ELECTION RETURNS, MOODY RELECTED

Schleicher Polls Largest Vote In History Of County. Luedecke And McCormick Re-Elected

The election Saturday proved to be good day for the Boy Governor, all over the State. He piled up a large majority in Schleicher county and according to reports will have no run off.

The local interest developed in the Sheriffs race in this county and some hard work was done by friends of both candidates, but after the ballots were counted, Sheriff Luedecke had a majority of 89 votes over Joe B. Edens.

The next race with opposition was the Tax Assessors, between Don McCormick, for re-election and Ervin Mund. McCormick won with over a two to one count the vote being 426 to 208. In the Public Weighers race C. S. Chick won over John Gray by a count of 320 to 175. In the Commissioners race we had two men offering their services to the office, but if there was any electioneering by either one we failed to hear of it but the voters gave H.W. Finley a majority over Geo. Williams, by the count of 309 to 175. Below is a vote of the State officers as the complete returns show.

Club Luncheon

The Eldorado Lions had their regular meeting at the Methodist church Wednesday, lunch was prepared by the ladies of this church.

The business that was taken up was that of getting street lights for Eldorado, a much needed thing in the town.

The Club added another new member to its roll, F. M. Bradley of the Bush Motor Company. This makes a total of thirty-six members and the club is not going to stop under fifty and more if possible.

During the lunch hour music was furnished by Misses Jym Newsom on the piano and Vivian Reagan on the violin, which added much to the fine dinner served by the Methodist ladies.

The Club meets again Wednesday the 15th of this month and those members missing these meeting doesn't realize just what he has missed. Lets all be present at the next meeting.

The hour has also been changed from 12:30 to 12:00 o'clock.

Bridge Party And Luncheon

On Thursday of last week Mrs. A. P. Bailey entertained the Bridge Club and a few guests, honoring Miss Lelah Belle Davis, whose engagement to Mr. Muller of Temple, Texas, has been recently announced.

The entertainment which followed five games of bridge, came as a surprise to the honor guest. An emergency operation was suddenly announced. The bride-to-be, designated as Dr. Davis, was called upon to perform the operation. Two popular nurses, Misses Ruth DeLong and Mary Alice Stewardson appeared in the door way with the patient on a stretcher and ordered preparation made at once for the operation.

Instruments were quickly assembled, blood tests made and the patient was pronounced in proper order. A butcher knife from the kitchen and a stout pair of pliers from a nearby automobile, were brought into use as suitable instruments in such an emergency.

Hastily prepared directions for the operation read as follows: Amputate head, feet and arms; open chest, remove heart and lungs, open abdomen, remove appendix etc.

The removal of these members brought forth a shower of lovely gifts.

Much merriment resulted as the doctor brought to light, percolator, teapot, knives, spoons, glass ware and linens of various kinds. The appendix which is always so very important in good health or bad, was found to contain a valuable check.

The doctor in heavy cotton gloves, often handicapped, became much agitated but greatly rejoiced over the finding of such valuable material inside her patient. On completing her laborious task, she decided that she had never performed so successful an operation or had been the recipient of such lovely courtesies before in her life.

All decided now that the patient would live and a lovely luncheon was served by the charming hostess.

The Bride-to-be in a few well chosen words, tho at times almost overcome by emotion expressed her appreciation of the courtesies so recently tendered her, stressing most of all the spirit of friendship which prompts friend to respond to friend in times of sorrow and times of joy.

Mrs. Bailey, as always, proved herself an original and gracious hostess.

Long Well Down 300 Feet, Saturday

J. F. Long was in from the Long Well on the W. H. Williams ranch, Saturday and reports drilling had reached a depth of 300 feet and that water had been struck. They are lowering casing to cut off the water. He had his land plot with him and was offering some acreage close in. The people here should buy some of this acreage, as the well depends on the sale of the lease. This well is just seven miles south of a well producing 30 barrels a day, which was recently brought in on the Tankersly ranch.

