

DURING EARLY 1900s

Registered voters few, far between here

by Rene Calcote

In the early days registered voter's in Schleicher Co. were few and far between.

It was considered a great honor to be able to vote in the early 1900 years, when Eldorado was nearly established.

The requirements needed by the voters were quiet strict. A person had to be male, twenty one years of age, caucasian, own taxable property, and pay a poll tax.

In 1901, when Eldorado visioned the need to break away from Menard County jurisdiction and become a legal governing body of her own, fifty registered voters siganatures were required on a petition to be presented to the commissioners court in Menard.

Several citizens worked hard to acculated the petition through out Schleicher county to get these required signatures. Fifty two sianatures were required.

The first election after county oficals were installed, was to determine the sale of liquor in Schleicher County. The county voted against liquor sales with twenty five votes for and thirty seven-against.

Salaries for officers were sheriff $25.00 per month, and county judge $50.00 per month.

The first co. judge was A.B.

New complex on drawing board here

County officials and city fathers are currently working on funding for the new recreational complex south of the city.

The blueprint published in this week's issue of the Success details the project, which was started this summer, just adjacent to the Eldorado Rodeo Arena Complex.

A Texas Parks and Wildlife grant is being sought to build the new facility which will include baseball and softball fields, parking lots, recreation areas, etc.

Further details on the proposed facility will appear in next week's issue of the Success.

A HUNTING THEY WILL GO....

Thousands of Texans are in the field in search of the elusive whitetail deer. Some will have great seasons, fill their tags and enjoy many a crisp campfire.

Others, however, will have a "Murphy Hunt"--you know, if anything can go wrong it will go wrong type deals.

Here's a little Murphy-style philosophy for the busted luck deer hunter:

--The best buck sign will be just out of sight of your permanent deer stand. If you use a portable stand, the best sign will be where you were last week.

The best buck of the season will come from an area you scouted and rejected.

--Sighting-in always requires one more box of cartidges than you have.

--The last half-inch adjustment to perfectly align your scope will move the group two and one-half inches.

--To determine the direction of the prevailing wind in a real hot buck hotspot you've just discovered, go to the best spot for a stand and look in the

Accreditation Meeting slated

Members of an accreditation team from the Texas Education Agency will be available Thursday, November 17 to meet with parents and patrons who have an interest in expressing their views and opinions about the Schleicher County Independent School District.

Interviews will be conducted by team members beginning at 6:30 p.m. in the administrative multi-purpose room.

Every school district in the state is required by law to be visited by an accreditation team from the Agency to evaluate the quality of its educational programs and to determine what progress the school district has made since the last visit.

During the interviews, emphasis will be given to the quality of instruction and community support present on each campus in the district. Areas to be evaluated by the team include planning, curriculum, instruction, services to students, instructional resources, personnel, governance, community conditions, and physical facilities.

SCHLEICHER COUNTY PARK DEVELOPMENT

top of the divide

BY THOMAS GIOVANNITTI
 This is going to be a "sure enough" editorial. Last Friday several folks from the town and the county attended a flag ceremony at the cemetery to honor those who have died in the service of this Country during wartime. I am not sure how the other veterans felt but sometimes, but as a former "GI" it is a little disappointing to me not to see nearly everyone there. I know many people could not come because they were at work or couldn't get there from work in time. But, I dare say many did not come, especially those younger than thirty, because, other than an older brother or parent, they have not experienced much interaction with a Veteran.

Since the mid-seventies there has been no universal draft (although it was not all that universal). I a man was a fifteen year old boy in 1975 he has not had to worry about the draft.

Okay, he to register but he couldn't and wouldn't get drafted. I know that there are ways of instilling in men a sense of duty, commitment, and patriotism. In fact I am not so sure that drafting young men did very much at all for their patriotism but did a world of good for their maturity, determination, sense of community, and, in a few case, their personal hygiene.

