The bones of a pigeon weigh less than its feathers.

Fleas have changed history. More human deaths have been attributed to fleas than all the wars ever fought. As carriers of the bubonic plague, fleas were responsible for killing one-third of the population of Europe in the 14th century.

A gift to the city — Eldorado Mayor John Nikolauk accepts a stock certificate from F.N.B. President Hyman Sauer representing 312.5 shares in Eldorado Townsite Company, Inc. which owns the mineral interest beneath much of Eldorado.

F.N.B. donates mineral interest to City of Eldorado

The First National Bank of Eldorado and its shareholders have donated to the City of Eldorado the rights to the very earth under the city.

The Eldorado Townsite Company was originally formed to sell town lots to the new town of Eldorado. As the lots were sold the company retained mineral interest to the rights below the City of Eldorado. Eldorado Townsite Company was incorporated in 1964. The First National Bank was holder of 312.5 Shares of Stock in the corporation.

By donating all its shares to the City, the bank is returning a part of the heritage of Eldorado, to the citizens of the town.

Eldorado Mayor John Nikolauk was on hand Thursday, April 2nd to accept the stock from First National Bank President Hyman Sauer. Nikolauk expressed his appreciation to the bank. "On behalf of the City of Eldorado and its citizens I want to say thank you to First National Bank and its shareholders. Corporate citizens like First National Bank are rare and appreciated," Nikolauk stated.

Sauer, stated that, "The bank is always interested in being a good neighbor and responsible citizen."

T.E.A. recognizes five local scholars

The Texas Education Agency recognized outstanding high school students throughout the state on Thursday, April 4, 1998. In a series of programs titled "Celebrations of Educational Excellence", high school scholars were honored for academic achievement.

Five Eldorado High School students attended one of the ceremonies, held at Angelo State University, where they received medals commemorating their academic accomplishments. They included: Kirk Curtis, Tabitha Garcia, Lindsey Griffin, Sarah Mankin and Beau Sallee.

To attend one of the celebrations, students were nominated by teachers, counselors or administrators. Requirements included demonstration of outstanding academic accomplishments in the foundation curriculum areas of English language arts, mathematics, science and social studies.

County population increases by 1.9 percent

In preparation for the 2000 Census, the U.S. Census Bureau has released its 1997 population estimates and Schleicher County is one of 28 West Texas counties experiencing growth. The 1990 census placed Schleicher County's population at 2,990. Now, the bureau estimates 3,047 people reside in the county. That's a growth of 57 people, or, 1.9 percent.

Current numbers are based on population figures tallied on April 1, 1990 as compared to those on July 1, 1997.

The largest gain in West Texas was seen in Edwards County, where the population has jumped 65 percent from 2,266 to 3,738.

Presidio County increased 29.2 percent, bringing the population up 1,940 people from 6,637 in 1990 to 8,577 in 1997. San Saba County also experienced healthy growth. There the numbers grew 18.9 percent from 5,401 in 1990 to 6,424 in 1997.

Neighboring counties also saw growth. Crockett County was up 10.8 percent from 4,078 to 4,518 and Sutton County's population increased 7.3 percent from 4,136 to 4,437.

Menard County grew by 3.6 percent from 2,252 to 2,333. Irion County's population increased by 4.1 percent from 1,629 to 1,696. And, Tom Green County grew by 4.3 percent, up from 1990's number of 98,458 to 102,648.

Reagan, Upton and Terrell counties all showed decreases. Reagan was down 6.3 percent from 4,514 to 4,228. Upton lost 632 people or 14.2 percent, falling from 4,447 to 3,815, while in Terrell County the loss of 221 residents amounted to a 15.7 percent decline, leaving the population there at 1,189.

Statewide, the population surged by nearly 2.5 million people or 14.5 percent. In 1990 the Lone Star State's population stood at 16,986,335. The Census Bureau estimates that on July 1, 1997 the number was 19,439,337.

Easter Sunrise Service Planned

There will be an Easter Sunrise Service Sunday, April 12th, at 7:00 a.m. at the Eldorado Cemetery. This will be a service of praise, word and the Sacrament of Communion. Rev. George Lumpkin, pastor of First United Methodist, will officiate.

Rev. Lumpkin wants everyone to know that the the community is invited to come and participate, regardless of denomination or particular Christian tradition.

