

CITY COUNCIL WILL APPLY FOR PUBLIC HOUSING

by Jim McWilliams

The City Council went on record this week favoring the construction of 72 new public housing units in Eldorado.

Some members of the Housing Authority Board met with the Council to explain what they thought the city's future housing needs would be.

Mrs. Gilmore, Eldorado Housing Superintendent, said the 72 units would be divided into one, two, and three bedroom units. There also is a plan for a two story apartment building for the elderly to be built in a central location to the downtown area.

The other units may be located in various parts of the city. The units will be rented to anyone with an income less than $11,060. Rent will be assessed on a graduating scale. Those who have a higher income will pay more for the same apartment than a family with a lower income. Other criteria for renters will be spelled out on the application forms.

The units, if approved by the Federal Government's Department of Health, Education and Welfare, will cost the city a minimum amount of money. It will consist mainly of gas, water, sewer line installation, and other normal services the city provides.

The initial step will be the completion of numerous forms the government always needs. The second step will be a visit to the City Council by the architects to discuss types of units and their location in the city.

The city will take more bids on a new dump truck. The bids on some of the older trucks were almost as high as a new one. So the City Council wants to get an idea on the cost of a new unit.

August 2nd has been designated as the date for the Council to complete the 1978 budget. No other business will be considered, except emergency matters.

The Council will have a building contractor suggest the best way to add on to the fire station. The fire department will soon have a new truck that the county bought, and it needs a place to be housed.

Mayor Ragsdale was on vacation this week and was not at the meeting. Aldermen present were Bobby Sykes, Richard Kent, Raymond Hall, Billy McCravey, and Mayor Pro tem Jimmy Doyle.

A MEAL WITH A MESSAGE -- Congressman Bob Krueger

listens to the ideas, suggestions and problems of area ranchers and businessmen. Krueger visited Eldorado last Friday to get a feel of the political climate in Schleicher County.

County Court will be honored to next Monday

by Nell Edmiston

Schleicher County Judge Bob McWhorter and county commissioners, David Meador, Gene McCalla, Joe Muller Christian and Richard Jones and their wives will be honored during an appreciation dinner Monday. They will be honored during a noon meal at the Memorial Building, hosted by members of the county's four Home Demonstration Clubs.

Also during the meal, one club member will be named Home Demonstration Club Member of the Year. Nominees from each club are Mrs. Ray Alexander of the Reynolds HD Club, Mrs. Kenneth Homer of the Young Homemakers and Miss Connie Spence of the Good Neighbor Club. The fourth club, the Young and the Restless, was not organized in time to have a nominee.

Nominees for the honor fill out applications which are voted upon by club members from another county. They are judged on club activities, leadership abilities and the nominee's attitude toward home demonstration club work.

The meal and presentations will be under direction of Mrs. Nancy Lester, county extension agent.

Krueger visits here

by Nell Edmiston

United States representative Bob Krueger made a short visit to Eldorado July 1, just two days before announcing his candidacy for the U.S. Senate on Independence Day.

The announcement was made during a big celebration Monday at his home in New Braunfels, before about 1,000 persons. He told the group that he hoped to give Texans a voice in the Senate instead of just a vote.

The senatorial chair Krueger is eyeing is now occupied by Senator John Tower who Krueger said, during his Eldorado visit, cannot put together a majority or take the initiative in Congress.

He said that no one he has talked to can remember any one bill Senator Tower has "pushed from start to finish."

He thanked the people of West Texas for voting for him in his race for representative and asked them to help him get to the Senate.

When questioned about the deregulation of natural gas, he simply said he wanted to return to the "sound principles of supply and demand."

Several ranchers were in the Eldorado audience and Krueger questioned them about lamb crops and problems with coyotes and eagles.

Vol. II No. 20 FRIDAY, JULY 8, 1977 FIFTEEN CENTS

local firemen keep busy

by Nell Edmiston

Independence Day firecrackers and high dry weeds have been blamed for a rash of grass fires in both the county and city.

On July 1, firemen answered a call concerning a grass fire at the De Lux residence north of town at 3:30 p.m. and were called back to the scene after the fire rekindled at 6:30 p.m.

