Serving McLean and the Area Since 1903

Volume 79 McLean, Gray County, Texas 79057 Thursday, April 22, 1982 Price 25¢ Number 16

This week was to have been a "normal" week at the News office...and maybe it was! For the last several weeks we have worked short-handed for one reason or another. One of us has been sick or one of our kids has been sick. Something has come up each week to make us have a tough week.

Monday I knew that everyone was healthy...all children were healthy. It looked like a good week...until I tried to use the waxer (a vital machine for pasting up the paper). It didn't work...but we didn't panic. We have a back-up spray that can be used.

Then Lisa discovered that the processor (the machine that chemically processes our copy) didn't work. Since it is a relatively new machine...and costs over $1,000...I was pretty disgusted.

But my patience was still saintly. I pulled out the old processor (we smarties had saved it just in case!) cleaned it up, fed all the morning's copy into it, and thought we were back in business. However, the machines are more devious than you can imagine. The old processor promptly ate all the copy.

So, here it is Monday afternoon. We have no copy...we have no stories ready...we have accomplished nothing except to learn a great deal about cranky electrical machines.

If you are reading this, however, that means that we figured out some way to get the paper out. Some weeks that seems to be just short of a miracle!

Mark your calendar for the weekend of June 19. Roping club officials tell me that is the weekend which has been booked for the annual McLean 66 Rodeo. Although there is no official school reunion planned for that weekend, I understand that several classes are planning to have individual class reunions. We will try to give you more information about these meetings as we receive it.

Good movies seem to run in cycles. My grown daughters insisted I take the time to see "On Golden Pond", the movie with Katherine Hepburn and Henry Fonda which won so many Oscars recently. And they were right. It is a delightful movie, dealing with a subject which has been shunned by the moviemakers like the plague. And that is, the problems of approaching death, old age, senility and the love of an elderly couple for each other in the midst of all these problems.

Terri Glass, Theron Stubbs Named Top Students For 1982

TERRI GLASS-VALEDICTORIAN

THERON STUBBS-SALUTATORIAN

Terri Glass was named valedictorian this week and Theron Stubbs was named salutatorian of the 1982 graduating class of McLean High School. Miss Glass has a four-year average of 96.7667, and Stubbs has a four-year average of 94.4675.

Other seniors in the top ten scholastically are Cindy Glass, with a 93.9611; Donna McAnear, with a 92.8750; Missy Billingsley, with a 92.5657; Nora Gately, with a 92.1400; Leslie Stewart, with a 92.0710; Brenda Wilson, with a 90.4028; Dudley Reynolds, with a 90.2009; and Susie Billingsley, with an 86.3736.

The class will graduate May 14 in the high school auditorium. The baccalaureate is set for Monday, May 10.

Miss Glass is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Glass. She was chosen for the All-Region band all four years in high school, and was given a 1 rating on a Class I solo at the University Interscholastic League solo and ensemble competition this year. She was a member of the Society of Distinguished American High School Students her junior and senior years; president of her sophomore and junior classes, and of the Future Homemakers of America this year. She is the drum major of the Tiger band.

Stubbs is the son of Becky Stubbs of McLean, and Bob Stubbs of Pampa. He was named to the All-District football squad his junior year and his senior year. He was also named first-team All-District both years. He also played basketball and participated in track.

McLean High School Honor List Announced This Week

Aldermen Barker, Thomas, And Terry Sworn In Tuesday Night

Two new aldermen and one incumbent signed oaths of office to open the city council term April 12. Bill Thomas and Jim Barker, as well as incumbent George Terry took their seats at the council meeting, having been elected to the posts April 13.

After witnessing the signing, the council began settling business matters at the session. Two bids for the city-owned factory building were opened. B&B Turbine Service owned by Wayne Bybee of McLean, offered $37,000 for the facility. Mayden Lamp Company, owned by James Mayden of Plainview, submitted a bid of $56,252.50. Council members chose not to make a decision on either bid until an appraisal on the building was completed.

Nominated for mayor pro-tem were George Terry and Dale Glass. Glass was elected by a four to one vote. He replaces mayor pro-tem Boyd Meador, who did not run for re-election. Glass will serve as mayor in the event that Mayor Sam Haynes is unable to conduct city business.

In other business, aldermen voted to install four more lights at the city park tennis court. The council is asking for local estimates on the installation.

After canvassing the April 3 city election, councilmen voted to pay election clerks $35 for their services April 3.

Also approved was the opening of the alley on block 114, which is between the 200 blocks of Grove and Cedar.

Councilmen also decided to ask for applications for a part-time city clerk, and for bids on a grass lease at the McLean landfill. They also will take estimates for a new riding lawnmower.

City superintendent Bob Glenn told the council that the faucet in the Hillcrest Cemetery circle had been moved to make room for a monument placed there. A new water line will be added on the north side of the cemetery.

The council also discussed the conditions of the city streets, but took no action.

The council planned to meet in special session Tuesday, but results of that meeting were not available at presstime.

Attending the meeting were Mayor Sam Haynes, Miro Pakan, Charles Milam, George Terry, Dale Glass, Boyd Meador, Bill Thomas, Jim Barker, James Maden, Loyd Bybee, Bob Glenn, and Stella Lee.

McLean Man Injured In Car-Pedestrian Accident

Details were still sketchy at presstime of an accident Sunday night which left a McLean man in very critical condition in an Amarillo hospital. According to investigating Department of Public Safety trooper John Holland, Charles R. Noah was allegedly driving his car on the new, unopened section of Interstate 40 west of McLean when he crashed into construction material on the roadway. He apparently left his vehicle and wandered on foot into the center of the east bound lane of 140, where he was struck by a Chevrolet pickup driven by Billy Bybee of McLean. Holland said no charges would be filed against Bybee, because the accident was unavoidable.

Noah was taken to Coronado Community Hospital in Pampa, and then transferred to Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo, Holland said.

Methodist Youth Plan Sale

McLean's Methodist youth will begin this weekend raising funds for a planned trip to the World's Fair in Knoxville, Tennessee this summer.

The group, which includes 20 members of United Methodist Youth Fellowship, will have a bake sale at Puckett's Grocery beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday, April 24. The sale will feature homemade baked goods provided by the group.

The bake sale is the first of a series of money-raising projects scheduled. The group is planning a garage sale in June.

Tigers, Tigerettes To Be Honored At Sports Banquet Monday At McLean Country Club

The annual McLean All-Sports Banquet is scheduled for Monday night at 7:30 at the McLean Country Club, with tickets on sale this week by Lions Club members for $5 per person.

Master of Ceremonies for the event, Lions Boss Dorman Thomas, will preside. The main speaker for the banquet is Kelly Chadwick, the woman's basketball coach at Amarillo College.

