Editor's Clips

By Mary Jenkins

Working on a newspaper can be a lot of fun -- I really do enjoy my work. But it isn't always an easy task trying to write stories so they read well.

Sports writers write one way with their own particular phrases. Obituaries read one way while regular news stories read another way. They all have their own particular distinctions.

During a fire in a certain Ohio town, the editor of the local paper, being unable to locate the regular reporter, sent out the young society editor. The story of the fire appeared like this:

"A brilliant fire was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Doe on East Hill Avenue. A large number of people attended the function.

"Mrs. Doe, who recently had her hair shingled, made a charming escape in an exceedingly handsome henna silk blouse, the pattern of which appeared on our woman's page last week.

"The firemen, who presented an attractive appearance, were suitably garbed in blue, the tunics being full cut.

"The weather was quite delightful for an affair of this kind, a strong wind blowing. It was rumored that the fire was on a larger scale than any previous affair of a similar kind for years. It is also rumored that it cost Mr. and Mrs. Doe about $25,000."

We don't have specific jobs working at the Success. We are all sports writers, news writers and society writers -- we each wear the hat of the other. If, every now and then, a story reads a little "different" from what it should, you can just figure that whoever wrote it had on the wrong hat that day.

Life Among The Fishes

By Thomas Giovannitti

Each Spring I get out all of my yard tools, combustion engine powered and man (sometimes boy) powered, to begin the annual lawn care cycle. It is at this time that I remember all of the maintenance things I was supposed to have done at the end of last year that I forgot to do.

So, as Nicolas and I got out the lawn mower this year we gingerly tried starting it. Lucky for me, it started again this year. I realize that one of these years, because of my neglect of this fine piece of equipment, I will have to buy a new one. If I do, I'm going to look for one with a few features that I think are really needed on a mower.

Once, they need to make mowers with grass catchers that hold some clippings. Maybe radar would be a good feature. It would be nice to have a little warning siren go off as you mow toward that hidden piece of wire or that old coke can. It wouldn't even have to be radar, a metal detector might do the trick. It would only need a range of ten yards or so, with the siren getting successively louder as I approached the dangerous object. That wouldn't protect me from discharged rocks, but I probably couldn't afford any mower with a rock detecting gizmo.

One other thing I would like our scientists to invent is a heavy duty electric extension cord that doesn't get twisted each time I wind or unwind it.

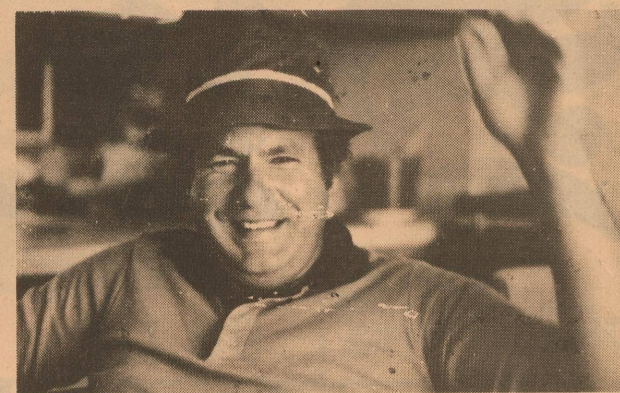

I know they have those rollers for cords, but who the heck can afford all those extra items. I am not even sure that would stop the twisting anyway. I would hope that some clever engineer could figure out how to put those three wires in that bright orange casing in such a way that even if they do twist when I wind the cord, they untwist when I unwind the cord. Is that too much to ask? I should think not!

Well, yard care time is here so I might as well make the best of it, which I do, by making Nicolas mow the yard.

Seems that they have a new "Computerized" set of scales at the San Antonio Bus Depot.

One good ole boy read the sign on the scales..."Your Name, Weight and Age...$.25"

Fellow thought, "NAW, that's impossible." Pulled out a quarter, stepped on the scales. Little card shoots out that says, "Your name is Harvey Johnson, you weigh 172 lbs., you are 34 years old and you're taking the bus to Oklahoma City, Oklahoma."