Even those of us who "Volunteered" during these wars did so in the sure knowledge that, if we didn't we were going in anyway.

There were a few inequities in the system. Maybe deferments should have only been granted to those who were in officer training programs or critical fields of study. I can imagine that any system made to cover all the general areas of life would end up with a few flaws but that does not, in retrospect, seem a very good reason for terminating the whole system.

Many a career officer or NCO began his military career reluctantly under the coercion of the draft. Those of us, myself included, who did not find life in the service quite to our liking did not lose anything by the experience and may have gained quite a bit more than we actually put into that life. In wartime there will always be some who do not return and there will be a draft if it is needed but it may be at times like these that we need young men to experience doing things they don't very much like to do to help someone else whom they might not ever see again. The U.S. military was a great leveler. It made the poor and the rich, the black and the white, and the tough and the tender equal.

Maybe reinstating the draft might be a idea whose times has come!

SHORT TAKES--Snake eyes: Snakes don't have eyelids, so they can't close their eyes. But their eyes are protected. Ranger Rick magazine reports that these reptiles' eyes are covered with a hard, clear scale. When snakes shed their skin, these eye-covering scales also are shed and replaced by new ones.

 direction of the best deer trail. That is the direction the prevailing wind blows.

--When meeting a friend to hunt his area, the map he has drawn will omit at least one major crossroad and a critical right turn.

If you have spent all season figuring out a trophy buck's pattern and have chosen the ideal stand, he will be killed on doe day by a first-time hunter with a borrowed rifle from the stand you used at the beginning of the season.

--The chance of your hitting a 2-inch sapling at 100 yards is directly proportional to the size of the buck standing behind it.

--You will not have to "go", unless you have forgotten the toilet paper.

--If you drop your rifle, the sights will not be knocked out of alignment unless you are going to get a shot at the biggest buck you've ever seen the next morning.

--The squirrel that has played peacefully around your stand all morning will panic and loudly scold you as deer approach.

--If you want to see deer, light a cigarette, eat your lunch or take a nap--they will appear as if by magic. If you want to see a buck, get into a situation from which you can't possibly shoot.

When you've killed a decent buck and have a pretty good story to go with it, there will be a bigger deer and a bigger lie waiting back at camp.

These comments come from Aaron Pass' column entitled, "Outdoors".

Elementary News

Next week, the Pre-K., Kindergarten, 1st and 2nd grade students will be studying Holidays, Pilgrims and Indians. Pre-K., Kindergarten and 2nd will have a Thanksgiving feast in full costume. The 1st graders are studying all of our patriotic symbols.

The 3rd and 4th graders are studying farming and soil conservation. This study will include; films, guest speakers, and field trips. The 4th unit will conclude with a Conservation Poster Contest.

Mrs. Herrera's Special Ed. classes will perform a Thanksgiving play for the Pre-K.

Mrs. Parker, our music teacher, nearly knocked my door down yesterday absolutely ecstatic. For the first time in ten years of teaching, she had 3rd grade students playing five different rhythm patterns with the entire group singing.

Coach Mitchel states that kindergarten students are taking skill test on motor skills and 1st, 2nd, 3rd are doing physical fitness skills. 4th grade girls are doing volleyball skills and 4th grade boys are doing football skills.

The entire months of November and December are very important academic instruction times. So as we move toward TEAMS testing in February, the teachers have expressed the need for parents to help reinforce math and reading skills at home.

ELEMENTARY NEWS

Congratulation Parents! During our attendance period in October, the Elementary School had a 98.2% attendance. The only way we can improve on this, is bring our bed rolls up here and sleep in the gym! Now let's take a look at November events.

The first week of November saw plenty of politics with campaign speeches, platforms of longer recesses and more hot dogs for lunch. The first graders studied the election process with Mickey Mouse vs. Alf as candidates. No one is sure if it was a landslide or a victory by the skin of the teeth but Mickey was declared the winner by the Electrol College (Rathbone, Mc Gregor, Jones).

