HOMECOMING...

At Fort Stockton High School we usually got mad about this time of year.

It seemed everyone else was having their annual homecoming celebration, while we sat around on our thumbs waiting for next year or the year after.

The Stockton schools had a rule against homecoming at that time--only one homecoming every four years. That way each student got to have one homecoming while he was in high

We couldn't figure out and this columnist hasn't figured out to this day what in the heck is wrong with homecoming in the first place.

Evil didn't exactly spread itself across the land, mothers student body was enraged. didn's have to protect their When the Cranes trotted onto the blonde haired blue eyed daugh- field that Friday they met an ters and about the worst thing that ever happened was a rancher's outhouse might get stolen for the top of the bonfire.

Instead of a homecoming we had something called spirit week or something like that where we got to do everything that others do at homecoming-only it was called something else

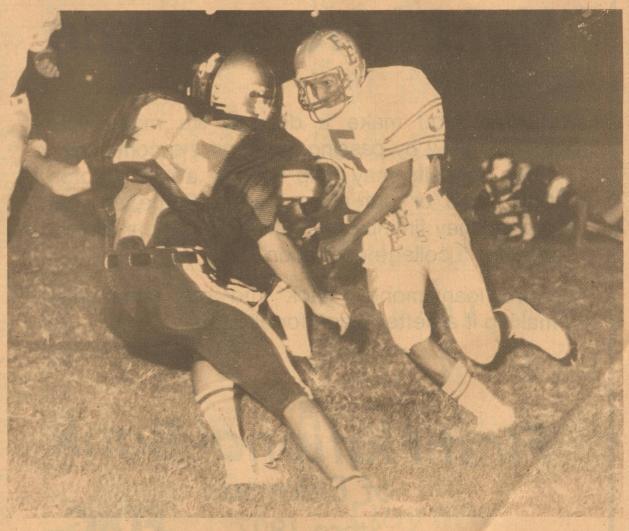

This future publisher and his running buddies were bonfire building dudes. We could gather up a fleet of clunker pickup trucks and in no time have a respectable bonfire ready to go.

One year we had to rebuild the bonfire the day of the official burning. Some communist from Crane had snuck over to Stockton we were told, burned a big "C" in the middle of the football field community. And for that reason and snuck back to the sandhills.

Talk about mad. The entire angry bunch of Panthers. How-ever, the Cranes won anyway and to this day we think the bonfire was torched early by our own coaching staff.

But homecomings are neat and a special current seems to run through the airwaves at the name that night. Most coaches, however, would rather not play a football game after a week of activities designed to pull footballers' minds off the task ahead

The real reason for homecomng should not be forgotten. It is a time for ex-students to return and be welcomed, if not honored by the student body and their friends and relatives in the alone it is worth the effort.

FLU SHOTS

Fall is upon us and it is time to begin thinking about influenza prevention for the 1988-89 season. I believe it is important that everyone know just what influenza is and how it is prevented by the vaccine.

True influenza is a very distinct illness with usually sudden onset of fever, shaking chills, overall muscle and body aches, headache, cough nasal stuffiness, and a general feeling of being run down. It is caused by an infection from one or more strains of Influenza A virus. It is not the same as the common cold, sinusitis, ear infections, bronchitis, or phar yngitis. Each of these illnesses are caused by a separate group of viruses or bacteria. Since the "flu" is caused by a virus, antibiotics such as Penicillin, Sulfa and Erythromycin are useless. If you catch the flu, your doctor will not be able to do anything to "knock it out"

Therefore, the answer to this problem lies in prevention. The vaccine works by tricking the body into believing that it has contracted the virus. The body then manufactures "antibodies" to the virus that last approximately 6 months. These are then available for fighting off the

Why Health Costs Are Expensive To illustrate the effect of regulations and legislation on hospitals. here is a commentary originally broadcast by Paul Harvey

There is a way to make grocery store prices much higher than they are. As is, food is one of the consumer's best bargains. The cost of living would be much higher than it is except for comparatively reasonable But there is a way to skyrocket those grocery store prices if you want

If you want to multiply the prices of everything you buy at the grocery store, here's how: Subject your grocer to the same regulations under which hospitals are required to operate. That means: The grocer would have to keep a record of the total number of customers served, broken down by employer.

He would have to record the precise number of minutes each customer was in the store. The record must show which customers purchased only meat and nothing else, which customers bought both bread and meat. Separately the grocers' report must state which customers bought meat and milk. Also the number of customers who came in for one item and purchased more than one. Further, the grocery store is required to give away $50,000 worth of groceries each year and signs must be posted in the store in three languages telling customers that the store is required to do this. Records must be maintained on all customers and all groceries given away under this plan.

Further, for one half of the customers the store is not allowed to set prices. Government will determine those prices - and if those prices are arbitrarily held down to "no more than last year's prices" then the store owner must pay his higher expenses by charging higher prices to the other half of his customers.

But for the other half, the store cannot collect cash from the customer, but must send a bill to the customer's employer.

Further, the store manager is responsible for planning each customer's meals. If he errs in judging what's best, the customer may

Also, - the store must keep careful records of each can of peas sold by brand name; size, customer age and employer of customer. Similar reports are required on each product sold. The store must certify in writing that each customer needs groceries before permitting him to enter the store. The store must have a committee to establish a "shopping time limit" for each customer. Any customer permitted to shop longer than the pre-established time may not be required to pay for his or her groceries The store must have the written approval of government authorities before adding or deleting any product or brand. The store manager must have a Master's Degree in Marketing. There are many more regulations to which hospitals are subject, but this is enough to help you to understand why the costs of medical care have gone up faster and higher than the price of groceries.

Task Force still meeting in Texas

The Task force on Rural Health Care Delivery in Texas is continuing to hold meetings across the state in order to solve the problems of the small rural hospitals in

To date, some nine meetings have been held to gather data about the difficulties that rural hospitals and rural physicians are having which have led to the closure of over 40 hospitals in Texas in the past two years.

A special subcommittee of the Tast Force is on restrictive regulations which are not being placed on the rural hospital. Margaret Ellen Nixon, Director of Nurses at Schleicher County Medical Center, has been appointed to serve on the subcommittee and recently heard testimony in the Lt. Governor's office in Austin.

Other committee members include Senator Chet Brooks, hospital administrator, Bryan Krenek of Nacogdoches and selected hospital personnel who are familiar with the problems.

Mrs. Nixon spoke earlier about the inability of the physician to prescribe medications late at night through the hospital which is being prevented by the State Board of Pharmacy. These and other problems will continue to receive attention as the subcommittee on restrictive regulation continues to meet during the month of October. "A final report will be presented to the Legislature in January of 1989," Dr. Jim Brame said.
