

PLAIN TALK
By BILL PERKINS

The new electric scoreboard for Duncan Field was delivered in McLean Wednesday morning. The Lions club voted to go all out Tuesday and order the rest of the board.

Contributions to the scoreboard fund amounted to more than anyone had expected and $196 more than was needed was on hand when the money was tallied with some still out. It was originally planned to get the clock and scoreboard this year and next year add the downs and yards to go portion. The latter will cost close to $400. With almost half of the additional amount on hand it was voted by the Lions to keep working and get the whole thing this year.

Dale Parvin's diet published in Tuesday's Lion's Tale may not be what the doctor ordered but it should cause one to lose weight. Here is his menu: Breakfast: scraped crumbs from burnt toast. Lunch: doughnut hole (without sugar) and 1 glass of dehydrated water. Dinner: two jellyfish skins.

On a trip last weekend we noticed this sign in a clean service station rest room: "Please do not put cigarettes in the urinals." Underneath the sign someone had penciled in "It makes them soggy and hard to light." Guess that fellow Kilroy must still be around.

On our subscription blanks among other pertinent information we have printed the words "OLD" and "NEW." We always circle the one that indicates the status of a subscriber. If "OLD" is circled, to us it means that we must take out the old stencil from the mailing list and replace it with a new one. If "NEW" is circled we simply cut a new stencil and drop it in its rightful place. When Jake Hess renewed his subscription this week the wife circled "Old" on his receipt. He said she sure had that right. We hastily explained that it had nothing to do with our subscribers age. After everybody had a good laugh, he left coffee money for everyone in the office. But after thinking it over Renewal and New would be more appropriate for the wording on the receipts.

The Dallas school board has been ordered to desegregate the schools by mid term and that has certainly presented a problem for them. The federal government says the Negroes can't be kept out of the white schools and the state law says they can't be admitted unless a local option election favors it. We'll see.

NEW ELECTRIC SCOREBOARD TO BE COMPLETE, MODERN

With more than enough money contributed to pay for the new Fairplay electric scoreboard ordered for Duncan Field and some contributions still out, the McLean Lions Club voted Tuesday to go all the way and order additional attachments for the board which designate downs and yards to go.

It was voted Tuesday to order further attachments to make the board more complete. It is estimated that the board, as now ordered, will cost approximately $1600. It was voted by the Lions to sell $2 sacks of light bulbs during half-time activities at the next home game. The bulbs belong to the Lions since they were paid for during the last light bulb sale a few months ago. Lion president Amos Page pointed out that every dollar brought in by the bulb sale Sept. 27 would be applied on the scoreboard.

Miss Edwina Laycock and Jack Hupp Are Married Friday in Canyon Ceremony

Joseph A. Hill Memorial Chapel on the campus of West Texas State College in Canyon was the scene Friday night for the marriage of Edwina Laycock of Amarillo, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ed Laycock of Claude, to Jack Hupp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Hupp of Kellerville.

DRAMATIC WOOL PLAID... in glowing stained-glass colors is used for this smart fly-front skirt. Companion union sweater has tailored collar and tab front of matching plaid. Created by San Francisco Designer Stephanie Korat.

The Rev. Ford A. Ellis, pastor of the North Amarillo Christian Church, read the double-ring service. The altar was decorated with an archery of jade and small white chrysanthemums. Candelabra entwined with jade and white mums flanked the arch and the altar was banked with jade. Family pews were marked with lamps tied with clusters of chrysanthemums, jade and white ribbon.

Miss Iraene Potts of Amarillo sang "Because" and "Whither Thou Goest." A prelude of nuptial selections was played by Mrs. Glenn Wilkins of Claude, and the traditional marches were used. Mr. Wilkins sang "The Lord's Prayer" as a benediction.

