By BILL PERKINS

The new Lovett Memorial Library building here has been completed and those in charge of the construction have turned it over to the city.

Plans for a formal opening have not been completed because the furniture for the library has not arrived here yet.

It is the most attractive building in McLean and the nicest looking library we have seen anywhere.

McLean Lions conducted their broom and mop sale on behalf of the Blind Shops and Lighthouses in Texas Tuesday. Once again the generous people of McLean came through in grand style and not only helped the blind people who manufactured the articles that were sold but helped the club raise money for its Christmas activity fund. The articles sold are useful and serviceable and everyone concerned can be proud of having a part in the project.

Keeping up with the Joneses isn't nearly as dangerous as trying to pass them on a hill.

Alc Bob Howard has returned to England after being in the States for six weeks. Bob spent two weeks in McLean visiting his parents and other relatives. He also participated in a special weapons meet in Las Vegas, Nev., where his wing detachment won first place. The 24 members of his wing detachment had previously won first place in a special weapons meet in Tripoli, Africa, placing them first among the Air Forces stationed in Europe. Winning in Las Vegas made them the winning team of the United States Air Force stationed throughout the world.

Time to Get Rid of Barn Rats Now, County Agent Says

Now is the time to get rid of any barn rats you might have around the place, says County Agent Ralph Thomas. A county-wide rat control campaign is in progress, Thomas says, and he urges everyone to cooperate in eradicating these pests.

During the campaign Pival rat bait will be available at the Price Barber Shop in McLean, or it may be purchased from the secretary at the county agent's office in Pampa. The bait has been prepared by the rodent control service of the USDA, and may be purchased at actual cost of materials and handling.

"The rat population on Gray County farms has been substantially reduced by previous rat control campaigns," Thomas said, "but unless control measures are continued, the pests will increase in numbers very rapidly." A total of 2,800 pounds of Warfarin and Pival bait has been used in previous campaigns, which indicates how heavy the infestation has been.

"Rats not only destroy or damage great quantities of feed, as well as damage to buildings, and undermine foundations and floors, but they are a menace to human health," Thomas concluded.

Definition of Eligibility Explained FOR EMERGENCY FEED

TIGERS LOSE TO WILDCATS 27-8 FRIDAY

The Canadian Wildcats defeated the McLean Tigers last Friday night at Canadian by a score of 27-8. Few persons from Canadian and even fewer from McLean braved the cool weather to witness the encounter.

During the chilly game, in which Canadian was assessed a total of 155 yards in penalties, the Wildcats still came through, scoring in all but the third quarter.

The Tigers made their showing in the second and fourth quarters. In the second quarter McLean recovered a kick in the end zone for a safety.

McLean's other score came in the final quarter when Fred Smith went over from the one-yard line. The try for extra point failed.

Canadian's band and football queens were crowned during the halftime intermission. A big band show was staged by both the Tiger and the Wildcat bands.

Prior to the game, members of the Canadian high school band were hosts to the McLean band members at a party at the high school, where hot chocolate and sandwiches were served.

NEW BOSS

Mr. and Mrs. Penito Hernandez of Robstown are the parents of a daughter, Anna Mario, born Saturday at the Suderman Clinic in McLean. She weighed 8 pounds.

There is no failure except by ceasing to try.—Gore.

During the four months period through October 31, 1956, Texas farmers and ranchers eligible under the emergency feed grain and roughage programs, received assistance in the purchase of 1,443,867,646 pounds of grain and 1,374,170 tons of roughage. Walter T. McKay, Farmers Home Administration state director at Dallas, announced this week 91,787 applications for grain assistance and 37,405 applications under the roughage program were processed during this period.

The emergency feed grain and roughage programs are meant to help established farmers and ranchers, who are primarily engaged in farming and ranching, to maintain their basic herds of cattle, sheep and goats, if their circumstances are such that this assistance is needed, McKay advised. The local FHA committees have the responsibility to determine the eligibility of individual applicants and to approve the amount of feed each applicant may purchase under the program.

Two hundred thirty-three counties in Texas are designated under the emergency feed grain and roughage programs. In these counties, eligible applicants are helped in buying corn, oats, barley and grain sorghums, or approved feed mixtures containing either 60 or 75% of these grains through a government subsidy of $1.50 per hundred weight. The federal government bears the full amount of this subsidy. In addition to the emergency feed grain assistance, eligible applicants are helped to buy hay or other approved roughage to maintain their basic herds. Under this program applicants receive a federal subsidy of $7.50 per ton of roughage actually bought.

Regulations that guide FHA county committees in the review of applications provide that applicants will not be certified if they are financially able to obtain the necessary feed for their basic herds without difficulty and can continue their normal farming and livestock operations. It is not expected that applicants will exhaust their total resources, including credit, before they can be certified for this assistance, McKay advised.

