Attention, all you pioneers of Texas and thousands of years! A piece of peculiar-looking rock, which has been identified as lava by G. K. Reading, resident highway engineer of Pampa, has been unearthed west of McLean on the highway construction crew is now working on. The lava, one piece, in a kind of egg shape, was dug up by workers there 35 feet below the original surface of the ground. What does it mean? Nobody knows. Was there once a volcano nearby? The lava is on display at the News office for a few days. It was found by Frank Oltrogge, of the construction crew and left here for a few days by Mrs. Oltrogge. Do you know of anyone who might be able to help solve this question of oddity—or one of hundreds of thousands of years ago—as we know. The lava won't be on display for long, for Mr. Oltrogge wants it back.

Big Chests—NOT ALWAYS GOOD

The ability to expand the chest wisely upon taking a deep breath used to be considered a very important health sign. In fact, at one time the French army used chest expansion as one of the measurements for the signing up of recruits. They went by a formula for fitness which they got by adding the weight and the chest expansion, deducting the height; if that added up to 120 you were in, 100 was of dubious strength, and 80 or under was definite rejection.

Today there are many more health signs obtained from the chest than the mere measurement of expansion. The normal expansion with a deep breath runs about two inches, but practice will enlarge upon that.

A chest that looks like it's taking a deep breath all the time is known as a barrel chest and may be a sign of trouble in the lungs. The chest that looks always deflated, like the end of a deep pushing out of breath, is known as the flat chest. Sometimes both sides of the chest don't expand and deflate at the same rate, and that, too, may be quite important when your doctor is checking your chest in a general physical examination.

Your chest is that area below your neck and above your abdomen. Just where the chest ends and the abdomen begins is not always clearly defined, since there is some overlap in those two regions, but generally speaking, the chest includes only the heart and lungs, covered by the ribs and the sternum, which is the breastbone. The lower ribs also cover part of the abdominal cavity, however, but inside of you there is a dome-shaped hunk of muscle known as the diaphragm which marks a fluctuating division between the chest and abdomen.

Men usually breathe from the "stomach," using that diaphragm as the muscle of respiration to the fullest extent. Women normally ally breathe with the "ribs," showing the chest wall back and forth to get their respiration. When a man uses the chest wall more than the diaphragm or when a woman breathes mainly with the diaphragm, the reversal of normal breathing procedure may be a sign that your doctor will check your chest a bit more carefully than average.

Diseases leave their mark upon the exterior appearance of your chest. Rickets may form a beading along the ribs or create a groove down the outside of the ribs and under them. If the breastbone is particularly heavy at the top, you get a shape called pigeon breast and if that breastbone is not as long as normal or sunken there at the front of the ribs you get a deep groove between the ribs called funnel breast.

There are also diseases which affect the way you breathe. Asthma, of course, has its distinctive way of breathing. There are a number of different ailments which might set up a breathing that gets progressively faster and faster and then suddenly ceases entirely for a period, then starts up slowly again and works up to a rapid pace. The deep, sighing breath-type of respiration may be a sign of acidosis, and a catchy type of breathing sometimes accompanies pleurisy.

The whoop and the crow are sort of combination cough and breath noises which go along with whooping cough and croup.

The color of the chest as a whole or in spots may be signals of disease or disorder to your doctor. Dilated vessels, swellings, perspiration that occurs only on the chest, rough, dry, scaly skin will all command his attention and take their place in his accumulation of information about your physical condition.

WE'VE DECIDED ON GULL

FOR THE PAST FEW MONTHS, since the second Democratic primary in August, as a matter of fact, we have debated about which of the two candidates for Congress we should support.

We have finally decided in favor of Ben Guill, that outstanding man who became Texas' only "Republican" representative when he won out in the special election last May 6. His opponent, as you know, is Attorney Walter Rogers. Both men are from Pampa, both men are well known here, and both have many friends here—some of them friends are mutual.

Let us explain first that we have nothing against Walter Rogers. So far as we know, he is a capable attorney, and it is our understanding that he served well in his capacity as district attorney. We are not supporting Guill on Rogers' demerits, but rather on Guill's merits.