As maid-of-honor, Miss Billie Peters of Amarillo, wore a dark green, waltz length dress of iridescent taffeta, fashioned with a boat neckline and short sleeves. The cummerbund extended into a sash at the back of the bouffant skirt. Her picture hat was of matching green, and she carried a bird cage basket trimmed with contrasting green and gold ribbon, light green grapes, ivy, and autumn shades of pompon chrysanthemums.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. John Reynolds of Borger, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Nancy Adcock of Canyon. Their dresses, styled identical to that of the honor attendant, were in gold and and bronze iridescent taffeta, respectively. They carried bird cage baskets decorated with autumn shades of pompoms, tansman and gold ribbon, ivy and shaded bronze grapes.

John Reynolds of Borger was his brother-in-law's best man. Groomsmen were Jim Hartman of Wellington and Fred Clifford of Clarendon.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Val Laycock of Ordway, Colo., the bride was attired in a princess, waltz length gown of rose point lace and net over satin, designed with a sabrina neckline and long petal pointed sleeves. The bouffant skirt featured points of lace and a full net overskirt. Her fingertip length veil of illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls and iridescent sequins, and her jewelry included her mother's engagement ring. She carried a cascade of small white chrysanthemums, grapes of beaded amber, ivy, and a white orchid.

Mrs. Val Laycock, aunt of the bride, wore a beige suit with brown accessories. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Hupp, wore a brown dress with gold and brown accessories. Both had corsages of white feathered chrysanthemums, miniature grapes, and autumn foliage.

Following the ceremony, the bridal party was feted at a reception in Cousins Hall. Covered with an ivory cutwork cloth, the serving table was centered with a bouquet of pompon chrysanthemums, ivy, and grapes. Assisting in receiving the guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Rutherford of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wood of Claude, guardians of the bride.

The house party included Misses Gayle Miller, Gayle Dygart, Pat Hyatt and Peggy Keniston of Amarillo, Sue King of Spur, and Mrs. Max Kennedy of Amarillo.

After a wedding trip to South

Texas, the couple will be at home at 4102 Bowie, Amarillo. For traveling, the bride chose a brown winter cotton sheat dress with brown and winter white accessories, and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Hupp was graduated from Claude High School and attended West Texas State College, where she was a member of Delta Zeta Chi sorority. She is employed by Shell Oil Co. The bridegroom, a graduate of McLean High School, attended Panhandle A&M College at Woodward, Okla. He is a senior student at WTSC and is a member of Tri Tau fraternity.

Behind the year's biggest sales success

The year's biggest engineering success

The '57 Ford was redesigned from the ground up . . . with a completely redesigned frame—new suspensions, front and rear—and a new built-for-keeps body. And at the heart of this new "Inner Ford," you can have the Thunderbird's own V-8 engine!

Long, lean and lovely! Not only does the '57 Ford look like a fine car . . . it looks the part, too—with over 17 feet of big-car beauty in all Fairlane models.

With a low, low price that's an old Ford custom! It's a new kind of Ford . . . for the old kind of money. Model for model, Ford's actually the lowest priced car of the low-price three.* Any wonder the '57 Ford outsells 'em all?

Editorial

GETTING RID OF GUESSWORK

The September issue of Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine, carries a lengthy and enthusiastic article entitled "Buying Stock on the Installment Plan." Under a system which came into being a few years ago, anyone can buy stock in this fashion by investing as little as $15 a month. It should be added that the term "installment plan" may be misleading to some. In the case of stock, the investor does not lose his equity if for any reason he stops his payments. He get whatever amount of stock he has paid for.

Changing Times takes a hypothetical case where an investor started putting $25 a month into a leading automobile stock 25 years ago. If he had kept that up, and had reinvested his dividends, his shares would now be worth something like $100,000. Past history is not necessarily a pattern for the future, and not all stock would show so favorable a result. But the example is a striking illustration of what systematic saving and investment in good stocks can produce.

Aside from that, Changing Times points out that this method of investment offers a number of very important advantages to the investor. One is that "it takes the guesswork out of timing"—the investment is made at fixed, regular intervals, whether the market is up or down. Another is that it obtains stocks at a reasonable price "because the fixed sum automatically buys more shares at low prices and fewer at high prices." A third is that it can be highly profitable if good stock of leading concerns in growing fields are chosen.