"However," he added, "the fact that the purchase of feed at regular prices may not be profitable to the applicant is not sufficient to qualify him for assistance. It must be determined in every instance that an applicant is primarily engaged in farming or ranching and that this is his main source of income. A nominal portion of his income from other sources would not necessarily disqualify the applicant. The overriding factor in determining the eligibility of any applicant is his financial ability to obtain the feed necessary to maintain his basic herds and continue his normal operations. An applicant whose financial circumstances are such that he can provide necessary feed for his basic herds and can carry on his operations without serious difficulty is not eligible for this assistance."

Under the present designation, applications may be filed thru December 3, 1956, for a supply of feed grain and roughage to carry basic livestock herds through December 31, 1956.

'Hot Blood' Coming To Avalon Theatre

Rory Calhoun, who co-stars with Yvonne DeCarlo in "Raw Edge," the Universal-International picture in Technicolor, scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday at the Avalon Theatre, has profound admiration for her fighting technique.

He has been mauled, scratched and bitten by an assortment of females during his action-packed film career, and he declares unhesitatingly that Yvonne's the greatest at simulated mayhem.

In "Raw Edge" there's a battle during which Yvonne is depleted as biting his arm, clawing his face, kicking his shins, and finally breaking a chair over his head.

"She's so good," Rory declared, "that I came out of this without a scratch. It's the first time I didn't have to go for the mercury-chrome after being mauled by a glamour girl."

Landy Canady, official barber at America's first Boys Ranch, puts the finishing touches to his buddy, Joe Lee Thompson. Lanny is learning the barber trade as part of the vocation program at the ranch.

Young Boys Ranch Barber Gives OIL CHANGE OR HAIRCUT

Young barber at America's first Boys Ranch gives his 225 buddies their haircuts, but when they come in "oiled down" he wonders if they want their oil changed or a haircut.

Fifteen year old Lanny Canady has been cutting hair for about five months now and also has spent some time in the summers at the barber college in Amarillo learning this trade.

He plans to finish the course necessary to becoming a barber even though he wants to attend college. "With my barber work," he says, "I can help myself thru college."

Lanny cuts about 100 heads of hair a week at the ranch and he hasn't had a dissatisfied customer yet. He finds the hardest to cut is the "flat-top" and thinks he needs to know more about it.

He has his own combs, brushes and clippers, but so far he doesn't have any barber uniforms. Lanny hopes to be able to get some soon because he feels then that he will seem more like a barber. The barber shop is something new at the ranch this year. Located in the school building, it is part of the ranch's vocational program. Regular classes take up Lan-ny's mornings and then he opens the shop in the afternoons and on Saturday. There are always several boys waiting in line and Lanny keeps track of the number of haircuts each week and receives 10¢ for each one. Every boy at the ranch receives a salary for his job and keeps it in his own bank account at the ranch.

Lanny does a fine job of seeing that every boy is sleeked up and has a haircut.

Political Suspense
General election results, nationally have added new suspense to the already tense issue of who will succeed Texas Governor-elect Price Daniel as U. S. senator.

At stake is whether Democrats or Republicans will control the U. S. senate when Congress convenes on January 3.

Democrats now have a precarious 49 to 47-member advantage. But it would be 48 to 48 if a Republican replaced Democratic Senator Daniel.

GOP Vice President Richard Nixon can vote in case of a tie. Therefore, this one vote, which Texas could bestow upon him . . . in a round-about way . . . could determine the balance of power. Most important of all, it could decide which party could organize the senate and appoint the all-important committee chairman.

This possibility puts Governor Allan Shivers in the national spotlight again. And Senator Daniel.

Texas' conflicting election laws have clouded the issue as to whether Governor Shivers legally can call a special election before January 15. That's when Daniel takes office as governor. This because Daniel's letter of resignation from the senate specifies January 15 as the effective date of his resignation.

Shivers contends that inasmuch as Daniel did not resign, effective immediately, there is no vacancy until January 15. Daniel argues that Shivers has the power to call an election. Both point to different provisions of the poorly-drawn election code.

Unless Congress is in session, a governor cannot make an appointment to fill a vacancy. Therefore should Daniel resign effective today, Shivers could not name a successor until January 3, opening day of the new Congress.

Shivers feels that Daniel should resign outright, thus paving the way for an immediate election. The governor is required to call an election within 90 days from the effective date of the resignation, and not before 30 days have elapsed. This means that the governor could call an election in December—or he could designate a January or February date.

