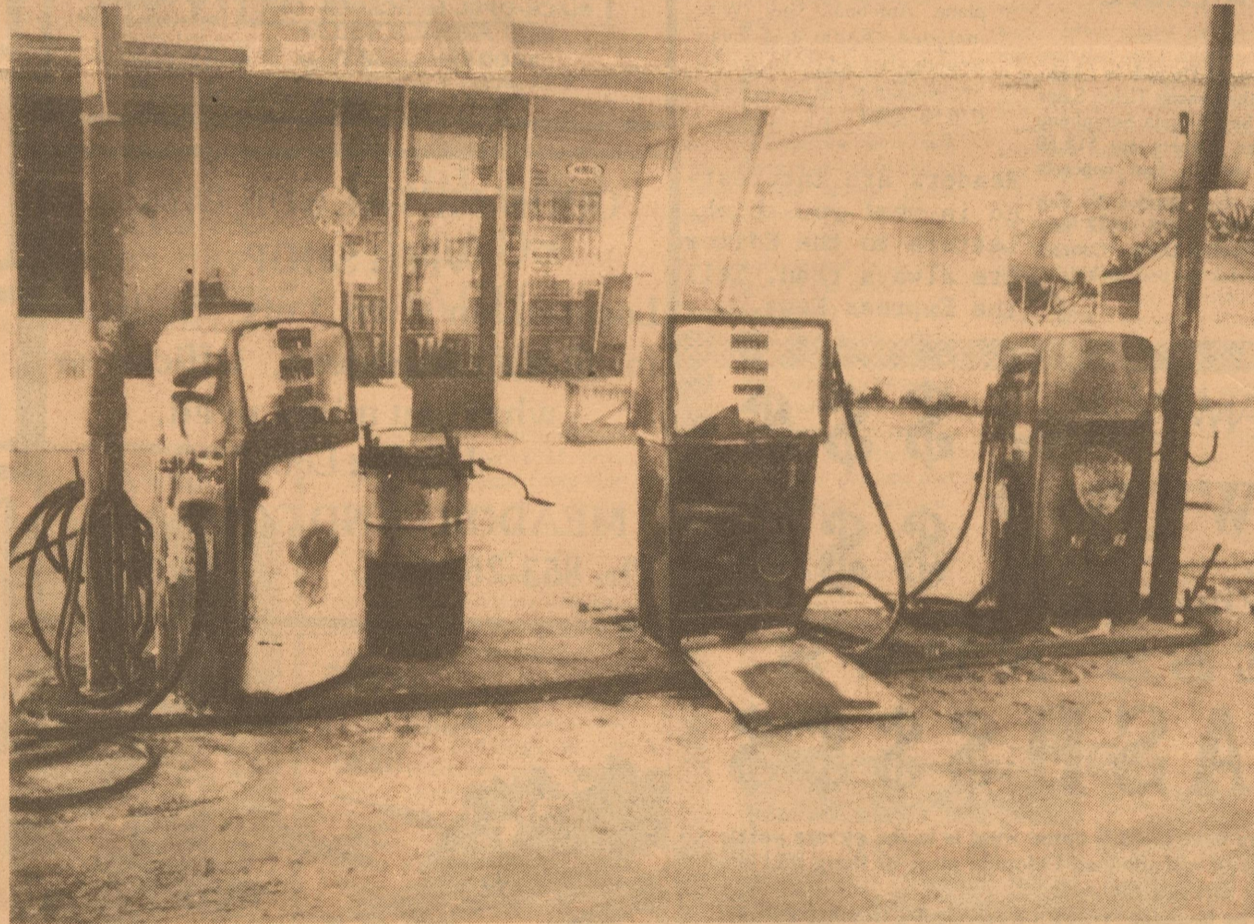

For the Presidential Race, President Ford received 516 votes to Jimmy Carter's 468. Senator Lloyd Bensten won handily over Republican challenger Alan Steelman 638-305. In the 21st Congressional race, incumbent Bob Krueger was re-elected over Bobby Locke 810-132. Jon Newton was elected to the Railroad Commissioner position with 677 votes to Walter Wendlandt's 203 votes. In the 56th District State Representative's race incumbent James Nugent won easily over William Stacy III 733-180. The remaining statewide races were all won by unopposed candidates. However, mention must be made of Don Yarbrough's election to the Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. Yarbrough, who is currently facing at least 15 civil law suits and disbarment proceedings, received 458 votes from Schleicher residents to write in candidate Sam Houston's 216. Statewide totals show, however, that many Texans cast their votes similarly, for Yarbrough was declared winner of this position by late Tuesday evening.

In local races all unopposed incumbents were reelected. County Attorney T.P. Robinson received 845 votes. Sheriff Orval Edmiston received 867 votes while Commissioners Thomas Jones and Joe Christian received 204 and 158 respectively from precincts One and Three.