Ben Guill, the present congressman, is a former school teacher, a profession which is one to be admired. Most of his teaching, we understand, consisted of teaching speech. He is a fair master at speech-making himself, a trait which does well for him as our representative. However, his speaking ability is not much of a reason for supporting him, for his opponent is also an excellent speaker.

There are reasons, however. Ben Guill is an anti-socialist. So are we. He believes that our great government has been built on free enterprise, and so do we. He wants us to keep that freedom of enterprise, and so do we. That is one of the reasons for our support.

Ben Guill has been, fortunately for him, placed on the House agriculture committee. Our past two representatives were on this committee, and it is one which does a great deal for our section. We do not believe that Walter Rogers would be able to make this committee, should he be elected, since the vacancy which would be created by Guill's defeat would go to a Republican.

Ben Guill does not believe that a congressman should hold that office term after term after term. He does not believe it should be held until the representative reaches his dotage, or is given some federal life-time job. We agree with him on that score.

Ben Guill believes that farmers should have price support, so long as the government continues to subsidize every other business in some way or another. We agree with that. We do not believe that any business or profession in the U. S. should be subsidized, but we feel, as does Ben Guill, that cutting off subsidies should not begin with the farmer.

Ben Guill believes in more economy on the part of the government, and is big enough to admit that "one man can't do it all." He realizes that no group wants the economy movement to start with them, but he is still willing to do all in his power as our representative to put an economy program in effect in the U. S.

Those are some of the reasons we have decided to support Ben Guill. Call us a Republican if you like, although we do not feel that supporting a man running on the Republican ticket necessarily makes us a member of that political party. There comes a time in the lives of voters in our great democracy, when the man, rather than the party, must be the selection to make. We feel that this time is now. That's why we are publicly supporting Ben Guill for Congress.

Great is he who enjoys his earthenware as if it were plate, and not less great is the man to whom all his plate is no more than earthenware.—Leighton Eddy.

In case some of you do not enjoy these predictions, at least one reader does. He is Vester Lee Smith. Recently he wrote a card telling us of a change of address. Said he didn't want to miss a single copy, because he wanted to read our predictions. One soul made happy anyway. Ha! is the only clever thing I can think of to say.

And Ha! (in my books) was never a very clever thing to say.

J. A. Sparks complimented me on my article last week concerning the criticism some people are making of the city officials concerning the use of the Municipal Building. He is proud of it. J. A. Sparks is one of our pioneer residents, and is always for anything which will help the town, especially anything which will be of benefit to the youth of the town.

It's a shame that more people are not like J. A. Sparks in that respect. Too many are merely "againers." The same old crowd always votes against the progressive measures. So far as I can tell, however, that same old crowd has been in the minority to date. At least since I have been here anyway. Which I think is good.

Almost every since I have been in McLean, the American Legion post has had a rather loose organization. By that I mean no particular criticism. I simply mean that the post has not functioned strictly as a Legion post apparently is supposed to function.

When George Terry took over as commander about a year ago, he began to read up on the constitution of the American Legion, and has been doing very good work toward making the post the kind of organization it should be. Frankly, I think he has done a good job.

Now we have another man in town who has had considerable experience in American Legion work. He is Howard Horne, the relatively new manager of the local office of the Southwestern Public Service company. Howard is thoroughly sold on the American Legion, and rightly so. He has served as commander of one post, that at Vega, and knows what it took there to make the Vega post an active one, a good one, a post beneficial to the town as a whole as well as to veterans.

Now Howard has accepted the job of adjutant of the McLean post. The adjutant, as most of you know, is actually the secretary, and the secretary of anything usually does all the work. So Howard has a job on his hands in that respect. And he is working right with Terry and the rest of the officers and other members, and the Legion is going to be benefited greatly.

Most of us know little of the work of the American Legion. Most of us think it is an organization set up to sponsor dances, and that's all. But dances are held merely to raise money, and that's as far as they go. That money is used for many, many purposes. How many of you know that the American Legion posts provide which veterans may "buy" free of charge each Christmas at the Veterans Hospital in Amarillo and send those gifts to their loved ones? How many of you know that American Legion posts carry on an extensive youth recreation program throughout the U. S.? How many of you know that American Legion posts promote numerous patriotic programs throughout the U. S. annually? How many of you realize that American Legion posts are the first to ferret out Communist inclinations, and the last to forget Old Glory? All these things are contributed to by the local post.