"Let us gather, not as a particular denomination, but as the Body of Christ as we celebrate the resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ," Lumpkin stated.

Attire is casual.

City, School & Hospital election

by City Secretary Carolyn Mayo

Due to changes in the Election Law in 1995, both the City of Eldorado and the Schleicher County ISD may cancel part of their elections scheduled for May 2.

City Mayor John Nikolauk and City Ward #3 Councilmember Tommy Minor have filed for their respective positions on the Council and are unopposed for those positions. Therefore, it is anticipated that the Election for Mayor and for Ward #3 will be canceled during the April 13 meeting. Ballots are being prepared for Ward #1 with Juaquin Rojas and Sherry Lux vying for the available Councilmember position. Also, ballots are being prepared for the Ward #2 election with candidates Domingo Pina, Richard Mendoz (incumbent), and Robert E. Bybee seeking the single position.

In the Schleicher County ISD Board of Trustees election, Berta Nicholson is unopposed for Single Member District #3. That portion of the election is also to be considered for cancellation at the April 13 School Board meeting. The ## Hospital to host public forum

The Schleicher County Hospital District board of directors will host a public forum next Monday night to explain details of the hospital district's new contract with Shannon Medical Center in San Angelo. The forum is scheduled for 7:00 p.m. in the Nursing Home's dining room.

Several members of Shannon's management team are expected to attend the meeting. They include Shannon's Hospital's president Lawrence Leonard and vice-president in charge of Regional Health Services, Mary Hallmark. Dr. & Mrs. Brian Kingston are also expected to attend.

Beginning July 1st of this year, Shannon will assume operations of the Schleicher County Family Clinic. Dr. Kingston is scheduled to open a practice in the clinic beginning on August 1st.

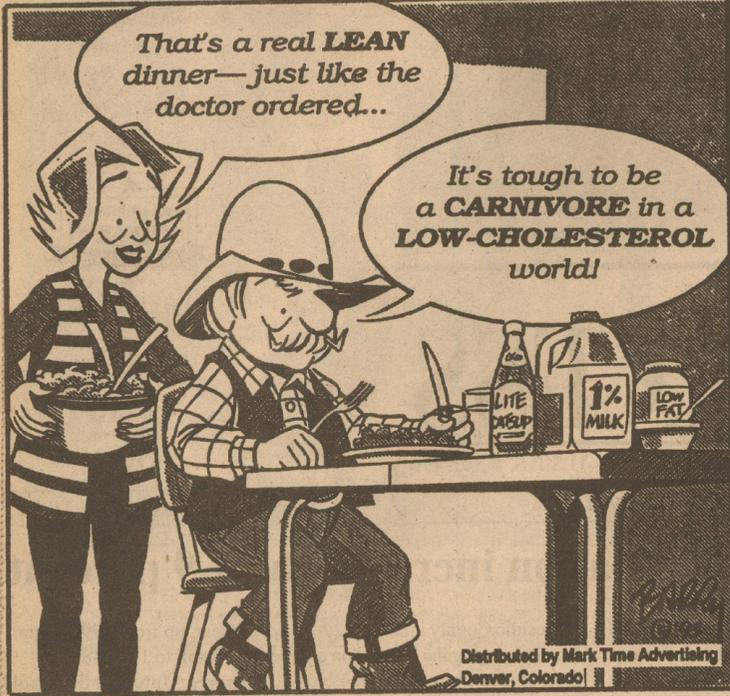

Schleicher County Hospital District Board President Ricky Fuessel said the meeting is intended to inform the public of every aspect of the district's contract with Shannon.

"When the board voted to contract with Shannon, they wanted to hold this forum as soon as possible," Fuessel stated. "Unfortunately, spring break and other conflicts pushed it back until Monday. I hope everyone will attend."

Springtime Flying

BAXTER BLACK

ON THE EDGE OF COMMON SENSE

I've had occasion to fly in lots of small planes. They don't bother me. I always put my faith in the pilots and let 'em do their job.

However, over the years I've developed some caution flying over the western plains in springtime, especially if I'm under 35,000 feet. They have some monumental weather in that swath of country from Amarillo north up through the Dakotas. Tornado season, ya know.

One bright spring morning several years ago I boarded a little six seater in Chadron, Nebraska, headed for Denver. I was the only passenger and I took the back seat. On boarding I noticed the pilot's luggage in the compartment behind my seat. One bag was open. They set my hangin' bag on the floor behind theirs.