The same day, 12 firemen battled a fire on the east side of town from 8-11:30 p.m. behind the Tony Fay residence. Firemen had to link their hoses to a hydrant across East Street and run them quite some ways before they were able to reach the fire.

On July 2, eight firemen arrived at another grass fire at the Hugh Killebrew place South of Eldorado at 10:30 p.m. However, it was put out by Killebrew before the fire truck arrived.

Six Eldorado firemen helped fight two simultaneous fires at Christoval Sunday. The first fire, on the Van Court Lease, burned eight acres of land, and the second fire burned 25 acres of land on the McLaughlin Ranch. The alarm was turned in at the Eldorado station at 2:55 p.m.

A small grass fire broke out in a vacant lot behind Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church Sunday and was fought by 12 men from 11:30 a.m. to noon.

On Independence Day, six firemen were called to a small grass fire on the Old Sonora Highway, south of Mobley Transport.

The same day, the Eldorado department was asked to help fight a fire at Fort Terrett. Three men volunteered to help.

On June 17, a grass fire was fought on the Robinson Ranch by six men and on June 8, 12 men put out a fire at the Sandy Donaldson residence with help from the city water pump.

Fire and sheriff department officials have said that the dry weeds and the use of firecrackers caused most of the fires.

Only 2 fires in June

The month of June the Eldorado Fire Department was called out on two fires. One in the city, one was a county fire.

Do you know your ABC's when it comes to clean up time? Attic, basements and closets are the ABC's which need special attention at clean up time and year 'round, too.

These are the areas of the house where combustible clutter and rubbish tend to accumulate, ready to burst into destructive fire when hit by the least little spark, flame, or other source of ignition.

Know your ABC's and start now to clean Attic, Basement and Closets of burnables.

State inspects local jail

The Schleicher County Jail underwent inspection by a representative of the Texas Commission on Jail Standards last week.

Arturo Machado made the day-long inspection of jail operations, facilities, feeding arrangements and construction.

A report will be sent to County Judge Bob McWhorter and to Schleicher county sheriff Orval Edmiston in a month or six weeks, said Edmiston.

Friday, July 1st. The fire was extinguished within 15 minutes. It rekindled again three hours later, and was put out again.

Home canning is not always safe

The recent outbreak of botulism poisoning from home-canned peppers in Michigan underscores the necessity of using scientifically developed processes for safe home canning, emphasizes Al Wagner, food technologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Referring to a scientific status summary just released by the Institute of Food Technologists, Wagner points out, "Home canning looks simple, but attention to every detail is essential to the retention of nutrients and to safety."

Since more than 30 years ago when a firm scientific basis for safe canning of low-acid foods was established, only five botulism deaths have been attributed to the more than 800 billion containers of commercially canned foods, compared to almost that many deaths every year from home canning. The reason for this, according to Wagner, is that, "The role and importance of the various factors which combine to insure commercial sterility in canning have not been communicated effectively to the general public, nor have they been put into practice in home canning."

"The natural acidity of a food is one factor affecting canning," explains the food technologist. "Some foods are naturally more acid than others, and this higher acidity makes the bacteria which produce poisons in canned food easier to kill. For example, tomatoes (a high acid food) can be successfully heat processed in a boiling water bath (212 degrees F) while string beans (a low acid food) must be processed in a pressure canner at 240 degrees F. These natural acids have the ability to inhibit or prevent the growth of many microorganisms which produce spoilage and disease."

Recent publicity about "low acid tomatoes" has led some home canners to question whether they can safely be processed in a boiling water bath, notes Wagner. Recent research by the U.S. Department of Agriculture shows that the varieties Garden State, and to a lesser extent, Ace, Ace 55VF and Cal Ace, were found to be undesirably low in acidity and are not suitable for home canning. (These varieties are not normally grown in Texas.) However, a further study by the University of Minnesota showed that none of the supposedly low acid tomatoes were truly low enough in acid to permit the production of poison from botulism bacteria. Such tomatoes can thus be safely canned in a boiling water bath. "The scientists did find that the acidity of tomatoes drops as they pass ripeness, and that canning of over ripe tomatoes could lead to serious problems," Wagner points out.