The banquet, sponsored jointly by the McLean Lions and the McLean School, honors high school athletes who participated in football, basketball, track, golf and tennis.

The welcome will be given by Jim Allison, the invocation will be given by Carl Dwyer, and the benediction will be given by Sam Haynes.

The coaches will introduce the athletes in each sport.

Among the awards to be presented are the Most Valuable Girl Athlete and Most Valuable Football Player Award, both presented by the McLean News; the coaches' award for tigerette Fighting Heart and Tiger Fighting Heart; and the Lions Club Awards to the Fighting Tiger and Fighting Tigerette.

Two Out-Of-State Cars Collide Sunday Near Cowboy Drive In

Two out-of-state vehicles collided near the Cowboy Drive In on the west bound lane of Interstate 40 in McLean Sunday afternoon about 4:55 p.m. A

1982 Ford driven by Gay Cartwright of Norton, Ohio was driving in the middle of the road when the left rear of her car was struck by a 1981 semi-truck driven by Clarence S. Frederick of Burney, Maryland.

There were no injuries in the accident, according to investigating officer Department of Public Safety trooper John Holland.

Annual Elementary Play Day Set

The annual McLean Elementary Play Day has been set for Thursday, April 29, if the weather permits, according to Dorman Thomas, elementary principal. Thomas said the meet, which has been battered by bad weather for the last two years, could be moved up to Wednesday, depending on the weather forecast.

The track meet is for all elementary students in grades kindergarten through six.

The schedule of events is as follows: running broad jump, 9 a.m.; 220 yd. dash, 9:30; standing broad jump, 9:45.

Inside the stadium the events will be 50 yd. dash,

10:15 a.m.; tire run, 10:30 a.m.; 75 yd. dash, 11 a.m.; softball throw, 12:15; hurdle run, 12:45; 100 yd. dash, 1:15; and special event, 1:45 p.m.

Awards will be presented at 2 p.m.

Commissioners Nix Tax

From the Pampa News by David Christenson, Staff Writer

The Gray County Commissioner's Court Thursday decided not to impose a tax on bingo games until such action is "seen necessary." The court decided revenues from such a tax would not presently be high. See COMMISSIONERS, Page 2

OPINIONS

VIEWS ARE WRITTEN BY LINDA HAYNES UNLESS OTHERWISE NOTED-IF YOU HAVE AN OPINION ON ANY CURRENT SUBJECT WE WELCOME YOUR SIGNED LETTERS.

Too Much To Expect

From the The Canadian Record
Indictments returned by a Travis County (Austin) grand jury naming Texas State Treasurer Warren G. Harding for using state employees of his office to do political chores at public expense may have been "politically motivated," as Harding charges, but should not be ignored, in any event.

Timing of the indictments just before the filing deadline when the first-term Texas Treasurer appeared to be headed for an unopposed re-election campaign obviously wasn't calculated to help Harding, but if the indictments were to be made, it is better that they came before and not after, it would have been too late for Texas voters to be offered an alternative.

Harding supporters have been indignant at this outrageous timing. Both Dallas newspapers (in Harding's home-town) have attempted to play-down the seriousness of the charges (The Herald-Times refers to them as "trivial") but we see nothing very trivial in petty pilfering of state services for private political purposes by an officer charged with handling all the state's money. Whether the "more serious" charges against Harding which have been discussed in Austin result in formal indictments or not (use of influence among state banks to develop business for a Harding son who deals in securities is one of them), the pettiness of these offenses is serious enough to demand serious accounting.

We do not consider it unreasonable at all, although it may be un-realistic...to demand absolute personal honesty and scrupulous attention to fiscal integrity from the people we elect to high public office... especially those who are to be put in charge of our public funds. We may not get it, but we believe we have every right to demand it...and to demand strict accounting at the polls, and in the courts when it fails.

If Warren Harding, in his first elective term in office, couldn't keep his nose any cleaner than this of the "pettiest" of charges in his conduct of office, why should voters wait for more serious charges to be developed against him?

DISTAFF

It's hard to believe that that particular story line could be so enthralling, but it is. My only problem with the movie (even if I sound prudish) was with the language. I know that obscenity and profanity are a necessary part of some stories, but I don't think that was true of this story. At least, I don't know any seventy or eighty-year old people who talk that way!

At any rate, if you can ignore some of the language, it is a delightful movie.

There is one particular scene, when Katherine Hepburn is speaking to her daughter, played by Jane Fonda, that is a classic. Miss Fonda's character

(who is supposed to be in her forties) is complaining about her childhood, and the fact that her father never understood her. I wish I could quote Miss Hepburn's character exactly, because I have wanted to say the same thing myself. But she says something like this: "Why don't you shut up! Everyone has a terrible childhood... Everyone has trouble with their parents. Big deal! You're too old to still be whining about that!"

I wanted to stand up in the theater and cheer, but I was afraid I would embarrass my friends.

That type of complaint ranks number one on my list of pet peeves. I do believe that anyone who blames his parents for his problems... if that "child" is past 16, should be soundly spanked! When the character in the movie stop complaining, she begins to see the problem, and solve it, and that's one part of fiction that I think could work in real life.

If you have a chance to see this film, don't miss it.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

Every spring, many new high school graduates ready to enter the job market find they do not have the training for available jobs. In fact, lack of skills in an increasingly technical world is one of the major reasons for high unemployment rates among young people.

But vocational education can provide a path around this barrier, and I am gratified at the progress Texas has made in these programs. In 1981, vocational education in Texas served nearly 900,000 persons, 75 percent more than in 1970. These training programs were offered in 950 school districts, 48 community college districts, and through the Texas State Institute System.

Participants learned occupational skills to use in business, industry, and homemaking. Additionally, career exploratory programs were offered for junior and senior high school students to help them understand where employment opportunities lie, and to help them make realistic career choices.

Most of the Texas vocational programs with which I am familiar are structured in close cooperation with local business and industry -- enabling young people to train for jobs that will be readily available in their areas. This cooperative relationship pays off in two ways -- putting young people to work and providing needed skilled labor to the local economy.

The results are gratifying. Some 28 percent of vocational education graduates pursue additional education and training. Of the 63 percent who make themselves immediately available for employment, seven of 10 find jobs in a career field related to their training.

The unemployment rate among vocational education graduates in 1981 was just over 7 percent -- one third the unemployment rate for other people and adults in the same age brackets.

The cost of these programs, compared to the benefits received, is small. Texas spent nearly $350 million on its vocational - technical programs in fiscal year 1981, for an overall average per pupil cost of $372.

But these statistics are less meaningful than the plight of the individual young person who looks at pages and pages of classified ads for jobs, and can't find a single one for which he qualifies.

Our world is becoming increasingly complex. We have developed technology which depends more and more on skilled labor. This trend will continue. In fact, it must if we are to improve our productivity enough to compete aggressively on the world market.