The final tabulation for the State Constitutional Amendments found that 296 votes were cast in favor of Amendment #1 to 435 against. Amendment #2 narrowly passed in Schleicher County with 368 votes in favor of the measure to 355 against.

Probably no one is more glad that these '76 elections are now over than those individuals named above. After almost one year of campaign promises, etc., all that remains is to see just how they will be carried out. At least all of us can take some satisfaction in the fact that we won't have to worry about elections for a couple of more years.

A SMALL FIRE MONDAY, NOV. 1 AT THE SELF-SERVICE FINA STATION DID A LARGE AMOUNT OF DAMAGE TO THE THREE PUMPS. NO INJURIES WERE REPORTED. THE ACCIDENT OCCURED WHEN A CAR LEFT THE STATION WITH THE HOSE NOZZLE STILL IN THE GAS TANK. EITHER SPARKS FROM THE FALLING NOZZLE OR AN ELECTRICAL SHORT CAUSED THE FIRE, ACCORDING TO THE ELDORADO FIRE MARSHAL.

1977 SEED TAGS

CHECK THOSE 1977 SEED TAGS--Farmers buying certified seed to plant their 1977 crop should pay particular attention to the labels on the seed bag--there's been a change. Certified seed sold after January 1 must bear two labels--one certifying the variety and the other indicating a number of seed quality factors, points out a cotton specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Farmers must check both labels to get the complete story on the seed. In the past seed was certified for both variety and quality factors.

THE RAINS CAME AGAIN

Schleicher County has again enjoyed the periodic rains that have continued to come our way throughout the fall. Last Wednesday morning after the passage of a cold front through our area the rains began, and continued non-stop until midmorning Friday. The rainfall amounts were general throughout the county with reports being in the 3 inch range. However, some ranches in the eastern and northeastern portions reported up to 8 inches. The slow light rainfall that was experienced was the type most farmers and ranchers like to receive. But the ground, already saturated from previous rains, readily shed most of the moisture that came with this spell, which in turn caused most of the draws in the area to run. The rain soaked ground will take some time for drying out and with the cotton harvest coming up soon, the cotton farmers are ready for some of those dry sunny days to help get the cotton crops out. Area ranchers, always glad for a little rain, generally indicated their approval of the sunshine as it came out Friday also.

As most West Texans know, the weather and its ever changing character, does make life interesting in these parts and as much as we talk about it and worry about it, we still can't do anything about it but take it like it comes, and be glad that for now it's wet.

Swine flu vaccine

The A/New Jersey influenza immunization (Swine Flu) campaign will open in Eldorado on Thursday, November 11th, with a clinic in the Memorial Building, according to Dr. Brame. Immunizations will be given for persons ages 18 and older from 3:00 p.m. until 6:00 p.m. Those under this age do not need to have the immunization at this time.

Everyone in the age group of 18 and over should be immunized with these free shots as soon as possible in order to be protected against this strain of influenza. There is every reason to believe that the A/New Jersey or Swine Flu influenza poses a serious threat to the health of all individuals in the community.

Very little discomfort or severe reactions are quite rare to these immunizations. Persons who are allergic to eggs are requested NOT to take the Swine Flu vaccine. That is because the virus used in making the vaccine is grown in eggs. The flu vaccine contains a virus that has been killed, so you cannot get influenza from the shot itself.

All shots administered in public health clinics will be free--everyone over 18 years old is urged to attend this clinic Thursday, November 11th, 3:00 - 6:00 p.m., in the Memorial Building.

WILDLIFE INCREASES WITH CONSERVATION

This fall, thousands of Texas hunters will be heading for the country in pursuit of their favorite game animal or game bird. Some will be paying large sums of money to have a change at that big whitetail buck or that huge turkey gobbler. When these hunters, or yourself, arrives on opening morning, what will they find. Well, this depends a lot on the plants present on the ranch that are beneficial to deer and turkey. The two classes of plants most beneficial to deer and turkey are forbs and browse. Forbs make up the largest part of the deer's diet throughout the year when they're available. This year, ample forbs are present almost everywhere but this generally is not the case. Quality perennial forbs such as Englemann's daisy, Guara, Bush sunflower, Dalea species, Cuphorbia species and Aster species are the main forbs present during normal rainfall years. Turkey also feed on the seeds of these forbs and other forbs such as the croton species. Browse plants are utilized most during the stress periods when few forbs are available. Some of the better browse plants to look for include Ephedra, Little leaf sumac, Shinoak, Hackberry, and Skunkbush. Without these plants, deer could not stay in one location due to the lack of food reserve. Management practices can affect the variety and quality of plants present. For example, overstocking with cattle or sheep will kill out or reduce in numbers the high quality forbs so vital to deer and turkeys. If most of the quality forbs are already reduced, a program of systematic deferred grazing and proper grazing use can put them on the road to recover. Many of the browse plants have disappeared due to overstocking by goats. These will start coming back in with frequent rest periods. Mechanical treatment of brush can be beneficial if proper planning is implemented. Treedoing, rootplowing, chaining, and aerial spraying can be completed in strips to leave adequate cover and food for deer and turkey. Also while treedoing, all of the high quality browse plants should be left. In summary, deer and turkey respond favorably to well-planned and applied conservation practices that provide ample cover and food. As with humans, they will try to locate their homes where the conditions are the sweetest.

