

PLAIN TALK

By BILL PERKINS

The March of Dimes coffee sales begin today. We are invited to one this morning at Williams Appliances and this afternoon we will attend another one given by Boyd Meador Insurance Agency. The coffee at the News office will be begin at 9:30 Friday morning.

More candidates have announced for office since last week. Last Wednesday after this column was written and ready to print Truitt Johnson announced that he would be a candidate for Gray County Commissioner of Precinct four. Boyd Meador had announced that he would seek the office Tuesday. Saturday John Dwyer announced for the same office and Wednesday O. L. Tibbets, incumbent, announced that he would seek re-election. As this is being written, voters have four good men to choose from. Jess Finley is asking a second term as Donley County Commissioner.

Cliff H. Day announced that he would be a candidate for Justice of the Peace of Precinct five.

We understand that some of the county officials have announced intentions of seeking re-election this year, although we had received no official statement from any of them Wednesday.

Only two weeks remain to pay poll tax in order to be eligible to vote this year. Deadline is January 31.

The following editorial was written by Walter Humphrey, editor of the Fort Worth Press. We enjoyed reading it so much and thought you would, too, so we are reprinting it here.

FATHER OF THE BRIDE

I thought it would be a long walk when I marched down the aisle to give my daughter away. But it wasn't. In a flash it was over and she had passed from my care to another man's.

Yet there was no sadness to this important occasion. I felt very proud as I walked down the long aisle. It is nice to have a beautiful girl hanging on your arm, especially when she's your daughter. I knew no one was paying any attention to me, but I beamed just the same.

And in the fleeting moments of that walk, a whole life-time of memories cascaded through my mind. The fat little baby who never cried, to the tall high-strung gal with the quick mind and the fast talk... skinned knees from roller skating... music lessons that didn't take... slumber parties no end... a father-daughter vacation trip in the mountains... triumphs in school... heartbreak... the time she dodged her father when he looked as he, a chaperone, might dance with her at a high school party.

In a moment the ceremony was over. Here the little girl who had galloped through my life at such a fast and exciting pace was grown and married and gone. Her questions and appeals wouldn't be to daddy any more. But you can't be unhappy about it when your daughter trades you off for a bright, young, strong, ambitious new model! I was so proud because she knew how to choose.

I have always believed - that lives were meant to serve with, not just to live. She has trained to work for the church. He has trained for the ministry. They've got something big to do with their lives.

I just hope they remain kind and thoughtful and considerate and useful... tolerant of all but more than that, understanding... humble and human but inspired, for there is so much to do, so many to be served. Then happiness will come easily.

Yes, it was a short walk down the aisle - but at the end of it I saw a door opened to a long new road. What a vista lay ahead!

If you had flea-power you could jump over a 90 story building.

McLean Man Gets Penny Post Card After 21-Year Delay

Perry Roby got a post card from Amarillo Tuesday.

It was one of the old-time penny post cards, but it was delivered just the same.

You see, it was mailed before the new two-cent cards went into circulation.

In fact, it was mailed almost 21 years ago.

The card was postmarked in Amarillo April 8, 1937.

Since 1937 Roby has been away from McLean for several years, but moved back and finally he and his mail got together.

He might never have received the penny postal if McLean's recent growth had not created the need for additional post office lock boxes.

Monday, while moving old boxes and installing new ones at the post office, the post card was discovered beneath the old boxes where it had been undisturbed for almost a quarter of a century.

The NEWS didn't find out what the message on the card said, but perhaps it wasn't urgent.

DELEGATES, COMMISSIONERS DISCUSS REBUILDING OF 273

Boyd Meador, Amos Page and Jimmie Don Morris made up a delegation from McLean that met with the highway committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and delegates from Lefors Monday morning to present a plan to the county commissioners court for rebuilding Highway 273 from McLean to Pampa.

Primary purpose of the delegations was to request the co-operation of the commissioners court in a program which would include the building and realigning the state highway as soon as possible.

