18 CHILDREN IN 9 YEARS.
THE PRESIDENT WILL BOSS.
STRANGE OLD CHINESE.
McNARY ASKS ADVICE.

Let ladies who feel they really "can't afford more than two children with everything so expensive," consider Frau Alfred Voellner, of Demmin, Germany. Twenty-eight years old, she has eighteen children, all under nine years of age. She had a boy in 1920, a girl in 1922 and four sets of quadruplets in 1923, 1925, 1927 and 1929, sixteen children in four births. All alive, ten boys eight girls.

It was said here during the war that because conquerors no longer dragged women away into slavery, Germany would soon recover.

Frau Voellner confirms that.

Washington says President Hoover intends to be boss of his party. He might well, since it gave him 22,000,000 votes. Republicans of the South are told the Republican party must be reconstructed there on a sound permanent basis, on the assumption that the war is past and forgotten, and that the South will join Republican prosperity, politically if the Republicans behave themselves.

Selling Federal officers to the highest bidders is to be stopped.

Some Congressmen insist that President Hoover must write a farm relief bill and let the party pass it. The President will probably say, "No, you write it and pass it. If it isn't too foolish I will sign it."

It is not easy to confer to a disorganized industry, millions of men on millions of farms, producing without method or plan, the prosperity enjoyed by well organized quantity production that pay good dividends.

A very old Chinese statesman named Wu Tze-Hui was one of three that on their word of honor guaranteed the life and safety of Li Chai-sun, governor of Canton. Li Chai-sun was executed by the Nationalist in spite of the guarantee.

The aged Wu Tze-hui considered himself disgraced and killed himself, although he had nothing to do with the execution of the man guaranteed. Many Westerners will find it difficult to understand that suicide.

Senator McNary, head of the Committee on farm relief, asks John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Henry Ford, Charles M. Schwab, J. P. Morgan, Paul M. Warburg and Owen D. Young to give advice.

That interesting collection of farmers would probably tell the farmers first of all to organize their business, eliminate lost motion and time, including an hour and a half for the hired man to harness and unharness the team. But Rockefeller, Schwab and Young decline to advise, Morgan is in Europe. The farmers will have to work out their problem.

Sir Hubert Wilkins plans to cross the Arctic in a submarine, under the ice, to map out the depth of water, shape of the basin containing the Arctic, etc.

Eldorado Lions To Have First Anniversary Banquet, May 1

At the regular meeting of the Eldorado Lions club last Wednesday, the coming Anniversary Banquet received quite a bit of interest and discussion.

The place for the Banquet to be held has not as yet been definitely stated but it will be either in the Presbyterian Basement or given by the Methodist ladies at the Rock Tourist Camp. Either place will be satisfactory and convenient for all members.

The program committee is at work preparing a special program and we feel sure that it will be one that will be enjoyed by all present. Special music will be enjoyed also.

Each member of the Club is requested to be present and will be allowed one guest—wife, sweetheart, friend or prospective member of the club. Each member will be drawn on to pay for two plates, whether he attends or not. This was decided by the committee as the best way to promote the financial conditions of the affair.

Lion members, why not attend this meeting and get what you are required to pay for. It is your duty to the Club for you to be there. Let's make it one hundred per cent on May 1st. at 8 P. M.

Mr. R. A. Young of San Angelo was a visitor in Eldorado the first of this week. He gives the members of the Eldorado Lions Club a special invitation to attend the State Meet there on May 9 and 10th. That will conflict with our entertainment of the Sheep and Goat Raisers Association here but they can expect us on the 10th anyway.

Statement of the Ownership, Management, Circulation, etc., Required by the Act of Congress of August 24, 1912.

Of The Eldorado Success, published weekly at Eldorado, Texas, for April 5th, 1929. State of Texas, County of Schleicher.

EXECUTIVE COUNTY MEETING

Sheep and Goat Raisers

The local County and Executive Committee has a splendid program and insist that every ranchman in the county be present at the Association Meeting in Eldorado on May 9th.

Address will be delivered by Judge Rodger Gillis and C. C. Belcher of Del Rio and President T. A. Kincaid of Ozona.

They will discuss subjects of vital interest to each ranchman and it will pay you to attend and hear them.

Every stockman in the county should back up the Association which you are receiving intold benefits.

Arrangements are being made for the entertainment of the visiting Ladies and a special invitation is extended to all wives, daughters, and sweethearts of the Executive Committee to attend this meeting.

BAPTIST MEETING TO BEGIN FRIDAY NIGHT

The Baptist Revival will start at the Baptist Church Friday night April 19th.

The Rev. W. T. Hamor of Winters, Texas will conduct the services and J. A. Boston of Fort Worth will be in charge of the singing.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend these services.

C. M. T. C. TRAINING CAMP OPENS JUNE 14

The Citizens Military Training Camp will open this summer on June 14th and end July 13th, according to a report from the County Chairman of Civilian Military Training Camps, Mr. J. B. Sammons.

The boys from here will enter the camp at Ft. Sam Houston. The following boys have signed up and more are expected: Jack Edmiston, Ebon Nix and Edwin Sharp.

This training is offered every summer by the government, all expenses paid and boys from 17 to 24 years of age may enter.

QUILT MADE FROM BAGS GIFT TO FIRST LADY

Famous Illinois Quilter Makes Unusual Gift To Mrs Hoover

Washington—Mrs. Hoover has just been presented with an old fashioned quilt made by Mrs. J. L. Murray, of Bloomington, Ill., a famous quilter in her state. This inaugural gift was made out of sixteen flour bags, six of which she dyed a Yale blue.

Five years ago Mrs. Hoover saw and admired an old hand-made quilt, a family heirloom which had been made nearly a century ago by two New England sisters for the wedding outfit of one of them. Mrs. Hoover liked it so much that she had it duplicated as a wedding gift for her son, Herbert, Jr.

When Mr. Hoover was elected President, Mrs. Murray, whose own grandmother had been a quilter of note in her day, looked up the pattern of the quilt and determined to make a copy of it as a gift of welcome to the new First Lady of the Land upon her entrance into the White House.