WILDCATS DOWN COUGARS

Tom Jamison and Craig Demere each scored three touchdowns to pace the Water Valley Wildcats to a 59-18 victory over the Christoval Cougars in Christoval Friday night.

A 33-point burst in the second proved the margin of victory for the Wildcats as the Cougars scored evenly the other three quarters.

Jamison got his first TD on a 38-yard run in the first quarter. Doug Schwartz added the point after.

In the second quarter, Jamison scored on a one-yard run to begin the big second quarter for the Wildcats.

Christoval's Kyle Green broke loose on a 58-yard run for the first Cougar score. The point after try failed.

Jamison then scored from three yards out, and Demere raced in from the 38 for two more Water Valley scores.

Mario Dehoyes stepped in front of a Christoval pass and ran 23 yards into the end zone for six more points.

Terry Hargraves got the final score of the half for the Wildcats as he recovered a fumble in the Cougar end zone for six points.

Kyle Green started the scoring in the third quarter for Christoval as he passed to Jayson Sullivan for 35 yards and six points.

Water Valley struck back as Dan Kirkpatrick passed to Craig Demere for three yards and a TD.

Green and Sullivan teamed up again in the third stanza for their second TD of the night.

In the fourth quarter, Demere scored on runs of eight and 10 yards to cap the Wildcat scoring.

AROUND THE HOUSE and OTHER PLACES

by Nancy Lester County Extension Agent — Home Economics

Doris Richards, home economist from West Texas Utilities in San Angelo, will be in Eldorado on Wednesday, November 10th, to do her Holiday Foods Program. The demonstration is set for 10 a.m. in the Memorial Building. This program is open to the public and is free of charge. The home demonstration clubs will be serving refreshments. I hope we really have a good attendance. Doris always has such good ideas for Christmas foods and Holiday Decorating.

Next week the Home Demonstration Clubs will be helping with the Swine Influenza Inoculation Program on Thursday, November 11th, from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. at the Memorial Building. There is no charge for the inoculation and it is available to persons who are 18 years of age or older. Since the vaccine is grown in eggs, persons who are allergic to eggs should not take the vaccine. People do need to remember that this is a dead virus vaccine and that no one will actually get the Flu from taking the inoculation. Poster will be placed downtown announcing the date and time. Be sure to mark your calendar.

Also be sure to remember the "car talk" program which will be held in Merton on November 17th at 2 p.m. in the Civic Center. This program is open to the public. I'll give you more information on it next week.

ADVICE FROM YOUR COUNTY AGENT By Jerry Swift

PRUSSIC ACID OR HYDROCYANIC ACID POISONING

Frosts, of varying degrees of severity, have occurred in many areas of Texas and could possibly cause prussic acid poisoning in livestock grazing certain pasture grasses and forage that have been frozen and wilted. Many plants contain the toxic principal which causes poisoning, however, a number of common pasture and cultivated plants such as Johnson grass, Sudan grass and sorghum or hybrids of these plants may cause heavy mortality in livestock under certain conditions.

The most dangerous time is following frosting when the plant material begins to wilt. Livestock should NOT be allowed access to the wilted material until it has dried completely. This usually takes three to four days of good sunlight to thoroughly dry the plant material. New growth of plant material usually becomes non-toxic within 10 days to 2 weeks following a rain.

Prussic acid acts very rapidly, frequently killing animals within a few minutes, although sometimes poisoned animals may live for several hours after the symptoms develop. In most acute cases, animals become affected within 10-15 minutes of eating toxic material and can die within 2-3 minutes. Symptoms may include a brief period of stimulation followed by depression and paralysis. Signs of colic may be present. Stupor, difficult breathing and frequent convulsions may result from the action of the poison on the brain centers that control respiration. Death is caused by suffocation, since the oxygen remains in the blood and is not exchanged to the tissues. This also causes the blood to appear a bright red color, one of the diagnostic signs of prussic acid poisoning. Prevention is a matter of caution.