Officials said that the meeting was satisfactory and the court agreed to consider the request to add the program to their year's work.

The court was also in favor of going along with the program in any way and to discuss approval of presenting a request to the State Highway Department to include and participate in the acquisition of right-of-way for the program.

If present plans materialize, a delegation of citizens, along with the commissioners court, will appear before a public hearing of the State Highway Department in Austin in February to make the request for the project to be carried out in this year's budget.

January 31 Deadline For Employers to Issue W-2 Forms

Employers were reminded this week that their employees are entitled to receive two copies of a "Withholding Statement," Form W-2, on or before Friday, Jan. 31.

In making this statement, Wiley E. Davis of Internal Revenue Service, Pampa, said, "This statement shows the total wages paid and the income tax and social security tax withheld, if any, during the calendar year of 1957."

Total wages shown on an employee's W-2 should include amounts received as sick pay from his employer, even though no tax has been withheld on such sick pay. Sick pay is not required to be shown separately.

Mr. Davis stated that if it becomes necessary to correct a W-2 after it has been given to an employee, a corrected statement, a corrected statement must be issued and marked "corrected by employer."

THE BIGGEST LITTLE STORE IN THE PANHANDLE

McLEAN, TEXAS PHONE 35

By VERN SANFORD

Those of us who fish for sport often overlook the importance of our commercial fisheries.

In fact, we bitterly resent some of the tactics of commercial fishermen.

It must be remembered, however, there are millions of the U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service, has established four new regional offices and a new southern California program office. The purpose of these new regional offices will be to implement the expanded commercial fishery program.

Texas is very much interested in any advancement of the commercial fishery industry. Waters of the Gulf of Mexico are worked daily, particularly by shrimpers.

Some protective legislation has been passed to keep commercial netting out of Laguna Madre, and to control shrimping and oyster gathering in other Gulf areas. This is very necessary to protect this wildlife resource. The Texas Game & Fish Commission has a marine laboratory at Rockport, and sub-offices at other places along the Texas coast where daily studies are made. These offices work very closely with the Fish & Wildlife Service in protecting our supply of marine fish. They are important both to commercial and sport fishing.

Weed Control—Good and Bad

For those who live in the coastal areas it might be well to keep in mind this spring that some weed control can be harmful to wildlife.

The Game & Fish Commission recently completed purchase of additional marsh land in the Beaumont-Port Arthur area to provide refuge for water fowl. Careful studies are being made of seed-producing weeds, that ducks and geese like to feed on. Biologists directing the program have had long experience and training in providing such foods. You might want to contact them about some of your acreage.

Also a rather intensive weed control program now is under way by the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife and the U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service. The purpose is to find ways of eliminating undesirable marsh plants and to substitute plants which will produce food for migratory waterfowl.

One phase of this project is the testing of various herbicides to find which will eliminate noxious weeds without injuring wildlife values. Your county agricultural agent also can be most helpful in this work.

For Spin Fishermen

Spin fishermen always have had the problem of knowing just how much line to play out when they hook a big one. Now comes the E. F. Bladding Co. with a color-metered platyl line that indicates at a glance. With each package of line there is a rod decal corresponding to 10-yard markings. This will prove a popular feature.

Speaking of spin fishing, it's getting light enough now to put in a few minutes dry casting in your backyard each evening when you get home from work.

Get a casting practice plug or remove the hooks from a spin size plug. Set up a marker; an old bicycle tire is excellent. Then practice for accuracy.

The beginner has little trouble getting distance with spinning equipment. Many times, however, accuracy is impaired because your spinning rod is longer than the average bait casting rod. It also has a lighter action, requiring only a flick of the wrist.

With a little practice for a few evenings you'll find you can hit the target every time. Accuracy in casting is very important if you are fishing in good bass water, which has plenty of stumps, rocks and tree tops. A lot of time can be wasted freeing lures that hang on overhanging branches. However, it is a well known fact that big bass usually are found in some of these difficult spots.