There are so many of us who know so little about the work of the American Legion. So many of us who know so little that we often criticize Legion posts unjustly. Oftentimes a little thought in advance would prevent this unjust criticism.

Let's Re-elect Ben Guill The Congressman Who Can Get BOTH Parties to Work For THE PANHANDLE OF TEXAS

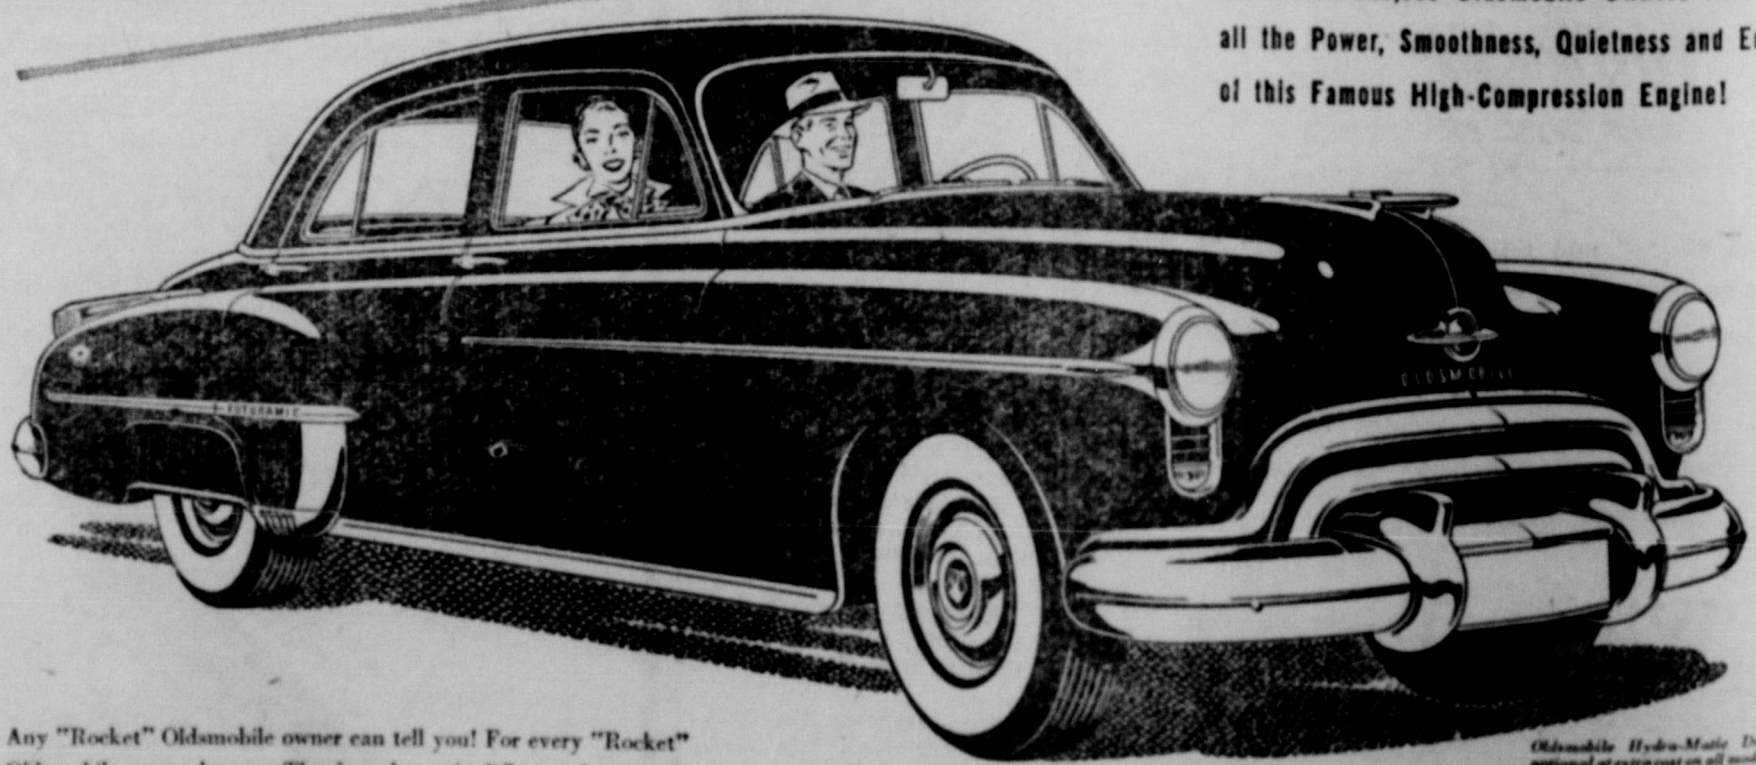

THE PICTURE OF INTER-PARTY CO-OPERATION

Ben Guill, Congressman from the 18th District of Texas, is pictured above in a candid camera shot talking with Democrat Sam Rayburn of Texas, Speaker of the House, and Republican Joe Martin, of Massachusetts, Minority Leader, the two most powerful figures in Congress. Because of inter-party co-operation like this, Ben Guill is a member of the powerful House Agriculture Committee. Because of inter-party co-operation, Ben Guill got top Department leaders to travel to Amarillo from Washington for the only small business clinic ever to be held in Texas. Because of inter-party co-operation, Ben Guill has been able to get more attention for the Panhandle than any other Congressman could have got in a full term.

BEN GUILL—through his honesty and ability—is doing an outstanding job as our Congressman. He deserves a full term of his own. Let's re-elect the man who has proved he can do something for the Panhandle.

Hallowe'en Was Big Event in 1910, Too

IT HAPPENED HERE

From the Files of The McLean News, November, 1910

Hallowe'en Observed Here
 Monday night of this week, the occasion for the celebration of Hallowe'en, was observed in a most thorough manner. The evening was spent in a most interesting and deprecating parties, and the guests were usually people the darkness of the occasion given by the ladies of the Baptist church at the north part of town. The affair was well attended by the young and old, there being a neighborhood of 300 guests ranging in age from one to 75, and merriment was furnished for all. At the gate the guests were greeted by two delightful spooks, the gate posts having been decorated in white raiment and surrounded by grinning pumpkins. The interior was lighted up in a most gruesome manner. Just before the reception hall was a deception that served to remind one of the fact that all things are more or less deceptive. The entire house was fittingly decorated for the occasion and spooky looking creatures peered at you from every angle. After the