We cannot afford to waste our human resources. We must improve our ability to match willing workers with productive careers.

The federal government has a long history of support for local vocational programs. As with many other educational programs, the Administration proposes a new block grant program for vocational and adult education. This action is intended to reduce paperwork and administrative burdens, and make it possible for state and local governments to target money to the most pressing local needs.

In this way, we can continue the federal-local partnership which built these fine training programs, even though our budget crisis requires us to cut overall federal spending levels.

Finally I would encourage local districts and communities to look at the large return for each dollar spent in vocational education, and to make the necessary investment in the future of their young people and their economies.

COMMISSIONERS

enough to justify it. The commissioners originally intended to give such revenues to charities in the county.

Since the organizations to be taxed used revenue from bingo games for charitable purposes, the commissioners agreed a bingo tax would duplicate services in the county.

The commissioners also agreed they may reconsider the tax in the future if revenue sharing funds for the county decrease. The county is now using revenue sharing funds for its charitable contributions, because it is illegal for a government body to use tax money for charities.

According to state law that took effect Jan. 16, bingo games may be operated legally by non-profit charitable organizations in counties, cities or precincts that approve them by election, provided those organizations are licensed for bingo by the state.

The law also states that the body that called the election may impose a two percent tax on gross receipts earned by the games. If such a tax is imposed, the state keeps two percent of the tax revenue and returns the remainder of the money to the local body. The first $25,000 of gross receipts per month would be exempt from the tax.

According to testimony by Jess W. Henderson, a representative of the Moose Lodge in Pampa, the lodge's receipts from bingo games total about $2,800 a month, of which only $300 would be subject to taxation, resulting in six dollars in tax revenue. County Judge Carl Kennedy said the lodge is "probably one of the more active clubs in this county" for operating bingo games.

The court formally went on record against the 12.86 percent rate increase proposed by the Southwest Public Service Company. The court has no official jurisdiction over utility rate increases, because it is not a recognized regulatory body, but some commissioners felt it was appropriate to comment on the proposal.

"I'm not against making a profit," Precinct 4 Commissioner Ted Simmons said.

THE WORLD IS OUR MARKET

AUSTIN - While many products can be sold only to a specialized market or in a certain area, agricultural products are needed by everyone, everywhere.

Of course, a need does not equal a sale. All of us have had the experience of needing something, but not buying it, because we didn't know it was available, or we didn't like to do business with whoever was selling it.

Agriculture is not much different. While we have a product to sell here in Texas, that product must be promoted to make sure Texas can compete with other states and other countries that sell food and fiber.

The Texas Department of Agriculture is trying to start a program to sell Texas products overseas. Already, they have an office in Mexico City, which they administer with the Texas Industrial Commission. Commissioner Reagan Brown tells us he will try to start other offices in Europe and the Far East.

We plan to support, if not sponsor, legislation that will help the Department of Agriculture man these overseas posts. The results of an aggressive sales policy could be dramatic.

For example, the average man in China owns two shirts. If we could convince him to buy a third shirt, the demand for cotton would take care of the entire Texas surplus. We probably could receive similar results from other countries and other crops.

In 1970, the value of the U.S. agricultural exports was about $10 billion. In 1980, that figure was about $40 billion. We still have a surplus, and there are people in the world who need our products. There is room for that figure to increase more and more.

Texas is very fortunate in that we have a Gulf port. This makes trade overseas much more practical and economical. Also, we are centrally located between the two oceans, so trade with both Europe and the Far East is feasible.

No business these days can survive without a sales policy that beats the bushes to find new customers. While this may be a new idea, to some extent, in agriculture, it's an idea whose time has come.

If we don't take advantage of these foreign markets, other states will. Already, Illinois has offices in Hong Kong and Brussels, Belgium. While these offices cost about $150,000 a year, they should be well worth the money.

We will do whatever we can in the next session of the Legislature to get more of these offices, and we know the Department of Agriculture will do it's part.

We hope all of you will realize the importance these foreign trade offices could have and will support them, also. We would like to know how you feel about them. Please write Senator Bill Sarpalius, P. O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas 78711.

MR. AND MRS. EARL STUBBLEFIELD

Stubblefields Honored On 50th Anniversary

The children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stubblefield are hosting a reception to honor the couple on their 50th wedding anniversary on Sunday, May 2 from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. in the Stubblefield home at 215 East 6th.

Earl Stubblefield and Evelyn Cline were married May 1, 1932, and moved to McLean in September of 1932.

The hosts are Mr. and Mrs. Don Light of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Soith of Moore, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs.

Robert "Bob" Stubblefield of Houston, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Stubblefield of Perryton.

Friends of the couple are invited to the reception.

In The Kitchen

by Linda Haynes

Following our continuing policy of stealing only the best recipes for our readers, I want to give you a couple this week from recipe contests in other parts of the country. One is from our neighboring Amarillo, but one comes all the way from New Orleans, via a Republican friend! I think you'll enjoy them.

GREEN PEPPER STEAK

(Amarillo Sunday News Contest)

- 1 lb. beef round steak
- 1/4 c. soy sauce
- 1/8 tsp. minced garlic
- 1/2 tsp. ground ginger
- 1/4 c. salad oil
- 1 cup green onions, sliced thin
- 1 cup green pepper slices
- 2 stalks celery-sliced thin
- 1 T. cornstarch
- 1 c. water
- 2 fresh tomatoes, cut into wedges

Trim fat from steak with very sharp knife. Slice beef across grain into strips 1/8 in. thick (this is easier if the steak is slightly frozen). Combine soy sauce, garlic, ginger, and pour over beef. Allow mixture to marinate while chopping vegetables. Heat oil in large skillet. Add beef and marinate and stir fry over high heat until beef strips are browned. (If beef is not tender, cover skillet and simmer about 30 minutes).

When beef is tender, turn heat to highest setting and add peppers, onions, and celery, stir-frying until vegetables are tender yet crisp.

In separate dish, mix cornstarch and water and add to beef and vegetables in pan. Cook and stir until gravy thickens, adding a bit of water if necessary. When gravy thickens, add tomato wedges and heat through. Serve at once.

QUICKIE CHICKIE

(From the New Orleans Times-Picayune)

- 6 chicken breasts, skinned and boned
- 4 cans cream of mushroom soup
- 2 T. Kitchen Bouquet
- 4 green onions finely chopped
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 2 tsp. parsley flakes

Place chicken breasts in 6-quart casserole. Combine remaining ingredients in large bowl and pour over chicken. Cover, microwave on high 10 minutes, stir. Microwave 10 minutes. Remove from microwave, and let stand covered 10 minutes. Serve over thin egg noodles.

Makes 6 servings.