Incidentally, this backyard practice is good for the whole family. Take a couple of Junior's old bicycle tires. Set up your casting distance and then start to work. Do it systematically and properly, however, don't just go out for a few hit or miss licks. This practice will pay off well before the season is over.

Of course on Sunday afternoons you might put on a real lure and stand on the lake bank. It's fun to catch a bass when you are just practicing.

Gun Digest Expanded
If you haven't seen a copy of the new 1958 edition of the Gun Digest, better look it over. The book has been greatly expanded this year to cover both new and modern arms and ammunition. It has information on ballistics, scopes, choke devices, loading tools, metallic sights, and custom and foreign guns.

It also contains many interesting how-to articles by noted writers. So it furnishes mighty good reading, as well as ready information.

New Stamps
A black and white wash drawing of Canada geese feeding in a cornfield has been chosen as a design for the 1958-59 migratory bird hunting stamp. Leslie C. Kouba, a Minneapolis artist, was the designer. This will be the 25th hunting stamp issued in the federal duck stamp series. This stamp is required of all persons who hunt migratory waterfowl.

Speaking of stamps, have you bought any of those whooping crane stamps? First sale of these stamps began at Corpus Christi recently. Corpus is only a short distance from the Aransas Wildlife Refuge at Austwell, where 31 of these whoopers wintered.

The stamps are beautiful and effective reminders that there are so few of these beautiful birds in existence.

Amarillo Fat Stock Show Opens Jan. 18

The Amarillo Fat Stock Show and Rodeo will open Saturday, Jan. 18, at the Tri-State Fair grounds.

This year visitors will see several changes from shows held in the past. A new livestock class, the Junior Heifer Show, has been added, the horse barn facilities have been remodeled, and the rodeo will be a junior amateur show sponsored by the Amarillo High School Student Council.

In the horse show there will be the cutting horse event and the halter classes. The cutting horse contest will be held at 4 p. m. Monday, Jan. 20, and the (Continued on back page) top 12 horses will compete in the last three performances of the rodeo for the championship.

Judging of the halter classes will begin at 9 a. m. Wednesday, Jan. 22. Senior and junior roping and reining events are planned for that afternoon.

Performances of the rodeo are to start Saturday night, Jan. 18. The Sunday performance will be in the afternoon, and the three remaining performances will be

Reduce Delinquency YOU AND THE ANSWER

(A distinguished Texas judge offers pointers on combating our fast-increasing juvenile delinquency problem.)
By JUDGE SARAH T. HUGHES

In spite of the tremendous responsibility of parents in raising their children, they are blamed too much when things go wrong.

The active help of the community is a MUST for prevention, because we of modern society have made conditions so different from those of a few decades ago.

1. We (society) have made it so that there are few chores to make youngsters feel a necessary part of the family economic unit.

2. We have turned life into a complex, confusing rush, with nerves and hurry uppermost.

3. We have made a multitude of cars, taverns, etc., accessible to the youngsters we have idled, together with much easy money, many bad examples.

4. We can help organize more church youth groups, teen centers, Scout troops, etc., volunteering for the needed leadership.

5. Help provide more family counseling services, child guidance clinics, etc.

6. Help provide more paid or volunteer probation officers and more detention facilities.

7. To do the above, we can each work to develop public opinion by conversation with friends, speeches to clubs, letters to editors, postcards to county commissioners and state legislators.

My article next week will go further into this.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights. The show closes Thursday, Jan. 23, with the sale of steers, swine and lambs, placing in the junior livestock shows.

Senator Yarborough's WASHINGTON REPORT:

One of the most important problems facing Congress this session is the question of what role the federal government should play in expanding America's educational program.

Dr. Charles A. Quattlebaum, specialist in education, recently said in a report prepared for the Senate Committee on Government Operations:

"Our development of more and better trained scientific, engineering, and other professional manpower is important to our national survival. The problem can be attacked from many approaches. There is no single solution."

