It could have been worse — The driver of this 1993 Ford Taurus, Rebecca Mylinda Patch, 19, of San Angelo, was treated at the scene by Schleicher County EMS volunteers after the vehicle rolled twice Sunday afternoon. The accident occurred 3 miles south of Eldorado on U.S. 277. According to investigators at the scene, the driver was overtaking an oil transport truck and didn't realize it was turning west into the Rancho Pipeline Station. She managed to avoid colliding with the turck, and I am running for County but her car left the roadway and overturned.
