Mass Meeting For Creamery

Citizens Urged to Be Present Saturday Afternoon and Lend Support to This Important Enterprise

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HALL

There has been some discussion of the question of a creamery for this place during the few months and through the kindness of the editor some notice has been given the subject in the News, but so far nothing definite has been done. It is, however, very encouraging to see the degree of favor the proposition met with from the community, especially among the farmers, for the success of any creamery absolutely depends upon the enthusiastic support of the farmers.

The creamery business is peculiarly a farmer's enterprise. Its history proves that as a rule they do not pay a very high dividend on the capital stock, but they are admittedly a safe investment both to the business man and farmer. Their chief objection to the business man is that it enables the farmer to meet his obligations promptly and in places the business man on a cash basis by which he can buy and deliver to the consumer at a cheaper price the finished products he requires. To the farmer it is a source of revenue from the dividend paid on the stock he has subscribed, and while this may not be very great at first it will in time become a considerable factor in meeting the necessary expenses.

The principal income to the farmer is not derived from the dividend paid on his stock, in fact that is a very small item in comparison, it is the market it furnishes for his cream, the investment of a portion of his time, the majority of which would otherwise be lost, or at least less profitably employed, and the sale of a product of the farm which is at this time, in this country, allowed to go to waste. He will milk more cows, feed them better, raise better calves, create a greater local demand for feed stuff and in the end increase the supply, because he will have a place where he can utilize the farm products and turn it into the finished product, saving the feeder's profit.

It is now proposed to organize a creamery at McLean with a capital stock of Four Thousand Dollars, divided into One Hundred and Sixty shares of a value of Twenty-Five Dollars each. Any one may become a stockholder and buy as many shares as he may care to up to twenty shares, but no one will be allowed to own a greater number of the shares than that. This stock must all be subscribed and fifty per cent thereof paid in before incorporating.

From the estimates furnished by the Department of Dairying of the National Government, by the Bureau of Dairying of Oklahoma State University, and of the same department of our own Agricultural and Mechanical College, it would seem that we should be able to install the necessary machinery for a first class creamery and of sufficient size to accommodate the needs of this country for something like Twenty Five Hundred Dollars. This would leave of the proposed capital stock, a sufficient amount to buy lots and build a suitable building and leave an ample balance for the first month operating expenses.

Plans for subscription of stock and number of cows have been furnished both of the banks and to Messrs. A. B. Gardenhire, A. G. Richardson, F. R. McCracken and Ed Castleberry. Every farmer is urged to call on either of the banks or either of these gentlemen and take as many shares of stock as he can and pledge all the cows he can. We want the farmers to take at least twenty-five hundred dollars of the capital stock, and must have at least four hundred cows.

Let us leave distrust at home, stop criticism one time and come to the mass meeting at McLean Saturday afternoon, May 7th, and make one united effort to build a creamery.

Yours for success,
S. E. BOYETT.

Biggest Celebration Ever.

It is estimated that from 500 to 700 members of the Odd Fellows' Lodge and the ladies auxiliary, the Rebekahs, will gather at Plainview, Texas, on Thursday and Friday, May 12th and 13th, at the meeting of the Panhandle Association of Odd Fellows. A very interesting program has been arranged. The ceremonies will consist of parade, numerous addresses, contests in the work, business session, rides about the city, etc., as well as toasts and banquets. It is proposed to make every minute of the meeting filled with interest.

The annual meeting last year was held at Miami, when 200 delegates and visitors were present and twenty lodges were represented. Now more lodges belong to the Association and greater interest is aroused so the meeting at Plainview, it is thought, will be something like three times as big as that of last year. There are 32 counties in the bounds of the Association and the counties have 31 lodges. The number of delegates allowed each lodge is from four to fifteen or more according to the total membership. Aside from the delegates any member of the order in good standing is permitted to attend.

The Santa Fe, Rock Island and Fort Worth & Denver railroads have given a rate of one and a third fare for the round trip, on account of this meeting.

Mrs. J. A. Grundy returned Saturday from an extended visit with friends and relatives in Oklahoma. She was accompanied home by her little nephew, Clyde Dickerson, who will spend several weeks here.

PRESS MEETING.

Saturday of last week the News man had the pleasure of attending the semi-annual meeting of the North Panhandle Press Association which met at Pampa. Through the kindness of our popular candidate for County Tax Assessor, Frank Faulkner, we had the pleasure of an overland drive in a buggy from here and enjoyed the trip very much, especially our stop going and coming, at the hospitable hostelry of Uncle Henry Thut at the county capital.

We arrived at Pampa Friday afternoon and took in the sights during the evening and were entertained by our former townsman, Arthur Cook. Early Saturday morning trains brought in the editors in large bunches and by the time of the opening of the convention quite a crowd of pencil pushers had assembled to carry out the most interesting program.