THE GREAT AMERICAN EXPERIMENT

The United States is the chief country in history where capital, instead of unsurpassing power to arbitrarily increase itself, has worked towards paying the highest possible wages, selling at the lowest possible profit, and earning as little on the investment involved as is economical and progressively sound.

The old fear of gigantic finance came from a time when the financier was considered the enemy of the rights and the wishes of the people.

Today the fear is disappearing. Knowledge has shown the people that American capitalism is a great democratizing influence, laboring to bring about general prosperity and national unity of thought and feeling.

The present state of sincere amity between labor and capital is the direct result of a wise capitalism that has made the American worker the best living and best paid in the world, and has given him a definite and enviable place in society.

Strikes do not come from the payment of high wages. Our people know they buy commodities at lower prices than would be possible under any other system, with an equal wage and living standard.

Few cries of "trust" are heard when it is understood that mass production means to reduce overhead, increase production and so decrease cost, all for the benefits of the people.

Our citizens realize that tremendous finance is necessary to our reaching the limit of our possibilities. They know that this money power will be used for ends that will increase general prosperity and happiness.

This is the great American capitalistic experiment. It has made us the greatest nation in the world, the wealthiest and the most unified.

PHOTORADIO GREETING IN SHORTHAND FLASHED TO LIVERPOOL BANQUET

Reproduction of shorthand photoradiogram greeting. Translation:
National Gregg Association Exchange Hotel Liverpool
The Commercial Education Association of New York City and vicinity extends sincere congratulations and best wishes to you on the occasion of your conference commemorating the 40th anniversary of Gregg shorthand.
ALEXANDER S. MASSELL, President.

A radio photograph of a greeting written in shorthand was transmitted recently to a conference of educators and shorthand experts attending a banquet in Liverpool. This was the first time that a message in shorthand had ever been transmitted by photoradio, and according to engineers opens up new possibilities for condensing messages and statements into smaller spaces with a consequent reduction in cost of the picture transmitted.

The text of the message, not including the date, numbered forty-one words of which only the address and signature were written in longhand, with the remaining 37 words in shorthand. The sender was Alexander S. Massell, president of the Commercial Education of New York, who addressed a message of greeting in this form to the banquet held by the National Gregg Association at the Exchange Hotel, Liverpool, England. John Robert Gregg, the only living author of the shorthand method bearing his name, was a guest of honor at the banquet, which commemorated the fortieth anniversary of the use of Gregg shorthand.

The message was photographed and the negative placed on a glass cylinder of the photoradio transmitter located at the New York offices of the Radio Corporation of America. It was then flashed across the 3,000 intervening miles of ocean to London and from there delivered to the banquet hall of the Exchange Hotel.

"B. W. D." Germ Menace to Poultry Industry

Bacillary white diarrhea is a poultry disease which constitutes a menace in every state in some of the most serious confronting the industry. It attacks poultry of all ages and, apparently, is transmitted from hen to egg and chicks from hen to hen (through eating of eggs) and from chick to chick in the hatchery and brooder.

The agglutination test is the best known to science for locating the disease in live poultry, and while it is not perfect, it may be nearly so in the hands of reliable veterinarians. State regulatory methods are drastic, but seemingly a great aid in eliminating the disease.

"B. W. D." is an economic problem for practical poultrymen, as losses in chicks, laying pullets and hatchability of eggs all have bearing on success or failure of the poultry community.

Scientists claim that man's cycle of life will soon be increased to 100 years which will be a great boon to the installment business.

Obregon's Killer To Be Given Fair Trial

Mexico City, Mex.—In compliance with the dictates of order and justice that have been maintained under the Calles administration in Mexico, Jose de Leon Torral, slayer of President-elect Alvaro Obregon, is to be given a public civil trial and the police and military authorities are restrained from taking any action against him.

The police say they have in their possession, according to an article in the Chicago Tribune, printed leaflets secretly distributed recently among some Catholics, which state that the days of General Obregon and President Calles are numbered. They say the leaflets contain this expression:

"Every dog has his day and the day of Obregon draws near."