1. Do not forget that frosted or wilted material is more dan-

2. Wilted plant material should be thoroughly dry following a killing frost. This may require a week or more of good sunlight.
3. Hungry animals are affected more seriously by toxic material since larger quantities are consumed in a relatively short time. Animals that have had a good feed of hay, or supplemental feeds before being turned in or plants capable of containing prussic acid are less apt to be affected.
4. If one animal shows any signs of poisoning, other animals should be removed from pasture immediately.
5. Do not hesitate to call your veterinarian. If poisoned animals are to be saved, treatment must be started rapidly.
6. Suspect plant material can be checked at the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic laboratories at College Station or Amarillo. These samples are best submitted through the local veterinarian who can prepare them for shipment. An antidote to treat affected animals is highly efficient if given early. Livestock producers can obtain this product from a veterinarian and have it available for emergency use.

CATTLE FEEDING SHOWS INCREASE

COLLEGE STATION -- Although many people are talking about the return of grass-fed cattle because of increasing feed prices, the latest cattle-on-feed statistics show significant increases are still coming in cattle feeding, notes a livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dr. Ed Uvacek points out that the number of cattle on feed in the seven major cattle feeding states on Sept 1 was up 8 per cent over last year's totals, at a total of 6.4 million head. In Texas, the number of cattle on feed was even up higher—10 per cent above year ago levels. Placement of cattle and calves on feed during August was up 10 per cent over last year in these seven states, while Texas figures showed a 25 per cent increase in feedlot placements during that month.

On the marketing side, Uvacek points out that fed cattle marketings were above a year ago by 31 per cent in the seven states during August, while Texas marketings showed a 38 per cent jump. The interesting things about this data is that they indicate a somewhat more positive attitude about cattle feeding among Texas feedlots, contends Uvacek. "It might also indicate that more cow-calf operators are placing their stock on feed, rather than selling them as feeders."

Two teams of Eagles experienced a real fight to the finish last Friday night and when the final gun ended the game the Eagles from Junction were the winners. The see-saw battle hinged on a 20 yard field goal scored by Junction in the first half and when the game was over the 3 point margin proved to be enough for the Junction win by a score of 17-14.

Trailing 14-10 with only 6:09 left in the game, Junction's Ben Gonzales took the ball 34-yards for the score on a sweep play to give the Eagles the win.

The game still wasn't over, though. Eldorado recovered a fumble on the Junction 40-yard line with nine seconds left until the final gun. But three incomplete passes later, the game ended.

Junction scored first with 27 seconds left in the half when David Baugh booted a field goal.

Eldorado came back in the third period and quarterback Mark Thornton threw a touchdown pass to wingback Sam Whitten. Ernesto Martinez added the PAT.

With 9:39 left in the fourth period, Junction regained the lead when Gonzales went four yards up the middle. Baugh added the point-after.

But Junction didn't hold the lead long. With 8:16 left in the game Eldorado's Whitten took the ball on an off-tackle play and broke it 63 yards for the TD. Martinez booted the PAT.

The Eagles of Eldorado never gave up in their effort against Junction and played an outstanding game. Now they face the task of unseating the Mason Punchers from the district lead in the final game of the season. With the effort given in the Junction contest, you never know, but that might just happen.

THIS WEEK'S Booster Club

The Booster Club met Monday to watch the film of last week's game with Junction. The coaching staff gave a report on what to expect at Mason this Friday.

The "Spook House" was a 'howling' success. For those of you who missed it, you missed a real 'trick or treat' (?)

With the football season wrap-up close at hand, we would like to thank everyone for the support and interest shown in the various projects of the Booster Club. Special thanks go to Bob and Liz Bradley, Sam A and Peggy Whitten, Jerry and Candy Richards, Jim and Betty Kay Lacy and others who furnished ideas and elbow grease for the Club's spirit and success.

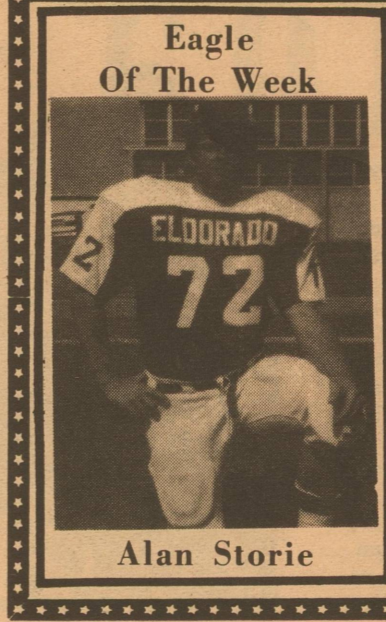

The Coaches were great! We've all learned more about football and gained a better insight into real teamwork.

The Booster Club will continue their activities during Basketball and Track season.