As a partial answer to the tremendous need, I have introduced a bill providing for the extension of the educational provisions of the GI Bill of Rights. Educational provisions of the original bill ended January 1, honorably served in the armed forces after that date, and those who do serve during the period up to July 1, 1965, to attend colleges of their choice under the GI bill, with tuition and minimum subsistence paid.

As things now stand, only half of the high school graduates with high grades go on to college. I believe the adoption of my bill will offer many young men and women, who otherwise could not afford to attend college, the opportunity to secure a higher education. Several other bills will be introduced to establish special science and engineering education programs, and I will support most of them. But I'm convinced we also need the extension of the GI bill educational provisions to help provide continued balance in our national educational program. I believe we need to train more Americans, not only in science, but also in the humanities. My bill, which is entitled the Veterans Education Act of 1958, will be a step in the right direction, helping thousands of Americans to better educations. And the nation will be expressing its gratitude to the young Americans who are manning our radar warning stations in the Arctic, our Strategic Air Command planes, and our other freedom stations around the world.

The Statue of Liberty faces away from shore because she is supposed to be enlightening the world.

"Do you say prayers before eating?" the minister asked the little boy.

"No, sir, I don't need to," replied the child. "My mother is a good cook."

A Nebraskan, an Ohioan, and a Texan died, and all were scheduled for cremation on the same day.

The Nebraskan was cremated first, and when his ashes were removed, they were put into a quart jar. The Ohio man was next, and his ashes required a pint container.

The Texas man was last. After 15 hours, the furnace door was opened. Out walked the Texan, mopping his face with his handkerchief. "Boy," he said, "if we get two more days of this hot weather, it'll ruin the cotton for sure!"

Cold weather demands more from your battery. That's why we would like to suggest that you try a strong new Atlas battery.

THE BEST FOR THE LEAST

The reconvened Congress has plenty of business on its hands. It is flooded with proposed laws touching on every conceivable phase of the national life. The problem, so to speak, is to separate the wheat from the chaff of possible legislation.

In the domestic field, a series of laws relating to transportation should be given a top spot on the agenda.

The primary purpose of this legislative effort—which has the full support of farm and business organizations, top men in the government, newspapers and magazines throughout the country, and all manner of other groups—is to get rid of outmoded regulatory policies and philosophies which are a hangover from the days when the railroads had a virtual monopoly of commercial transportation.

For instance, if a railroad wants to charge a lower rate for doing a job than is charged by a competitor, it frequently finds that it is not allowed to—on the grounds that this would take business away from the competitor. That is much as if a store was denied the right to cut prices because business would be taken away from another store down the street.

These proposed laws would give each and every form of domestic transportation the opportunity to compete on a fair and equitable basis—and to make the most of their own special advantages. That means the public would get the best of service at the lowest cost.

WORK—WONDER DRUG OF THE AGES!

Many are the times that this newspaper takes issue with Editor Wes Izzard of the Amarillo Daily News. These clashes are not born from a desire to be contrary, argumentative, personal or quarrelsome. They result from differences of opinion resulting, perhaps, from varying political and economic philosophies.

There are also many times when this paper sees eye to eye with Mr. Izzard.

One area of agreement includes our philosophy of work.

One of man's greatest blessings is, simply, work! In the first place, God in His wisdom knew what He was doing when He ordained that man was to rest one day out of seven. This implied that he was to work the other six. When man violates this ordinance of God by trying to engage in physical or mental labor seven days a week, without rest, he usually pays the penalty for wrongdoing. Yet the penalty is just as sure and severe when man goes to the other extreme, refusing to work during the six days.

This pattern for labor is for everyone, the rich, the poor, the old, the young. The idle rich who waste their days in luxurious inactivity are no more to be commended than the lazy bum who spends his life in slothful indolence. There is no double standard when it comes to human labor.

