X's and O's

by Bill Coward

As the 1977 Football season winds down to a close, I thought I would take some time to reflect on this past season. First of all I would like to thank the 22 young men who are finishing this season with us. These people have given quite a lot to be a part of this football team and I believe they know the true meaning of the word sacrifice. In August they were on the field by 6:30 a.m. every morning and then back again in the same hot afternoon. They have given their time, personal pleasures and many times they have practiced when they did not feel well. To me this shows a tremendous amount of character and dedication. Together we have won some and together we have lost some. When we have won, the players were joyous, yet not conceited and when we lost, sometimes by big scores, they had class and dignity and most important, though they hurt and were disappointed they held their heads up and they never gave up.

There has been no dissension among the players or coaches on this team. They have gone about the tedious task of daily practice with good attitudes and most of the time, they have worked hard. The leadership on this team has been good also. This year's seniors have set good examples for the younger players. All of our seniors have played and practiced hard. Our seniors who have finished this season are: Captains Curtis Simpson and Sammy Don Haynes; Scott Raines Randy Kennedy, Ricky Steele, Butch Cline, Carter Trew and Jeff Matheny.

There are several of these young men who have college football potential and I hope they pursue this challenge. I have grown to love and respect these seniors as well as the other 14 boys who made up this year's Tiger Football squad. This team I'll never forget.

I also want to thank my assistant coaches, Jim Yakubovsky and Jack Dorsett. These two men have put up with a lot this year. They have worked long hard hours and listened to my gripes and ignored my little idiosyncrasies. They care about the players and their dedication and the tremendous job they have done this year well evidence that. And there are a couple of special lads who have also endured a lot this season. Janet Yakubovsky has unselfishly given her husband to me many times when I'm sure she would have preferred him home. My wife Sue has really been a blessing to me this year. I don't believe God could have given me a more understanding wife. I really appreciate these people.

The Administration and School Board have also been quite deserving of my appreciation this season. Mr. Jefferson, Mr. Cummings and Mr. Thomas have all been most compatible to work with and for. They have all bent over backwards at times to make this season successful and the spirit at McLean Public Schools is evidence of the job these men are doing. The faculties of the two schools have also been most gratuitous in their cooperation and participation. The School Board has worked hard at making McLean Schools the best quality and in providing the best education possible for students.

Finally I want to thank you the community, for your support this year. I firmly believe that the backbone of any school system is the community in which the school is located. You have shown your willingness more than once this year to make McLean a great place to live and work in.

The result, I believe, has been the establishment of a winning attitude in our students. The young men who make up this year's football team are all winners. The credit to their season goes largely to them. They are the ones who have played and practiced. But some of it goes to the assistant coaches, school officials and the community. Being a winner does not mean you win all the time. A winner is one who does not stay defeated and I believe this year's Tigers are all winners.

COW BODY CONDITION KEY TO CALVING INTERVAL

The key to having a cow calve every 12-month period is to keep her in good body condition, contends a livestock specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Delayed rebreeding means fewer pounds of calf weaned per year and is money lost. For cows to have a high reproductive rate, they must have adequate levels of energy before and after calving. Cows should be put into three groups based on their body condition and fed accordingly 90 to 10 days before calving.

and Mrs. Ronald Cummings and Clint Herndon son of Mr. and Mrs. Darryel Herndon; second grade-Judy Kennedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Kennedy and Jim Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Anderson; and the first grade-Shiloh Finney daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Finney and Calle Holwick son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Holwick.

REQUITAL

"As I have done, so God hath requited me." (Judges 1:7)

To requite is to repay or give in return and it may in the actions of man be either good or bad. When God requites, it is always just; but not necessarily always pleasant to the recipient. Adonibezek was a power-thirsty king who lived in the days of Joshua and a few years afterward. He stated that he had had the thumbs and great toes of 70 kings cut off. When the Israelites captured him, they cut off his thumbs and great toes. It was with a sense of retributive justice that he was to say, "As I have done, so God hath requited me."