Other than the regular routine of business the session decided to hold the next meeting at Amarillo, which will be some time in the early part of October. F. R. Jameson of the Canadian Record was re-elected president and A. G. Richardson was elected secretary-treasurer. Quite a few names were added to the membership roll and it was also decided to change the name to the Panhandle Press Association, admitting to membership any newspaper man in the entire Pandandle.

During the noon recess we were delightfully entertained by J. M. Smith of the Pampa News with an old-fashioned chicken and "dumplin" dinner at the Simms restaurant and in the afternoon enjoyed an automobile ride over the city with Dr. Brunow.

Pampa is one of the prettiest little towns in the Panhandle and while her citizens did not take cognizance of the fact that the newspaper men were there it is possible they had perfect confidence in our honesty and did not consider that we needed watching, even though the Higgins Herald had warned them to "watch the editors."

The fraternity was glad to have with as honored guests Mrs. P. E. Boesen of Amarillo and W. A. Johnson of the Memphis Herald. Mr. Johnson made a most interesting talk on the advantages of the association and also touched on his candidacy for the office of state senator, stating that he was positive he would be elected, in which event it was his intention to make a strong effort towards having this district re-apportioned, cutting it in two and making the division point in Deaf Smith county in order that at least two of her citizens could go to the state senate at the same time. Mr. Johnson is easily the most popular man in the race and thinks that he can figure on the support of the majority of the newspapers throughout the district.

Members of the association wish to express thanks to the Gerlach Mercantile Co. of Canadian for extending thirty days credit to Frank Jameson in order that he might wear a new Panama to the convention.

Heald Notes.

Last Sunday afternoon at 5:30 p. m. a large number of relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Haynes to witness the marriage of their daughter, Mabel, to Mr. Tom McKinzey. The bride is one of our most beautiful and accomplished young ladies, while the groom, who is in charge of the Pursley ranch, is one of our most popular cowboys.

The bride was attired superbly in a costume of rich white taffeta silk and carried a huge bouquet of fresh cut flowers. The groom wore the regulation suit of black.

After the ceremony the guests, numbering something over a hundred, were invited to partake of a bountiful supper, of which there was an abundance, and they did justice to same, after which the guests departed, but not without wishing the young couple a long and happy voyage across the matrimonial sea and that every dark cloud may have a silver lining for them. They were also presented with a great many beautiful as well as useful presents.

Rev. W. H. Carr preached an interesting sermon at the school house Monday night.

Arthur Rippey and wife are visiting at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Rippey.

Miss Olive Haynes of McLean is visiting Miss Mable Haynes this week.

WHEN YOU GO

To select a suit of clothes you get all the quality you can possibly get for the price. That is right. But why should you not be as careful in the selection of something for the stomach, for without the stomach you would have very little use for the clothes.

Now, to make a long story short, if you will come to the Village Grocery and go through the stock and listen to the spiel of its head flunky, you will easily find where to get the most quality for the least money. Please consider this epistle for it means much to you and more to me.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

We have finished the entire examination and are now looking forward to the climax of one of the most prosperous school years in the history of McLean.

Ernest Clark made his final try to the Abra community Friday afternoon.

Next week we will review everything that we have gone over this year. The general average has not been run up as yet, but it can be readily seen that almost everyone will make a passing grade. However, there are a few who will not.

On Friday, May 13th, the orators of the Lone Star Literary Society will meet at the Cousins-Christian Hall in an oratorical match. There will be no admittance fee charged as we wish to have a large number present on that occasion. The following boys have entered the contest: Andy Floyd, Curtis Mitchell, Fred Stockton, Culberson Bogan and Weaver Voyles.

The celebrated drama, "Dot, the Miner's Daughter," which is being rehearsed daily by fourteen students of the high school, will be presented soon—the exact date announced next week. Watch for the date as this play promises fun for all. Hapzipah and Ebony will make your sides ache with their words and gestures.

The new goods have come and they are going. You had better come get yours before are gone. W. E. McElmoyl.

Another fine rain has visited us this week and we understand that it is general over the entire Panhandle, carrying prosperity and joy in its wake. The McLean country is blooming like a tropic rose and the biggest crop for any portion of any county at any time will be the result. It is good to live in the McLean country.

Screen doors? We have a full supply, black, green and "yaller." Come and see. McLean Hardware Co.

For the benefit of those who might need same we have received a big shipment of all kinds of artists supplies. They are ready for your inspection. Arthur Erwin, Druggist.