I strapped in and took out a book. The pilots were young men. They gave me the brief safety instructions and off we went headed south.

As we leveled out I could not help but notice the giant wall of black clouds to my right. They rose further than I could point. The flight was bouncy. The co-pilot kept checking on me.

Suddenly a vertical clearing of sunlight split the storm clouds. The plane banked into the clearing. They were going to try for the scheduled landing in Alliance.

From the dashboard pencils and sunglasses flew my way. Their giant black book of maps of every airport in the world broke open and filled the air. Over my shoulder I could hear the bags bangin' around...T-shirts, Fruit-of-the-Looms and a Stephen King novel came spewing from the luggage compartment. A lone dirty sock snagged on the seat back in front of me.

The pilot made a left and we popped back out of the turbulence.

Once under control the co-pilot leaned back and asked about my health. "We're going to bypass Alliance," he said, "and Sidney doesn't look good either." He was the color of Cream of Wheat.

I looked back to the east. I could see all the way to Philadelphia.

"North Platte's right over there," I pointed.

We landed in North Platte in 52 m.p.h. winds. That's where I spent the night. Jerry said one spring he caught a ride from Valentine, Nebraska to Winner, South Dakota with an Irish engineer named Joe. It was Joe's airplane. The weather was springtime rough and Joe's plane didn't give Jerry much confidence.

When he climbed in the four seater he noticed Joe was wearing a parachute. "You got another one?" Jerry asked.

Joe said, "Don't worry, you prob'ly won't need one."

Most people look forward to their birthday. Even those who claim they have stopped counting the years secretly check the calendar and drop not-so-subtle hints as the big day approaches.

Not me. I was born on April 15th...INCOME TAX DAY.

When I was a youngster, I didn't understand why people always seemed to be depressed on my birthday. Other kids had normal birthdays. You know, complete with parties attended by lots of friends. But when my birthday rolled around no one wanted to party. Mostly, they just sat around and frowned.

When I was finally old enough to enter the workforce, everything became clear. The more I worked throughout the year, the bigger the party the government could throw for itself on my birthday...and at my expense.

Don't get me wrong. There are legitimate things for which the government needs money. But, as I've stated before in this column, there are very, very few projects for which I am willing to turn my money over to the bureaucrats in Washington.

My old granddad was fond of saying that the government should defend our shores, deliver our mail and stay the !@#% our of our lives.

He was being generous. I'm not sure Uncle Sam should even be trusted with the mail.

Think about it. If it absolutely, positively has to be there, anywhere in the remotely foreseeable future, do you send it by the U.S. Mail? I don't.

In April, 1860 the Pony Express could deliver the mail from St. Joseph, Missouri to Sacramento, California in exactly 10 days. On the way, the riders ducked Indians, highwaymen and rattlesnakes. Yet the mail still got through.

In 1998 you can mail a newspaper from Eldorado to anywhere outside of Schleicher County and the odds are pretty good it will take longer than 10 days for it to reach its destination...if it EVER does.

But, back to April 15th.

One particularly notable happening on the 15th of April was the death of President Abraham Lincoln. Mortally wounded by an assassin in Ford's Theater the night before, Lincoln died on morning of April 15, 1865. Ninety years to the day before I was born.

Oh, yeah. One other thing happened on April 15th. In 1912 the ocean liner Titanic struck an iceberg off the coast of Newfoundland and sank, taking 1,517 of its passengers and crew to the bottom with it.

Now that we're all depressed, Happy Income Tax Day, everybody!

A Nice Hot Bath

Rolling Along With

Tumbleweed Smith

Everything was white. The floor tiles, the walls, the ceilings, the curtains on the shower stalls, the doors, the attendants' uniforms, the tubs, the towels, the sheets. White. Nearly blinding white.

We were on the third floor of the Arlington Hotel in Hot Springs, Arkansas. We were there to take a bath in the mineral water.

Hot Springs used to have several bath houses when bath houses were the rage. Now there's very few. The Arlington's bath house stays busy.

Inside the men's bath house, the attendant at a white table takes your ticket and asks you to take off all your clothes. When you remove the last article, another attendant quickly wraps you in a white sheet and accompanies you to a bath cubicle. The tub is full of water. The temperature is perfect. Not too hot, not too cold. You glide in and the water swirls around you. It's coming out of a metal tube attached to a huge pump-like device that gushes out the water at a high rate of gush.