It is the same principle as that stated in the sermon on the mount as Jesus said, "Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy" (Matt. 5:7), or as He said, "For with what judgment ye judge ye shall be judged; and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again" (Matt. 6:2). Paul made it clear that this rule works both ways with this familiar passage, "Whatever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting" (Gal. 6:7-8). Sow bad, reap bad; sow good, reap good.

Man gets in reverse often and requites evil for good both to man and God. After the goodness of God had been shown to Israel in manifold ways, the people were sinful and rebellious and Moses said, "Do ye thus requite the Lord?" (Deut. 32:6). David said regarding the ungrateful Nabal, "He hath requited me evil for good" (1 Sam. 25:21).

Today, as in Israel's day, many requite a merciful God in Heaven with ingratitude and disobedience. Are you among that number?

team the girls have set several goals for themselves. The first goal that they set was to work together as a single unit-sort of like all for one and one for all. The other goal is to try to windistrict and from there, we'll take anything that comes our way." He named Groom and Miami, because both are returning five out of six starters and Wheeler, because it is one of the largest class B schools in the state, as the Tigerettes' toughest opponents in the race for the district title.

Citing over-all quickness and speed as the Tigerettes' strongest point Coach Yakubovsky also stated that their major weakness is "inexperience at the forward end but improving every day, where by district, the forwards should be scoring at will."

Asked his feelings about coaching the Tigerettes Yakubovsky replied, "With the enthusiasm and spirit that has been shown thus far, I'm looking forward to a great year. We are fortunate at McLean to have the number of girls participating in athletics as we have. We have more girls out for sports than any other school in the area. I'm really excited about the year. It's a pleasure and an honor to be able to coach such a group of fine, young ladies."

Local Rodeo Team Place At Slaton

by Kelly Moore

Last weekend the McLean Rodeo Team traveled to Lubbock to participate in the Slaton Tri-State Rodeo.

Entered in team roping were Greg Henley David Tolleson, Curtis Simpson, Carter Trew, Greg Gabel and Jim Ritchardson.

Once again Van Horn and Deb Crockett drew, and climbed aboard their barebacks. The stock was very tough and they were unable to make the eight second bell.

Entered in calf roping were Greg Henley and David Tolleson entered ribbon roping followed with Carter and Curtis trying their ability.

Finally the girls were up with Kelly Moore and Leisa Gabel running barrels. Kelly was also in poles.

Those placing from McLean were Greg Henley and David Tolleson with a fifth in team roping. David also placed sixth in bull dogging. Leisa Gabel brought home eighth in barrels; Kelly Moore, fifth in poles.

The next Tri-State Rodeo will be held November 11-13 at the Fair grounds in Amarillo. Tascosa High School will host this rodeo.

The only two countries currently without coins are Laos and Paraguay. They use paper money only.

BOB Simpson makes sense...

... because he is the only candidate with any state legislative experience. Bob Simpson has a proven record of hard work, responsiveness and effectiveness.

... because he believes in open and candid government. Bob Simpson is the only candidate making full public disclosure of all his personal financial records. He is known for his honesty and integrity.

... because he has farming and ranching interests in this district, and is committed to solving the problems of farmers and ranchers.

... because he opposes a state income tax. Bob Simpson has never voted for a tax increase.

Sure there are candidates in this race who make lots of noise and are full of promises. But campaign rhetoric isn't what this district needs. We need a Senator who will work for us. A Senator who can find realistic solutions to the problems facing our state. Bob Simpson will be the Senator we need ... because Bob Simpson makes sense.

Federal Tax Return Deadline Approaches

Employers must report and pay Social Security and withheld Federal income taxes for the third quarter of 1977 by Monday, October 31.

Persons who have deposited the entire quarterly tax liability on time in a Federal Reserve Bank or authorized commercial bank have until November 1 to file Form 941, "Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Return," the Internal Revenue Service said.

Employers should use the preaddressed Forms 941 mailed to them by the IRS or obtain copies of the form from the nearest IRS office.

Market Report

Fall vegetables and fruits, increasing in supply, may ease the week's budget, says Gwendolyne Ciyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. But expect higher dry bean prices, especially pintos, due to heavy rains in some growing areas.