Friday night we travel to Mason for the "grand finale", so let's get behind the mighty Eagles, one more time, and watch 'em "Punch out the Punchers".....

ABOUT THE BANNER

We would like to say a special word of thanks to Mrs. Rita McWhorter for her help with our banner. When we started making plans for our newspaper, we decided that we wanted something special that would say something about West Texas. Rita, as you know has always been able to capture the feeling and flavor of our area in her paintings. And when we asked if she would do something similar for us, she graciously consented. We think you will agree, that again she has not only done an outstanding job, but has contributed greatly to our newspaper's image.

SCHLEICHER COUNTY NURSING HOME NEWS

LaVita Brooks, Rep

Nothing unusual happened in the Nursing Home last week. Everyone was well and able to eat three good meals every day.

We started the week with the regular church service on Sunday afternoon, which is held in the dining room. The pastor of the First Christian Church of Eldorado conducted the service. We enjoy and appreciate these services very much, as some of the residents here are not physically able to attend services in churches in town.

The ones here who have birthdays in November are Beulah Harris, Russell Donaldson and Lizzie McAngus. A birthday party is given each month to celebrate the birthday's in that month, and all of us appreciate that, too.

Out of town visitors in the home last week were as follows: Kyle Donaldson and family of Sonora, Tex, visited his father, Russell Donaldson; Mrs Majorie Pope of Andrews, Tex, visited her mother, Mrs Pearl Edmiston; Kenneth Pennington and family visited his grandmother, Mrs Carrie Blakeway - they are from Austin, Texas; Mr and Mrs W. A. Stephens of San Angelo visited her mother, Mrs Flossie Crawford; Mr and Mrs Joe Charles Christian and their children, Michelle and Michael, visited their aunt, LaVita Brooks.

The Church of Christ on the Mertzon Highway will conduct the service in the nursing home next Sunday, Nov 7th.

Any visitors from out of town who attend these services every Sunday afternoon are welcome and appreciated.

Old age is like everything else - to make a success of it you've got to start young.

NOTE: Mrs LaVita Brooks is the new reporter for the Nursing Home and we are delighted to have her column.

TIME TO PLANT FLOWERING BULBS

Just because winter is closing in doesn't mean it's time to stop planning or planting your garden. Now is the time to plant the sleeping beauties of the garden-spring flowering bulbs. These include tulips, hyacinths, daffodils and crocus, and October through early November is an excellent time to make your purchases.

Most failures with bulbs are due to holding them too long so that they become desiccated, or planting them so late in the season that there is insufficient time for the roots to grow before freezing temperatures arrive.

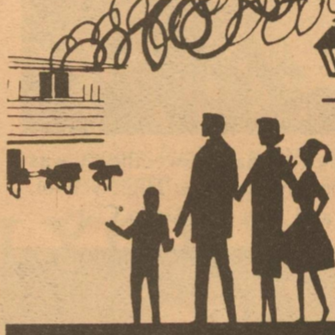

Plant daffodils and crocus as soon as possible after purchase. However, tulips and hyacinths require a little extra preparation. They require pre-cooling before planting, and gardeners can do this by chilling the bulbs in the refrigerator until mid-December.

When planting spring flowering bulbs, place them in a well-drained, raised bed in full sunlight. Till the soil well and add two pounds of a complete fertilizer for every 100 square feet of bed area.

Plant the bulbs so the base of the bulb is at a depth that is three times the diameter of the bulb. Plant bulbs slightly deeper in sandy soils. Firm the soil around the bulbs to prevent air pockets and then soak the ground immediately to assure settling.

To array your garden with a spectacle of color, mass one variety and color together, planting each bulb three or four inches apart.

PLAN TO ESCAPE.

Thousands of people die for lack of a home fire escape plan. Start by identifying two ways to escape each room. A referee's whistle makes a good household alarm signal. Discuss escape techniques and how to report a fire. Select an outside meeting place to avoid confusion, then have a drill.

Two boys from Eldorado attend the camp each year according to Sheriff Orval Edmiston, who serves as Camp Chairman.

Mr & Mrs Ben Hext spent the weekend in Pasadena with their son and family, the Joe Turner Hexts.

Ed and Martha Lee Meador, accompanied by Genie Baker, attended SMU's Homecoming football game with the Texas A&M Aggies Saturday. They were weekend guests of Claudia Meador, Helen and Wilson Page, Charlie and Kitty Trigg, and Paul and Lucy Page were others from Eldorado enjoying the Homecoming festivities.

The Archie Mittels spent several days in Corsicana with their grandchildren, Leslie and Billy Harrison. Their daughter and Son-in-law, the Bill Harrisons, were in San Francisco for the 63 Annual Convention of Mortgage Bankers Association of America. Bill is President of Old Reliable Mortgage Company, and Vice-President and Loan Officer of First National Bank in Corsicana.