One of the most unholy ambitions of labor is excessive amounts of leisure time.

We are not unmindful of the day when the slave-driver flourished. Man was not born to be a slave, to work unreasonable hours, to do nothing but work and sleep. Man needs time to attend to his personal chores, such as getting his hair cut and washing his car, without having to take Sunday for these secular activities. We do not begrudge any person a 40-hour week. Let's say he needs one weekday to labor for himself.

But when man talks of 36 and 32-hour weeks, he is asking for a curse instead of a blessing.

But, says labor, technological developments are making it possible for man to do in 32 hours what once required 40 hours.

If this is true, the humane solution to the problem is not in shorter hours but in greater pay. Despite the publicity given the so-called "high wages" paid labor, we do not see many laborers either in Detroit or Tulsa with bulging wallets, with money that isn't earmarked before it is received.

If the time comes when human labor is needed only a few hours each week as has been prophesied by some of the popular magazines, let's let the laborer share the monetary rewards accruing from technology, but let's not punish him with days of idleness.

Labor is dignified.

It is a preventative for juvenile bomb throwers.

It is a sure cure for the childless housewife who suffers from boredom.

It is medicine for the oldster ill with idleness.

It is an antidote for worry.

It is a cure for most cases of neuroses and would relieve the shortage of psychiatrists over night.

It's a tonic for self pity and unhappiness.

It's the wonder drug of the ages!—The Tulsa Herald.

Vernon Burr Dies
On last Monday at 12:10 o'clock little Vernon Burr breathed his last. He was three years old and had been sick only a few days.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Hamilton at the family residence Tuesday at 2:00 p. m. and the remains were laid to rest in the McLean cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Burr are strangers in our midst, having moved here a little more than a week ago.

Head Items
M. L. Gunter, tax collector from Wheeler, was at Head Wednesday for the purpose of collecting taxes.

A. P. Rippy and wife returned Thursday last week after an extended visit with friends and relatives in Oklahoma and Arkansas.

Jim Clark, wife and children, were at Ross Wingo's Tuesday to hear their new Victrola.

Our boys have received their questionnaires and several are in Class 1-A. We regret the possibility of losing them, but it is easier to give them up when we think of the cause for which they are going. We know they will be loyal to Uncle Sam and to the Stars and Stripes. May God always guide our boys, is the prayer of your "Sister Mary."

Red Cross Auction
The Red Cross auction sale took place Saturday afternoon as had been advertised. As the weather was disagreeable, the crowd in attendance was disappointing and bidding was not as lively as it otherwise would have been.

The total proceeds from the sale amounted to $406.75, according to T. J. Coffey, chairman of the local chapter.

Miss Ruby Cook entertained a number of young people Wednesday evening with a forty-two party. Those present were Misses Vida Montgomery, Pearl Guill, Cattie Diekey, Hattie Thompson and Allwine; Mrs. J. Y. Bates, and Messrs. T. J. Coffey and E. R. Eakins.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS By BOYCE HOUSE

You hear some men say, "I'm a self-made man."
I don't believe there is any such person. Unless we were left orphans in infancy, we all owe much to our parents for their care and love. Then we are indebted to grandparents, uncles and aunts.
And to school teachers and to ministers and to doctors.
We owe a debt of gratitude to society for providing schools, libraries and parks.
And there are many people who do things for us just for the pleasure of it. Maybe it's only a handshake and a word of encouragement when you were blue and about to give up; perhaps it is a loan at a timely time; or suggesting your name to someone who is looking for someone for a job.

When I was a senior in Central High School in Memphis, Tenn., I obtained a job on a statistical daily, after school hours and on Saturday. I copied the births and deaths, marriage licenses, building permits and listed new lawsuits—all this information was obtained in various offices in the courthouse. Then I visited the nearby offices of three justices of the peace to list their newly-filed cases. Half a dozen blocks away was the fire station where I copied a report of each fire of the previous 24 hours.