Harvey 'bout lost his mind. Said, "There's got to be a trick to this thing."

Pulled out another quarter and put it in the machine. Nother card plops out..."Your name is Harvey Johnson, you weigh 172 lbs., you are 34 years old and you're taking the bus to Oklahoma City, Oklahoma."

"There's got to be a trick to this thing somewhere, and I'm going to figure out what it is."

Out comes another quarter...kerplunk...into the machine. Scales give a little whirrr...slowly the card comes out..."Your name is still Harvey Johnson, you still weigh 172 lbs., you are still 34 years old...and you just missed the bus to Oklahoma City, Oklahoma."

Hope none of you good folk miss the bus.

'Til the next time...
MAY GOD BLESS.

Tax Assistance Hotline Available For Taxpayers

For taxpayers who want to know everything from their local sales tax rate to who pays inheritance tax, answers are only seconds away via the State Comptroller's statewide, toll-free Tax Assistance hotline.

The Tax Assistance Division answered 88,727 telephone inquiries in March alone, for an average of 111 calls per day per tax specialist. After electronically selecting a topic, callers were connected within an average of about seven seconds with one of 47 tax specialists.

The division uses an Automatic Call Distributor that allows callers to punch a number on their telephone to route themselves to the specialist they need, according to type of tax. A specially trained team answers questions posed by certified public accountants and corporate attorneys.

The agency's technology also includes telecommunications devices for hearing-impaired taxpayers and services for taxpayers who are blind.

The faster we give taxpayers the information they need to file their returns, the sooner they can send tax dollars to deposit in state coffers, where the money can start earning interest for all Texans.

If you're a taxpayer with a question, we want to hear from you. Call us toll-free at 1-800-252-5555 between 7:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Taxpayers who live in Austin may call 463-4600. Hearing-impaired taxpayers may call 1-800-248-4099 (TDD only).

Eldorado PTA To Help Host Middle School Spring Fling

The Eldorado PTA met on April 19. The meeting was called to order by Steve Goode, president.

Scott Barton, Eldorado Middle School principal, spoke to the PTA about helping with the Middle School Spring Fling to be held on May 18 at the City Park. Students will have to earn their way to the Fling, therefore, he felt it would be nice to have drawings during the night for prizes.

Randy Mankin made a motion for the PTA to help with collection of donations from individuals and businesses. "Someone from the PTA will be coming by in the next few days for this purpose. Any size donation will be greatly appreciated," commented Connie Andrews, PTA secretary.

If you would like to donate something and no one contacts you, please call the Middle School office at 853-3028 or Randy Mankin at 853-2703.

Denise Goode reported that Apples for the Students is now totaling $194,793.98. "Once again, we would like to thank everyone for their support in this worthwhile project," said Mrs. Andrews.

The last receipts will be picked up May 11 to allow time for the adders to get the totals in by May 28 -- the final date of the contest. "A special thank you goes to the adders of the Super S receipts as this has been a very time consuming and tedious job. Without them, this project would not have been so successful," continued Mrs. Andrews.

Secretary's Week was discussed and members present agreed that the organization would like to honor Pat Pitts for all her help and support to the PTA.

"To all you secretaries out there, we hope that someone does something to let you know just how much you are appreciated for all your hard work," commented Mrs. Andrews.

Several other items were discussed with the meeting adjourning at 9:30 p.m. A brief executive committee meeting was held for the purpose of choosing a Parliamentarian and Historian for the new term to begin in May. Barbara Behrens was once again selected for the Historian position with Myrta Rathbone was selected for the Parliamentarian position.

FmHA To Begin New Guaranteed Community Loan Program

The Farmers Home Administration is extending its guaranteed loans to community program projects, thereby expanding its lending ability, FmHA State Director, Neal Sox Johnson, said.