assembling of the guests and an hour spent in the narration of ghost stories, the first number on the program was introduced, it being a Bible contest. Each one was given a sheet of paper on which were written 15 questions relative to Bible history, and the guest answering the greatest number of questions was to receive a handsome book. This distinction fell to Dr. Donnell, who answered 14 of the 15 questions correctly.

Next came the Witch of Endor who was on her journey to the front porch where she encouraged herself in a wild groto and predicted the fortunes of those who had the hardihood to face her alone and unattended. This role was played by Mrs. Jack Hindman in a manner that was heartily approved by all, with the exception of some of the little folks whose disapproval was most emphatically expressed.

Be it remembered also that the most important feature of the evening was the buffet luncheon served in the spacious dining room. Delicious chocolate ice cream and cake comprised the menu. At the portal of this department J. W. Kibler was stationed to take in the shakels, which totaled a neat sum.

A crowd of serenaders composed of Messrs. C. F. Adare, Roy Rice, Clay Gardenhire, Dick Cooke, and Andy Floyd, rendered some delightful music that added materially to the entertainment and at a late hour the party dispersed feeling that the evening had been well spent.

Tuesday morning the work of the younger generation was evident in many ways, and while several articles were slightly misplaced, there was no real damage done. A few outhouses were overturned and the front veranda of the New office was severed from the building, while several people reported a serious loss of sleep on account of tick-tackers.

Hallowe'en was thoroughly, if not fittingly, celebrated.

The Cotton Crop

There is considerable agitation right now concerning the advisability of planting cotton next year and making an effort to locate a gin at this place. While we are not thoroughly acquainted with the growth and nature of the cotton plant, it is generally understood that it is somewhat of a drought resister and upon years like the past two would make an

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Small businessmen seeking defense contracts in Washington are saying that they are confused. "But," they report, "as confusing as we get, it is nothing compared to the confusion we find in bureaus."