In about five minutes the attendant comes in with a course bath mitt and rubs your back and the backs of your legs. It feels wonderful. The water feels wonderful. Everything feels wonderful. It is pure enjoyment.

After a few minutes the attendant returns with a warm towel. You dry off, then spend about five minutes in a sauna next door. Next you walk a few steps to a hard table. You lie down on your back and the attendant wraps you in a white sheet. A warm towel is placed around your neck. About the time you begin to get hot, a cool wet towel is placed on your forehead. This is nice.

You stay there very still, not thinking about anything except how great this experience is. The narrow tables are in a large open area and other bathers are there getting the same treatment. When you first lie down, you are asked if you have any aches or pains. If you do, you get a special warm towel placed near that ache or pain.

The time spent on the table makes you extremely relaxed. You get some kind of oily substance rubbed over you, then take a shower. Now comes the best part:

a massage.

The masseur uses a warm, soothing cream that he rubs over your back, your chest, your legs. He massages your forehead, your hands, your feet. I've never had anything feel so good as when he rubs the bottoms of my feet. Wow! This guy knows his stuff.

He finishes with a few Karate-chops to the body, then trails off gradually until his touch is barely felt. It's almost sad when he says, "OK, sir, you're done."

I walk over to where my clothes are and I don't want to put them on. I don't especially want to do anything. I am in a near zombie state and it is fabulous!

We go to supper and I'm still relaxed. I'm still relaxed the next day and the next. Now a couple of weeks after the experience I'm relaxed just remembering the Arlington's bath house in Hot Springs, Arkansas.

I will return.

U.S. House passes highway, mass transit bill

AUSTIN — The U.S. House last week approved its version of a bill that would pump $218 billion into the nation's highways and mass transit systems over the next six years.

Texas' share of the amount, under the House plan, would be $1.9 billion a year. Under a similar bill passed earlier by the Senate, Texas would receive slightly less — $1.86 billion a year.

"Both the House and Senate bills give Texas an improved rate of return on what we send to Washington in federal transportation (gasoline) taxes," said Texas Transportation Commissioner David Laney, who added that ultimate success will be a combined bill that preserves the fairness of the House and Senate bills.

House and Senate members in charge of combining the bills will have to decide how Congress will get states to toughen drunken driving laws — through incentives or penalties.

In addition, the House bill includes about $440 million for about 60 transportation projects in Texas; the Senate bill has no such provision.

Congress will have to find money by cutting other federal programs to help pay for the transportation program.

Inmate Costs Discussed

In a discussion of medical treatment of prison inmates, the Senate Criminal Justice Committee learned two things last week:

State Capital HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling

that it costs more to keep older inmates healthy and the number of Texas prison inmates is growing due to longer sentences and new laws that stiffen parole requirements.

As of Jan. 1, Texas had 9,130 prisoners age 50 or older — a 15 percent increase from a year earlier and more than double the number of that group four years ago.

At the meeting, committee chairman John Whitmire, D-Houston, said elderly prisoners with terminal illnesses who pose no risk to society should be allowed to leave prison to die at home with their families.

Under the state's managed health-care system, the cost per doctor visit for inmates age 55 and older is $14.50. And, the cost for drug therapies for inmates with HIV is projected to rise to more than $18 per day per patient by the end of the fiscal year.

Court Rejects TEA Suit

On March 31, the U.S. Supreme Court rejected a lawsuit that would have freed Texas of certain federal requirements when stepping in to manage a school district with serious financial problems. Justices said the suit was premature because it raised potential, not actual, circumstances.

At issue was the amount of time state officials have to wait to intervene, under present law, when conditions in a given school district have badly deteriorated.

"When a district is in critical shape," Debbie Graves, a spokesman for the Texas Education Agency, told the Dallas Morning News, "we need to be able to act quickly to protect the interests of schoolchildren. That is why this lawsuit was filed."

The suit was filed after Education Commissioner Mike Moses appointed — with federal approval — two "masters" to oversee the Wilmer-Hutchins school district two years ago.