Military authorities today removed from the grave of the priest, Projaurez, who was among the four men executed after the attempt to bomb General Obregon last November, a placard placed there during the night bearing the legend, "You are avenged."—Scottish Rite News Bureau.

EAT MORE SPUDS URGES SCIENTIST

Research Proves Fallacy of Theory Potatoes Cause Corpulency.

New York.—Eat more potatoes. This was the advice given by Dr. Mikkel Hindhede of Denmark in an address at Columbia university here. Doctor Hindhede was food administrator of his native country during the war and is known as the Herbert Hoover of Denmark. He is a scientist whose researches into food values have given him world-wide fame.

The person who said that a fat man eating a potato was one of earth's most poignant tragedies, according to Doctor Hindhede, sacrificed truth to make a clever phrase. The ban placed on potatoes by current reducing fads, Dr. Hindhede said, is as silly as it is unscientific. Potatoes are among the best health foods, he declared.

"If Americans would eat five times more potatoes," said Doctor Hindhede, "there would be less illness in the nation and the death rate would be materially reduced. There is no more reason for abstaining from eating potatoes than for cutting meat off the menu. Potatoes are 75 per cent water. As part of a balanced diet, they do not cause corpulency.

"Potatoes have as many calories as meat, butter, and eggs but less of vitamin A. Too much vitamin A produces sluggishness and lessens resistance to disease. Too much of this vitamin consumed in food by children causes tonsillitis, eczema, enlarged glands, and anemias."

Denmark is one of the great dairying countries of Europe, Doctor Hindhede pointed out, but practically all Danish farmers, he said, export their butter to England and serve margarine on the family table.

"The people of Denmark eat about a half as much butter as Americans and nearly twenty times as much margarine," said Doctor Hindhede, "and the Danes are celebrated for their health and sturdiness. The death rate in Denmark from tuberculosis, various forms of kidney diseases, and other ailments due primarily to improper diet is about 80 per cent less than the death rate from similar causes in the United States."

Doctor Hindhede illustrated his lecture with 100 charts explanatory of his experiments in Denmark to determine an adequate ration for children and adults. He showed pictures of adults in a perfect state of health after living for a year on nothing but potatoes and vegetable margarine.

"If you want to find out what rats can live on best, you should experiment with rats," he said. "If you want to find out what human beings can live on best, you should experiment with human beings."

During his stay in this country, Doctor Hindhede lectured before a number of universities and scientific bodies. He spoke before the Department of Agriculture in Washington and was entertained at a luncheon at which were present Constantin Brun, Danish minister to the United States, Dr. H. W. Wiley, internationally known nutrition expert, and Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Renck W. Dunlap.

Hens Appreciate Warm Water During Winter

Since eggs are made up largely of water, it pays to keep plenty of clean water before hens at all times, and experience has shown that the hens appreciate warm water, or at least water that is not ice cold.

Electric or kerosene heaters are used by some professional poultry men, and the thermos-bottle type of drinking fountain has found favor on many farms. Packing the water pail with straw, newspapers or other material will do a fairly satisfactory job of keeping the water from getting too cold, in case other devices are not available. The bucket should be emptied and refilled with fresh, warm water each morning, noon and evening in cold weather. The extra work entailed by this chore is well paid for in the greater production of eggs.

HALF- HEARTED Never Felt Well

"I don't see why women will drag around, in a half-hearted way, never feeling well, barely able to drag, when Cardui might help put them on their feet, as it did me," says Mrs. Geo. S. Hunter, of Columbus, Ga.

"I could not work, and just dragged around the house.

"I got very thin. I went from a hundred and twenty-six pounds down to less than a hundred.