The quilt is a striking one made of blue and white blocks in the "double Irish chain" pattern. It measures 7 by 8 feet and the intricate quilting in scroll patterns Mrs. Murray did all by hand using more than 1,100 yards of thread. Since some of the White House bedrooms are furnished in Colonial fashion, the quilt is in keeping with its surroundings.

Mrs. Murray selected flour bags for the "Hoover Quilt" because for over ten years she has been teaching Illinois farm women how to make use of these bags.

OLD GIN BEING MOVED

The old gin that has for several seasons stood in the southeast part is being moved and rebuilt next to the one on the Sonora Highway.

Mr. Cobb who recently bought the gin from the McCormick Brothers is going to carry out the old policy of giving the farmers service, but the two gins will be much easier on the farmers. So Mr. Farmer don't worry about this fall's ginning. Come right on in with your cotton and get waited on in a hurry.

LARGE CROWD AT TENDS DANCE AT ROCK TOURIST CAMP

One of the largest and semmed to be the best satisfied crowd of dancers attended the opening dance given at the Rock Tourist Camp last Friday night. The music was the best that has been secured for any dance in Eldorado for some time, being Henry Arman and his New Yorkers, originally a Broadway orchestra but they have been in the South this winter and are now playing a contract with the Hilton Hotel in Abilene.

They kept the dancers going most of the time and the last strains were as appealing to the artistic toe as the first. Most all of the dancers were ready to call it a night, but hated to give up when the orchestra leader called the last dance of the evening.

BOY SCOUTS

Every member of the Boy Scout troop of Eldorado are requested to be present at the meeting Friday night. Come prepared to make final arrangements for the District Meet at Sonora, April 26th.

ELDORADO HIGH SCHOOL MAKE GOOD SHOWING AT DISTRICT MEET

The Eldorado High gorgot about the school work for one day last week and most everyone attended the district meet at San Angelo last Friday and Saturday.

We are certainly proud of th showing that the entries in the different classes of competition made.

The first day was taken up with tennis, declamations, essays, etc. Eldorado had several entries in this competition. R. L. Sample won first place in the Junior Declamation contest J. C. Bullion, first in the Senior extemporaneous speaking, Fannie Hardt placed second in the girls division in declamation contest. There were several who made a good record in their work but were defeated.

Saturday the entries in track and field events made a very remarkable showing as they were pitted against some of the strongest competition in this section of the state. San Angelo walked away with high honors of course but that was expected. The Eldorado relay ran second to San Angelo team a team that has already received state recognition in this race.

Little Murphy was just a little too short " to beat the speedy Morrison of San Angelo but when the race was over the speedy dasher from the San Angelo school realized that he had had no easy time in winning his race. Eldorado will send six students to Austin to enter the State meet there in May. Those that will probably make the trip are J. C. Bullion, extemporaneous speaker, Prince Murphy, Wince Murphy, Edward Ratliff, Hayne Graves, relay runners, and Glenn Ratliff, hurdles. This is a very good representation from our school and we hope that they will carry off some of the honors there.

WHITTEN WELL NO.1 REACHES 3540 FEET

The Senior Editor visited the Whitten Oil Well Wednesday morning and found the well shut down awaiting orders from the promoters. Mr. J. Keiffmeyer was on the job watching the well until orders reached him what to do.

The well has reached a depth of 3,540 feet. The drilling for the first 1,000 feet was slow on encountering so much water, but after that depth was reached the drilling was speeded up and the remainder of the well was drilled much faster.

A meeting was in Progress in San Angelo Wednesday planning on continuing the well to a depth of 8,000 feet or more unless production is struck.

Some very good showings were found in this well and the men think by going deeper that they will be able to strike oil.

EDEN ORGANIZES LIONS CLUB

We notice in the last issue of the Eden Echo that the town has arrived at the conclusion that it needs a Lions Club, and with the assistance of members from Menard and San Angelo they organized a Club last Friday night April 12th. Only seventeen of the required members that it takes to organize a club of this kind were secured the first afternoon and the rest were to be secured last Monday when officials of the San Angelo Club were to be present and help in the organization.

We are very glad to see our neighboring town take this step as no town can get along without some organization of this kind. One can easily see the good that the Lion's Clubs have been doing in the different towns. Most every step that is taken for the good of the town, you will usually find the Lions Club at the bottom of it pushing it along.

NOT A SINGLE ARREST

The town of Hooper Nebraska, has laid claim to the "Law Abiding Championship."

It is a town of 1,014 population and during 1928 not a single arrest was made within its borders.

All the people obeyed the law. At least none were caught disobeying it.

William J. Dau, Chairman of the board of trustees of that town, says that the churches are well attended, the schools are well filled and the people mostly "mind their own business."

That's the valuable lesson that can be learned from the record of this model town. The people "mostly mind their own business."

When people do that, there is very little chance of their breaking any of the laws. More than that, there is very little chance of the heartbreaking tragedies that happen mostly because people attend to other peoples business.

Well said Mr. Dau.

Your town is to be congratulated. But can you feature a town of this kind. There certainly must not be much fun in living in a model town like this.

WOOD THAT WON'T BURN

A Norwegian engineer has invented a process for impregnating wood with a substance that renders it fire proof.

A building composed of timbers of impregnated wood, it is reported, was erected near the Norwegian capitol.

All efforts to set fire failed. Provided the cost of the process is not too great, this discovery is very valuable. It will mean safer homes. It will mean reduced insurance rates.

The very thought brings to mind all kinds of possibilities.

It strikes us too that this kind of wood has been used before. Anyway something similar is used in some brand of foreign matches.

A RECORD VOTER

William Potterfield died at his home in Belmont, Ohio, recently and has held the distinction of voting for 16 presidents, starting with Abraham Lincoln and continuing to Herbert Hoover.