Moses said he was disappointed at the court's rejection of the suit, but still believes the state has a right to intervene in school districts when circumstances warrant. "At such time as that need again arises, we will proceed in a manner that is in the best interests of the children and defend our right to do so if challenged," Moses said.

Other Capital Highlights

Insurance Commissioner Elton Bomer last week ordered mandatory discounts, beginning May 1, for hail-resistant metal roofs and created an endorsement on homeowners policies to deal with cosmetic damage. Homeowners will be eligible for homeowner discounts as high as 35 percent, depending on the area of the state where they live. Companies have the option of offering discounts for homeowners who installed hail-resistant roofs prior to Feb. 17, the Texas Department of Insurance said.

The Austin American-Statesman reported last week that despite an increase in applications from students of all races, the University of Texas has offered fall admission to fewer black freshmen and almost the same number of Hispanics as a year ago. The figures indicate an ongoing effect from the federal court decision known as the Hopwood ruling, which prohibited the use of a race-based admissions policy.

Former Texas Department of Corrections executive director Andy Collins has been indicted on eight counts related to an alleged conspiracy to ensure that Canadian company VitaPro received state contracts worth $33.7 million in 1995.

Texas exports grew 14 percent last year — to $84 billion — outpacing the national growth rate. Texas exports increased to $84 billion in 1997. California was the only state to export more goods than Texas last year.

Busted — Sutton County Sheriff's Deputy Oscar G. Chavez supervises his drug dog "Saber Knight" as he goes through a vehicle on US 277. The traffic stop initiated by Schleicher County Deputy Joe Dombroski resulted in the arrest of four people.

Routine traffic stop on US 277 lands four in jail

A phone call from an alert citizen Tuesday afternoon prompted a traffic stop on U.S. 277, just south of the Eldorado city limits, which resulted in four arrests and a quantity of cocaine being seized.

Schleicher County Deputy Joe Dombroski responded to a tip from a citizen intercepted a car which was reported to have been driving recklessly. Dombroski pulled the car over and found it occupied by five passengers, two women and three men.

Dombroski reported finding a quantity of cocaine on one of the subjects and radioed for backup. He also called for a drug dog to search the vehicle. Sgt. George Arispe responded and assisted in detaining the five suspects until Sutton County Deputy Oscar Chavez could arrive with his drug dog, a Black Labrador named Saber Knight.

The dog soon located drug paraphernalia in the vehicle and four of the car's five occupants were arrested.

Jennifer Lorean Kroninger, 19, of Lipan, Texas, Delisa Gail Crider, 25, of Duncanville and Clayton Philip Weilbacher, 20, of Stephenville were charged with Possession of a Controlled Substance. David Alan Gideon, 20, of Lipan was arrested on Tarrant County warrants for Unauthorized Use of a Motor Vehicle and Motion to Revoke Probation.

The four were transported to Schleicher County Jail where they remain in custody at press time. A fifth passenger in the car was questioned and released by officers at the scene.

Deputy Dombroski credited an "alert citizen" with doing the right thing and calling to report a suspicious driver. He estimates more than 4 grams of cocaine was confiscated along with assorted drug paraphernalia.

The automobile reportedly belongs to a rental company and is not subject to Texas' seizure laws.

Runoff slated in Republican Party primary

A runoff in the Republican Party's primary election will be held Tuesday, April 14th. County Chairwoman Bessie Jones announced this week that she had consolidated the four polling places so that all four precincts may vote at the Fire Hall. The polls will open at 7:00 a.m. and remain open until 7:00 p.m.

Jones noted that voters wishing to participate in the runoff cannot have voted in the Democratic Party's primary in March. Only those who voted in the Republican primary, or didn't vote at all, may cast ballots in the Republican runoff.

Seating is limited, so please call the church office at 853-3241 to make reservations. You will not want to miss this interesting and informative service. A donation of $5-per person is suggested. The donations will be used for local mission and outreach projects in our community.

Museum sidewalk update

The new sidewalk in front of the Museum has recently been completed, except for the installation of the engraved pavers and bricks. The engraver has not completed his work. This delay is the result of not getting the information from subscribers early enough in the program to allow the engraving to be done in mid winter, which is the slow time in the Memorial business that occurs each year. Because they were not available, it was decided to go ahead with the work that could be done and install the engraved pieces when the engraving work is finished. At this point the engraver cannot give a definite time for this since it is fill in work for them.