Until now, all of FmHA's loans for water and sewer systems, fire stations, health clinics and other community facilities, have been direct loans from the agency to the borrower.

"With the addition of guaranteed loans, we can now assist communities that are able to qualify for commercial loans with the support of an FmHA guarantee," Johnson said.

Under this program, FmHA guarantees a loan made by a bank, savings and loan, insurance company, Federal Land Bank or other qualified lender against a certain percentage of loss. Since the mid-1980's, guarantees have become the major component of FmHA's farm loan program, accounting for more than 50 percent of all farm loans.

The 1990 fiscal year appropriations bill authorizes $74.5 million in guaranteed loans for water and waste disposal loans and $23.9 million for other community facilities on a national basis.

Prospective borrowers and lenders interested in the program should contact the Farmers Home Administration State Office at 101 South Main, Suite 102, Temple, Texas 76501 (817-774-1306).

Not even the most efficient protective device in an electrical system will do its job unless it is allowed to function as intended. Know the functions and limitations of appliances and supply equipment; never operate beyond those limitations.

GROUNDING

Many appliances and power tools are supplied with three-wire cords and plugs; the third wire is used to ground exposed metal parts. In the event of an electrical fault in the appliance, the fault current is drained away into the grounding systems rather than exposing the user to shock. It is necessary to make sure that the ground circuit is completed at the receptacle for this safeguard to be effective.

Never cut the ground pin from the plug in order to operate the device from a two-wire receptacle. The two-wire system provides no protective ground circuit and may expose the user to dangerous current. When in doubt, consult an electrician to secure access to ground.

The Texas Veterans Home Improvement Program is simple and easy to use. The program offers eligible Texas Veterans a maximum $17,500, 15-year, fixed-rate loan at 10.5 percent interest (plus FHA insurance). The minimum loan amount is $4,000. If the amount loaned is less than $7,500, the maximum term of the loan will be 10 years. No down payment is required and all loans are FHA insured. There is no penalty for an early payoff.

The Texas VHIP is one of three benefit programs available to Texas Veterans through the State of Texas. This program is in no way associated with the federal Veterans Administration.

How to Apply:

Veterans may request an application for eligibility cer-tification through either the Texas Veterans Land Board or from an approved lending institution in their area.

* Loans will be made through approved lenders and the work will be performed by lender-approved contractors. Lenders are required to be FHA-approved to originate HUD Title I loans and all loans must be eligible for financing under the HUD Title I program.

* The lending institution will determine if an applicant is financially qualified for the loan.

* The Texas Veterans Commission will determine if an applicant is a qualified Texas Veteran.

Certification Fee:

Application requests will be handled on a first-come, first-served basis. Veterans will be required to submit a non-refundable $25 certification fee when requesting an application for certification. A $25 check, made payable to the Veterans Home Improvement Program, must accompany the application request. Mail to: The Texas Veterans Land Board, 1700 N. Congress, #740, Austin, Texas 78701-1496.

How to Get Your Loan:

* On receipt of the Veteran's completed eligibility application and the $25 certification fee, the Texas Veterans Commission will determine if an applicant is a qualified Texas Veteran.

* A certificate of eligibility will then be sent to the Veteran. The Veteran should then take the certificate to a participating financial institution or to the lender-approved contractor of his or her choice. A list of participating financial institutions and lender-approved contractors in your area can be obtained by calling 1-800-252-VETS.

* All work must be done by lender-approved contractors.

* After credit approval by the lender, work on the home improvement project can begin immediately.

* The loan is then purchased from the lender by the Texas Veterans Land Board and the lender is reimbursed.

* For the Veteran's protection, and before payment is made to the contractor at the completion of a project, the Veteran must sign a completion certificate to show that he or she is pleased with the finished work and that the terms of the agreement have been met to his or her satisfaction.

The Texas Veterans Home Improvement Loan Program is not a refinance program. No proceeds shall be used in whole or in part to refinance any prior indebtedness of the mortgagor or on the property.