DUNCAN'S CAFE

Fly trapping to reduce screw worms that infest sores of live stock sometimes causing death and always resulting in various kinds of losses, has been conducted on a systematic scale by about 20 ranchers in Menard county for three years in cooperation with W. R. Nisbet, county agent. A total of 300 traps have been kept baited and periodically emptied by a man employed for the purpose with results so favorable that the work is continuing this year. Screw worm cases were cut in half last year with in the trapped area.

PROOF

He was a cautious young man and a firm believer in eugenics, but when he met the doctor's lovely daughter he fell in love with her, and finally threw discretion to the winds and asked her to marry him.

She accepted him and he was in the seventh heaven all evening.

Next morning, however, his natural caution returned, and he called upon her father.

"Oh, doctor," he said, "your daughter has promised to marry me. I—I wanted to know—that is to say, I came to ask if there is any insanity in your family."

The doctor looked at him gravely over his glasses. "There must be," he said.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

proposing an amendment to Section 5 of Article 4 of the Constitution of the State of Texas fixing the salary of the Governor; providing for its submission to the voters of the State of Texas as required by the Constitution, and making appropriation therefor.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 5 of Article 4 of the Constitution of the State of Texas be so amended as to hereafter read as follows:

"Section 5. The Governor shall, at stated times, receive as compensation for his services an annual salary of Ten Thousand Dollars and no more, and shall have the use and occupation of the Governor's Mansion, fixtures and furniture; provided that this amendment shall not become effective until the third Tuesday in January, 1931."

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held throughout the State on July 16, 1929, at which election all voters favoring said proposed amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words: "For the amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas fixing the salary of the Governor." And those voters opposing said proposed amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words: "Against the amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas fixing the salary of the Governor."

Sec. 3. [The Governor of the State of Texas is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation for said election and to have same published as required by the Constitution for amendments thereto.

Sec. 4. The sum of Five Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the Treasury of the State of Texas not otherwise appropriated to pay the expenses of such publication and election.

EDUCATIONAL PREPARATION A GROWING REQUIREMENT FOR SUCCESS IN MODERN BUSINESS

Death-Knell Sounded for Guesswork and Slipshod Methods by Advancing Technical Proficiency in Finance, Trade and Industry—How Banks Are Developing a Professionally Qualified Generation of Younger Bankers.

By HAROLD STONIER
American Bankers Association

THE great school of Experience is still holding classes in America, but the scientific spirit of the age has so generally invaded the workshops of industry and trade that they have largely become technical research and training laboratories in themselves and are no longer run on the old-fashioned cut-and-try methods of former generations when Experience was considered the only teacher. It would be hard to find a working force in any pre-eminently successful business or industrial organization in the United States today but what the dominating leadership is schooled in the scientific principles of its specific field, whether manufacturing, merchandising or finance. The rapidly advancing standards of business in this country, with their relentless demands for efficiency as the only hope for survival in the competitive struggle for economic existence, has sounded the death-knell for guesswork and slipshod methods.

HAROLD STONIER.

As a result, educational preparation in the techniques of commerce, industry and finance are virtually essential to outstanding success in these fields, as it is already an absolute prerequisite in the various recognized professions. This is not to depreciate the value of native ability and experience in business, but education after all is merely a means for helping the individual to apply the net good of the accumulated experience of many to his own day's work—a means for helping special native ability to come into its own more rapidly and surely and for enabling all classes of ability to gain the maximum of success to which they are entitled.

These facts are plainly recognized by practical, work-a-day business in every line. Every progressive business organization in America is emphasizing the importance of education as never before. Education has come to be looked upon as the answer to many of the problems within the organization as well as to problems affecting industry as a whole.

Business Organizing Institutes

Institutes for developing specifically qualified workers are being operated or organized in many fields of commercial and industrial activity. These institutes are trying various types of educational work with a distinct trend toward more and more emphasis upon education for the rank and file of business employees of all grades.

We have been having business failures in this country at the rate of about 2,000 a month. This score speaks for itself. It is glaring evidence of incompetence on the part of thousands of business men in handling the problems inherent in their fields of endeavor. The detailed records show that practically 75% of business failures in this country is due to lack of training and competence on the part of those who failed. This is conclusive evidence that no one can afford to undertake executive business responsibilities without adequate education and training. It is for that reason that every enlightened business organization is today insisting as never before that its employees take advantage of some type of technical training.

American banking is fortunate and has just cause for pride in that it has a record of twenty-eight years of definitely organized educational activity among its workers to its credit for developing trained bankers. People in banks in large numbers are taking advantage of the educational opportunity given by the great non-commercial college of the banking business, the American Institute of Banking. They see on every hand evidences of the value of the training it gives. Of the 10,000 graduates of this Institute, 70% now occupy official positions in American banks. The other 30% are still too young to have attained such heights. Here is an example and an encouragement to the people of all lines of business.

The American Institute of Banking has a membership of 64,320. Of these 33,851 are class enrollees, comprising younger bank people, both men and women, who are learning the scientific technique of their chosen business at the same time they are engaged in the practical work of earning their livings at it. The difference between the 33,851 enrolled in classes and the 64,320 total membership comprises older bankers who have taken the Institute courses in the past or are at the present time sponsoring some type of educational work in the organization.

Banking Educates Its People

It has been estimated that there are probably 375,000 bank officers and employees in the United States at the present time. These figures would mean that about one banker in every six is either enrolled in Institute classes in banking or is actively supporting some educational function of the organization. No statement could possibly give more emphasis to the importance placed on education by the banking interests of America than these facts.

This American Institute of Banking is the educational section of the American Bankers Association. It was formed twenty-eight years ago by bank employees and officers and has been carried on ever since as a voluntary organization. Many students who have graduated continue their membership in order to give active support to some type of educational work other than the actual class program.

The greater part of the educational work is carried on in 200 cities and towns in the United States. Here the local chapter of the American Institute of Banking has its regularly organized courses of study under supervision of the national body with local instructors and directors to fulfil the standard requirements regarding text material, classwork and examinations. Instructors are recruited from the staffs of leading universities, from members of the legal profession and from among accountants and bank men who have made a record in some field of activity in banking that marks them as experts. All instructors must be approved by the national organization. They are compensated by the local units. The students pay tuition, in which they are frequently aided by their employing banks, and this, together with contributions made by the banks for general classroom overhead, finances the educational program.