The established brokerage houses encourage installment investments. The welcome mat is out to the small investor no less than the large. And it is good to report that many Americans of moderate means are taking advantage of the opportunity.

RETAILERS AND INFLATION

People may get the idea that retailers are not deeply concerned with price inflation—on the theory that all any retailer has to do when costs go up is to add some more pennies or dollars to his price tags and let the consumer like it or lump it.

That idea is 100% wrong. As Editor Godfrey M. Leihar of Chain Store Age writes, "No factor which retailers consider in planning for the future can be made important than the purchasing power of the dollar. It affects not only their own capital expenditures but more importantly it affects their sales prospects." As an example of the last, he cites the many consumers who live on fixed incomes or whose buying power fails for some reason to keep pace with rising prices. When prices go up, these people are forced to curtail their purchasing.

There is another big factor here, too. Human nature being what it is, we often tend to blame the retailer for price increases. He is the man we deal with when we do our shopping, and he becomes the scapegoat when we are displeased. It will be remembered that, just after the war when inflation set in hard, consumer groups actually picketed stores on the grounds that retailers were responsible.

"Can you imagine anybody crazy enough to get up this early in the morning to go fishing?"

The truth is that retailers themselves can do little about inflation. Current studies—including one from the Labor Department—intimate or indicate that excessive wage increases have been mainly at fault, and retailers have no control over those. But retailers—like all the rest of us—are deeply concerned, and would like nothing better than price stability.

PANHANDLE GAME CONDITIONS GOOD FOR HUNT

Hunting conditions in the Texas Panhandle are good, according to the director of wildlife restoration, who spent most of last week surveying the area.

"There are lots of weeds, which provide game birds feed and cover. The quail crop is excellent in some locations, and there is a fine second crop of young turkeys," he said. Milo is turning brown right now and harvesting it will add to the feed supply.

He said apparently the doves already have started moving out. Ducks are coming in, however, and he saw several flights of blue-wings and pintails. With other biologists, they surveyed conditions in the valley of the Canadian and Washita rivers.

"Marsh elder and western ragweed are seeding," he said. Both are staple winter food items for the quail of the Panhandle. "I'll be hard on the dogs because these weeds are waist high. However, bird hunters will probably find good shooting in some areas."

He said turkey was plentiful, "about frying size." Deer and antelope both were found to be in excellent condition.

More evidence of red legs also was disclosed. One rancher reported seeing a hatch of this exotic bird transplanted into the Texas Panhandle. They are on game restoration areas and are protected from hunting under the law.

Cuckoos place their eggs in the nests of other birds, first throwing out the contents belonging to the rightful owner.

For Happier Homework Hours

Many an hour of homework would be more successful if more "pep" were supplied in the form of appealing food. Often, as the old saying goes, "the spirit is willing," but when youthful heads are nodding with sleepiness, it takes more than scolding to achieve results! So—try surprising your youngsters with these delicious Coconut Flakes Cookies and a tall glass of milk—and then watch for improved performance and a report card of "A's"!

COCONUT FLAKES COOKIES

1 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter or other shortening
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 egg
1 can (3 1/2 oz.) Baker's Angel Flake Coconut
2 cups corn flakes
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, soda, and salt, and sift again. Cream shortening, add sugars gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Add flour, coconut, cereal, and vanilla. Beat until well blended. Shape into small balls and place on ungreased baking sheet. Press down with fork. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 15 minutes, or until done. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

Note: If desired, 1/2 cup finely cut gumdrops may be added with the coconut.

IT'S THE LAW In Texas

School Segregation

With schools opening for the fall semester, the matter of segregation is back in the headlines in Texas and elsewhere, and some school boards may now be pondering upon a law passed by the 55th Texas Legislature.

By now everyone knows that the Supreme Court of the United States has decreed that segregation of public school pupils by race is unconstitutional. Since the court's decision, however, the Legislature passed House Bill 65. The constitutionality of this law has not as yet been tested.