Closing costs will vary depending on the loan and the participating lender. An approved lender or contractor can advise you of exact closing costs.

If you need assistance or desire more information on the above, call the Texas Veterans Land Board's toll-free number 1-800-252-VETS.

Texas Oil Production Rate Continues At 100 Percent Of Market Demand

The Railroad Commission has continued the Texas oil production rate for May 1990 at 100 percent of market demand.

Chairman Kent Hance and Commissioner John Sharp continued the top production allowable after reviewing oil companies' nominations to buy a total of 1,860,123 barrels of Texas oil per day. The May nominations total, an increase of 3,443 barrels daily when compared to April purchaser nominations, estimates Texas oil production in the coming month. May 1989 nominations totaled 1,914,046 barrels daily.

The Commission first went to the ceiling level for oil production in April 1972. It applies to all fields in the state except those that are assigned lower legal rates of production so that reservoir pressures will not be depleted before the maximum amount of oil has been recovered.

Chairman Hance also reported that May nominations for the purchase of Texas gas totaled 20,031,969 Mcf/d (thousand cubic feet per day). April nominations totaled 20,878,523 Mcf/d. May 1989 nominations amounted to 21,271,467 Mcf/d.

The next statewide oil and gas production allowable hearing will begin at 10 a.m. May 17 at the Holiday Inn Emerald Beach, 1102 S. Shoreline Blvd., in Corpus Christi.

Major purchasers filed these May nominations from the floor at the hearing: Amoco Production Company, 148,000 barrels, unchanged; Conoco Inc., 62,000 barrels, down 1,000; Exxon Company, USA, 161,000 barrels, up 1,000; and Phillips 66 Company, 78,000 barrels, up 1,000.

Chairman Hance reported that crude oil and petroleum products imported into the U.S. averaged 8,018,000 barrels per day for the month of February 1990. This was an increase of 194,000 barrels per day from the same period a year ago.

Thinking of buying a new air conditioner or furnace?

Today many home owners are buying neither one because the smartest unit to buy is an all season heat pump.

A heat pump cools your home in the summer and heats it in the winter. And not only that, it'll pump savings back into your pocket because it's one of the most energy efficient cooling and heating systems you can buy.

As a WTU customer, you can qualify for $500 cash when you install an electric heat pump and your home meets WTU's Energy Saving Plan requirements.

For more information on an all season heat pump, call your cooling and heating dealer or WTU.

Texas Expected To Be Nation's Second Largest State During '90s

Texas is expected to become easily the nation's second most populous state before the turn of the century. In every decade since it became the 28th state in 1845, its growth rate has exceeded the nation's. By 1988, Texas' population had climbed to 16,841,000, behind California and New York.

The Lone Star State, second in terms of land area -- but still less than half the size of Alaska -- has a reputation for doing things on a grand scale and this image is reflected in its growth. During the 1850-1860 decade, the first after Texas entered statehood, its population nearly tripled, from 212,592 to 604,215. Just 30 years later, in 1880, a total of 1,591,749 Texans were counted.

Texas was part of Mexico until it won its independence by revolution in 1835-36. The Texas Republic voluntarily joined the United States and was admitted to the Union in 1845.

The Lone Star State's most rapid growth rate in the 20th century -- 27.8 percent -- occurred during the 1900-1910 decade; its largest numerical increase, 3,030,536, came between 1970 and 1980. The latter figure is nearly the equivalent of Oklahoma's total population. In 1960, Texas ranked sixth in population among the 50 states; in 1988 it ranked third.

The end of Texas' dramatic population growth is not yet in sight. Between 1986 and 2000, the Lone Star State is one of 10 projected to grow at least twice as fast as the national average. The others are Alaska, Arizona, California, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Nevada, New Mexico and New Hampshire. California will remain the most populous state, followed by Texas, New York, Florida and Illinois. By 2000, these five states are projected to account for 37 percent of the entire United States population.