Then I was through except for visiting the hotels—the Chisca, the Gayoso, the Peabody, the Gaston and the Fransioli—and copying the names of all the new arrivals.
For doing this—the rounds consumed several hours daily—I received $5 a week, which figured out less than a dollar a day. But this was much more than it sounds like now—in purchasing power it would likely equal $20 a week today.

Mr. Rowe was the publisher. He was short and fat, with a stubby red mustache, and he moved about nervously all the time. He would talk fast, sput in the middle of a sentence—then start a new sentence. I was always afraid he was going to fire me, and so I would hesitate to approach him for my "salary." When I did, he would count out five one-dollar bills.

But one day he counted out six. He said, in his disjointed form of sentence, "Your work is—so—a raise."

The job did not call for actual writing but it was the next thing to being a reporter for it brought me into contact with public of-

Tax-Man Sam Sez:
Now is a good time to prepare your income tax return for 1957. If you are not going to prepare your tax return before January 15 and you made income of more than $100 outside of your salary on which tax was withheld during the last quarter of the year, you may be required to file an estimated tax return, that is, in case you haven't made one last April 15. There are a lot of folks who have income tax nightmares from January 1 until April 14. These same folks often find that when they figure their tax at 11:00 p. m. on April 15, that they have a refund coming instead of owing additional tax. The sooner you figure your tax, the sooner you can dream of more pleasant things.

Farm Magazine Has Feature About Andy Brown Family

The Andy Brown family of Donley County is featured in the February issue of The Progressive Farmer magazine. The article, "Neighbors to 96 Snow-bound Travelers," tells how the Browns opened their home to stranded motorists during the blizzard of March 23, 1957.

The Browns live a quarter of a mile off Highway 66, near Jericho. They live about 20 miles west of McLean.

The storm started on a Saturday and by night the roads were impassable. On Sunday afternoon Mr. Brown began looking for stalled cars. As he brought in travelers stranded on Highway 66, Mrs. Brown fed them and made them comfortable. A well-stocked pantry and freezer plus eggs from 400 caged layers enabled her to feed her 96 visitors.

A milk room which had heat and water became a bedroom for some of the men. The 13 children were put in Mrs. Brown's five beds. Others were bedded down on the floor.

The travelers were from 13 states, and included one girl from Switzerland. They were from all walks of life.

Since the storm, the Browns have had more letters than they could answer from their guests and others. Too, they have seen the families from Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Wisconsin.

From the State Capitol HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS

By VERN SANFORD

EDUCATION
 Education has been a prime concern of Texas government for more than a century and a quarter. But seldom, if ever, has the subject loomed so large in public discussion as now in the satellite age.

Austin, site of the Capitol and state university, is the center of a swirl of conferences and statements on the direction in which education should move.

Mirabeau B. Lamar, known as the "father of education in Texas," admonished early lawmakers with the famous statement, "The cultivated mind is the guardian genius of democracy."

In the past few months, since Sputnik, statesmen have taken up this theme in different words, out with greater-than-ever urgency. In effect, that unless the tempo of training can be stepped up immediately to train more people better, democracy is doomed.

In Austin this challenge has set off lively debates and given heavy new significance to the planning conferences of those who set educational policy. Current examples in the news:

SCIENCE AND MATH study in Texas public schools will get a critical examination by a group of school principals with advice from business and industry leaders.

State Board of Education set up the study group which is to complete its project by the end of 1959. Goal is to find means to enrich the schools' curriculum in some areas, set standards in others.

The board has previously raised graduation standards in Texas high schools, taking away from the students the chance to pass up math and science in favor of "snap" courses. This action, taken before the current science emphasis, was "somewhat prophetic," commented one board member.

NO TAX FOR TEACHERS would do more than scholarships and new buildings to raise level of instruction, said the secretary to the Commission on Higher Education.

Jack D. Cox said exempting teachers from income taxes would have the effect of raising salaries without leveling additional taxes.