Education a Pathway to Advancement

Leading banks in various parts of the country are insisting that their employees take work in the Institute. This is frequently a part of their contract of employment at the time they enter the bank. It is also now quite generally understood in the field of American banking that study in the American Institute of Banking is considered one of the basic factors in the promotion of the individual to a place of importance in a bank.

The Standard Certificate of the American Institute of Banking is annually gaining a greater and wider recognition among practical bankers throughout the United States. These certificates are coming to have the same importance in the banking world that certificates of education have in the field of the general professions. This is a practical example and one thoroughly well demonstrated by seasoned experience of the new spirit of American business.

ONE COW VS. ONE DOZEN

"Why milk twelve poor cows when one good cow will do the work of the twelve?" asks the bulletin of the American Bankers Association Agricultural Commission. It declares that analysis of more than 100,000 individual yearly records from cows on test in dairy herd improvement associations indicate that on the average: Cows that produced 100 lbs. butterfat a year returned $14 each over feed cost; Cows that produced 200 lbs. butterfat a year returned $54 each over feed cost; Cows that produced 300 lbs. butterfat a year returned $96 each over feed cost; Cows that produced 400 lbs. butterfat a year returned $138 each over feed cost; Cows that produced 500 lbs. butterfat a year returned $178 each over feed cost;

In other words, one 500-pound producer will return $10 more over feed cost than twelve 100 lb. producers. This does not take into account, either, the added labor of milking and caring for the larger herd, or the much greater expense of providing stable room for a dozen instead of a single animal. The figures are based on farm prices from all parts of the country.

SCHOOL NOTES

Editor-in-chief—Prince Murphy. Assistant editor—Vera Wade. Assistant editor—Glenn Ratliff. Reporters: J. C. Bullion, Lola Davis, J. C. Kinchen, Louise Williams, Albert McGinty, Linna Parker and Fannie Hardt.

These news notes are prepared by the students of the Eldorado High School and submitted to The Success for publication.

DISTRICT TRACK MEET

Eldorado with the two Murphys and two Ratliffs and H. Graves amasses a total of 12 points to take fourth place out of 21 teams represented at the District Meet at San Angelo the 12 and 13th. San Angelo, of course ran off with the "lions share", with Winters 2nd, with 14 1/2 points and Eden 3rd with 13 points.

We were running against the best in the state, so are not discouraged by just winning seconds in the 100 220 and relay but intend to see what they have at Austin May 3rd and 4th.

"Little" Murphy pushed Tommy Morrison in both the 100 and 220 yard dash, making him put out all he had. Glenn ran a good race in the 120 low hurdles, but was beaten out of 2nd, by about 1 foot. He also did good in the high jumping until he unfortunately pulled a rib loose and had to be taken out. In the mile relay Hayne, Edward and Prince gave Wince such a lead over class B schools that he distanced them by 75 yards to take second. Roscoe put up a good fight in the field events but lacked the experience and practice. Lefty and Blonde ran good races.

This is Eldorado's first year in track and the boys have endeavored to gain recognition for the school and town by trying hard to win but when they do lose, they have done so as true sportsmen. We hope that the interest aroused in League work this year will continue as long as the school is here.

ELDORADO TIES FOR THIRD PLACE AT DISTRICT MEET IN LITERARY EVENTS

With a total score of 30 points Eldorado won a tie with Ballinger for third place at the Interscholastic League District meet at San Angelo on April 12th and 13th. San Angelo won first place with a total of 70 points, most of which were won in track. Winters won second place with a total of about 35 points.

The points won by Eldorado were distributed as follows:
1st in Extemporaneous speaking ----- 15 points
2nd in senior girls Declamation ----- 5 points
1st in Junior Boys Declamation ----- 10 points
Total ----- 30 points.

ELDORADO TO SEND REPRESENTATIVES TO STATE MEET IN MAY.

For the first time in many years the Eldorado High School representative will be sent to Austin to take part in the annual State meet of the University Interscholastic League. The meet is to begin on May 2nd and continue through Saturday, May 4th. Winners of first place at the District meet are eligible to participate in the State meet with all expenses paid, except in Junior declamation.

The students of Eldorado who expect to go to Austin are: J. C. Bullion — Extemporaneous Speaking. Prince Murphy, Wince Murphy, Edward Ratliff, Hayne Graves, Glenn Ratliff — Relay.

Hurdles. Eldorado should be proud of these students and do all possible to encourage them to do their very best in the State Meet.

For this year the rule in regard to Junior declamation has been changed so that winners at the district meet do not go to the state meet. [This is unfortunate, as R. L. Sample had a good chance to win greater honors there.]

BASKET BALL SWEATERS.

The basket ball team received their sweaters last Friday evening. They were ordered from Lowe and Campbell and are a light weight sweater with a gold E, and service stripes. Those receiving sweaters were: Buck Graves, Prince Murphy, Wince Murphy, Glenn Ratliff, Edward Ratliff, Cicero Swift, Roscoe Parker, and Coach Will-

"IT WON'T BE LONG NOW"

On April 15, we began our last six weeks period of school. Our closing six weeks has been a very busy period, because we had both the school and district meet in it; however we should make this last six weeks even a busier one in the way of studying. Each pupil should do his best to make up all lost time. As we all say "It won't be long now" until school closes, so we'll do our best to reap more this six weeks than we have sown during the entire year.

CHAPEL PROGRAM WED.

The school was entertained last Wednesday morning by a group of high school pupils, who under the directions of Miss Flanagan gave the following:
1. Song by assembly.
2. Reading — Mable McClatchey.
3. News Paper Talk — Prince Murphy, Glenn Ratliff, and Vera Wade.
4. Beauty contest. — An English Grammar play.

BEAUTY CONTEST

Newspaper Characters: Edwin Kent, and Alta Stevens.
Judges: J. C. Bullion, Joe Muller Christian, Kenneth Green, J. H. Moore.