Mr and Mrs Paul Page went to Homecoming in Dallas, this past weekend. They also visited Mrs Page's mother, Mrs J. D. Huckaby, and Mr and Mrs Joe Nobles.

JUST JOGGIN' ALONG!

by Ed Meador

Did you ever see such beautiful weather? Seems like Ole' Mother Nature is doing her best to invite good citizenship all around the country by being on her best behavior. As Americans go to the polls Tuesday they may have a lot of gripes, but the weather is one that can't be complained about this time. It just convinces me more all the time that Schleicher County and West Texas is just about the most delightful place there is. There are those who would have disagreed considerably about last Thursday as everybody got covered up with good rains, but then that is what makes today so beautiful and so enjoyable.

Beneath all the tranquility of the weather, the storm of politics is winding to a climax. I hope all you readers made it to the polls and exercised the meaningful privilege of casting your vote for the candidates you felt would do the most for our country. You know, we have all got into a bad habit of expecting government to do the things that we feel would be best for us, but it's about time that we start looking at the whole ball of wax, put aside our selfish wants and begin to think about what we as good citizens might be able to do for our country. President Kennedy took that thought with him into history. But it is still valid. That if everybody did approach their own political beliefs in the attitude of doing the very best possible thing for the country and its peoples? The impact would be tremendous.

We will have a breather for a couple of years now. The rhetorical tide will subside, and the country will be looking for the winners to "put their money where their mouth is" so to speak. In other words, the newly elected will be expected to deliver and bring about the changes promised, or stand by their guns and maintain a promised stance. I hope you join me in expecting America to move forward and continue its upward climb to greatness. She won't do it without the help, work and prayers of each citizen.

The next big event on the calendar, the remaining football schedules excepted, seems to be hunting season. We'll be seeing campers, jeeps, pickups, assorted trailers, and many other vehicles making a steady stream through town headed for that favorite lease within the next few days. It's hard to tell how much money hunters will leave in the county during the six weeks of the season, but it will not be a small amount. The season certainly presents the opportunity for all of us to be friendly and helpful, and to put Eldorado's and Schleicher County's best foot forward toward our hunting guests thereby instilling in them a sincere desire to come back next year. Hunting is big business in which we all can share.

I sure do appreciate the fact that not a single Aggie has called to rub it in since Saturday's plastering of the Ponies. Those guys must be mellowing in their old age. Just so I can keep you up to date, the Aggies plastered us 36-20, so the best I can say is "wait til next year".....which used to be an old Aggie saying. Not so with Texas Tech fans....they are all smiles as they glory in the upset the Raiders dished out to Texas Saturday. The Raiders finally broke that jinx. I haven't seen Bob Bradley smile that way in years.

Mary Nell Harkey of Lampasas visited her sister and family, Mr and Mrs Clay Porter, last week. Also visiting in the Porter home was Carl Porter of Rankin.

Sure, people are interested that your son or daughter is home for a visit.

SHRINKAGE IN TODAY'S FABRICS

COLLEGE STATION -- Some garments made of natural fibers and woven fabrics may shrink more in washing than the consumer had planned. Such shrinkage can affect the utility of a garment, Marlene Odle, a clothing specialist, says.

"Although today most fabrics are pre-shrunk to eliminate such a size problem, most garments or fabric over-the-counter that has two or three per cent residual shrinkage can change the size of a garment noticeably. Garments marked as such usually have special care instructions to prevent shrinkage, which can be controlled with special treatment. A good example of this is cotton gauze shirts or tops," she said.

Miss Odle is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"If uncertain about the shrinking qualities of a garment, flatwork ironing tends to stretch fabrics. Dry the garment on a flat surface. Arrange the garment for pressing by applying some tension to the fabric to straighten the yarns. Press the garment lying in this position. Mechanical tumble drying can cause more shrinking," the specialist said.

If, however, the consumer finds that the shrinkage is excessive, even after hand ironing, the garment should be returned to the store where it was purchased, she advised.

"Fabrics by-the-yard used in home sewing should be washed and machine dried before the garment is cut out. This will eliminate any surprises after the garment is washed."

WHAT DOES I'M SORRY REALLY MEAN?

COLLEGE STATION -- People use the phrase "I'm sorry" countless times daily. It is a magic combination, a cure-all for the guilty, which serves primarily to gloss over what has happened, Debby Johnson, a family life education specialist, says.

"It doesn't really matter that one isn't truly sorry--what matters is that one has apologized for the accident, mistake, misunderstanding or what ever."