POOR PAY FOR PROFS was hit even harder by a University of Texas faculty member in an Austin talk. He cited salary incentives as crucial in comparing Russian and U. S. school systems.

According to Dr. B. H. Amstead, an American college professor can expect to double his salary in a lifetime; his Russian counterpart can achieve 15 times his beginning wage. American teachers make 10% less than factory workers, said Dr. Amstead, Russian teachers 2 1/2 times more.

Proposed federal scholarships will be useless, he opined, unless there's also more money to attract the people to run schools.

"SURVIVAL DEPENDS on the quality of our schools," Sen. A. M. Alkin, Jr., of Paris told the Texas Association of School Administrators.

Alkin, leading legislative spokesman for education, reported on the aims of the Hale-Alkin committee of 24 set up by the Legislature to make an over-all study of the state's school needs.

"Specific recommendations from the people of Texas on many important school matters are needed by the study group."

Babb of Austin as executive secretary to the State Board of Optometry Examiners. Babb was criticized for holding that position while also serving as legal counsel to the Texas Optometric Association—i. e., serving both the regulators and the regulated.

SHORT SNORTS
 Travis County grand jury gave state officials and employees a clean bill of health after two months' searching for "any further evidence of misconduct." It did, however, recommend tighter regulation of notaries public and insurance company officials handling public funds.

Railroad Commissioner Olin Culbertson made the first state-wide political announcement by stating he would seek a fourth term in his present office.

It was begun, said the senator, "before foreign development re-emphasized the fact that education is a vital part of our national defense."

LAND LEASING SET
 School Land Board has set March 4 for sale of oil and gas leases on public lands.

Some 34,000 acres of tidelands plus several hundred tracts on state prison farms will be offered for leasing.

It will be the first time tidelands leases have been offered since the federal government filed suit contesting Texas' claim to land more than three miles from shore. State officials were unsure how attractive the land would be under the circumstances.

OPTOMETRISTS AT ODDS
 Rival groups of Texas optometrists are apparently on their way to the Texas Supreme Court to settle differences over what practices are legal for that profession.

Disagreement centers on two issues: (1) whether optometrists may advertise, and if so, who, and (2) whether they may have offices in part of the space of a store.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled unconstitutional the portion of the Ophthalmic Dispensers law passed last spring that pertained to advertising. Reason, a familiar one: the topic was not mentioned in the bill's caption.

Members of the Texas Optometric Association disagreed with the opinion. They brought suit asking that the State Board of Examiners in Optometry be enjoined to enforce a no-advertising rule. Since the case involves constitutionality of a law, it can be appealed to the Supreme Court.

Another suit was brought by a group of optometrists protesting a state board ruling that an optometrist's office cannot share space in a store.

Attendant publicity resulted in the resignation of Charles M.

Recent visitors in the Neville Back home were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Packenbush, Mr. and Mrs. Horace LeFevers of Dumas, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sefoss of Adams, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Doug Gentry and Helen from Dial, and Mrs. Beatrice Street of Bayfield, Colo.

Nazarene Church Enters 50th Year

Since the Nazarene church started at a union service in a small tent at Pilot Point on Oct. 13, 1908, it has literally girded the world with its message and slogan, "Holiness unto the Lord." It has become one of the fastest growing Protestant churches in the world. Rev. W. E. Bond, local pastor, has announced.

Among U. S. Protestant denominations, Nazarenes now stand 30th in membership, 15th in Sunday school enrollment, and 9th in publishing house business.

The story of its growth is graphically told as follows: Membership has increased about 30 times—from 10,000 to nearly 300,000 in 50 years.

Sunday school enrollment has increased nearly 100 times, from about 7,000 to 63,000.

Per capita giving has increased 10 times, from $13.44 to $133.77.

The value of all church property has increased about 340 times, from $560,000 to $169,705,000.

These figures include the 1957 calendar year.