At its first census in 1850, Texas' two largest towns were Galveston (population 4,177) and San Antonio (3,488). By 1860, San Antonio was the state's largest city with 8,235 inhabitants; by 1980 it was Texas' third biggest city and the nation's 11th largest.

Other population trends in Texas since the 1980 census:

* The average population per household continues to decline. In Texas, there were 2.74 persons per household in 1988, compared with 2.82 recorded by the 1980 census. Both were higher than the national ratios of 2.62 and 2.75, respectively.

* The number of households (occupied housing units) in Texas increased 22 percent between 1980 and 1988, while the population grew by 18.4 percent. Nationally during this period, the number of households increased 13.9 percent compared with 8.5 percent growth in the total population.

* The number of persons 65 years old and over in Texas climbed 21.5 percent between 1980 and 1988, from about 1,371,000 to about 1,666,000. By contrast, the national increase for this age category was 18.9 percent during this period. Persons 65 and over in 1988 made up 9.9 percent of Texas' population, compared with 12.4 percent for the United States as a whole.

* Texas' numerical population increase between 1980 and 1988 totaled 2,612,000. Of this sum, 1,117,000 was attributed to net migration from other states or from outside the United States.

* On July 1, 1988, Texas ranked 46th among the states in median age -- 30.1 years; the national median age was 32.3 years. The oldest state in median age was Florida at 36.4 years; Utah was the youngest at 25.7 years. In 1980, Texas' median age was 28 years compared with 30 years nationally.

April Proclaimed Child Abuse Prevention Month In Texas

Child abuse and neglect are tragic problems which afflict as many as ten percent of the children in Texas. Last year, in Texas alone, there were 108,090 alleged victims of child abuse and neglect.

Child abuse and neglect not only cause immediate human pain, but also cost society because of the long term effects upon these children. Abused children often experience difficulty within the educational system and many are not capable of functioning successfully later in life due to their extreme lack of self-esteem. Child abuse also is a contributing factor to the crime problem.

It is both morally and practically imperative that a humane society respond to the needs of youngsters and families before the devastating victimization of children occurs.

There are numerous organizations in Texas providing and promoting services to assure the fundamental rights of all children. Community commitment, volunteer efforts and the support of all citizens are crucial to assure the availability of such services to Texas' children and parents.

Children are the most precious and valuable natural resource of our state because they are the hope and the promise of the future. We must provide them with the love and attention they need to grow and develop into the happy, healthy and productive individuals who will serve as the leaders of tomorrow.

Therefore, Governor William P. Clements has designated April as Child Abuse Prevention Month in Texas and urges the appropriate recognition.

"I expect to pass through life but once. If, therefore, there be any kindness I can show, or any good thing I can do to any fellow being, let me do it now, as I shall not pass this way again."

Sabers, Saddles, Spurs Planned Sunday In San Angelo

Hear the clatter of hooves, creak of saddle leather and jingle of spurs when Sabers, Saddles and Spurs: The Fort Concho Equestrian Review thunders back into San Angelo on Sunday, April 29.

The action-packed day begins at noon when the gates open to the public at Fort Concho, the best-preserved Indian Wars frontier fort in the nation. Activities for this second annual, award-winning equestrian review start with a grand parade of over one hundred horses and their riders at 1:30 p.m. followed by the posting of the colors by the Fort Concho Cavalry.

Show jumping begins at 2 p.m. when quarterhorses and thoroughbreds sail over a variety of barricades, or jumps, positioned in an intricate pattern on the historic parade field.

Steers bawl, lassos twirl and the chuckwagon creaks when the crew works the herd at 2:30 p.m. demonstrating essential skills still used on the range today. This will take place down the middle of the parade ground.

At 3 p.m., polo returns to San Angelo. Two teams will play a match demonstrating the talent and stamina. Between the polo chukkers, or periods of play, spectators can see the benefits of therapeutic riding demonstrated by both children and adults in the Sonrisas (Spanish for smiles) Therapeutic Riding program. Wheelchairs and crutches are abandoned in favor of the horse as these exceptional equestrians display their special skills.