CHEVROLET SALES REACH 750,000 IN FIRST SIX MONTHS
 One of the most remarkable achievements ever recorded in the automobile industry comes to light today in the announcement of R. H. Grant, vice-president of the Chevrolet Motor Co., in charge of sales that 750,000 "Bigger and Better" Chevrolets have been placed in the hands of owners since the introduction of the new car January first.
 With deliveries to customers averaging 30,000 cars a week Chevrolet in the first seven months of the year, established a record for public acceptance of a new car unrivalled in the history of modern motor cars. Each week, each month, each quarter shattered all marks for the corresponding period of any previous year.
 Much of the credit for making possible this remarkable showing is given the efficient manufacturing organization and the tremendous production facilities employed by Chevrolet. Fourteen great factories in various sections of the country shared in the effort that enabled the sales division to make prompt deliveries immediately on the announcement of the car last January. From Oakland, Cal., to Tarrytown N. Y., factory wheels have been spinning at a record clip since the first of the year, building the various models as fast as the exacting requirements of precision operation would permit.
 The unusual public favor shown in the first seven months through the demand for 750,000 cars, indicates beyond doubt that Chevrolet will build and sell many more than one million units in 1928, breaking by a wide margin all existing records for manufacture and sale of a new model and further guaranteeing Chevrolet's position as the world's largest automobile producer.

Boosting is always contagious with the germ of success.

Just heard of a Texas girl who thinks "meeting defeat" means getting kicked out.

We imagine it would be nice to be the world's golfer and not have to work.

With work and Hoover out, Cal had better hurry back to Washington if he wants any cabinet left.

Future Presidential timber will exclaim with pride, "I began life riding on a spring seat of a tractor".

Anyhow, we notice that it is the "tired business man" who has the biggest time when he goes out for the evening.

Shocked at the clothes that she was wearing, a New Jersey mother told her daughter to go home and put on her bathing suit.

Yes, Prohibition was slipped over on us, all right. But at that time everybody was drunk and didn't know what they were voting for.

America will never be entirely dry. The best she can do is keep the stuff she has unfit to drink. And that Prohibition is a success.

Al Smith's campaign manager, John J. Raskob, has made quite a success out of General Motors. The country awaits in earnest to find out what he can do with General Voters.

Being a candidate wouldn't be so bad if one did not have to say, "I became a candidate at the request of my friends", whether one did or not.

The world's stingiest taxpayer has been discovered. He sold his car a few days before the day of tax-paying ownership, walked until it was past, and then bought a new car. Sole leather was cheaper than gasoline; besides, he didn't have to pay a tax on either car.

THE PARKING PROBLEM

Parking always will be a problem. It will never be entirely settled, because it is a question of physical space. The uniform traffic code, which many cities have adopted and other communities are asked to adopt, will not solve the problem even if it seeks to do so, because conditions are different in different places.

One of the greatest problems in parking is its enforcement. Many people feel they have a proprietary right to a public street, independent of the rights of others. Others feel that they should be excepted from a parking ordinance or regulation because their cars are parked in front of their own places of business. Neither of the theories are sound. It is a great question however, whether a fixed time limit for parking should be adopted. In the first place it can not satisfy every car owner or driver, and if enforced it subjects many a well-meaning person to petty annoyance and expense.

If the parking rule were enforced against persons who make of the business district a place to store their cars all day long, and sometimes all night long, and a distinction made between such uses of the street and those who merely stay over the limit because their particular business held them away, there might be a greater satisfaction out of parking limits.

There is no place too small to have its parking problem. Wherever people congregate for business or pleasure, and even for worship and education, there will be the problem of spacing motor vehicles in the most convenient and safe manner and with the view of economy of space.

SHORT SPEECHES

It is said that Mr. Hoover's speech of acceptance will occupy only 40 minutes of time.

What the public wants in any candidate is for him to be short on speech and long on performance. But at best a speech accepting the nomination as a candidate for President is only a bluster. What can either Al or Hoover say in 40 minutes or even in two hours any more than a few chosen words of platitudinous phrasings? One simply can not get over more than the high lights, and these are forgotten in a week or two.

This campaign like all others, will be fought out during the month of October. In fact elections, even of the national import, are won and lost the last week or two of the campaign. Much of the ammunition fired by the Democrats and Republicans, the dries and the wets, the high tariffers and low tariffers, the farm relievers and industrial protectionists is simply so much gunpowder shot into the air.