Juniors Host Seniors To 'Fantasy Island'

The McLean High School juniors hosted the seniors at the annual Junior-Senior Banquet in Pampa Friday night at the Coronado Inn Starlight Room. Using "Fantasy Island" as the theme, the junior class chose decorations and food to carry out the theme.

Junior class sponsors are Carl Dwyer and Mrs. Kermit Williams.

The guests were welcomed to the banquet by junior class vice-president Stephanie Houdyshell. The senior response was given by senior president Dudley Reynolds. Junior Kevin Nicholson read the prophecy for the seniors, and Nora Gately read the senior class will.

The sophomore servers presented a "Fantasy Island" skit.

Following the banquet, the junior class parents sponsored a prom featuring the 293 disc jockey.

JANA MOORE AND REX MORRIS

Moore, Morris Will Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Moore of Shamrock are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Jana to Rex Morris. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kenneth Morris of McLean. A June 4 wedding is planned.

Miss Moore attends Shamrock High School and Morris is employed by R.J. Pasley Co. of Shamrock.

Former Alanreed Resident Dies In Keefton, Oklahoma

Justin Hines, 84, died April 12. He was born March 22, 1898.

Services were April 15 at Keefton Assembly of God Church, Keefton, Okla. Burial was at Fort Gibson National Cemetery.

Hines was a veteran of World War II. He was reared in Alanreed, and lived in Pampa before moving to Oklahoma a few years ago.

He is survived by one sister, Opal Fulton of Warner, Okla.; and one brother, Earnest Hines of Levelland.

ALANREED BRIEFS

The Alanreed Homemakers met April 14 in the home of Lucy Goldston with eight members present. The meeting was called to order by President Mary Davis.

The scripture was read by Lucy Goldston. Roll call was answered by Anita Bruce, Lena Carter, Mary Davis, Nell Keese, Polly Harrison, Sophia Hutchison, Ruth McLain, and Lucy Goldston. Minutes were read by Ruth McLain and a treasurer's report given. A committee report was given by Polly Harrison, and a program on "fashion in sewing" was also given by Polly. Refreshments of pie, crackers and cheese, coffee and punch were served by the hostess. The regular meeting next time will be omitted on account of two programs at Pampa that week.

The W.H. Davises were in Groom on Tuesday to see Mary's mother, Mrs. Hattie Terbush, who is just home from the hospital.

The P.M. Gibsons visited Monday with the Ed Seilers and carried Blake his "sunshine box". Blake is recovering nicely.

Pauline Wolford re-injured her knee last week necessitating some bed rest.

Polly Harrison and Lena Carter were in Pampa on Tuesday where they visited with Betty Marshall and Ruth Carter.

Mrs. Carol Seiler was in Pampa on Saturday shopping and took Blake along in the camper. He enjoyed getting out, it seems.

McLEAN BRIEFS

Visiting in the Mae Chilton home recently were Bonnie and Johnny Chilton and grandson Josh Sercy of Hale Center. LaJone and Duwayne Blackshear of Albuquerque, Ralph and Pat Chilton, and great-granddaughter, Jennie Chilton of Hale Center.

About 20 relatives and friends surprised Paul Cooper with a birthday party in the fellowship hall of the Pentecostal Holiness Church Sunday. Mr. Cooper entered High Plains Baptist Hospital Monday, and was scheduled for knee surgery Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howard of Pampa visited Saturday with the W.C. Kennedys.

Many owners of SPS common stock are also customers who live within its 45,000-square-mile service area. Twenty-nine percent of the total shareholders live in the southwestern part of the United States. Of this group, 80% live in Texas and about one-half of the Texas shareholders live in the area served by Southwestern Public Service Company. SPS has common shareholders in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and 12 foreign countries.

An energy-efficient electric water heater can save you money when installed close to the point of use. And, since the heater is glass-lined and fully-insulated, it keeps water hot longer. You can reduce the amount of water your household uses by filling the dishwasher to capacity before turning it on or by using the short cycle. Using your clothes washer only when you have a full load and taking showers rather than baths also can save money on water and electric bills.

Don Pemberton, Consumer Services Representative, Lubbock.

Keeping track of the amount of electricity your family uses is easy when you know how to read your own electric meter. Many customers are confused by the four or five dials they see on the meter, yet reading the meter is not difficult and may help you budget for your monthly electric bill even before it arrives. For complete instructions on reading your meter, check the back of the envelope your electric bill comes in or contact your local SPS office for the free booklet "Reading Your Meter."

Roping Club Begins Year

The McLean Roping Club began its new season last week, according to spokesman Mike Darsey. The group plans to rope at the Felton Webb Arena every Tuesday and Friday night, and each Sunday afternoon.

Darsey said that the membership fee is $35 yearly, and that non-members may rope for $5 per roping. Any youngster still in public school can rope at no charge, Darsey said.

Investing in small firms brings greater stock returns

COLLEGE STATION — Investing in small firms whose outstanding shares seldom change hands could bring greater stock market returns than investing in the so-called "blue chips," says a Texas A&M University finance professor.

"There's some evidence that this might be the case, although when you invest in the smaller firm you're usually taking more risk," said Dr. S. Kerry Cooper of Texas A&M's College of Business Administration.

Pre-School Children Suffer From 'Separation Anxiety', Authority Says

The little girl loved nursery school.

She was well-adjusted and social. But suddenly he happy and independent manner dissolved and she became a clinging, terrified, hysterical child.

She cried and fought and refused to go outside to play. She wouldn't let her parents out of her sight for a minute. She would throw tantrums when it was time for school and would scream uncontrollably when left.

Her parents were frightened and shocked. They were at a loss to understand what had caused the sudden change in their child.

Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter, calls this phenomenon "separation anxiety." It is a fairly common stage among children in pre-school years and often marks the child's first separation from home and parents.

Separation anxiety is a very natural response for a child, but one that is not easy to cope with. The child is experiencing her own shortcomings for the first time. She recognizes her own dependence on her parents. She is testing herself, trying on her dependence/independence for size. As she is testing her parents, as well.

Sometimes the change can be related to a parent's illness that requires hospitalization or a period of bed rest at home. Sometimes a mother's absence for the birth of another child can trigger anxiety. At other times, no one can put a finger on the cause.

In searching for possible reasons, parents often begin to feel guilty. They make excuses for the child. They wonder if they have been "bad" parents. In their guilt they allow the child's behavior to manipulate them and disrupt the family pattern.

The child, meanwhile, feels less and less secure as she gets away with more and more. She needs to feel that her parents love her enough to guide her properly, to set boundaries for her behavior, and to make decisions in her best interest. She recognizes and fears her own lack of experience. Through the tears, and temper tantrums, she is saying again and again "Reassure me. Tell me what I should do. Help me grow in confidence and independence."