Pumpkins are plentiful and seasonal vegetables include cooking greens--mostly collards, mustard and turnip tops--sweet potatoes, broccoli and rutabagas. Also acorn and butternut squash, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, potatoes and dry yellow onions.

In fruits several varieties of grapes are available, with tokays often lowest priced.
Cranberries are more plentiful as are new crop apples--with best apple prices on smaller size bagged apples.
Pears, bananas, and oranges are priced right.

At meat counters, today's pork--pork is high in nutritive value-- is leaner. Good buys: Boston butt roast, quarter loin cut into chops, semi-boneless hams and some brands of bacon are moderately priced, as well as frankfurters, liver and roll sausage.

Beef supplies are ample. Featured cuts this week include chuck roasts and steaks, round steaks, some boneless rolled roasts, ground beef and beef liver.

Fryer chickens--supply and price remain about the same, but notice the difference on whole and on cut-up fryers. Be your own butcher and save. Eggs are attractively priced for the season, with Grade A large generally the best value. Also, turkey parts are priced low.

Frozen vegetables in heavy supply include broccoli, corn-on-thecob, and frozen potatoes.
Also look for plenty of canned corn, tomatoes and tomato products.

CONSUMER WATCH-
WORDS: Here's the beefbuyer's slogan--"No waste, no taste." Without the flecks of fat through the lean and the rim of fat along the edge, much of the rich and wonderful flavor of beef would be missing.

TIPS ON BUYING FIRE-WOOD

Homeowners shopping for firewood should know the right kind of wood to buy and how it is sold, says a forestry specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Firewood may be sold by the standard cord (8 feet long, 4 feet high, 4 feet wide), face cord (4 feet by 8 feet) or truck load. The best way to compare prices is to calculate the cubic feet of wood. Hickory white oak, red oak and pecan are excellent, long-burning woods with high heat output. Always select dry, lightweight
wood.

You and the LAW

PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: Can a Texas resident's assets in another state be attached in that state without the Texan being duly served by process?

A: Any state has jurisdiction or control over assets or property located within that state. And judgments can be taken and rendered against that property. But still, the U.S. and state constitutions provide that no one can be deprived of property without due process of law. This usually means service of process or notice of the proceedings concerning your property in the other state. However, notice by publication in a newspaper has been authorized and validated in most states when the owner cannot be located or his address is unknown.

Q: My ex-wife is planning to change my daughter's name to that of her new husband. Can she do that without my permission?

A: Yes. This requires a court proceeding and a reason for the requested change, but it can be done. However, she must give you notice of the hearing. The court would decide the issue on the basis of good cause and what is in the best interest of the child. You would certainly want to attend this hearing, preferably with an attorney, and argue against the name change.

Q: My son is in the process of getting a divorce, and his question concerns the distribution of the property. He bought a 1973 car and stereo in his name. Who will get them? Will he have to sell them?

A: Under Texas law, all property acquired during marriage is community property unless one can show it was acquired by gift, from a will or if one owned it before marriage. If the car and stereo were purchased with the salary he received during marriage, then they are community property and the wife has one-half interest in them regardless of whose name they are in.

Q: My husband's will specifies that he will leave one-third of the money in his checking and savings accounts to me and one-third to each of his sons. As his wife, am I not entitled to a half of the money he has acquired since our marriage eight years ago? He says that since I'm his second wife, I am entitled to a child's share.

A: Yes, you have an undivided one-half interest in all property acquired during marriage from the joint labor of either you or that which represents income from jobs. If that is what the money in the accounts represents, then he cannot give away your portion. If he does try to dispose of more than his one-half share by his will, then you have the right to make an "election" against his will. This means you can take your one-half interest in the accounts without regard to what the will says. His statement about the second wife getting a child's share is totally wrong.

Pee Wee Teams Ends Season

The McLean Pee Wee football team would like to thank each of you who supported us during this season especially in raising money to help pay for the individual trophies handed out after the tournament.