In effect, the bill calls for local option elections to determine whether dual school systems shall be continued or abolished. It prohibits any board of trustees or any school authority from abolishing its dual school system (desegregating or integrating) prior to an election on the question. A prerequisite to such an election is a petition filed by at least 20% of the qualified electors residing in the school district.

The election is to be conducted in a manner similar to elections for school trustees. It can be called on the same date as a school trustee election if the petition was filed within 90 days of the trustee election. Otherwise the election must be called within 60 days after the petition has been filed. Subsequent elections upon the same questions cannot be called within two years of any prior election.

Under this law these schools which integrated during the 1956-57 term are permitted to continue integration unless this system of operation is abolished by an election held in the manner mentioned above. Another provision under a section of the law dealing with integrated schools is that a student shall be denied transfer from one school to another because of race or color.

The bill provides that if a school district should desegregate without first being authorized to do so by an election of the qualified electors residing therein, then the district becomes ineligible for accreditation and ineligible to receive any foundation program funds. In other words, it loses state school support funds.

The same penalty is placed upon a school district, already integrated, which fails to desegregate its schools after an election calling for such action.

A fine of not less than $100 or more than $1,000 is provided for any person guilty of violating any of the provisions of this dual school system law.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Senator Yarborough's WASHINGTON REPORT:

Dear Fellow Texans:

This is one of my happiest moments since I became a United States Senator. I am happy to inform the farmers of our great state—farmers who have been alternately cuffed and belted by a seven-year drought and 70 days of flooding rains and five years of Ezra Taft Benson—that they at last have access to at least some relief from the disasters of drought and flood. The disaster of Ezra Taft Benson will be over after the next election, I hope.

While in Washington I was able to secure an appropriation of $20 million to help rehabilitate the land that was blown away in the drought or washed away in the flood.

There has been some delay in the local county agents finding out the details about this great program. This matter is now being cleared up, and it is my happy duty to tell you farmers who have had your land damaged by soil erosion or by floods to contact your local county agent about this program.

This $20 million appropriation for rebuilding the soil lasts only until June 30, 1958. So apply now for your land damage grant. If your application is not received soon your proper share of this appropriation will be lost.

I urge you to see your county agent now and discuss your eligibility for this grant.

As I pointed out in the Congress the seven-year drought and the days of flooding rains caused the United States Department of Agriculture to classify 244 of Texas' 254 counties as disaster counties. More than five million acres of land have been classed as permanently damaged, due to the wind blowing the top soil away or the floods washing it away.

I am grateful to the members of the Senate and House for their wonderful cooperation in voting such a substantial portion of the funds asked.

In the next session of Congress in January I plan to seek more such funds for disaster victims.

I want you to know that I will be working day and night to help the distressed farmer, the small businessman, the working man, the teachers and all the people of Texas.

With all of us pulling together, we will win a great victory for Texas.

Tax-Man Sam Sez:

A lot of Texas widows pay the wrong income on the sale of community property after their husband's death. In a community property state like Texas, the value of the property changes to whatever the fair market value is on the death of either the husband or wife. If you are a widow or widower and you paid $1,000 for some land quite a few years ago and it is worth $200,000 on the date of death of your husband or wife, it could save you the tax on $99,000 to look into the law on this.

Deadline Is Near for Farmers to Apply For Gas Tax Refund

College Station, Sept. 18—Farmers and ranchmen are reminded by C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist, that Sept. 30 is the deadline for submitting applications for a refund of the federal tax on gasoline used for farming purposes since July 1, 1956.

Farm operators who have not filed a claim may obtain Form 2240—the reporting form—from local county agricultural agents or Internal Revenue Service offices.

Bates pointed out that claims will be checked for accuracy and claimants, therefore, should be certain that figures are correct. Sufficient records should also be kept to verify the claim, he added. Claims should be submitted to the same district internal revenue office to which income tax returns are sent. The legislation which makes possible the refund was passed by Congress in the spring of 1956.