Separation anxiety becomes worse as Mom and Dad allow themselves to be manipulated into staying home from a party because the child cries and clings to them, or by permitting the child to at home instead of going to school or outdoors to play. It is not easy to carry a kicking, screaming child to the car, take her to school and deliver her, still screaming. It is equally difficult to pry open a child's desperately clinging hands and turn from her tear-stained face. But it can be done.

The reversal from parental compassion and permissiveness to firm action must be accompanied by careful explanation on the preceding day or weekend. The child should be gently but firmly told that she is too young to make a decision about going to school; that Mom and Dad decide when she goes to bed, what she eats, and where she plays - and that they have decided that she will go to school.

Tell her that you know she will enjoy being with other children, that you are sorry she isn't happy about it, but the decision has been made.

Then take her - and leave her.

Each succeeding day this process will become easier for both you and your child. You will have regained control over your family life, and your child will know what is expected of her. Although she may fight against her new situation for a short time, she will feel secure in the knowledge that her parents care enough to make grown-up decisions on her behalf. Her world will no longer be a scary place with no protective boundaries to keep her safe. Instead, it becomes an orderly world where by making small decisions first, she can grow up learning how to make more important ones.

The Growing Child newsletter follows a child's development month-by-month. For more information on the social and physical development of children from birth to six years old, write to Growing Child, P.O. Box 620 N. Lafayette, In 47902. Include child's birthdate when writing. A year's subscription to the newsletter costs $11.95.

NEWS OF JOBS

During the past several years, a government attack on air pollution has had a profound impact on jobs.

Seventy million people live in areas where, because of the Clean Air Act, plant construction may be restricted or banned. Such bans reduce job opportunities. The Act's complex and prolonged process for issuing permits for new plants has discouraged industrial growth.

Before a new project can be started the federal government has 37 opportunities to disapprove a plan, 24 opportunities to stop a proposal and 11 chances to cause delays through hearings, studies or reviews. Some construction approval requirements of the Clean Air Act can delay a project from several months to several years.

Reform of the Clean Air Act, experts believe, can be an important and integral part of the national program of economic recovery. By eliminating some of the Act's cumbersome restrictions, industrial development can be expanded and expedited. More jobs can be created at a faster rate.

A bill before Congress, H.R. 5252, is a commonsense proposal that would streamline and simplify the complex Act while maintaining steady progress toward the national goal of clean air.

Because the present Clean Air Act should be streamlined and simplified in a way that everybody can live with—industry, government and most of all the American people—many people are urging their Congressmen to pass that bill. They are writing to the U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515.

Gray County Gardening

By Joe VanZandt

We had a very outstanding program for our Garden and Landscape Seminar recently. Home owners with questions about the landscape garden or turfgrasses need to come out to the Gray County Extension office and browse through the many publications. These are free and they contain the recommended practices, varieties, and etc. that are suited for our area.

PATIO PLANNING

Spring and early summer days are ideal for out-of-doors enjoyment on the patio...or for planning and constructing the patio, an important element of outdoor living.

Have a complete and well thought out plan on paper before beginning work on the new patio, or on the patio addition. By planning, less mistakes will occur, new ideas will be generated and the area will surely be more beautiful and functional. Consult a professional landscape architect for professional planning and ideas.

Plan to locate the patio where it will be most useful and enjoyable. Have the outdoor area relate to indoors, to the kitchen, and indoor living areas. Take advantage of existing shade trees, or plan for overhead structure for protection from summer rain and sun.

Be certain that the patio location is so placed to take advantage of the prevailing summer breezes, or in a south-southwest exposure. Often, outdoor areas which are on the west, east, north, or one that is protected by walls and fences are unusable in the summer due to the lack of air movement. The patio, too, should be located and planned for privacy and unity to the overall garden design and home. Do not isolate it to itself, but allow it to be a part of the total design.

Make the design simple. Too many angles and complicated shapes and different structural materials will destroy the clean, crisp beauty of the design and may call for extra maintenance and extra cost. A complicated design is usually less functional than a simple one.

Design the patio area with a minimum of maintenance in mind. Consider the drainage, choice of materials, surfacing, edging, and the complications of plantings in regard to upkeep and care. Know the plants you choose and their growth requirements. Plan for plantings when you design the patio. Allow open planting pockets in key locations on and near the patio to create a relief from the often harsh structural surfaces and to allow for interest and beauty. Be sure raised planters have adequate drainage for good plant growth. Patios which integrate indoor-outdoor living lose their outdoor appeal when void of plants. Detailed and accent plantings are offered a key location on or near the patio.

Make the patio design large enough for your family's usage and enjoyment based on your individual family needs. Because functional landscapes are based on individual family needs, it is inadvisable to attempt copying garden or patio designs from popular gardening books and magazines. What worked for one family in California will not necessarily work adapt for one in Texas. It is, however, good to glean ideas from well designed gardens and adapt them to your own location and landscape needs.

Careful and thoughtful planning of the patio now will pay off in rich dividends of pleasure and beauty for a long time to come.

VINES FOR SUMMER ACCENT

Vines have several advantages in the landscape. Most vines, trained on a support, require very little "around room" in that they grow vertically. This is a real advantage for the small garden, or for limited planting areas.

Many vines are fast growing to provide a quick effect, or accent for the garden. The impatient gardener should plant vines for that fast lushness which is only achieved after a number of years with trees and shrubs. The annual, flowering vines are particularly fast growing. Abundant vine and bloom may be had from morning glory, hyacinth bean, and cypress vines in one growing season.

Evergreen vines may be used for screening for privacy, and make attractive drapes for often austere chain-like fences. English ivy will grow quickly on wire fencing when shade or partial shade is available. Asiatic jasmine will drape a wire fence for screening in sun or shade.

A flowering vine such as

Carolina yellow jessamine, autumn clematis, or red honeysuckle, make an interesting and colorful accent for a wall or fence where it quickly climbs to the top of its support to cascade down with seasonal bloom.

There is a vine for every season...one that will provide a rich seasonal color. The early blooms of Carolina yellow jessamine, wisteria, and red honeysuckle greet the spring. Early summer, star or confederate jasmine perfume the air, to be followed by the summer bloom of morning glory, hyacinth bean, cypress vine, and the vivid pink blooms of Rosa de Montana, or Coral vine. Autumn clematis cloaks its support with white come fall, in an effort to out do the vivid red color of the native and abundant Virginia creeper.

Due to their quick growth and seasonal attractiveness, vines are often used for quick shade over sunny patios or at poolside. When a vine is selected for shading purposes, use one that will lose its foliage in winter to allow the welcome winter sun. Popular East Texas vines for overhead structures and arbors include wisteria, muscadine grapes, morning glory and Rosa de Montana.