The food technologist also emphasizes the necessity of killing temperatures reaching all of the food in a container, including the very center. Factors that affect the rate at which heat penetrates the container include the size and shape of the container, the ratio of solids to liquid, the type and size of the pieces, and the amount of fat.

Something To Think About
by Jannette Wilkerson

DON'T ASK

"Where are you from, Jannette?" -- "Glad you asked, Friend, I'm from Eldorado, Texas." -- "Where's that?" -- "Never been there, huh?" Well let me tell you about Eldorado Texas.

It's located high atop a plateau, so a good wind brings you cool river breezes from Christoval and you get the world's best view of a red glowing sun set as it disappears between Sonora and Ozona. The water is so pure, they use trained pelicans to smuggle it to Big Spring. The land is black and fertile and a five year old pecan tree is money in the bank. It'll grow just about anything -- 'cept maybe chickens. I know a couple of Aggies that bought a chicken ranch but couldn't get them to grow no matter how they planted 'em. But I heard they're gonna take a soil sample to A&M to have it checked. The white tail deer are bigger and prettier than any place else, and the quail, dove, and wild turkey are so plentiful you have to shoo them out of your drive way.

The town surrounds a majestic old court house with blue bonnets in the lawn and shade trees. Taylor-made for a Sunday afternoon chat or a community get-together. We don't have pollution, crime waves, traffic jams or apathy. However, I have heard tale of a Phantom Streaker at the Pool Hall, but of course that's just hear say. The churches are filled up on Sunday morning and the whole town turns out for football games.

Looking at his watch, the inquirer said, "Sounds like a real nice place, well I guess I had better ---" "Hold on, I haven't told you the best part yet --- that's the people --- there's no place else in the world you can talk about the weather with Rocky Meador, or have Ben Hext show you how to hold a golf club, or modulate with the Love Lady on the CB, or find out how much it rained at Arch Mittle's place, or stop by Ebbie Ballew's office for a visit, or some 1400 other wonderful people that make up this special piece of the globe. In Eldorado we can hear a mocking bird, the noon whistle, and "Hi, how are ya" and we can see a red bird, flowers in bloom, and a smile on every corner -- every day. I guess all these great people are responsible for all the great kids we have in Eldorado. Yep! That's Eldorado, that's home, and that's the way [uh-huh] I like it! Now, I don't mean to brag, but when you're in the neighborhood, drop by, and be ready for a handshake and a howdy."

As his car window rolled up on my fingers, he nodded, smiled, and drove off.

There is no way I can express my gratitude to the people of Eldorado and the Express News for this past year. If through this column I've given you a smile or a thought, you will have made my dream come true. Thank You.....

BURNING GOLD
When the oil and gas companies say we are running out of fuel, I believe them.

In fact, I know they have already run out of oil, gas, and coal and they are now burning gold to make electricity.

If you got your electric bill this week, then you know what I am talking about. The fuel adjustment bill on my statement was 71% of the total month's charges. The cost of electricity for my house has gone from $23.84 for April, $30.00 in May, and now $72.00 in June. And 71% of that $72 was the higher cost of fuel.

In the county, rural bills reflected about a 41% increase in the monthly statement for electricity.

It all adds up to a higher cost of living for everyone. And if President Carter has his way, he will soon be able to set the price and control gas right here in Eldorado.

Then we will be looking at an increase in your gas bill that will terrify you. If your gas bill was $15, it could be as high as $60 if President Carter controls intra state gas.

Some people say "If we decontrol the price of oil and gas more will be found and the price will go down." I believe that more will be found, but I don't believe the price will come down.

(Besides, cows are not a vanishing breed and we pay over $1.50 a gallon for milk, but gripe when gasoline goes above 1/3 of the price of milk.)

I hope they do find more oil and gas, because I can't afford to pay for all that gold they are burning.

Just imagine, "Ft. Knox Gold Reserve and Power Generating Station." Our currency needs to be based on oil and gas. They are worth more than the gold they are burning to generate our electricity.

CARD OF THANKS

Our Mommy and Daddy join us in saying thanks to all our friends and families for the nice gifts and special favors shown since our arrival. We think we will like growing up in Schleicher County, the home of the friendly people. Our Mommy stays very busy so we decided to thank you all in this way.