The Rams scored twice in the first half and ran over one extra point. This was the only scoring in the game. The McLean Pee Wees playing their last game of the season won 2nd place. Playing their last game were 6th graders: Robert Swaner, Lance Gabel, Michael Reynolds, Elson Rice, Pandall Wynn, Craig Morris, Scott Stubbs, Bryan Smitherman, Steve McAnear, Tim Hembree and managers Mark Tate, Kevin McDowell, and Eddie Brooks. Health Tips

At least 40 million people in the U.S. who feel bad in the morning may have a better excuse than a big night on the town or the late movie on television. They may have one of several disorders that affect sleep the Texas Medical Association says.

Most of the 40 million who complain they have trouble sleeping are plagued by insomnia that can have a variety of causes. Emotional disturbances and sudden lifestyle changes can cause periods of sleeplessness. If insomnia lasts several weeks, then a person may want to check with a physician.

There are a number of things an insomniac can do to improve sleep, the director of the Sleep Disorders Center at Stanford University says. Techniques can include exercising during the day and relaxing at night; avoiding heavy meals after 7 p.m.; drinking malted milk at bedtime; setting up a regular schedule of going to bed and getting up; sleeping in a quiet, comfortable place; decreasing alcohol consumption and changing sexual activity to a time when it would not interfere with sleep.

Even these techniques will not help more than two million people who have sleep apnea, a disorder that causes the body to stop breathing for short periods of time during sleep. An article in the October issue of "Texas Medicine" the TMA monthly journal, says major symptoms of the disease may include loud snoring and extreme daytime sleep-iness. Fatigue, frequent movement in sleep, early morning headaches, depression, anxiety and unusual behavior also may be clues to sleep apnea.

 However, this particular disease can be diagnosed only while the person is asleep.

Fear of being labeled
 "lazy" may make someone uneasy about discussing a sleep problem until it threatens their social or physical well-being too much. One sleep apnea victim was constantly drowsy during the day and even fell asleep while walking.
 Another patient had to have someone drive him everywhere and attend meetings with him because he never knew when he would fall asleep, say the authors, a team from the Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

Narcolepsy is a similar disease that causes people to fall asleep unexpectedly anytime anywhere. Sometimes a strong emotional reaction can trigger a narco-lepsy attack that may also include hallucinations and a feeling of being paralyzed.

Another disease that makes people feel tired during the day is nocturnal myoclonus. This disease causes the limbs to jerk fairly often during sleep so the person seldom can fall into a deep sleep.

All these diseases often are treatable with methods that might include diets, medication, counseling or surgery.
 However, treatments for individual problems can be very different. For instance, pills given for narcolepsy might make a person feel more tired. A physician's advice should be consulted for the correct treatment of a serious sleep problem.

Most cotton farmers are getting anxious for a good hard freeze so cotton harvest can begin before bad weather sets in. With cotton prospects good, the price of cottonseed has been on the cheap side so far this Fall downstate.

Cattlemen need to consider feeding whole cottonseed as a winter supplement because both cotton farmers and cattlemen could benefit by doing business with each other. Most years will see cottonseed as a good buy for cattlemen, but this year it is even more of a bargain unless prices change a lot. Cattlemen can save about one-third on a protein supplement by using whole cottonseed.

Whole cottonseed contains 23 percent crude protein and 90 percent total digestible nutrients (TDN). This is 10-15 percent more protein and 30 to 60 percent more digestible energy than the typical 20 percent protein range cubes which may vary in fiber from 10 to 20 percent. This extra energy is particularly helpful in successfully breeding and wintering fall calving cows.

It is more economical to feed cottonseed when you can purchase 10 lbs. of whole cottonseed cheaper than you can feed 3.5 lbs. cottonseed meal and 6.5 lbs. of sorghum. Cottonseed are easy to handle in a bulk form if you have a dry place to put them. Also the seed can be stored for several years with no apparent loss in feed value and mice do not bother them. However, the disadvantage to feeding cottonseed is the need for bulk storage. Seed can be sacked as needed and fed two to three times per week. Troughs are preferable but seed can be fed on good grass turf with little loss.

From a nutrient standpoint, a 1,000 pound cow nursing a calf should perform about the same when receiving 2 lbs. of cottonseed and 22 lbs. of average hay; or 3.75 lbs. of a 20 percent protein cube, with fiber 10 percent or less and 20.25 lbs. of hay. Greater and more nearly equal amounts of the two supplements would be required (5 to 6 lbs. daily) to supply adequate protein where only dead grass or poor hay is available.