Vines such as wisteria and common honeysuckle, as lovely as they are, are often unwelcome in the garden due to their persistence and rapid growth. Vines with fast growth often demand fast and routine control to keep them in their place.

Some large twining vines such as wisteria may injure a tree by actually shocking the tree or cutting off the flow from the root area or trunk; therefore, they should never be planted with desirable trees as support. English ivy will not injure a tree, unless it becomes so dense as to cut out light in the tree, or to prevent open wounds in the trunk or branches from drying out which may be inductive to rot. English ivy does not feed off of the tree.

BETTER WAYS

Almost everyone is searching for better ways to accomplish the tasks they must perform. The pharmaceutical industry is no exception. Drug manufacturers are constantly testing new medicines to determine their potential value in treatment of diseases. They are also spending time and dollars researching better ways to deliver the medicines that we already have.

TRANSDERMAL PATCHES are similar to small bandages containing medicine and an adhesive that keeps the patch on the skin. The medicine is absorbed through the skin at a steady predictable rate.

IMPLANTS contain a large quantity of medicine and are placed inside the body. Medicine is then slowly released over a long period of time. Insulin, male hormones, female hormones and cancer chemotherapeutic agents have been delivered via implants.

MICROCAPSULES are part of a highly investigational drug delivery system that places the medicine in close contact with diseased tissues or organs. Healthy body parts receive less contact with the medicine and, hence, there are fewer potential side effects.

As the year 2000 approaches, the capsules and tablets with which we are now familiar may be replaced by sophisticated and more reliable dosage forms.

Loose Marbles

Recently a teenager asked me, "Don't you ever listen to the words of songs? Didn't you ever think they might mean something? I admitted that I hadn't paid much attention since I was in my own teenage years when the most relevant lyrics concerned flying purple people eaters, white sport coats and pink carnations, and a rose and a Baby Ruth. I made a note to listen to some contemporary music to see if this generation is faring any better than I did.

So it was that I found myself tuning in the radio last night, searching desperately for a song to study. I hit upon a real gem, by a singer who warbled rather twangingly, "Ah wuz uh deacon in thu Babbit church, but yer body wuz a outlaw..." Somehow I had a difficult time really getting into the lyrics.

I did, however, decide that what today's listeners need are some truly wonderful lyrics about real life—something like

"Git yore drawers up off the floor,
I aint pickin' up after yew no more."

or
"Come on Momma, buy me one, Everybody else has one."

or
"I went to church on Easter,
I went at Christmas too.
But thet darn fool preacher
Still don't know me from yew."

or
"Ah'll drink to yew, and yew drink to me.
Do yew think we can overdose on sugar-free?"

or
"Ah'm sooo tired and lonely,
Sittin' here with my tears.
Ah think Ah kin really enjoy it
If Ah kin keep the kids locked out-a-hears."

or my theme song
"Ah'll give yew mah hart,
Ah'll give yew mah dollars,
Ah'll give yew the key to my door.
Ah'll give yew my money
Ah'll give yew all, honey
Just let me sleep five minutes more!"

Now there's some relevant lyrics, folks.

The world is a sure teacher, but it requires a fat fee.

State Representative FOSTER WHALEY

Democrat

THE WELLINGTON (Texas) LEADER
Thursday, April 1, 1982

Foster Whaley State Representative Foster Whaley deserves re-election to another term. Whaley has served four years in the legislature and now has appointments on the important appropriations committee and is vice chairman of the constitutional amendments committee. He's also one of only a handful of representatives that finances his campaign without donations from special interest groups outside his home district. And Whaley and his wife both work full time at the job. (We're getting a bargain for our money.) But perhaps Whaley has served his constituents best in helping them with day-to-day problems involving state government. An example: A couple of years ago four Wellington women, whose ages were 72 to 85, had been denied eligibility for continued nursing assistance. They were about to be forced to leave the nursing home because they could not make payments. The nursing home contacted Whaley and he drove to Wellington and interviewed the four women. Then he got on the phone and talked to Jack Blanton, executive director of the Texas Department of Human Resources. Whaley explained the situation and the ruling was reversed. That kind of interest in matters small and large makes Whaley a good representative for our district. Henry Wells Editor-THE WELLINGTON LEADER

Eat Yourself Slim

By SHIRLEY BRIGHT BOODY Registered Dietitian Copley News Service

Fad diets are negative. Don't waste your time and money. Some will make you ill, and the weight and depression always returns, often worse than before.

Every night and everyday sleep in peace and awake in joy (even when things go wrong.)

Eat a decent breakfast every morning - without fail.

Do not dwell on negative thoughts about people or circumstances.

If you desire information about Shirley's excellent and proven home weight control program for the new year, send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Shirley Bright Boody, Box 1038, Rancho Mirage, CA 92270.

If you adopt the happy, positive, constructive attitude, the wonderful things you can accomplish are virtually endless. But what if you choose to continue your depressing negativism? Things will go bad for you, just as they have in the past. What can you do about it? Learn to change the way you think. The first step is to recognize what you are doing to yourself and then make yourself change. There are many fine books available that will help you improve your mental attitudes and thereby improve your life. Read and believe them. They are the best investment of time and money you can ever make, because the investment is really in yourself.

The tremendous influences of good positive attitudes are apparent in all areas of living, but are spectacularly evident in maintaining a healthy body. The attitudes you choose toward your own diet this year will determine whether you are fat or slim, malnourished or well nourished, attractive or unattractive, sick or well. Will you continue to blame circumstances and other people for your overweight and poor health or will you take responsibility for your own present condition and then take steps to correct it? Let's say that you decide to take the first positive step towards improving your body this year. What will it be? Recognition that only you, and you alone, can change the way you think, eat and live. If you are overweight and your health is under par, you must know that you are treating yourself badly, and that is what you must change.

COMMUNICATING WITH YOUR LENDER

Currently depressed agricultural market prices, increasing production costs and high cost of credit translate into an uncomfortable financial situation for farmers and ranchers. So time spent on managing the financial aspects of the farm or ranch is extremely important, perhaps crucial, to the business.

Such tight financial situations bring a heightened need for better communications between the farmer or rancher and his lender. This communication must be based on a thorough understanding to what is happening to the financial position of the business. Financial information about the farm business is generally conveyed by net worth and net income statements.

The net worth statement is taken on a specific date and thus provides a one-day picture of the farm business. Assets show the value of the business while liabilities show the claim of creditors to the business. Net worth (or equity) shows the owner's claim to the business. A series of net worth statements for a business must be examined to determine if the business is showing financial progress.

The net income or profit and loss statement shows the production or income value to the business over an operating period (generally a year), costs incurred during that period, and the profit (or loss) from operating the farm or ranch business.

A third piece of financial information has become increasingly important in communicating with lenders. Cash flows and the timing of these cash flows in the business need to be monitored. The manager continually needs to be aware of the cash position of his operations.