Mr and Mrs Lee Atkins had visiting in their home their daughter Mary Lee Hull, and great granddaughter Brandy Hull from San Diego, Calif. They were in town for Mr and Mrs Lee Atkins granddaughter's wedding. Mr and Mrs Lee Atkins Jr, son of Mr and Mrs Lee Atkins, were guests in the home of Mr and Mrs John Traham, daughter of Mr and Mrs Lee Atkins. Other guests attending the wedding were: Mr and Mrs John Atkins of the Ranch, Mr and Mrs Clay F. Atkins and daughters, Martha and Dorothy of the Ranch, Eldorado, Texas. The wedding took place July 1, in St. Mark's Presbyterian Church in San Angelo, Texas.

Mr and Mrs Lester Rogers had their children visiting over the holidays. They were Ron Copeland, Nichole Ann and Jeffery and Sarah Rogers of Odessa, Lester Louis Travoli and Shirley Rogers of San Angelo.

Buddy Clark of San Angelo and Mr and Mrs Joe Hudson, children of Mrs Travis Parker, visited with their parents this week.

Grass fires erupt

The 4th of July celebrations were somewhat marred by grass fires on Toe Nail Trail. It was rather hectic around here for several hours. Part of the town was in danger but many thanks go out to a lot of people in the park and the Eldorado fire department, plus our own truck and citizens. They were able to keep the fire contained to a far smaller area than was first expected. There was another fire farther out on Tow Nail but again it was quickly brought under control. Thanks again to all -- this area is very dry and extreme caution is to be used with all fire hazards. All area ranchers are urged to keep sprayers, etc. ready to go.

This is a hometown newspaper, and people are interested in your recent illness. Tell the Express News.

THANK YOU

I especially want to thank the Christoval, Eldorado fire departments and all other volunteers who so willingly fought fire Sunday afternoon when it was terribly hot -- already a lizard couldn't crawl. Again I want to thank each and everyone, and all C.B.ers who helped to put the fire out in the park, behind my house. It was too close to be comfortable. I think the County Commissioners should put a wide fire guard around that park, especially with fire and winds from the dump ground. It could save our little town some day.

Thank you kindly,
Doris Arthur
Thank you, Bonnie, so very much for dragging and using that long water hose.

TEXAS 4-H CONGRESS

Some 600 Texas 4-H youth will be learning about "Oceans of Opportunity" at the 1977 Texas 4-H Congress, July 19-22, at Corpus Christi. The youth will be learning what the sea is all about--the role that it plays in our livelihood, points out a 4-H and youth specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. School Tax Equalization Board hears complaint

No action has yet been taken on the one complaint registered to the Schleicher County Public School Board of Equalization which met last week.

The complaint was raised by the general manager of Southwest Texas Electric Cooperative, Elton McGinnes.

The tax firm making the tax evaluations, Y. Thomas Pickett and Company, raised the assessment of the Cooperative $130,820 over last year's figure. A spokesman for the firm said the figure was raised because of a higher tax scale and 23.3 new lines completed by the Cooperative last year.

Chairman of the board, Bobby Sykes, said no action has been taken as the board is waiting for further information about the Cooperative.

The school tax board is composed of Sykes, Howard Derrick and McGinnes. However, McGinnes disassociated himself from the board during discussions concerning the Cooperative. He would make no comment on the matter.

McGinnes registered the same complaint to the County Board of Equalization, but that board backed the tax firm.

House Ag committee chairman urges Carter to help cattlemen

FORT WORTH-Texas' foremost champion of the farmer urged President Carter today to do for the beef industry what he has done for the domestic television, sugar and shoe industries: help it.

State Rep. Joe Hubenak, chairman of the powerful House Committee on Agriculture and Livestock, told the U.S. Trade Commission studying the impact of beef imports, that the position of independent cattlemen is critical. "The independent cattlemen were the first to meet the challenge of full production," Hubenak said. "And what has been their reward? Decreased prices resulting from fewer markets and increased imports of foreign beef."

Hubenak pointed out that last year "our state lost over 2,000 farms and ranches" because of the critical state of agribusiness.