On November 10, 1988 the District Planning Committee for Effective School met to study long term and immediate goals. More details from this group of parents, teachers, and citizens will come at a later date.

On November 16, 17, 18 an accreditation team representing the Texas Education Agency will give our district a monitoring visit. We would like to invite all interested parents and citizens to meet and visit with them concerning the education needs of our students.

SHORTS TAKES--high protein fo. high fliers: During the winter months many people put out an extra helping of birdfeed to fatten our feathered friends. An excellent cold weather bird feed is suet, a dense meat fat. More birds seek out suet in winter than any other type of food. But birds need heat-producing protein as well. According to National Wildlife magazine, you can 'beef up' your suet cakes by adding high-protein items like canned dog food, dehydrated eggs or peanut butter.

letters to the editor

Dear Editor,

I am honored to have carried Schleicher County in my race for District 67 State Representative. I made many wonderful friends during this race and I appreciate your support. Please call on me if I can ever be of assistance to you. God Bless You friend and foe.

David Currie

Dear Editor:

For millions of Texans, Christmas is known as a time of rejoicing and celebration with family and friends. But not everyone can say that. The Texas economy over the past couple of years has increased the burdent of The Salvation Army and created the need for greatly expanded services. There is so much to do. With your help though, we believe we can all make a difference.

The Salvation Army's Christmas program has been providing help, hope and understanding to millions of hurting people for more than a hundred years. Toys and gifts for neglected and abused children, food, clothing, and a warm bed -- these are just a small part of the services provided by the Army in Texas throughout the year.

You can help make this season a time of sharing and caring. By using the enclosed drop in ads, you can help share these messages with thousands of readers -- and help us spread the joy of Christmas to those who need it most.

Thank you for the very important part you play in helping The Salvation Army reach out in the true spirit of the season. Together we can make a difference!

God bless you richly.

Very sincerely yours,

Ronald P. Carr

Girls Home celebrates 20th year

Although celebrating its fifteenth anniversary this year, Concho Valley Home for Girls actually started 20 years in the minds of concerned Philia Club member.

That concern has remained consistent through the years, as the Philia Club continues to be very active in the growth of the Girl's Home.

Once again they will host the Thanksgiving Tea and Open House on November 20 from 2 to 4 p.m. The event will be in both homes, the Haby Home at 404 Preusser and the McCaw Home at 444 Preusser. The public is invited to attend and view the Homes and meet the staff and Board Members.

Concho Valley Home for Girls offers a constructive alternative for teen-aged girls faced with a destructive home situation. Residents of the 14-county area are given first preference for placement. The Homes are licensed by the Texas Department of Human Services.

The organization is a private, non-profit corporation headed by a volunteer board of directors and administered by an executive director. Concho Valley Home for Girls is not affiliated with any federal or church organization. It is a United Way agency. Additional funding is through the Texas Department of Human Services. Donations from concerned individuals provide additional resources.

The open house is an expression of thanks to those throughout the Concho Valley who help make the work of the Home for Girls possible.

I didn't know that!
Here are some of the questions that come up most often.

Who runs the Home? Concho Valley Home for Girls, Inc. is a non-profit charitable corporation, governed by a volunteer Board of Directors. It is not a government agency. The homes are licensed by the State of Texas, which means that they comply with state standards.

Where do you get the money to run the homes? There are three main sources of income. 1) DHS contract payments to reserve spaces in the Homes and support payments for girls they place here. 2) An allocation from United Way of Tom Green County. 3) Direct public support-donations from individuals, civic clubs, businesses, churches, and so on, and bequests. Other funds include support payment for private placements, interest on bank accounts, and so on.

Who do I ask about..? If you have other questions about the Home, we'll be happy to answer them. Write us at Box 3772, San Angelo, Tx 76902, or call the office, (915)655-3821. We'll be happy to talk with you.