A JOINT RESOLUTION BEING RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 2 and 3 of Article 5 of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as to hereafter read as follows "Article 5. Section 2. The Supreme Court shall consist of a Chief Justice and eight Associate Justices, any five of whom shall constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of five shall be necessary to a decision of a case; in other matters, until otherwise provided by Law, the jurisdiction of the Court shall be exercised under such regulations and orders as the Court by a majority vote may prescribe. No person shall be eligible to the office of Chief Justice or Associate Justice of the Supreme Court unless he be at the time of his election, a citizen of the United States and of this State and unless he shall have attained the age of thirty years, and shall have been a practicing lawyer or a judge of a court, or such lawyer and judge together at least seven years. Said chief Justice and Associate Justices shall be elected by the qualified voters of the State at a general election, shall hold their offices six years, or until their successors are elected and qualified, and shall receive such compensation as may be provided by law. In case of a vacancy in the office of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the Governor shall fill the vacancy until the next general election for State officers, and at such general election the vacancy for the unexpired term shall be filled by the election by the qualified voters of the State. The Judges of the Supreme Court who may be in office at the time his amendment takes effect shall continue in office until the expiration of their term of office under the present Constitution, and until their successors are elected and qualified. When this amendment takes effect, the Governor shall immediately appoint six additional Associate Justices of the Supreme Court for terms of office so that the terms of two of such appointed Associate Justices shall expire with the term of office of each of the present members of the Supreme Court, and, upon the qualification of such new Justices, the Commission of Appeals of the State of Texas shall terminate."

"Article V. Section 3. The Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction only except as herein specified, which shall be co-extensive with the limits of the State. Its appellate jurisdiction shall extend to questions of law arising in cases of which the Courts of Civil Appeals have appellate jurisdiction under such restrictions and regulations as the Legislature may prescribe. Until otherwise provided by law, the appellate jurisdiction of the Supreme Court shall extend to questions of law arising in the cases in which the Judges of any Court of Civil Appeals may disagree or where the several Courts of Civil Appeals may hold differently on the same question of law, or where a Statute of the State is held void, and shall extend to such other questions as may be within the Court's Appellate Jurisdiction under the Statutes of the State in force when this amendment takes effect. The Supreme Court and the Justices thereof shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus, as may be prescribed by Law, the said Court and the Justices thereof may issue the writs of mandamus, procedendo, certiorari and such other writs, as may be necessary to enforce its jurisdiction. The Legislature may confer original jurisdiction on the Supreme Court to issue writs of quo warranto and mandamus in such cases as may be specified, except as against the Governor of the State. The Supreme Court shall have power, upon affidavit or otherwise as by the Court may be determined, to ascertain such matters of fact as may be necessary to the proper exercise of its jurisdiction. The Supreme Court shall be open at all times and shall sit at the State Capitol for the transaction of business at such times as may be designated by the Court. The Supreme Court shall appoint a clerk, who shall give bond in such a manner as is now or may hereafter, be required by law, and he may hold his office for four years and shall be subject to removal by said Court for good cause entered of record on the Minutes of said Court who shall receive such compensation as the Legislature may provide."

Sec. 2. Said proposed Constitution submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at a throughout the State on Tuesday July 16, 1929, at which election each voter opposing said proposed amendment shall scratch off of the ballot with a pen or pencil the following words printed on said ballot: "For the amendment to the State Constitution providing for a Supreme Court of nine members, and for continuous session of that Court," and each voter favoring said proposed amendment shall scratch off the ballot in same manner the following words printed on said ballot: "Against the amendment to the State Constitution providing for a Supreme Court of nine members, and for continuous session of that Court." If it appears from the returns of said election that a majority of the votes cast are in favor of said amendment, the same shall become a part of the State Constitution.

Sec. 3. The Governor shall issue the necessary proclamation for said election and have the same published and said election held as provided by the Constitution and Laws of this State.

Sec. 4. The sum of Five Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated out of the State Treasury to pay for the expenses of said publication and election.

Approved February 19, 1929.

Billy Stewardson and Mr. and Mrs. Oran Nicks returned last Sunday from the Pecos ranch. They report the range conditions good.

Billy says that, "there are some coyotes out there and taht he is in the market for some good dogs." He also states, "that there is a panther on the ranch but he has not been able to find him yet. We don't imagine he has hunted him as much as he has the coyotes. We certainly envy him in the coyote hunting but cannot say so much for the other."

One Of The Wonders Of The World Is The Housewives Friend

PRESS the little button—and light floods your home. Commonplace to us yet one of the wonders of the world, one of man's greatest achievements.

TURN the switch—and the electric vacuum cleaner picks up dirt and dust from rugs, from draperies, from furniture, from mattresses. Commonplace to us, yet it means the emancipation of woman from the slavery of housework.

PLUG into a floor or wall outlet—and coffee magically begins to percolate on the table before you or toast is browned right at your elbow or crisp warm waffles are made before your eyes. Commonplace to us, yet a convenience, a comfort, a resplendent pleasure that not even kings could conceive years ago.

ELECTRICITY is One of the Wonders of the World; it banishes drudgery from the home, for it makes possible the use of scores of time and labor-saving electrical appliances. ELECTRICITY is the Housewives' Friend! Don't begrudge yourself this great convenience, for, after all, it costs so little.

SECOND INSTALLMENT
What Happened So Far

Tom Bilbeck is the narrator. He is a fat newspaper writer who drives a tumble down car he calls Grandmother Page. He is in love with Maryella, his rival being Jim Cooper. The three are members of an amateur dramatic group. Plans for a play at the Old Soldier's Home are under way. Grandmother Page has engine trouble while Maryella is out driving with Bilbeck, and Cooper, passing in a big roadster, taunts him. After Maryella has left Bilbeck is able to start his car again.

Now Go On With the Story
CHAPTER II

Our version of "Pygmalion and Galatea" would doubtless surprise you if you are at all familiar with the original, in which Pygmalion is the artist and carves the lady in the sketch out of a block of marble.