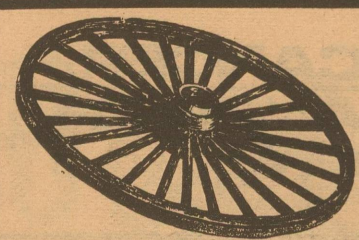

Miss Johnson is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Unfortunately, saying 'I'm sorry' won't make a broken heart heal, a missed opportunity recour, a lie become a truth, or a loved one come back to life. Many of us would like to believe these things could happen, based on the frequency--and often insincerity and thoughtlessness--with which we spill off the words.

"Teaching young children, I notice early that many, deliberately or not, hurt another person, and when I discussed the incident with them, they simply said they 'were sorry'."

"In most cases, children are 'forced' by their parents and teachers to apologize constantly saying 'Tell Jimmy you're sorry you tripped him,' or 'Tell your sister you're sorry you broke her toy'."

"What if the child isn't sorry?"

True, children need to be taught right from wrong at an early age, but parents are really teaching two other concepts; first, the child is lying to himself and to the other child, and second, he learns that 'I'm sorry' will correct all wrong and smooth over the misdeed," the specialist said.

But what should parents do when their child hurts another child or destroys someone else's property?

"It's okay for one mother to apologize to another mother for what her child did with something like 'I am sorry David broke Tim's truck.' Then privately discuss the situation with the destructive child, find out why he did it and suggest other ways of dealing with anger and frustration.

"You might try, 'When you are mad at Tim, tell him you are mad with words,' or 'I understand that Tim made you mad, but if you only hit him, then he doesn't understand.'"

If after that, the child is truly sorry for what he did and understands his own feelings, he may take it upon himself to say he is sorry. The point is that as a parent, you have not forced 'I'm sorry' on your child as the solution to all problems. Instead, you have taught him to respect the meaning of the words and to internalized his values so that he himself knows when they are appropriate," she pointed out.

This phenomenon doesn't end in childhood--it follows right into adulthood. Think of a marriage in which every conflict is followed by 'I'm sorry,' with no explanation or discussion. Most adults simply are not satisfied with such superficial means of dealing with a problem, she noted.

"Just imagine the reaction if someone made a grown adult say 'I'm sorry' when he didn't mean it. So it is really fair to perpetuate internal dishonesty by emphasizing an apology in every situation?"

"What this says, in effect, is that feelings are our innermost thoughts and should always be dealt with honestly. It is only when we have a clear understanding of our own feelings that we can ever hope to have a mature relationship with anyone. The groundwork is laid early in life, for healthy emotional development--the meaningless use of apologies seems to teach mistruth, not truth," she pointed out.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN--A swindle involving a fraudulent mobile home purchasing scheme has resulted in as many as 100 mobile home thefts in Texas recently.

Our Labor Division, which handles consumer mobile home complaints, and the Department of Public Safety's Motor Vehicle Theft Division have been working to see that mobile home owners and purchasers are aware of this swindle.

Here's how it works: The swindlers scan newspaper want ads to find individuals who are offering mobile homes for sale. They contact the seller, then one person goes to see the mobile home. If it's fairly new and in good condition, he offers to assume the monthly payments to the mortgage company or bank that financed the purchase for the original owner, or to make monthly cash payments to the owner.

Reports indicate that the swindler may even use a "sob story" to get the mobile home owner to believe he has a legitimate reason to make a very quick purchase. In one case, the swindler stated that his child had died, and he and his wife wanted to leave their home and its memories as soon as possible.

The "purchaser" then talks the owner into accepting from $50 to $500 in cash equity and signing an "assumption" or "transfer" agreement.

Coupled with a "manufacturer's statement of origin," which the swindler later prints up and takes to the county courthouse, this "assumption" or "transfer" agreement will allow the "purchaser" to get a certificate of title.

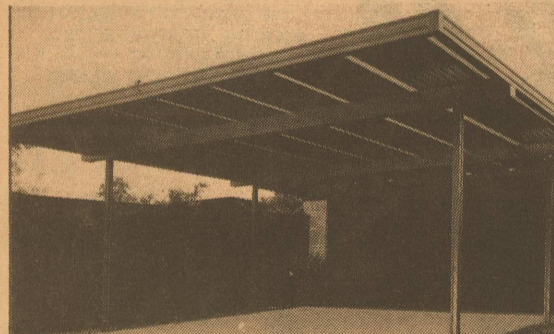

The "purchaser" may have the mobile home towed away the same day or a day later. His next step is to sell the mobile home quickly, in another part of the State, at what seems to be a bargain price. Typically the unsuspecting second buyer may be a hunter who wants shelter at a deer lease, someone who wants a home for a lake lot, or perhaps even a secondhand mobile home dealer.