This means considerably more than just being aware of the checking account balance--cash flow planning is needed.

A monthly cash flow plan or projection anticipates the cash position of the business and provides a plan the manager and his lender can discuss. The anticipated flow of cash income and cash requirements provides a plan from which to make needed adjustments. Cash requirements include the operating expenses as well as family living expenses and principal payments on notes and mortgages. Cash flow planning takes on added importance for the manager during tight financial times.

Communications between farmers and ranchers and their lenders is always important. Use of net worth statements and cash flow projections help both producers and lenders to see the total financial picture of the farm or ranch business.

CATTLE PRICE PROSPECTS
From the Western Livestock Round-Up which is published cooperatively with the USDA and the Extension Services of Western and Great Plains States, comes the following price predictions. Prices for all classes of cattle are expected to remain firm to slightly higher over the next several weeks. Combined production of beef and pork will continue running slightly below last year's level in the near term.

Relatively low corn prices and optimism by cattle feeders will continue to support feeder cattle prices.

However, prices for all classes of cattle are expected to peak between now and summer, and these prices will likely be the highest cattle prices for the year. By the last half of the year, beef production will increase significantly from current levels.

How much cattle prices may decline from the second quarter highs will mostly be contingent on the level of pork and poultry production. Regardless of the level of meat production, it appears that total supplies will be adequate relative to the effective demand for meat throughout the latter part of 1982.

INTERNATIONAL LIVE-STOCK SYMPOSIUM

Plans are moving ahead for the second International Livestock Symposium to be staged in the El Paso, Texas, Civic Center May 20-21.

The educational activity is designed to emphasize the economical production of livestock and efficient use of natural resources in arid lands.

Based on the success of the initial symposium in 1981, the program this spring is being expanded to include not only the Beef Cattle Symposium but a Horseman's Symposium and Training Clinic, a Dairy Seminar and a Livestock Trade Show as well.

Ranchers have pre-registered. Mexico, Arizona and California and officials emphasize there's still time to there's still ample time to register. Joining the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas A&M State University and the Cooperative Extension Service of New Mexico.

Theme for the beef section will be "Meeting Nutritional Needs of Range Cattle." Discussions also will include a comparison of supplemental feed types and native feedstuffs to meet beef cattle requirements. Other talks will key on developing replacement heifers, nutrition and bull productivity, management, grazing strategies, cost-benefit of grazing management systems, weed and brush control and coping with drought.

Topics for the horse section will include nutrition, horse health, feeding the broodmare and show horse, and foaling the mare. A special training clinic will be an added feature.

Dairy producers will have an opportunity to learn about new developments in computerized dairy records, feeding dairy cattle and automation of estrus detection.

Persons desiring more information should contact Dr. Nelson Adams at Box 1298, Ft. Stockton, Texas 79735, or Dorline Wenciar at the El Paso County Extension office.

County Scales Are Approved

AUSTIN--Gray County people can count on getting their money's worth in weight through the year if the products weighed on local scales or gas pumps, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said today.

In the county there are 335 weighing devices of different types, ranging from 225 fuel pumps to 89 supermarket scales.

"Our Department regularly checks the commercial scales in the county and has found that they conform to our previous surveys across the state. Of those that were above or below tolerance, not many scales were off by significant amounts. Also, as many were giving the customer too much of the product as were giving too little. Because of frequent checks scales are not out of calibration very long," Brown said.

"Business owners are glad to see us come in because as often as not, they have been losing their money if their scales were not accurate," Brown said.

The Texas Department of Agriculture has inspectors assigned to every county. They are trained to check all different types of scales--from those for medicines in a pharmacy to those for livestock and grain.

The inspectors also spot check packaged goods, such as cereals and crackers, to make certain that the weight stated on the label is accurate. If on the average the weights of the packages are below the amount stated on the label, the shipment is put on a Stop-Sale order. The store owner then either returns the items to the processor or as is the case very often, gives them to charitable organizations. Meat packaged in the supermarket as well as processor packs are also checked by Department inspectors.

HOMEMAKER NEWS

"Paint up-fix-up" is the theme for many families during April. If your household is one of those homes to benefit from a paint job, here are some tips.

PREPARE TO PAINT

Once paint colors have been selected, it's time to prepare for the painting project. Assemble all the items necessary to complete the job. They should include the following: stepladder; enough paint to complete the job; applicators (rollers, brushes, pads); dropcloths (old sheets work well and can be laundered for reuse); screwdriver to remove door knobs, switchplates, and wall hooks; masking tape to edge molding, window panes, and any other areas you don't want to paint; paint thinner or turpentine for cleaning up when using oil-based paint; and protective cream to apply on hands and arms for easier paint removal.

Before painting, walls should be carefully cleaned. Paint does not adhere well to a dirty surface. It is recommended that walls be washed with an all-purpose detergent starting from the bottom up. While the natural tendency is to start at the top and work down, this sequence allows water to dribble down over soil, creating stubborn and difficult-to-remove streaks. Dribbles are much easier to remove from areas still damp from washing. Surfaces should then be completely rinsed and allowed to dry before painting.

Any cracks and nail holes should be patched with spackling before walls are painted. Glossy surfaces need to be dulled since it is difficult to achieve good adhesion over old enamel coatings. A surface can be dulled by sanding or applying a deglosser otherwise known as "liquid sandpaper."

STORE PAINTING SUPPLIES PROPERLY--SAVE MONEY

Countless dollars are spent on brushes, rollers, paints, and other supplies which must be discarded after only one use because of improper cleaning and storage. Many paint items should give long-lasting results over several years with proper care.

Whether painting projects are scheduled once a month or only several times a year, here are a few tips on cleaning and storage to assure tools and supplies in "ready to paint" condition.

1. Seal It Up. Tightly sealed paint containers will keep contents fresh. Store leftover paints by selecting a small container that will be filled to the brim with the remaining paint. Secure a piece of plastic wrap around the rim with a rubber band. Then secure the lid on tightly over the wrap. This will keep a skin from developing because of improper storage, cut it away from the surface with a knife and lift it off in one piece, otherwise leftover particles will give paint an uneven finish. Be sure to store all paints away from heat, freezing temperatures and curious children.

2. Preserve and Protect.

Be sure to thoroughly clean all paint off of brushes after use. If a latex paint was used, clean the brush with warm water and detergent. Be sure to rinse all detergent from the brush. If a solvent thinned paint or varnish was used, clean the brush with a recommended solvent or paint thinner. Then wash in warm water and detergent. After the brush has dried, comb the bristles straight out and carefully wrap the brush in heavy paper or plastic. Either lay brushes flat or hang them from hooks to store.