Old average man and Mr. Independent Voter, including Mrs. Voter are going to listen to the testimony of the witnesses on both sides, and then retire to the voting booth and vote as their conscience and good judgement directs. Acceptance speeches are a part of the national sport. We couldn't do without them and enjoy the campaign. But they don't always win the elections.

In a republic like America, or a democracy if you choose to call it that, the fact is that no man has ever been so big and so great that the country would go to the dogs if he were not elected President. We will go further and say that in every thousand or so people in the United States, picked at random, there could be found a person who, if suddenly thrust into the President's chair, could fill the place with considerable credit to the country provided the shock of sudden honor and egotism didn't kill him off the first week.

WHAT CAN WE DO FOR ELDORADO

Every person who has a business to look after or a job to perform often asks himself the question, "What can I do today to bring in some business, or to enhance my profession, or to be more efficient in the work that is for me to do?" If he doesn't ask himself daily this question, he is not progressing.

It's the same with our own community, which is not something apart from us, but something that is all of us. No community can expect to advance unless many, many citizens give it their best thought, their honest efforts and a liberal supply of their moral and financial support.

The finest mark of citizenship is not alone the individual successes to which others point their pride; it also consists of the accomplishment of the individual citizen, working with others for the common good.

Every man worth his meals knows that he must make a living for himself and those who are dependent on him. Self preservation is the first law of nature. But the achievements of mankind are so much greater so much finer and nobler when the citizen steps out and does something requiring initiative—something that he didn't really have to do to subsist, which makes others happy and advances the prosperity of all.

Eldorado has many of such good citizens, rich, poor, humble and exalted. Eldorado needs more of such citizenship. Men and women who constantly ask themselves, "What can I do for Eldorado that will advance its interests?" The first thing they can do is live rightly and honorably. That is taken for granted. After that a smile, a kind word, co-operation in all good movements, liberal support to worthy institutions, boosting always for bigger and better things in the community. Sound counsel in civic matters is no less important than outward activity.

We should take the Slogan of the Boy Scouts, "Do a good turn daily".

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

On When Women Come Into Money.

As Aunt Emmy sipped her tea she heard the conversation drift to the Slade sisters. The fact that they had inherited a large fortune and would have to administer it themselves created considerable comment.

"My husband says old man Slade made a big mistake not putting it in trust for them," said Mrs. Burt. "He says women never should handle large sums of money because they are financially uneducated"—he really meant "dumb."

"All women aren't dumb about money matters, are they, Aunt Emmy?" exclaimed Miss Pringle.

"Of course not," Aunt Emmy agreed. "There are all sorts and kinds of women all the way from very prudent to very foolish."

"Well, anyway, an awful lot of women have been victimized in financial things—just look at all the widows that have been robbed," insisted Mrs. Burt.

"There won't be so much of that in the future as in the past," Aunt Emmy said. "Women have been easy to victimize because they knew so little about money affairs, but now they are realizing this danger more and more and are taking advantage of the financial advice departments their bankers have set up for them. One thing that has led to women's financial undoing is their natural love of pretty things. This trait often leads them into foolish investments and speculations to get money quickly. Once a woman sets her heart on a thing she can't wait until it is hers."

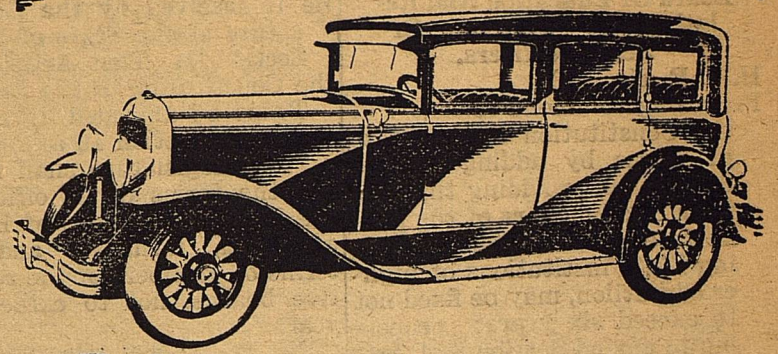

"But if women didn't buy things, there wouldn't be any business," spoke up Molly. "Women are the natural spenders of the family, Dad says."