Here is an example of how this feeling of confusion is created. The Defense Production Act of 1950 is quite clear. The Act provides explicitly what agencies should have the power to set up priorities and allocations.

Yet, an agency not given that authority, the Rubber Reserve Section of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, has through some unknown means, taken over the allocation of "Cameback," used by small business engaged in repairing and recapping tires.

Justification for this move of questionable legality by which a bureau seizes new powers is based on alleged "know-how" on handling allocation of this material without inconveniencing the public or industry.

But the rule for allocation of this material set up by the Rubber Reserve Section of the R.F.C. is held to be quite elastic, indeed.

For example, for anyone to get an R.F.C. loan, it is necessary for the applicant to establish credit responsibility.

But the reverse is true to secure an allocation of tire servicing materials from the R.F.C. The applicant must first prove irresponsibility and show that his financial position is precarious, or even destitute, to get supplies.

This has led observers to comment that the R.F.C. is writing new social doctrine.

excellent yield. Parties in this immediate vicinity who have tried it here recently report most flattering results. An average of half a bale to the acre at the present high price would make the crop most profitable to the raiser.

On the other hand, should we have a normal year the cotton would tend more to foliage during the summer and its ripening would be so late the frost would be apt to get it before it opened. These are things that should be borne in mind when laying out the plans for the next year's crop.

We are inclined to the opinion that corn is not a safe crop to plant any year as it is not a money maker on anything but the very richest soil. There are any number of crops that will net the grower a greater income, but whether cotton is a safe substitute we are not sure.

Spanish peanuts, broom corn, and all root crops make an excellent yield here on all years and it is our opinion that either or all of them would be same investments. We would like very much to have communications from farmers who have experimented in this section with the don, district campaign manager for Rogers, has set a goal of 30,000 Democratic votes for Rogers.

"This will not only send our man to Washington with a substantial majority, but the Panhandle will be well represented at the next state convention of the party," Porter said.

The number of delegates the 18th congressional district has at the state convention is based on the number of votes cast in the general election, Porter explained.

Ben Guill

Has Fought the Battle for the Panhandle Farmer in Congress

-- For Price Supports:

Farm Supports Are Under Attack!

During the last Congress the farmer came within an ace of having crop supports cut right out from under his feet.

Ben Guill has promised to fight for supports for the farmer—and as a member of the House Committee on Agriculture he is in the world's best position to help the farmer. (A DEMOCRAT Congressman from the Panhandle would have to wait at least ten years before he could hope for appointment to the Agriculture Committee).

— Here's What Ben Guill Said on the Floor of the House Sept. 22:

"I want to raise my voice in protest against any attempt to eliminate supports . . . The big city dweller thinks it is wicked for the farmer to make money. . . Their whole argument is based on false assumptions . . . The money spent on the farmer by the Commodity Credit Corporation has been the best investment the Government has made in the last 20 years . . . If farm prices had not been supported, farm income would have dropped, national income would have dropped, business would have dropped, and a depression would have resulted . . . If we reduce farm incomes drastically, we must look forward to soup-lines, foreclosures, misery, poverty, and a depression which would make us pushovers for world-communism."

--Ben Guill Introduced HR 514

Ben Guill introduced HR 514—his bill which would allow the farmer to participate in writing his own farm program. Ben Guill, as a member of the Agriculture Committee, will be able to fight for that law next year.

— Ben Guill Has Won the Respect of Congressional Leaders:

On the floor of the House the following Congressmen have given high, public praise to the work that Ben Guill is doing on the powerful House Committee on Agriculture for the farmers of the Panhandle: Chairman HAROLD COOLEY (Democrat of North Carolina) of Agriculture Committee.

BOB POAGE (Democrat, Texas), high ranking member of Agriculture Committee.

AUGUST ANDERSON (Republican, Minnesota) distinguished member of Agriculture Committee.

CLIFFORD HOPE (Republican, Kansas), ranking minority member of Agriculture Committee.

EDWARD H. REES (Republican, Kansas), well-known veteran member of Congress.