He said recent attempts by the legislature to help the beef producing industry were held unconstitutional. These included restricting state agencies to buying domestic-produced beef, and labeling processed foods containing imported meat.

"This Commission has been successful in the past in alleviating the unfairness of imports on such items as television, sugar or shoes," Hubenak said. "I am confident you will understand the crisis that faces our cattle producers and that your recommendation to the President will help stabilize our market and allow our farmers and ranchers to make a fair return on their investment."

Hubenak stressed to the Commission that he favored a quota system, rather than tariffs, to restrict beef imports.

Let's Pause a Minute
A Message from Eldorado's Ministerial Alliance
by Dean Brigham, Minister
First Christian Church

"REAL EXPERIENCE"

Jesus was on his way from Galilee to Jerusalem. Just after he crossed the border between Galilee and Samaria, he met ten lepers. Leprosy is a dreadful, loathsome, repulsive disease. In those days lepers were left uncared for to roam about the country and take care of themselves as well as they could. They were required by law to keep a certain distance from everyone who did not have leprosy in order to prevent infection. These men kept their distance from Jesus; they obeyed the regulations. But they asked for help and cried out "Master, have mercy on us!"

Characteristically, Jesus said to them, "Go show yourselves to the priests." The law also required that a leper who thought himself cured report to the temple authorities. This was a provision that attempted to protect the health of the people. As they went in obedience to the command of Jesus, they were cleansed. One of them went back to Jesus to thank him for what he had done, and this particular one happened to be a Samaritan—the one least likely to have conversation with a Jew. When Jesus saw him, he said to him, "Were there not ten cleansed? But where are the nine?"

Where do you suppose they were? My imagination has always been tempted to wonder where the other nine went. There is nothing in the Gospel story to give us any help; all we have is our observations about human beings in general, and how they behave. Might it not be possible that some of them were too excited to stop and go back too elated to think of nothing except their new found health? Some of them may have been too anxious to get home to take any time to go back, and some of them may have been too much concerned about themselves, about their own health, or lack of it, to take in the fact that Jesus was the one who had healed them. The suggestion is that only one out of the ten that was grateful and the other nine were ungrateful. But that does not agree with my knowledge of human nature. In my opinion or experience it is the other way around; nine out of ten people were grateful.

I wonder if the key to the situation is not this; all the men were grateful, but only one of them expressed his gratitude. Think what the others missed! They saw Jesus only at their greatest hour of need. They did not complete their relationship with him. They did not share with him the great hour of joy which he had given them.

You see, an emotion that is felt but not expressed is like a letter that is never mailed. It is like a song that is never sung, a good word that is never spoken, a thank you that is never uttered. It gradually sinks or shrinks and finally dies. A wise professor once said that when a thing is both perceived and felt there is a real experience. I should like to add another word to that sentence. When a thing is perceived, and felt, and expressed, there is a real experience. Let us this day be like the one priest and thank God every day for our many blessings. Go to church Sunday.

Free movie to be shown at First Baptist Church this Sunday

SHIOKARI PASS, a new film from the producers of THE HIDING PLACE, will be shown at First Baptist Church, Oak and Gillis, on Sunday, July 10. The one hour color release from World Wide Pictures will be shown once beginning at 8:00 p.m.

SHIOKARI PASS is unique among World Wide Pictures productions. Although it has an English soundtrack, it was originally produced for showing to Japanese audiences. It was filmed entirely in Japan with a Japanese cast and crew, and depicts the delicate beauty of that country. The drama of the story unfolds against a backdrop of Japan's spring blossoms, snowcapped mountains, and whispering native music.

A true story, SHIOKARI PASS is based on the international best seller by Ayako Miura. Nearly two million readers have been touched by this story of the abiding love of a young couple at the turn of the century.