Wash paint rollers as you do brushes, but be sure to remove excess paint from the roller before you clean it by rolling it back and forth over newspaper or paper towels. Once the roller is clean and dry, place it in a plastic bag and hang it to store.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Willpower is the ability, after you have used 3/4 of a can of paint and finished the job, to close the can and clean the brush, instead of painting something else that doesn't need it.

Nothing would astonish me, after all these years, except to be understood.

The Little League Game

By Lewis Yablonsky and Jonathan J. Brower

Anyone who has ever played or coached, or has been connected to Little League, will certainly enjoy and identify with the problems and rewards inherent in such a program for youngsters dealt with in this book.

Lewis Yablonsky, an expert in psychodrama and Jonathan J. Brower, sports sociologist, investigates what really happens on the baseball field. They discover what many have maintained for years, that the kids are being put through a series of status rituals for the benefit of their parents and sometimes coaches, and that both are absorbed in winning, pushing the better athletes without due concern for the less talented.

Poignant comments from such super-stars as Don Anewcombe, Don Sutton, Reggie Smith, and Rick Monday about the tremendous importance placed on winning, the use of such questionable tactics as brush-back pitches, and the all too commonplace occurrence of coaches seeking personal glory through the accomplishments of their teams, or parents who use their children as extensions of themselves, and attempt to do things they would like to have done at that age, all are covered in this excellent book.

This volume is now available at Lovett Memorial Library.

Texas Produces Less Than Billion Barrels Of Oil In 81

AUSTIN--April 7--Preliminary figures indicate that Texas crude oil production amounted to 897,573,416 barrels in 1981, the third consecutive year the state's production failed to reach the billion barrel mark.

The 1981 figure represents a 33,504,859 barrel decline in production compared to 1980. Crude production in 1980 totaled 931,078,275 barrels.

Texas crude output last year indicated a 3.6 percent drop from 1980's total volume.

The 1981 decrease reflected a slowing in the rate of decline in Texas oil output. Production in 1980 was down 4.9 percent from the previous year, while 1979 output decreased by six percent from the preceding year.

Final natural gas production figures show that Texas oil and gas wells produced 6,733,042,031 Mcf of gas in 1981, down 3.8 percent from 1980's production of 6,997,891,217 Mcf.

Of the 1981 total production, 1,356,878,719 Mcf was casinghead gas and 5,376,163,312 Mcf was gas well gas.

Drilling set new records in many categories in 1981. Oil and Gas Division records show 24,998 new holes drilled in Texas, and 18.1 percent increase from the 1980 total of 20,490. The total reflects discovery and existing field wells for oil and gas, as well as service holes and dry holes.

At year end, oil completions stood at 15,627, up 21.2 percent from 1980. Gas completions totaled 5,454 in 1981, an increase of 2.3 percent from 1980's total of 5,331.

Drilling applications jumped 17.8 percent in 1981. A total of 47,940 applications were received compared to 39,442 in 1980.

Demo Chairman Condemns NCPAC Intrusion In Texas

AUSTIN--State Democratic Chairman Bob Slagle today condemned the continued intrusion of NCPAC, the money conduit used by right-wing political candidates, into the Texas political process.

"These out-of-state extremists began their handiwork in Texas in 1980 when they tried to defeat House Majority Leader Jim Wright," Slagle said. "In 1981 they declared against Senator Lloyd Bentsen, and now they have moved from the U.S. Senate race to the Lieutenant Governor's race."

Slagle was referring to the Curt Clinkscales, III, endorsement of Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby's opponent, George Strake, and the employment of a recent NCPAC staffer in the Strake campaign organization. Clinkscales is a member of the NCPAC board of directors. The Strake staffer is Knut Rostad, a former full-time staff member of NCPAC in Washington.

"A member of the NCPAC board has used his right-wing senior citizens organizations to endorse George Strake, and if that isn't enough, Strake has hired a NCPAC employee as his research director," Slagle said. "I fully expect to see the same dirty tricks used in Texas that earned NCPAC national notoriety in 1980."

Clinkscales is the executive director of the National Alliance of Senior Citizens which is admittedly a Republican political front.

In a news conference earlier this year, Clinkscales announced the endorsement of Strake and claimed he had 30,000 members in Texas. The National Organizations of the U.S. shows that in 1981 Clinkscales claimed 30,000 members nationwide.

Rostad was listed on Strake's campaign expenditure report as a full-time campaign employee.

FARMING facts & fancies

Though most milking today is done by machine, in the days when cows were milked by hand it was usually done from the right side. The reason is that most dairy farmers have been right-handed since the dawn of the dairy business. It's easier for a right-handed milker to work from Bossy's right side. Makes no difference to the cow, as long as the milker's hands aren't too cold.

ear ticks, which bother cattle, therefore, greatly reducing their milk and beef production.

It's said that a hen cackles after laying an egg in order to call her mate's attention to the "fowl" deed. Other roosters start crowing, trying to take credit for something they had nothing to do with.

America's dairy and beef cattle are likely to be a lot happier from now on. The reason for this lies in plastic ear tags that many cattle are sporting these days. The new tags from Diamond Shamrock are impregnated with an insecticide called Ectrin. Ectrin is lethal to horn flies, face flies, Gulf Coast ticks, and Spinoze

Ten Area Women Awarded 1982 Distinguished Service

WTSU--Ten residents of area communities have been awarded 1982 Texas Panhandle Distinguished Services Awards presented at West Texas State University.

The seventh annual awards were presented during the April 17 luncheon hosted by the WTSU Returning Student Program and planned by a university committee.

Chosen from 91 nominees, the recipients are selected for their contributions to volunteer activities, career and professional fields. Judges for the awards represent several Panhandle communities.

Speaker for the luncheon was Mary Beth Rogers of Austin who created "Texas Women-A Celebration of History." The exhibit is touring Texas museums and will be featured in June at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum on the WTSU campus.

Award recipients are Jeane Bartlett of Amarillo, who has worked as director of the National Spelling Bee Program in the Tri-State area for the past 14 years; Edith Rust, Amarillo, a nurse who developed a program to humanely examine and treat emergency room victims of rape and sexual abuse; Therese Abraham of Canadian, the city's first woman mayor; Olive Finch, Dalhart, whose philanthropic contributions have been experienced by numerous individuals and organizations; and Dr. Matilda Gaume, Canyon, a retired WTSU music faculty member who developed courses and organized the music library.

Also receiving the awards are Nelda Laney of Hale Center, whose civic activities have been recognized and honored by state and national organizations; Nina Spoonemore, Pampa, who spends much of her time as a volunteer and as an appointed member of state boards and conferences;

Dixie Suratt, Panhandle, who developed a school volunteer program awarded by state education leaders;

Nora Redmon, Tulia, known for her successful fund-raising abilities; and Lennie Simms of Wellington, WTSU's first woman regent and president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.