BEN GUILL has earned the respect and admiration of members from BOTH sides of the House. He is doing a fine job for the farmers of the Panhandle. Keep him where he can do the most good. Remember—no Democratic Congressman from the Panhandle can hope to get on the Agriculture Committee for ten years at least. BEN GUILL WILL STAY ON THE AGRICULTURE COMMITTEE AS LONG AS HE IS OUR CONGRESSMAN.

Day Dreaming with Bill Day
 Les jumbled my column last week to where it didn't make too much sense. I gave it to him early Tuesday morning. Then I got to thinking of how it would have sounded if I had given it to him early Monday morning—like this, I'll bet.

Guill Ballots Will Be Valid

Persons who participated in the Democratic primaries have every right to vote for Republican Congressman Ben Guill in the general election on Tuesday, November 7, and their ballots will not be thrown out, Mickey Ledrick, Pampa businessman and chairman of the district-wide organization of Democrats for Ben Guill, declared this week.
 "This is a general election, not a party primary," Ledrick pointed out. "Every citizen of the 18th Congressional district who paid his or her poll tax can vote for the candidate of his choice, with full assurance that his vote will be counted."

He explained that the State Supreme Court has held recently that no voter is legally or morally bound by the so-called Democratic pledge.
 "I am a Democrat," Ledrick said, "and so are thousands of Panhandle men and women who are supporting Congressman Guill in his re-election campaign. We aren't bad Democrats—we're just mad Democrats who don't like what has been going on in Washington."

"We are Democrats who saw Ben Guill go to Washington five months ago and start right to work for the Panhandle. As a member of the House Agriculture Committee as a World War II veteran and a fearless fighter against bureaucracy, we feel Ben Guill can do the best job for the Panhandle."
 Ledrick said Democrats for Ben Guill committees have been organized in each of the 28 counties in the district.

NEWS FROM LIBERTY

Mrs. Olen Davis has been staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cash at Lefors. She has been resting there due to a heart ailment. We hope she is improving.
 Betty Dickinson visited recently with Rotha Reneau.
 Mrs. W. J. Foster motored to Ballinger Monday, and Mr. Foster returned with her. He has been working in the oil fields near Ballinger for the past three months.

The Sam Bruner family has moved to the Liberty community. We welcome them.
 Mrs. Roger Klucas and son have gone to California to be near Mr. Klucas, who is stationed there with the navy.
 Mrs. K. S. Rippey and Mrs. O. O. Tals attended the Sunday School training course at Lefors Wednesday at the Methodist church.
 The Liberty Home Demonstration Club women wish to thank all their friends for helping them with the United Nations Day program. We wanted to point out all the United Nations and what they stand for. Howard Horne helped do this in a remarkable speech. Haydn Bodenhamer presented some good points and spoke of the flag representing the United Nations. We women of the Liberty community made this flag and want the public to know that the flag is for their use and we will be glad to loan it.
 We found talent galore. We are proud of the grade school singers, Goldie Miller, Sara Jane MacDonald, Dolores Wilfawn, and Laura Brown. Mattie West sang "Holy, Holy, Holy," and the high school girls, Jane Williams, Jeanne Pharis, and Barbara Barrett, sang beautifully. Miss Leona Forbes opened the program with prayer, and the closing prayer was by Miss Gussie Bledsoe.
 The Liberty Club will meet November 7 with Mrs. H. H. Loyd.

Mrs. and Mrs. D. A. Davis spent the week-end in Childress.
Mrs. D. E. McGahey and son David are visiting in the home of her brother, C. E. Corta.

Skilled Workers Needed in Pampa

Pampa employers are now seeking workers from out-of-the area through the Texas Employment Commission, according to L. P. Fort, manager of the TREC office.
 These jobs have not been filled locally after some effort in local recruitment: engine lathe operators; machinist; milling machine operator; radial drill press operator.
 There is no great surplus of unskilled laborers, but the situation is not tight yet, except for short periods. As Christmas buying season approaches, the present available supply of salespeople will decrease greatly.
 At the moment there is no demand from agriculture for cotton pickers. This activity will probably get lively during this week. Wheeler County is getting off to a start in cotton harvest and some ginning is underway in Gray County in southern part around McLean.