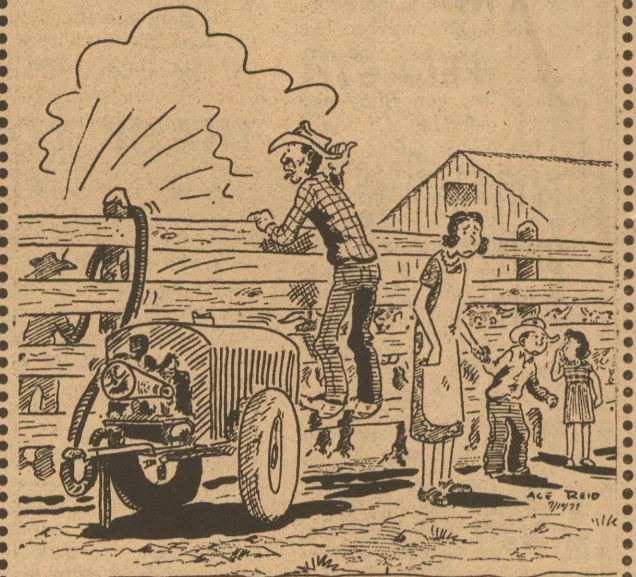

Credited with creating a deeper understanding of the Christian faith among the Japanese people, the film tells of the love of Nubuo for Fujiko, and of his willingness to be guided by his personal faith, no matter how great the cost of commitment.

statistics and general correlations, but an interesting personal account made 20 years ago arrived at just the opposite conclusion, and its proof was in the flesh, so to speak.

The 1957 annual meeting of the National Live Stock and Meat Board had as its featured speaker a colorful individual who maintained that his self-chosen abnormally high-fat diet actually improved his heart condition and helped him keep healthy and trim.

Described as an Arctic explorer, anthropologist, author and student of food habits, the speaker, Dr Vilhjalmur Stefanson, was then entering the third year of his latest run at a high-fat diet. He was a youthful 78 years of age.

"Except for intervals of (dietary) orthodoxy, I have been among the heaviest of fat eaters all my life," he told listeners.

Dr Stefanson grew up as a cowboy in the Dakotas, where he "lived happily on a diet built around bacon, sow belly and hams". For most of the period 1906-1918 Stefanson lived with Eskimos within the Arctic Circle. His diet there was made up entirely of meat and fish, and he recalled during that time feeling "healthier than I ever felt and enjoying my meals more."

Ten years later, he and Arctic companion Karsten Anderson spent a year living in New York City on nothing but meat. The special diet was an experiment to give researchers a chance to study the effects of such a program under sedentary big-city conditions. It was carried out under the auspices of Cornell Medical School.

The two adventurers finished the year in better health, said Stefanson, than when they began. The study was conducted at Bellevue Hospital, and Anderson, who had entered the program under treatment for high blood pressure, left the hospital with normal blood pressure, Stefanson said.

Stefanson's 1955 diet program grew out of a stroke the previous year and suffering with rheumatism. He had been on a "normal" diet since 1929, and elected to revert to his high-fat ways when calorie-counting failed to produce a doctor ordered weight loss.

Two years later, speaking at the Meat Board meeting, he claimed he had accomplished not only the weight loss, but had rid himself of joint soreness and stiffness. The blood clot that had caused his stroke was also gone.

"What startles me now is how much more pronounced my health improvement seems in this latest high-fat period of my life," he added.

Cattle producers are now in the process of voting on the Beef Referendum in an effort to enhance the industry. It could be a situation like pulling yourself up by your own boot-straps. After studying the pros and cons of the question, I'm convinced there are more pros than cons, and I'm going to cast my vote for the order. It will take a "yes" vote on the part of all who registered to put the movement across. And it is really a surprise, and perhaps a poor commentary on the part we play as citizens and as interested producers, when you realize that only 25% of the cattle raisers in this state went to the trouble of registering so that they could even qualify to vote.

Anyway, I certainly prefer "self-help" to any form of governmental control. We've had all that sort of thing this country can stand. And it's pretty obvious that if we don't help ourselves, and fight for an industry we believe in, with all the adverse publicity given the ranching industry by environmentalist groups, vegetarian groups, governmental land use planners and the like, the cattle business will certainly cease to be a viable business.

These hot July days are something else. The heat itself is bad enough, but if you've looked at your electricity bill in the last day or so, you'll probably feel a lot more heat. Just like automobiles, appliances, and the whole spectrum of consumer goods, energy that is cheap is a thing of the past. And little wonder... with our wasteful ways created in a large part by years of government subsidies and manipulation, our "cheap chickens" have come home to roost, and they are covered all over with dollar marks. It's back to the old drawing board, though, and a little planning and thought by householders can go a long way toward helping the crunch.