A man by the name of Miller was arrested near Mobeetie last Friday and lodged in the Hemphill county jail on a charge of attempted criminal assault on a little six year old girl, the daughter of a Mr. Corse who lives in the conner of Hemphill county near the Wheeler and Roberts county lines. The man had been working for Corse and while his employer was away attempted his brutish deed, but was intercooped by the little girl's grandmother, who frightened him away. He left, carrying a shot gun, but before the officers overtook him he had thrown the weapon away. The man is about thirty years old and has worked in this section of the state for several years.

Would like to figure with you on your grocery bill. We have a clean and fresh stock of goods and keep it so. If the price is any indacement we will also make that right. Come to see us. McLean Mercantile Co.

Luther Harlan happened to a most painful accident, and one that might have proved fatal, while riding a wild horse betwin here and Clarendon last Friday. In some manner the horse threw him off but his feet caught in the stirrups, taking him under the animal, who struck him over the kidneys with both feet and then kicked him loose. While his injuries were of an internal nature it is understood he suffered intensely and is not yet entirely out of danger.

Hats Reduced—The remainder of our big stock of ladies and Misses Hats will be closed out in the next few days at reduced prices. See them while there is yet a nice variety of the latest shapes and designs. Mrs. Lillie R. Bumpus at the McElmoyl store.

We still have a few of those bargain hats left. Come on and get them, we are not kidding you. They are real bargains. McLean Mercantile Co.

WHAT CAN BE ACCOMPLISHED

Tuesday the News man and wife had the pleasure of taking dinner at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Chambers on the east edge of town. After enjoying the excellent repast prepared by Mrs. Chambers, we took a stroll over the orchard and vinyard, and the sights that met our gaze were indeed wonderful. We had no idea that such potent results in fruit culture could possibly obtain from four years work on an otherwise naked piece of land.

The vinyard covers an area of probably three acres, half of which is set to blackberries and dewberries, the vines being loaded beyond conception with fruit about half grown. Mr.
Chambers, two years ago, gathered sixty gallons of berries off two rows of this plot and the rows are not over fifty steps in length. It is his opinion the present crop will exceed that output. While the grape vines are small and a little backward, they are loaded with blooms and promise a good yield.

The vinyard is separated from the orchard by a tripple row of locust trees, which serve as a wind break. The orchard covers about seven acres and is set mostly to peaches and apples, but also contains fruits of almost every variety. The peach trees are already loaded until the limbs are borne to the ground and the fruit is still small. In case there is no hail to thin the crop it will be necessary to go over it and thin it by hand in order that what is left may have room to mature. The apple trees are too young yet to bear but the cherry trees present the aspect of one solid cluster of fruit and will yield enormously.

One curiosity in the way of a tree is a peach that is probably 30 inches tall and is loaded with fruit. It looks like a mere twig stuck in the ground but will ripen forty or fifty peaches.

The orchard is practically hidden from view until you get right into it and the sight that awaits the stranger who penetrates the dense foliage of the locust hedge is calculated to take away his breath. Mr.
Chambers does not farm much but has put in lots of time in his orchard and vinyard and the results of his labors are most flattering, and prove beyond a doubt the fact that fruit is one of the most lucrative crops that can be planted this section. The gentleman's advise to beginners in this line is to give your trees the best of care and attention while they are young and until the roots get a firm and lasting hold on the ground. Then, if absolutely necessary, they can be neglected and not die, but to be entirely successful it is the part of good judgment to keep them in a state of cultivation as thorough as any other growing crop.

Going back through the garden, the domain of Mrs. Chambers, we found every variety of truck imaginable. Especially noticeable was the patch of asparagus and pie plant, of which the lady is an enthusiastic grower and with which she has been very successful.

The roses and other flowers were in bloom, and on the whole the place is one of the prettiest we have ever seen and they have only been four years improving it, which shows what can be done if there is the proper spirit of progressiveness behind the

Popular Couple Married

One of the most elaborate home weddings that has ever taken place in the McLean country occurred Sunday afternoon at half past five o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Haynes near Heald when they gave in marriage their oldest daughter, Miss Mable, to Mr. Tom McKinzey. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Carr of Plainview, who is the ladies' grandfather. After the ceremony, which was witnessed by a large crowd of friends and relatives, a bounteous wedding feast was served and the whole party enjoyed an hour of jollity in honor of the newly married couple.

Miss Mabel has lived with her parents in this section of the country for the past eight years and is one of our most popular and accomplished young ladies, known and appreciated by scores of friends for her happy and winning disposition. Mr. McKinzey has also been here for many years and holds the responsible position of foreman of the big Pursley ranch, where he has won many warm friends and personal admirers. The young people will make their home at the ranch headquarters. The News extends hearty congratulations on the consummation of their happy courtship and wishes for them many years of usefulness and joy in their wedding career.