We started out to rehearse it that way, but ran into difficulties when the matter of costumes came up for discussion. It seemed advisable that the statue should wear white tights and white grease paint on the face in order to carry out the illusion. All the ladies of the club were quite content that it should be so, but when it came to assigning the parts each and every one refused to be Galatea.

For a time it looked as if we would have to fall back on some little sketch of Shakespeare's until Maryella made the practical suggestion that we change the story. Her idea was to make Galatea a sculptorine who hammers a hunk of stone into a beautiful male statue by the name of Pygmalion.

Can you imagine an anti-remnant thinking up a thought like that?

Maryella's suggestion carried. As the literary man of the organization, I was appointed to doctor up the manuscript to fit the change of characters. Later, much to surprise and in spite of my protests, the stellar role of Pygmalion was forced upon me.

To-night was to be the dress rehearsal and on the following evening we were scheduled to give a trial performance was for the double purpose of getting easy in our parts and of making the old soldiers realize that war is not so terrible after all.

When I returned to my bachelor rooms in town I had only time to change to some dry clothing and hurry over to the rehearsal without getting anything to eat. Neither did anything else least of all rehearsing a lot of fool love-talk. My own romance had suffered such a disheartening set-back that I was in no mood to enact the role of a hand-hammered Romeo of mythology.

But I went just the same. You know how hard it is to step out of the routine busyness of your life just because some disaster has happened to you. Your perceptions become numbed and you wonder vaguely why the sun is shining, but you go on doing the things that are expected of you just as you have always done.

"Business as usual" is not the motto of an exceptional nation. It is the underlying principle of the progress of the human race. The Sheridan Dramatic Club had borrowed for rehearsals the stage of the local opera-house which was vacant that week. It was there that I wended my disconsolate way.

I was late, but it didn't make much difference, as all during the first act the statue of Pygmalion was a papiermache figure. Between the acts I was supposed to take the place of the statue in the same pose so that a little later I could come to life in response to Galatea's wish.

When I came in they were rehearsing with the dummy. Everything appeared to be going very well. Maryella looked absolutely ravishing in the Greek drapery, and Jim Cooper was doing the best he could to impersonate a skinny Greek warrior.

He was even thinner than I had suspected. As a Highlander he could never be a conspicuous success. Any one could tell that at a glance.

The part of a young sculptor's apprentice was taken by Mrs. Hemmingway, a dazzling blond who was worth going miles to behold in a short Greek tunic and sandals. She wouldn't have fooled any one but a blind man into thinking she was a boy, but nobody minded that. She had talents enough to get into a Zingfeld chorus any day.

There were a dozen other parts played with intent to kill in the good old amateur way. I discovered former male friends hidden behind bushy beards that dropped off occasionally at a critical moment, leaving the actor bald-faced and speechless; and ladies I used to know disguised as Hellenic maidens by doing their hair into a Psyche knot and trimming their best nighties with a Greek key-design and an occasional swastika.

Off stage, doing a piece of embroidery while she waited for her cue, was Mrs. George P. Lillielove, the wife of the most popular undertaker in town. In Greek robes Mrs. Lillielove looked almost exactly like a haystack with a tarpaulin over it.

I slipped into my dressing-room unobserved. My costume was there. I had not seen it before, so I was a trifle surprised at the bulk of it. The whole thing could have been put in the pocket of a dress waistcoat without spoiling the shape of it seemed awfully thin, I played safe by wearing my underwear beneath it.

There was no full-length mirror in my room, so I could not get the entire effect, but it looked all right as far as I could see. It was easy to make up my face all white and put on a white wig which was provided for me. I slipped on my overcoat over the costume to step up on the stage.

The curtain was down between the acts. I took my place on the determined to get through somehow if the seams of the tights did their part. The stage was dimly illumined with blue moonlight. Just before the curtain rose I dropped the overcoat behind me.

I stood motionless during the introductory music. There among the members of the club who were not on the stage at that moment and had stepped out into the auditorium to steal a look from the other side of the foot lights. It must have been beautiful. I know I was conscious of looking well in that pose and lighting. I flexed my muscles to make them stand out better.

Galatea entered. She was dressed in a gold trimmed robe. On her neck was a single strand of beautiful pearls. I recognized them as Mrs. Hemmingway's. Maryella had borrowed them because their owner couldn't wear them for the performance, as she was playing the part of a boy.

Galatea's eyes were on the floor, pensive. She came slowly to the pedestal on which I stood. She knelt. She looked up. She held her pose for a long time without saying a word—without expressing even a whispered wish that I would come to life. Maryella was wordless.

"What's the trouble?" inquired the coach, who stood, book in hand, just over the foot-lights. "Miss Waite, your line is, 'My dearest wish—'"

"No," she stopped him impatiently. "I know my lines. It's the statue."

Her tone was full of vexation. "What's the matter?" I inquired, without abandoning my attitude. "This is the same pose I've been taking every night at rehearsal ever since we began."

"It isn't that. You are bow-legged."

She spoke accusingly, as if I had made a blunder of some sort on purpose.

"Oh!" That was a sensitive subject with me.

I didn't know there was anything criminal in being slightly curved. It really comes from strength. Lots of men are."

"But no one ever saw a bow-legged statue before," she argued petulantly. "I don't care personally. I suppose that lots of really estimable men have personal peculiarities; but can you imagine a sculptor creating a statue intentionally bow-legged? Why didn't you tell me?"

"Well," I temporized, "I didn't think I knew you well enough for that."

"The play is ruined," she declared.

"Not at all." I said with as much injured dignity as I could command in white tights. "You can easily get some one else to play this part. If you look around the club you can doubtless find someone with legs like bean-poles."

She knew whom I meant without my explaining more particularly.

"Come people," interrupted the coach pleasantly. "We mustn't waste time. Remember there is a lot to do before we leave here this evening."

"Don't be silly," she replied.

"No one else could learn the part in time."

"Why not try standing sideways to the audience all the time, suggested Jim Cooper, who with his nose-glasses on and a cigarette in his mouth was the beau ideal of a Greek warrior."