Cottonseed also make a good protein supplement for Stocker Cattle at reasonable prices. If you would like additional information call or come by the County Extension Office.

WHEAT PROBLEMS

Wheat farmers seem to be in for a bad time. Maybe this is nature's way of combating the wheat surplus problem. I checked a wheat field belonging to Lewis Davis, east of Pampa and found some flea beetles. Also I have heard of other reports of flea beetles causing loss of wheat stands in a few fields towards Miami and Laketon.

Flea beetles occasionally cause serious damage to the edges of wheat fields, particularly near grassy fence rows. These quite small, shining black beetles jump readily when approached. They feed on wheat leaves, occasionally eating small holes in them so that leaves look skeletonized. The plants become bleached and die when heavily infested.

Generally flea beetles move into fields from the borders. When this is the situation then treatment of infested field margins, plus about 50 additional feet into the field is generally adequate for effective control. However in visiting with Kenneth Gray he found flea beetles infesting an entire field and not just along the field edges. He also found a lot of mites.

With all of the insect problems that some farmers have encountered this Fall, ranging from cutworms, false wireworms, flea beetles and mites, producers need to keep up frequent inspections of wheat fields and check thoroughly when spots or areas begin to change condition rapidly.

COOL WEATHER GARDENING

Cool fall weather need not put an end to the enjoyment of root crops and greens fresh from the garden. In fact, the onset of cold weather will improve the flavor of the root crops.

Crops such as turnips, beets, carrots, parsnips and radishes will grow on through the fall into November and December. Gardeners can prolong the growth of lettuce collards, mustard and kale into the late fall by erecting simple plastic shelters over the rows.

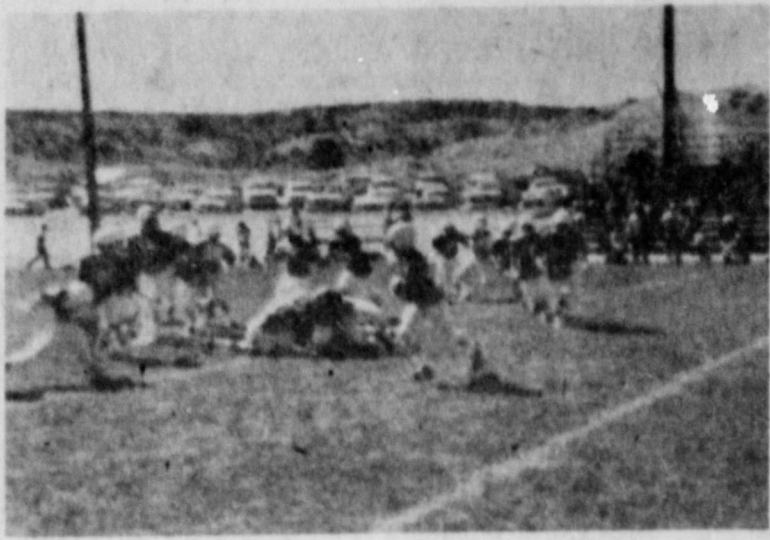

There are some precautions which should be taken to extend the bountiful yield of gardens, as hard freezes will damage the exposed crowns of root crops. A coarse mulch should be spread at least two to three inches deep around the base of the plants and

The heat pump

"THE ELECTRIC SAVINGS MACHINE"

HOW MUCH HEAT DOES THE HEAT PUMP PUMP?

Neither glacial January winds nor a simmering August sun can affect the heat pump's year 'round circulation of air, at just the right temperature.

Now you can stop fussing with the thermostat on those in-between days, too. The heat pump is an automatic climate control system that switches from heating to cooling to maintain the precise temperature you want. On very cold days, resistance heating coils (installed with the heat pump) automatically supplement the heat extracted from outside air. THE HEAT PUMP IS AN ELECTRIC SAVINGS MACHINE... LOW ON COST. Close down the plastic film over each end of the shelter during cold nights and open it up each morning to permit ventilation during the day.