The following is a list of the presents:

J. A. Grundy and wife, set of glasses and rug.
W. B. Brewster and wife, silver coffee pot.
C. A. Cash & Sons, table cloth.
G. A. Pursley and wife, folding bed.

WHAT CAN BE ACCOMPLISHED

Tuesday the News man and wife had the pleasure of taking dinner at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Chambers on the east edge of town. After enjoying the excellent repast prepared by Mrs. Chambers we took a stroll over the orchard and vinyard, and the sights that met our gaze were indeed wonderful. We had no idea that such potent results in fruit culture could possibly obtain from four years work on an otherwise naked piece of land.

The vinyard covers an area of probably three acres, half of which is set to blackberries and dewberries, the vines being loaded beyond conception with fruit about half grown. Mr. Chambers, two years ago, gathered sixty gallons of berries off two rows of this plot and the rows are not over fifty steps in length. It is his opinion the present crop will exceed that output. While the grape vines are small and a little backward, they are loaded with blooms and promise a good yield.

The vinyard is separated from the orchard by a tripple row of locust trees, which serve as a wind break. The orchard covers about seven acres and is set mostly to peaches and apples, but also contains fruits of almost every variety. The peach trees are already loaded until the limbs are borne to the ground and the fruit is still small. In case there is no hail to thin the crop it will be necessary to go over it and thin it by hand in order that what is left may have room to mature. The apple trees are too young yet to bear but the cherry trees present the aspect of one big cluster of fruit and will yield enormously.

One curiosity in the way of a tree is a peach that is probably 30 inches tall and is loaded with fruit. It looks like a mere twig stuck in the ground but will ripen forty or fifty peaches.

The orchard is practically hidden from view until you get right into it and the sight that awaits the stranger who penetrates the dense foliage of the locust hedge is calculated to take away his breath. Mr. Chambers does not farm much but has put in lots of time in his orchard and vinyard and the results of his labors are most flattering, and prove beyond a doubt the fact that fruit is one of the most lucrative crops that can be planted this section. The gentleman's advise to beginners in this line is to give your trees the best of care and attention while they are young and until the roots get a firm and lasting hold on the ground. Then, if absolutely necessary, they can be neglected and not die, but to be entirely successful it is the part of good judgment to keep them in a state of cultivation as thorough as any other growing crop.

Going back through the garden, the domain of Mrs. Chambers, we found every variety of truck imaginable. Especially noticeable was the patch of asparagus and pie plant, of which the lady is an enthusiastic grower and with which she has been very successful.

The roses and other flowers were in bloom, and on the whole the place is one of the prettiest we have ever seen and they have only been four years improving it, which shows what can be done if there is the proper spirit of progressiveness behind the

One of the most elaborate home weddings that has ever taken place in the McLean country occurred Sunday afternoon at half past five o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Haynes near Heald when they gave in marriage their oldest daughter, Miss Mable, to Mr. Tom McKinzey. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Carr of Plainview, who is the ladies' grandfather. After the ceremony, which was witnessed by a large crowd of friends and relatives, a bounteous wedding feast was served and the whole party enjoyed an hour of jollity in honor of these newly married couple.

Miss Mabel has lived with her parents in this section of the country for the past eight years and is one of our most popular and accomplished young ladies, known and appreciated by scores of friends for her happy and winning disposition. Mr. McKinzey has also been here for many years and holds the responsible position of foreman of the big Pursley ranch, where he has won many warm friends and personal admirers. The young people will make their home at the ranch headquarters. The News extends hearty congratulations on the consummation of their happy courtship and wishes for them many years of usefulness and joy in their wedding career.

The following is a list of the presents:

Organize Ball Team.

Baseball players and fans in general participated in a meeting held at the local diamond Tuesday afternoon of last week at which time an association was organized and the line-up for the present selected. A. G. Richardson was chosen as manager and Roy Rice field captain. The line-up is as follows:

Weaver Voyles, pitcher.
Bille Biggers, catcher.
Minnis Massay, first base.
Merlie Guertin, second base.
Matthews, third base,
Roy Rice, short stop.
Ross Biggers, right field.
Elmer Hodges, center field.
Clay Gardenhire, left field.

With this line-up we feel that the team is a strong one and the boys are ready to meet all comers at any and all times. If neighboring teams feel that they could get little honorable advancement from the McLean boys let them make that ambition known and they will be arranged for.

That McLean is enjoying a steady and substantial growth is witnessed by the increase in her post office receipts. Postmaster Mullis is authority for the statement that during April the receipts of the office, other than from money orders, was $338.97, the largest in the history of the town. This office is now in the third class and Mr.
Mullis, with his able assistant,
Miss Bryant, is giving the people first class service.