"Yes, but they would have more to spend if they'd go a little slower," replied Aunt Emmy. "Every time I see a woman falling for some silly get-rich-quick scheme I think of the nice things she could buy with the money she is going to lose. If they'd go slower—they'd get farther."

"From what I know of the Slade girls," Molly began—but just then the Slade girls themselves came in.

"We're so sorry to be late," they apologized, "but we have been having our first lesson in finance down at the

Sane Diet Vs. Vitamines

Chicago.—Well-balanced selection of foods is a surer means of supplying the body with health-giving vitamines than reliance on special foods supposed to contain these valuable properties, dietitians now assert. Our grandfathers never heard of vitamines yet they were as sturdy physical specimens as the present generation. They ate foods which experience taught them were wholesome and nutritious. Countless ordinary foods contain vitamines which promote the growth of young children, the maintenance of health, and resistance to disease. These include green vegetables, tomatoes, egg yolk, liver, kidneys, and other glandular organs, vegetable oil, butterfat, carrots, peas, beans, spinach, fresh fruits, milk, nuts, potatoes and legumes. Margarine because it is largely made up of finest animal or vegetable oils and milk, is a valuable source of vitamines. Sane attention to diet, it is pointed out, will secure for the average person more than enough of his share of vitamines for satisfactory growth and health.

Proposed Constitutional Amendment—Authorizing Legislature To Grant Confederate Pensions Regardless Of Date Pensioner Came To Texas Or When Widow Married Pensioner Or When She Was Born

H. J. R. No. 15.)
House Joint Resolution.
Proposing an amendment to Section 51, Article 3, of the Constitution of the State of Texas authorizing a tax levy for Confederate soldiers and sailors and their widows, and providing for submission of same to the qualified electors of this State at any election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, A. D. 1928, and providing the necessary proclamation and appropriation to defray expenses of proclamation, publication and election.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas: Section 1. That Section 51, of Article 3, of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as to read as follows:

"The Legislature shall have no power to make any grant or authorize the making of any grant of public moneys to any individual, association of individuals, municipal or other corporation whatsoever; provided, however, the Legislature may grant aid to individual and disabled Confederate soldiers and sailors under such regulations and limitations as may be deemed by the Legislature as expedient, and to their widows in indigent circumstances under such regulations and limitations as may be deemed by the Legislature as expedient; to indigent and disabled soldiers, who, under special laws of the State of Texas, during the war between the States, served in organizations for the protection of the frontier against Indian raids or Mexican marauders, and to indigent and disabled soldiers of the militia who were in active service during the war between the States, and to the widows of such soldiers who are in indigent circumstances, and who are or may be eligible to receive aid under such regulations and limitations as may be deemed by the Legislature as expedient; and also grant for the establishment and maintenance of a home for said soldiers and sailors, their wives and widows and women who aided in the Confederate and limitations as may be provided for by law; provided the Legislature may provide for husband and wife to remain together in the home. There is hereby levied in addition to all other taxes heretofore permitted by the Constitution of Texas, a State ad valorem tax on property of seven ($.07) cents on the one hundred ($100) dollars valuation for the purpose of creating a special fund for the payment of pensions for services in the Confederate army and navy, frontier organizations and the militia of the State of Texas, and for the widows of such soldiers serving in said armies, navies, organizations or militia; provided that the Legislature may reduce the tax rate herein levied, and provided further, that the provisions of this section shall not be construed so as to prevent the grant of aid in cases of public calamity.