Most of you haven't heard of this for it never made the national media, but on May 2 of this year, a Republican senator from the state of Virginia entered a report in the Congressional Record that revealed that Superior Oil Company, after an extensive research period of 10 years, had come up with a practical way to extract shale oil from tremendous shale deposits that exist in the central Western states. Enough oil is available through this extraction method to furnish the needs of the country for 500 years!

If that report is true, coupled with other known facts that tremendous gas and oil reserves still exist in this land despite the erroneous reports continually flowing from politicians and entrenched bureaucrats, it's easy to understand why the American public casts such a jaundiced eye at our apparent deepening energy problems.

Well, on the lighter side, just to keep the heat from getting to you, try remembering some of the things that were happening not too many weeks past... like all that snow up in the Midwest and East, and especially those cool, cool days of late April and early May right here at home with those generous rains falling so often.

Fall may seem a long way off, but those of us who are privileged to live in this most delightful climate, can take a lot of pleasure in these cool nights we enjoy, and we can look forward to the rapid approach of cooler times ahead. Next thing you know, we'll be fussing about the cold weather.

Good Grief! I just found out that our Editor in Charge is going to be on the Pat Attebery Show at 5 p.m., Monday, July 11th.

Anyway, it's full steam ahead. Keep your head up, and your hand on your pocketbook... and have a good day.

GREENHOUSE VEGETABLE GROWERS TO MEET

BANK CENTS

From the Management and Staff of The First National Bank of Eldorado

Protecting the currency of the United States from counterfeiting is the responsibility of the U. S. Treasury Department. Its agents must be constantly vigilant, because any successful counterfeiting operation could seriously hinder commerce of the country.

Often the trail to a counterfeit begins with an alert bank teller, or others in the bank who daily handle currency. Some experienced bank personnel can immediately tell by the "feel" of a bank note that it is counterfeit, no matter how good the engraving or printing job.

The U.S. has never taken kindly to those who would counterfeit its money. At one time, counterfeiting, or passing counterfeits, was declared "a felony punishable without benefit of clergy"... a legal malediction reserved for only the more heinous crimes.

We want you to know more about our business!!!

This week I have some information for you on quick pickles and relishes. I also have a recipe for dilled okra.

Quick pickles and relishes are made from fruits or vegetables which have not been through a brining process.

Quick pickles and relishes add spice to meals and snacks. They contribute some nutritive value, contain little or no fat, and except for the sweet type, are low in calories.

Ingredients Used in Pickling

Use pure granulated salt, if available. Table salt with filler to prevent caking may make the brine cloudy.

Use a high grade cider or white distilled vinegar of 4 to 6 percent acidity. Do not dilute vinegar unless the recipe so specifies. If you prefer a less sour product, add sugar.

White or brown sugar may be used. White gives a lighter product, but brown sugar may be the preferred flavor.

Soft water is recommended to assure proper acid formation.

Use fresh spices for best flavor in pickles. When whole spices are used, tie them loosely in a thin bag of cloth.

Utensils

Use stainless steel, aluminum or glass utensils.

Jars and Lids

Use jars free of cracks and chips to be assured of a good seal. Use metal bands in good condition. Metal lids with sealing compound are used only once.

Wash jars in hot soapy water and rinse well. Fill jars while they are hot to 1/2 inch of top. The jars are sterilized in the waterbath process.

Hot Waterbath

Quick pickles and relishes are processed in the waterbath to inactivate enzymes that affect color, texture and flavor and to destroy organisms that cause spoilage.

DILLED OKRA

- 3 pounds uncut and washed young okra pods
- Celery leaves
- 6 small red hot peppers
- Cloves of garlic
- Large heads of dill and stems or 1/2 teaspoon dill seed per pint
- 1 quart water
- 1 pint white vinegar
- 1/2 cup salt

Pack okra into hot pint jars with a few celery leaves, pod of pepper, clove of garlic and head of dill or dill seed in each jar. Make brine of water, vinegar and salt; heat to boiling. Pour over okra. Close jars. Process in boiling water bath 20 minutes. Start to count processing time as soon as jars are placed in actively boiling water. Makes about 6 pints. Okra will shrivel as it is heated, but will become plump again a few days after being processed.