"I know what to do." Mrs. Hemmingway came to the rescue with a practical suggestion.

"You can buy a pair of those things that chorus girls wear sometimes—symmetricals, I think they are called." "Oh!" said several of the ladies at once, looking pointedly at Mrs. Hemmingway's shapely substructure.

"No, I don't wear them myself," she assured them in response to the unspoken question, "but I've heard that there are such things."

"All right," said the coach. "Go on with the dialogue."

The balance of the act was ploughed through somehow. I had to play several love-scenes with Maryella, but I was so acutely conscious of her criticism that I did them very badly.

The only scene that I played with any enthusiasm was one in which I was supposed to wrestle with Jim Cooper in the role of the Greek warrior. Even that turned out ill for me because it made his head ache where it bumped it on the stage, and Maryella hovered over him like a hen with chickens all during the intermission while they were setting the stage for the third act.

I go tired of listening to her sympathizing with him and went out in the auditorium by myself. I did not care to talk to any one. To criticize my acting was one thing, but to make personal remark about the shape of my legs was going too far.

I made up my mind to withdraw from the Sheridan Drama-tea" was over. I would not leave realize it so stilted—no—muna them in the lurch now, as I might do and wreck the entire performance; but as soon as it would not be conspicuous I would assert my dignity and resign on the ground that it took too much of my time. I admired Maryella, but she could hardly expect me to stand for being made fun of before Jim Cooper.

"I think it is an awfully funny play; don't you?" inquired a voice behind me.

I looked around. In the aisle stood Mrs. Hemmingway, a plump sylph in the half-light of the auditorium. She apparently wanted to sit down, so I made room for her beside me.

"You think it is quite funny?" I repeated interrogatively.

"Yes. I didn't realize it so much until I saw the costumes. I didn't realize it so much until I saw the costumes. I didn't know you were going to be a clown."

She pointed to my white face. I suppose she would have laughed herself sick at the Venus de Milo. Mrs. Hemmingway is a movie fan, and her sense of humor must have been curdled by this comic-fall stuff. Here I was gotten up to represent a beautiful work of the sculptor's art, and she had missed the idea entirely and thought I was meant to be funny!

"The best scene," she went on innocently endeavoring to flatter me, "is where you tell Maryella you love her there in the garden. It was better than Charlie Chaplin."

And that scene was pure poetry. I wrote it myself, so I am sure of it.

"Thank you very much for your appreciation," I said, wishing that she was a man so that I could say what I really thought. "You've no idea how your praise makes me feel."

"I'm glad. I thought you were sort of blue over here all by yourself, so I decided to cheer you up."

Then she added hastily for fear she had ruined the effect of her praise!

"I really meant what I said though about your being funny."

The dear little featherhead was trying to make me feel good! She was prompted by the instinct which makes one woman try to heal the hurts inflicted by another. I was a bear not to accept her tribute in the spirit in which it was offered.

"Thanks ever so much," I assured her, and reaching over carelessly I patted her hand, which lay idly on her knee.

As I did so a strong hand came down on my shoulder and, heavy man though I am, I was hoisted bodily from my seat to the aisle. "I caught you, didn't I?" hissed an angry voice. "I've suspected there was some man in the case to make my wife so crazy about acting all of a sudden."

Middle Life Troubles

"About twenty years ago, my health was very bad," says Mrs. Mat Howard, of Terrell, Texas. "I was passing through a critical time in my life, and I suffered a great deal. I was not at all strong, and my nerves got all upset. I had hot flashes, and sometimes would get suddenly so faint I could not stand up. My head would whirl, and I could not see a thing. I would have to lie down for hours at a time. I improved so much after I had taken Cardui for a while. I continued the medicine for some months, until I had passed the critical period. Since then, I have given Cardui to my five daughters. All of them have continued the use of Cardui in their homes. We have all been better for having taken it."

SLIGHT GRASSHOPPER DAMAGE ANTICIPATED

College Station—The drone of the grasshopper hasn't had that menacing twang for the last few years because they've come to Texas in such small numbers as to be of little importance, and it is not anticipated that any general damage will be done this season. They were found laying their eggs in a few places last fall, however, and farmers in scattered sections may soon find that something needs to be done hatching in April, as a rule, especially in a period of warm rain occurs.

"Poisoned bran mash will be found effective wherever damage becomes serious," says R. R. Reppert, Entomologist in the Extension Service, and gives this formula: Mix up 20 pounds of bran, one pound Paris Green, two quarts cane molasses, and six lemons, using both the juice and the rind. The lemons should be run through a meat grinder. Mix up with enough water to make a thoroughly moist but not sloppy mash. Five pounds of this mixture should be enough for one acre of infested field applied broadcast. Usually it is unnecessary to poison an entire field but only the edges where the infestation is worst. Grasshoppers generally invade fields from adjoining pastures or woodlands and where they are found there in large numbers, it's wise to scatter poison along the fence rows or borders of these places, sometimes taking in a considerable margin.

Hints for the Home

by Nancy Hart

For the unlovely interior of one's dresser the shops offer fascinating pads of plain or figured silk in harmony with the color scheme of the bedroom. Or we may make these accessories at home at very little cost.

(The silk should be cut the exact size of the bottom of the dresser drawers, allowing for seams of course. Line the pads with a layer of cotton sprinkled with sachet, stitch the edges together and quilt the pad in a simple design, with silk thread of contrasting color.

Menu For Children

Beef Broth with Barley
Creamed halibut Carrots and peas.

Boiled Rice
Orange Custard Sponge Cake

Apricot Fritters

For a tempting breakfast special—beat together 3 eggs, 1/2 cup milk, 1 tablespoon sugar add dry ingredients sifted together—1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon of baking powder and 1/4 teaspoon of salt. Chop one cup drained canned apricots and add to the batter, beating well. Drop from spoon into deep hot fat and fry to light brown. Drain and serve with maple syrup.

CHICKEN with VEGETABLES

Cut meat of a roasting chicken to pieces and put a layer in casserole; sprinkle with flour and seasoning and a little water. Add a layer of diced assorted vegetables, seasoning and butter; repeat, cover the dish and cook for 1 1/2 hours in moderate oven. Then pour over the whole cup of cream and cook ten minutes more.