The final event charges down the field at 5 p.m. when the men from Co. D, 4th Regiment, U.S. Cavalry, Memorial, demonstrate horsemanship skills as practiced over one hundred years ago by brave soldiers protecting the Western frontier. This unit of over 35 volunteers are uniformed and equipped with replica gear from 1879 as they go through a series of skills outlined in Upton's manual, the cavalry "textbook" in use during Fort Concho's active period, 1867-1889.

The Cavalry will be joined by both the Fort Concho Infantry and Buffalo Soldiers, a unit of black soldiers named by the Indians for their prowess in battle and resemblance to the buffalo, plus two authentic Army wagons drawn by teams of mules.

At 5:30 p.m. polo players will receive awards for best player and horse plus gifts for participating. Then the Fort Concho Cavalry will retire the colors and all participants will "pass in review", ending the day's field activities.

Throughout the afternoon, spectators are invited to view exhibits on grounds during Sabers, Saddles and Spurs. A collection of decorative and historical spurs plus sabers and saddles will be on display in the Mess Hall directly behind Enlisted Men's Barracks 6.

Around the 20-acre site, vendors will offer a variety of food and soft drinks for sale. Bleacher seating will be available at either end of East Avenue C and D on a first come, first serve basis, free of charge.

Admission for the afternoon is $5 for adults. Children under 12 are admitted free. The Pimms' Cup Party at 12 Noon and the Pavilion Party at 6 p.m. require reservations and advanced ticket purchase as do tailgate parking spaces along the field.

For reservations and more information call Fort Concho at 915-657-4441.

'TEXAS' Begins 24th Year June 13

Cowboys ride the range, Indians perch on rocks, a thunderstorm sends lightning down the 600 foot canyon wall and a train rumbles across the prairie.

It's "TEXAS", and for 24 years the musical drama has entertained two million visitors with spectacular sound and lighting, creative dancing and outstanding music.

Set beneath the majestic cliffs of Palo Duro Canyon near Amarillo and Canyon, the historical show tells of the settling of the Panhandle of Texas each night except Sunday from mid-June through late August.

The production begins with the sound of a bugle as horsemen ride the rim of the canyon wall carrying the state and national flags.

Suddenly, great waves of singers and dancers sweep across the stage, moving with effortless motion and sound to "invite you all to come to 'TEXAS'."

During the next three hours, you follow a cast of 80 as they tell the early Panhandle story of drought and plenty, sorrow and joy.

Written by Pulitzer Prize winning author Paul Green, the musical drama highlights the bitter struggle between a determined farmer and area cattle ranchers, and the way their eventual collaboration gave rise to a new railroad and town.

"TEXAS" tells of the land and the spell it cast over the men who settled it," Margaret Harper, founder of the show, said.

Much of the innovation for the production comes from Director Neil Hess. According to Hess, after complete renovation in 1987, "TEXAS" now has the most sophisticated sound and light technology of any outdoor drama.

Paul Green selected the music for "TEXAS" (though it is occasionally rearranged), and Hess uses a 30 voice choir and a small orchestra as the backbone for many scenes.

"TEXAS" was the idea of Mrs. Harper. In 1961, after reading about Paul Green's outdoor dramas in other regions of the United States, Harper invited the author to visit Palo Duro Canyon and the seed was planted. What has bloomed is one of the most popular outdoor dramas in the world with attendance soaring to 100,000 persons each season.

Produced by the non-profit Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, "TEXAS" has board members in each of the 40 Panhandle communities.

In 1990 "TEXAS" will play nightly except Sunday from June 13 through August 25 at 8:30 p.m. in the Pioneer Amphitheatre in Palo Duro Canyon State Park. An optional chuckwagon beef barbecue dinner is served prior to every performance from 6:30 to 8 p.m.

Reservations are encouraged and can be obtained by writing P.O. Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79105 or by calling the "TEXAS" office at 806-655-2181.