Fire Dept. tours BJ Services

A complete manual on Hazardous Materials that B.J. Services might use and chemical inventory lists was presented to Joey Jones

Assistant Chief along with a map giving the locations of all materials being stored.

April 15th tax deadline nears, extensions available

Dallas — Texans who can't file their federal tax return on time can get an extra four months if they mail Form 4868 by April 15 and request an automatic extension of time.

More than 1.1 million North Texans will wait until the last minute to file their tax returns. The IRS Austin Service Center estimates 278,600 citizens in its area will file for extensions.

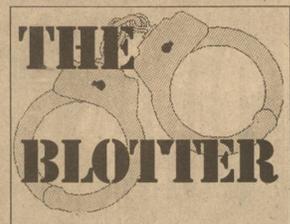

According to IRS District Director Glenn Henderson, the automatic extension is only an extension of time to file the tax return. It does not, however, give the person extra time to pay the taxes due on the return. Texans need to estimate the amount of tax they will owe and send that with the Form 4868 he said.

Texans who are able to file by the April 15 deadline, but who can't pay the tax due can request a monthly payment plan when they file. To request the payment plan, attach Form 9465 to the front of their tax return and show the amount they propose to pay each month and on what day. To set up the installment payment plan, the IRS charges a $43 fee which will be billed at a later date. "To reduce interest and penalty charges, people should pay as much as they can when they mail the extension or installment agreement forms," Henderson said.

Anyone who finds that they owe money this year may want to consider adjusting their W-4 "Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate" at work to have more money taken out each payday.

Extension and installment agreement request forms are available at many Volunteer Income Tax Assistance site. For more information call 1-800-820-1040.

CARD OF THANKS

Clara Mae Donaldson, Jeri Whitten and the Library Board would like to say "Thank You" to the Presbyterian Confirmation Class members Michael Mayo, Martha Lively, Tanner Haynes, Nathanael Wolfe, Leah Wolfe, Angela Ballew, Courtney Brown, Thomas Ballew, Gentry Newman and Kimberly Hight for doing a great job moving books at the Library.

On behalf of the family of Adela Condez we would like to "Thank Everyone" for their thoughts and prayers, the beautiful flowers, and the food that was prepared. Also a "Special Thanks" to the staff of Park Plaza Nursing Home and the Catholic Church.

Eddie & Yvette Rodriguez
Anthony & Maria Lopez
Thomas & Josie Knight
Petie & Ray Ray

We wish to acknowledge and thank several individuals and businesses for helping us with the Schleicher County Museum Sidewalk. First we would like to thank Divide Enterprises for the use of their dump truck and Dr. Wayne Williams for volunteering his hard day's labor and equipment which allowed the tear out phase of the sidewalk in front of the Museum to be done in one day instead of three.

Thank you, Jo Ward for handling financial and other details required to permit the engraving to be done, and Ronnie Sauer for his good ideas and usual assistance with the actual work.

We could not have done the work without the support of G & G. Manufacturing who always volunteers the use of their tools and equipment that we need, even repairing them on instant notice when we need them.

Thanks also to West Texas Lumber & Trading for moving our brick pallets for us, and Southwest Texas Electric Coop. for helping us with storage of materials. Thanks to the Eldorado Success for their usual help with publicity for our civic projects.

We also wish to thank the Historical Society and Hal Porter for their financial contributions, as well as those numerous persons or groups that subscribed for engraved pieces.

Of course, the work could not have been done without the hard labor of Lynn Lozano, William Morehouse, Rony Kerr, and James Factor.

Thanks to each of you for your part in making Eldorado a better place to live.

Internal parasite clinic planned in Eldorado

Timing is everything when deworming livestock!

by Mike Harbour County Extension Agent-Agriculture

Deworming your livestock can be a costly decision if done at the wrong time. Determination of parasite levels can be made by the testing of fecal samples. This test will determine the number of eggs produced by the adult stomach worms in your livestock.

This procedure is relatively easy and has proven to reduce the cost of deworming, by targeting the time periods when parasite are at detrimental levels. Deworming is a guessing game with out proper identification.

Dr. Frank Craddock of the Texas Agriculture Extension Service will conduct an Internal Parasite Evaluation Clinic in Eldorado on April 16th at 6:00 p.m. at the High School Biology Room.