15th Schwartz Reunion Held In Wall

Two hundred seventy-seven people attended the 15th reunion of the Joseph and Sophie Schwartz family, spanning six generations, at the Wall Parish Hall, Wall, Texas, on July 3, 1977. Nine of the sixteen original children were present. Joseph and Sophie Schwartz were married in 1892.

Highlighting the day was the distribution of THE HISTORY OF THE JOSEPH AND SOPHIE SCHWARTZ FAMILY book compiled the past two years. The hardback book contains 256 pages with 185 pictures and was compiled by Doris Block and Isabelle Brymer, grandchildren of the original family.

A program, presented by the youngest of the great-grandchildren, demonstrated dances brought over from Austria and a skit depicting the arrival of Joseph Schwartz in 1890 to America from Austria and the wedding of Joseph and Sophie Schwartz in 1892. The program was finalized with an emotional portrayal of a 1918 family portrait by the great-grandchildren (8 boys and 6 girls and a boy and girl for the two parents) in dress almost identical to the garments worn in the 1918 portrait. The sixteen great-grandchildren's ages in Sunday's skit ranged from 3 to 17.

Ten of the very youngest great grandchildren, as the Schwartz Family band, accompanied the reunion group in the singing of God Bless America at the opening of the program. Rev Keven Heyburn, pastor of St Ambrose Church, Wall, Texas, was the celebrant for the Mass at the opening of the reunion day.

The reunions, starting in 1951, alternate between Wall, Texas, in Tom Green County and Moravia and Schulenburg, Texas, in Lavaca County. The past officers were Eugene Berger, Pres; Kenneth Schwartz, vic-pres; and Mrs Victor Matthiesen of Miles, Texas, sec-treas. Officers for the next reunion are Elvin Kocich, of Sugar Land, pres; George Shimek of Houston, vice-pres; and Barbara Mikulik of Houston sec-treas. They will have charge of the festivities in 1979 in Schulenburg.

The group voted to preserve the christening dress of the 16 children of Joseph and Sophie Schwartz. It will be presented to a museum in Schulenburg.

The oldest family member in attendance was Mrs Roy (Ottile) Bucek of Schulenburg, Tex. The youngest was Heather Mask, daughter of Mr and Mrs Bob Mask of Richling Springs. The farthest travelled was Norma Jean Canlas of the Phillipine Islands.

NURSING HOME NEWS

Everything has been running along as usual during the past week except that one of our residents had to be moved into the hospital the last of the week. Andrew Campbell of Eldorado, became quite ill and he is still in the hospital but is some better and we are hoping that he is going to continue to improve and will soon be able to be brought back to his room here in the home.

Ruthie Dacy, who conducts our activities each morning in the dining room, is taking a greatly deserved two week vacation. We are glad to see her get a rest, but we surely miss her. She is a sweet person and we all love her.

During the last week we have acquired four new patients. They are as follows: Victor Rodriguez from Sonora; Lester Garrett from Roosevelt; Mary Baker and Weynona Bennett both from Eldorado. We are glad to have them with us and we hope they enjoy living here. The Bingo winners on Wednesday were: Ella Casbeer 1, Bessie Andrews 1, Elva Daniels 1, Beulah Harris 2 and Carrie Blake-way 1.

On Friday the winners were: Bessie Andrews 1, Erna Rexroat 1, LaVita Brooks 2, Mary Baker 1, Elva Daniels 2, Beulah Harris 1 and Carrie Blake-way 1.

The Wednesday Bridge Club met at 9:30 at Mrs T. J. Bailey's "Red Barn" for bridge followed by a luncheon. There were 3 tables of players present and Mary Helen Stockton won High and Winnie Helen Hilliard won Bingo. There was quite a lot of excitement at this party when Mary Helen Stockton was dealt 13 hearts, a perfect hand. These hands are very rare and I am sure the hand was just as exciting to the opponents as to the partners who held the 13 hearts. Congratulations, Mary Helen.