POTATO OMELET

Mix 2 cups of Lyonnaise potatoes with 1/2 cup milk and tablespoon chopped parsley. Pour into hot pan with 2 tablespoons butter or bacon fat and cook over moderate heat until browned.

Best Coat Hangers

If you cover metal or wooden coat hangers with velvet the garments will not slip off as they do on uncovered hangers or those covered with silk.

Cleaning Window Shades.

When white window shades become soiled, rub them with a rough white flannel cloth dipped in flour.

Removes Water Spots

Rub a little white talcum powder around rings left by water or cleaning fluid, then brush gently with a soft brush and the marks will disappear.

THE TOWN DOCTOR SAYS

MANY TOWNS ARE LIKE SOME MERCHANTS

They spend much time and money trying to attract new business when they are not getting all there is to get out of the business they already have.

There is, in the advertising business, what is called the "Golden Triangle" of every merchant-able establishment. It is that space in front of the store where people who pass can see the store entrance and the windows. It is the vital point in every retail business; for no merchant can sell his wares unless the people come into the store. The advertising reach the area so named is what is called "Point of Purchase" advertising. Its purpose is to stop passersby, which is the one big reason for the show windows and window displays. Through this medium the merchant attempts to attract attention hence create a desire to enter the store. American people buy by eye—what the eye doesn't see, the heart doesn't fancy.

Towns are exactly like stores in this general respect. If a town got all of the business from the traffic it already has, it is ten to one that it would never have to spend any money for additional business. But as long as there are towns and the people in them remain human, they will probably continue to go out after more customers when they have not got all there is to be had from the traffic they already have.

Let us take automobile traffic as one angle of revenue or business for a town. Every strange automobile that passes through your city is worth a goodly sum—much more than most people think—but you must stop the car and get the passengers out of it, if you are going to get their business. Twenty percent of those people who tour by motor are in the market for or can be sold a new location. Every motorist can be made to be the cause for more motorist coming to your town. An analysis of this means of town income shows many surprising facts, chief of which is first, that very few towns recognize business that that can be had from it;

One morning a few years ago I left Chicago very early for points east. To save time and avoid traffic I took a back road, but much to my chagrin I encountered a freight train whose engineer evidently had no place to go and was in no hurry to get there. The half hour that I was delayed I have never regretted, for while waiting there I saw that which to me was, and always will be a picture in life of wonderful significance.

Just inside the fence from where I sat parked lay a calf of less than six months of age, lazily dozing in the morning sunshine. The morning was warm and the flies were more than numerous. Around the calf were many goslings, one of which was some five feet or more away, lazily sunning himself with eyes half open, but occasionally rousing sufficiently to pick off a fly that came unsuspectingly close enough. Another little fellow had settled himself directly adjacent to and up against that which soon would be someone's veal steak, and was fast asleep. Had the calf moved, one little duck would have been no more. Two other little downy ones with much vim and quacking endurance were chasing their legs off trying to run dawn, overtake and devour elusive insects that were far too clever for them—BUT—there was another little duck standing at that portion of the reclining calf's anatomy where swish of tail and toss of head failed to disturb him, picking hundreds of flies off the calf's back—in other words, taking advantage of an opportunity.

To me the calf was a highway, the flies were motorists, and the goslings were towns, each in a true-to-form stage of wakefulness, activity and resourcefulness.

Your town is one of those ducks.

GO-TO-BED STORIES

By Farmer Smith

One day Br'er Rabbit was seated in the parlor of his home reading a book and smoking his pipe when he looked up and saw a pair of eyes. He looked again and there was Billie Bunny with his peepers opened so wide it seemed as though they were all there was to him.

"Hello, Billie, what do you want?" asked Br'er Rabbit.

"I want a stick of candy, or some sugar," answered Billie.

"Well, I do declare!" exclaimed Br'er Rabbit. "You'll have to ask your Mother. Don't you know fathers are not supposed to give children things that are not good for them?"

"Is that so?" asked Billie Bunny, in great surprise. "I thought you were the best father in the world. You look so good and kind. Will I have beautiful fur like yours some day and if I put my ears down like yours, will it part my hair? I do want to look like you, for Mother says you are very handsome."

Br'er Rabbit got up and reached in the closet for a piece of candy and gave a tiny piece to Billie. In a little while Mother Rabbit came home and started to get supper. Br'er Rabbit was reading his book. After a while the two children came in and when they sat down to supper Billie wasn't very hungry, while Bobbie Bunny couldn't seem to get enough to eat.

"Have you been eating candy?" asked Mother Rabbit.

"Ye-e-s," said Billie.

"Did your father give it to you?"

"I cannot tell a lie," replied Billie. "He did."

Mother Rabbit went over to Br'er Rabbit and took his pipe out of his mouth. "I'll give your pipe back in a week," she said.

DURING MY ROVINGS AS A YOUNG FELLER I WAS ONCE ATTACKED BY A FEROCIOUS TIGER IN AN AFRICAN JUNGLE. AFTER GIVING HIM A STIFF FIGHT I SUCCEEDED IN OVERPOWERING HIM, QUITE A TASK I MUST SAY ~

I CHRISTENED HIM "KOKO"

OUCH!

WELL, AFTER I CAPTURED MR. TIGER I CHRISTENED HIM AND MADE HIM MY PET ~

MEOW!?

HE BECAME SO TAME HE FOLLOWED ME WHEREVER I WENT. HE PURRED JUST LIKE A PUSSY CAT!

YES, HOW WELL I REMEMBER THOSE DAYS IN AFRICA WITH THE HOT, SWELTERING CLIMATE OF THAT TROPICAL JUNGLE. THERE WAS LITTLE WATER TO BE HAD, BARELY ENOUGH FOR DRINKING PURPOSES.

HOW DID YOU KEEP CLEAN THEN POP?

DON'T FORGET TO GO BEHIND THE EARS "KOKO"