The "purchaser" may make one or two monthly payments to the bank or finance company holding the note on the mobile home, so the original seller thinks all is well. He'll change his mind the next month or so, though, when the bank or finance company contacts him about a delinquent note that must be settled immediately. The original owner then ends up with responsibility for paying off a note on a mobile home he no longer has.

How do you avoid being a possible victim of such swindlers? Here are some suggestions from our Labor Division and D.P.S.'s Motor Vehicle Theft Division: Always be cautious in money matters when dealing with a stranger. If you're selling a mobile home and are approached by a potential buyer with a proposal similar to the one described, always contact the bank or finance company holding the lien to make sure the arrangements are all right. If you're buying a mobile home from an individual, check to make sure the registration number on the title is the same as the one on the mobile home. You can call Texas Department of Labor and Standards Mobile Home Division to learn where the number is located on the mobile home. If anything in the buying or selling process seems out of the ordinary, report it to our Labor Division or the D.P.S. You might keep yourself or someone else from being victimized.

CANCER ANSWER LINE

American Cancer Society
M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute

A man from Kansas City writes: "I have to wear dentures. Now I hear that they can cause cancer! What am I supposed to do — drink through a straw and eat baby food for the rest of my life?"

ANSWERline: No. There has been a link noted between poorly fitting dentures and some mouth cancers — but there also is a similar association between cancer and smoking, heavy drinking combined with smoking, poor diet and very, very hot food and drink. As long as your dentures fit well and your dentist checks your mouth regularly, you can sail past those baby food counters.

Question: Just what is a carcinogen?

ANSWERline: A carcinogen is a cancer-causing agent. For example, it can be the tar and other carcinogens in cigarettes; a chemical substance such as a dye that can cause certain cancers in humans; a virus in some animals; or something as intangible as radiation.

A Minnesota grocer writes: "I have family in Sweden, and they write me that they are trying to raise a new generation of children who won't ever smoke cigarettes! How is that?"

ANSWERline: This idea was reported on last June at the 3rd World Conference on Smoking and Health which the ACS and the National Cancer Institute co-hosted in New York City. Basically, the Swedish plan is a coordinated governmental effort to conduct intensive anti-smoking activities in maternity clinics and schools while tightening restrictions on cigarette advertising, smoking in public places, and by sharply increasing cigarette taxation. They are trying to make children born in 1975 become the first generation of non-smokers.

An Arizona schoolteacher notes: "Since we live under a strong sun, we tend to respect it. Nonetheless, the children in my classes are unaware of some of the scientific reasons for being careful not to get too much sunlight. Are there some teaching materials I can use?"

ANSWERline: Please check with your local ACS Unit for literature and other helpful materials available without charge. Often teachers might be interested to know that the ACS has many kinds of teaching kits for different classroom achievement levels. The ACS tries to make it easier for you to teach everything about cancer from cell biology to the dangers of cigarettes.

A reader explains: "My mother had to have radiation treatment after breast cancer surgery. I noticed that she became very tired. Did that come from the treatment?"

ANSWERline: Sometimes fatigue and tiredness are side effects of radiation treatment and patients are encouraged to take frequent rest periods. Active people sometimes find it difficult to realize the importance of resting and force themselves to "push on" That can add to the fatigue.

Question: "What are the major forms of cancer?"

ANSWERline: It's been estimated that 60% of all cancer in this country occurs in the following six locations of the body — breast, lung, skin, oral cavity, uterus and colon-rectum.

Do you have further questions? Call your local unit of the American Cancer Society or write: Cancer Information Service, The University of Texas, M.D. Anderson Hospital & Tumor Institute, Texas Medical Center, Houston, TX 77030.

SAFETY CORNER Expect the Unexpected

Riding a bike on a public road is hazardous, but expecting the unusual can avoid many accidents. For example, expect:

- Doors of parked cars to open in your path. (Allow 3 ft. or more space when passing)
- Cars to cut in front of you and make a right turn at the next corner. (Slow down and avoid a cut off.)
- To be squeezed to the right as vehicles pass. (Look ahead for a place to go if squeezed)
- Some drivers of cars, buses, or trucks to be hostile. (Don't demand your rights. They could be your "last rites.")

GOD'S WONDERS ARE REVEALED, NOT HIDDEN, BY AN ECLIPSE

An eclipse of the sun or moon, be it partial, total or whatever, is an exciting celestial event to most people in the part of the world where it will be visible. No matter how many of them we have already seen, they always promise a spectacular new behind-the-scenes look at the mechanics of the universe, right from our terrestrial vantage point, free and available to all. Much of our knowledge of the heavens has come as a result of these alignments of the sun, moon and earth, and they provide an even greater insight into the magnitude of God's creation. So look to the sky, enjoy the show, and on your return to earth go to the Church of your choice, where you will learn how you and this magnificent world you live in came into being.