We will provide microscopes and slides for everyone to learn how to determine the parasite level of your herd or flock. Bring approximately two tablespoons of feces from about four different animals in your herd or flock. The above normal temperatures this winter, short grazing conditions, and recent rains produce an excellent environment for parasites to increase their population quickly. It is an excellent opportunity for everyone to assess stomach worm levels before the problem becomes visible. 1 Hour of CEU's will be given in IPM. For more information call the County Extension Office at 853-2132.

1997 wool production up, mohair down

AUSTIN — Higher wool prices and more sheep and lambs shorn than a year ago led to an increase in wool production for 1997. Mohair production continued to decline in spite of slightly higher prices in 1997.

According to the annual report released by the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service, wool production totaled 10.95 million pounds during 1997, 11 percent above the previous year's total. This is the first year-to-year increase since 1992. Texas producers sheared 1.50 million sheep and lambs during the year, 14 percent more than during 1996. The average fleece weight was 7.3 pounds compared with 7.5 pounds last year.

Total value of the state's wool production increased 40 percent from the previous year to $11.61 million. Price per pound averaged $1.06, up $.22 from the average for 1996.

Texas mohair production during 1997 totaled 6.38 million pounds, down 15 percent from a year ago and the least since 1918. Producers clipped 840,000 Angora goats and kids with an average clip weight of 7.6 pounds. The number of Angora goats and kids clipped declined 21 percent from the previous year, but the average clip weight was up 9 percent from 1996.

Value of the state's mohair production declined slightly to $14.56 million. Price per pound averaged $2.28, compared with the $1.95 average a year earlier.

United States shorn wool production during 1997 was 53.9 million pounds, down 5 percent from a year earlier. Sheep and lambs shorn during 1997 totaled 7.03 million head, a decrease of 3 percent from 1996. Average fleece weight of shorn wool was 7.66 pounds per head in 1997 compared with 7.79 pounds in 1996.

The average price paid for wool sold in 1997 was $.84 per pound, for a total value of $45.2 million, up 14 percent from $39.7 million in 1996.

Mohair production in the four major producing states, Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas during 1997 was 6.93 million pounds, down 14 percent from 1996. Goats and kids clipped, at 953,000 head, were 20 percent below 1996. Average weight per clip was 7.3 pounds, compared with 6.7 pounds a year earlier. Value of mohair production was $15.6 million, up slightly from 1996.

Parasitism costs producers

Mike Harbour County Extension Agent-Agriculture

Unless totally confined, all cattle fall victim to internal parasites at some time in their lives. The economic impact of production losses caused by internal parasites varies, depending on geographical areas, weather conditions, types of worms, level of parasite exposure, parasite control programs and pasture management. Furthermore, age, diet, health status, stage of lactation or gestation and level of production affect an animal's response to parasites. Economic losses due to absent or inadequate parasite control programs, for example, can vary from $20 to $200 a head pre grazing season.

Young cattle are often the more visibly affected by parasitic infections. These animals can easily experience a 50-pound or greater loss in total weight gain during a grazing season due to parasitism. Typically, cattle will gain weight rapidly during the first two to three months of grazing. Then, as parasitic contamination of the pasture increases, they gain at a slower pace, stop gaining or even lose weight during the second half of the grazing season. Since these animals may show no signs of disease, producers often don't realize that significant weight losses are occurring.

While parasites affect young grazing animals most severely, mature cattle can also be detrimentally affected. A cow provides first for body maintenance, followed by growth, reproduction and lactation. High-producing lactating cows (either dairy or beef) usually dependent on body reserves to provide sufficient energy for maintaining the first few months of lactation. During this part of lactation, parasitism can be especially harmful causing additional metabolic stress, decreasing milk flow, reducing reproductive efficiency and increasing susceptibility to other diseases. The most important role adult animals play in parasite infections, however, is as sources of contamination for younger animals.

Trash-Off Update!!!

Concerning the Great Texas Trash Off to be held on Thursday, April 9, the City would like to remind you to call the City Hall for limbs that need to be chipped. The limbs should be placed on the edge of the street right-of-way or in the alley.

Also, citizens are reminded that tires cannot be taken to the landfill or held for pickup by the Trash-Off workers. There is still no place to dispose of the tires. Efforts are still being made to locate a disposal site. Aluminum can collection will be Thursday, April 16 at City Hall.