Sec. 2 The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of the State at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, A. D. 1928, at which all ballots shall have printed thereon "For the constitutional amendment authorizing aid to Confederate soldiers and sailors and their widows in indigent circumstances," and authorizing tax levy therefor," and "Against the constitutional amendment authorizing aid to Confederate soldiers and sailors and their widows in indigent circumstances and authorizing tax levy therefor." Each voter shall scratch out one of said clauses on the ballot, leaving the one expressing his vote on the proposed amendment.

SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS ARE TAX BOOSTERS

The special assessment, a legitimate form of taxation when there is a direct necessity for it, has often been used to the extent that it has become pernicious. At the present time, cases are common where special assessments have been greater than the general taxes, and a great and unfair hardship to those who must pay them.

Roy A. Knox, director of the Bureau of Budget and Efficiency of Los Angeles, has recently stated that relief to California property owners can only come from limitation of the amount of special assessments that can be levied in a given period of time. Mr. Knox said further that "there is no measuring stick provided by law whereby to determine if the property value is actually increased to the extent of the assessments paid." states are undoubtedly in this position. It has been shown conclusively that our tax burdens are the result of local and state taxes, mainly the former. Federal economy has been offset by tremendous increase in the costs of running these smaller units of government, which must lead eventually to making home owning unpopular. The special assessment is one tax form that can and should be controlled.

ROAD DEVELOPMENT LEAPS FORWARD
Thirty years ago a good road for wagon and horse travel was considered the limit of improvement for this method of transportation. Today the bare rock road is fast passing into history as a suitable surface for modern traffic.

Pavements have been laid on tens of thousands of miles of rural highways. Where heavy state highways are not warranted, old gravel and macadam road beds are being surfaced with a two or three-inch water proof coating of asphaltic concrete. This utilizes the compacted old road as a base for an economical and efficient method of hardsurfacing.

Where even this second type is not warranted, road oil is today being placed on thousands of miles of country roads. It has been found that this method of treatment again preserves the road base by preventing the blowing away in dust of tons of road surfacing, which, in addition to damaging the road, buries the neighboring countryside in coating of dirt which ruins thousands of dollars worth of crops.

And so the road improvement continues. Wider highways are superceding the narrower pavements and dust-proof highways are superceding the dust nuisances of a few years ago.

BANKERS PROVIDE STUDENT LOANS

American Bankers Association Completes Plan to Award 167 College Economic Scholarships Throughout Nation.

AWARDS TO START THIS FALL

Students in Agricultural Economics to Be Helped in Farm States— Will Also Facilitate Entry Into Business Life.

One hundred and sixty-seven collegiate loan scholarships will be provided by the American Bankers Association, 98 of which are now being proffered to 71 selected colleges and universities in 34 states. It has been announced by John H. Pfeilicher, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Association's Foundation for Education in Economics. The foundation fund of $500,000 was started in 1925 to commemorate the Association's fiftieth anniversary and its aim is to stimulate and aid worthy men or women students to pursue courses in banking and economics in collegiate institutions throughout the country.

The scholarship awards will be available for the scholastic year beginning this fall and will provide recipients with unit loans of $250, to be repaid on easy terms following their entry into earning business life. In several farm states, it is provided, scholarships shall be specifically awarded in agricultural economics.

A special feature of the plan in addition to its educational advantages is that scholars, upon discharge of all their financial obligations connected with their loans, will be given certificates of honorary membership in the foundation signed by the members of the board of trustees, which will be available as evidence of financial reliability for their use in starting their business careers.

Colleges Awarded Scholarships
Proffers of one or more scholarships have been made to the following institutions:

- Alabama, University of Alabama, Birmingham-Southern College, Arizona, University of Arizona, Arkansas, University of Arkansas, California, University of California, University of Southern California, Stanford University, Connecticut, Wesleyan University, Yale University, Delaware, University of Delaware, District of Columbia, George Washington University, Georgetown University, Florida, University of Florida, University of Miami, Hawaiian Islands, University of Hawaii, Idaho, University of Idaho, Illinois, University of Illinois, University of Chicago, Knox College, Northwestern University, Kansas, University of Kansas, Kansas State Agricultural College, Washburn College, Louisiana, Louisiana State University, Tulane University, Maryland, Johns Hopkins University, University of Maryland, Michigan, University of Michigan, University of Michigan, Michigan Agricultural College, Minnesota, Carlton College, University of Minnesota, Hamline University, Mississippi, University of Mississippi, Montana, State University of Montana, Nebraska, University of Nebraska, Doane College, Nevada, State University of Nevada, New Jersey, Princeton University, Rutgers University, New Mexico, New Mexico College of Agricultural and Mechanical Arts, North Carolina, University of North Carolina, North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering, Oregon, University of Oregon, Oregon State Agricultural College, Pennsylvania, University of Pennsylvania, Dickinson College, Lafayette College, Gettysburg College, Franklin and Marshall College, Allegheny College, University of Pittsburgh, Lehigh University, Swarthmore College, Pennsylvania State College, Rhode Island, Brown University, South Dakota, University of South Dakota, Tennessee, University of Tennessee, University of Chattanooga, Vanderbilt University, Utah, University of Utah, Vermont, University of Vermont, Virginia, University of Virginia, Washington and Lee University, University of Richmond, William and Mary, Washington, University of Washington, Washington State College of Washington, West Virginia, West Virginia University, Wisconsin, University of Wisconsin, Lincoln College, Beloit College.

Plan of Operation

Institutions are selected on the basis of type of school, educational standards, geographical distribution and desire to co-operate in the plan. A scholarship committee is to be created in each selected institution, to consist of members of the faculty and a prominent banker. All scholarship applications must be made formally through the college committees and not direct to the foundation. Three home-town references are required of each applicant, at least one of whom must be a banker. Only students of junior or higher grade in banking and economic courses are eligible and those who have also attended American Institute of Banking courses will be given preference.

MARY'S LITTLE DRESS.

By W. A. Spencer.

Mary had a little dress
With frills as white as snow
And every where that Mary went.

Her form did plainly show.

She put it on one afternoon
And down the street did walk
And people gathered 'round in groups
About her dress to talk.

Her mother made this little frock
Of fabric very fine
But Mary thought it just the thing
To wrap her body in.

Now Mary really didn't know
How nudely she appeared
Or else she would have guessed just why.
The people stood and sneered.

And when she reached her mother's side
To her she did relate
Just how her dress had made a hit
By being up to date.

Poor Mary really didn't know
That she was laughing stock
As down the street she lightly tripped
And gave the town a shock.

We've lots of Mary's nowadays
With this same kind of dress
But people are so used to them
They do not cause distress.

The loans are at five per cent beginning the first day of the second January after the date the scholar leaves school, with no interest on repayment made prior to that time. Loans may be paid off in monthly installments of $10 or more. After three installments have been promptly met payments may be placed on a quarterly basis until the loan is wiped out which must occur within three years. In cases of delinquencies, consideration will be given special circumstances, such as ill health or unavoidable unemployment.

A GREAT SERVANT OF AGRICULTURE

A short time ago a fifty-car train load of tractors, to be used in the cultivation of cotton, was shipped into Mississippi. It is stated that these machines will do the work of 1500 men and 5-200 mules in drawing multiple row cultivators.

The Florence, Alabama, Times-News, in commenting on this, says that, "there will probably be no more significant development in Southern agriculture during 1928."

The tractor has given the farmer two standars of speed, efficiency will be interesting to observe the progress in the cotton cultivation in the Mississippi delta that will be affected by the utilization of these tractors.

STREET RAILWAYS MAKE PROGRESS

The street railways are an essential industry. The difficulties of some years ago have in the main been solved and at present most of the important systems are not only holding their own but making definite progress.

Much development has been made in the field of safety. Recently Anthony M. Brady Memorial medals were awarded to three electric railway companies by the American Museum of Safety and the fact was brought out that during 1926 the electric railway industry of the United States had reduced the number of accidents by 15 per cent. But one of every 100,000,000 passengers carried during that year was fatally injured.