Whatever course Daniel pursues, Shivers undoubtedly will have a chance to appoint a temporary replacement. First, because Shivers is not likely to call for a December election. Second, if Daniel submits a new resignation before January 3, effective immediately, Shivers automatically can name a successor on January 3. And third, if Daniel sticks to the January 15 date, Shivers will have from 12:01 a. m. on the 15th until Daniel is inaugurated at noon, to name a successor.

Drought Authority Given
Governor Shivers has been authorized to designate Texas farmers eligible for reduced railroad rates.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson asked the governors of 7 drought-stricken states to indicate persons qualifying for this aid.

Railroads have offered free return transportation for cattle shipped from dry areas to western grazing areas. Designated persons also can receive a 50% reduction in rates on hay shipped from western states to drought regions.

Farm Income Up
Improved methods have kept Texas' overall farm income up, despite drought setbacks.

Cash income for January thru September totaled $1,108,000,000, an increase of $13,000,000 from last year, reports the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Average for the dry years of 1951-55 was 6% above 1947-49.

Irrigation, conservation and improved crop varieties are credited for the increase. Some areas, the bureau noted, have not had a major crop in five years. Offsetting these are such areas as the Panhandle-South Plains region where "spectacular results" have been achieved with irrigation.

Shivers Buys Home
When Governor Shivers becomes Mr. Shivers next January, his family will move from one historic Austin mansion to another. He has purchased Woodlawn, 103-year-old residence bought by Governor Elisha M. Pease when he retired from office. Seller was R. Niles Graham, grandson of Governor Pease.

Known locally as the "Pease Mansion," the 17-room antebellum home still contains century-old furnishings. Its new owners plan only such remodeling necessary to accommodate their family.

Construction Spiraling
An all-time record for 1956 with a health boom carrying over into '57 is foreseen for the Texas construction industry.

Awards through October totaled $1,049,179,948. This was only slightly less than the total for the whole 12 months of 1953, the highest previous year.

October awards of more than $84,000,000 did not include a Texas Highway Department contract letting. This means that the November figure, with two months of road contracts, likely will be large.

Bond Election Upheld
The State Supreme Court has upheld and clarified a new law for unlimited issuance of bonds by school districts.

Validity of some $75,000,000 in school bonds was affected by a test case from Hamilton County. Voting in bond elections is limited by the constitution to property-taxpayers. An act for school bond elections passed by the last legislature further restricted voting to those who had rendered property on the county tax roll.

High court ruling removed this restriction but upheld constitutionality of the rest of the law.

THOSE VICIOUS AUTOMOBILES

Judging by news reports of automobile accidents, modern cars with their multi-hundred horsepower engines and super-sonic speeds react in strange ways to the temperaments of their drivers.

What ails the modern automobile? Why has it taken on these homicidal tendencies? Are automobiles irritated because their drivers hold them back on curves?

Owners must be protected from the irresponsible actions of their cars or it will soon be suicide to drive one of them.

FOR $210 a YEAR

How much does medical care cost the average American family? That question, asked at random, would provoke a wide gamut of answers.

The Health Information Foundation of New York City has looked into the matter. It found that the average family medical bill runs to about $210 a year.

The average family, as we all know, spends substantially larger sums for luxuries and entertainment and in other ways that are fun, but not essential.

Complaints about medical care costs are easy enough to understand—they are inevitable, human nature being what it is.

Road Bond Election On the 25th of this month the voters of two precincts in Gray County will have for approval the issuing of $40,000 of bonds for road construction.

So far as we are able to ascertain, there is no "nigger in the woodpile" and no grafter promoting the proposition for the purpose of enriching himself.

This being true, we are for it. There are probably men who have financial interests are hundreds of times greater than The News and who would have many times more taxes to pay than we, but so far as our ability as we are perfectly willing to pay taxes that will promote the public good.

The opposition to this road and the manner of securing it are promoted by various causes. One man already has as much good roads as he needs for his personal use and consequently does not care to help his neighbor to the extent contemplated in the bond issue.

SELF-SUFFICIENCY

We have all heard the question many times, "How self-sufficient is the United States?" My experience has been that no matter what individual or group you ask this question, you are likely to come up with a different answer.

The recent eruptions in the Near East should cause us to understand, without any difficulty, that the time may come in the near future when we must be self-sufficient whether we like it or not.

800 Births Daily Reported in Texas

Over 800 births a day in Texas were recorded by the division of vital statistics of the Texas State Department of Health during the last biennium, September 1, 1954, to August 31, 1956, an advance look at the department's biennial report shows.

During the same period, 134,045 deaths were recorded. This compares with a total of 624,408 births. Four births for each death coupled with the influx of new comers making their homes in Texas has shot the Texas population well over the 8 1/2 million mark.

The division of vital statistics is just one of 22 divisions, under the State Department of Health, charged with the severe responsibility of watching over the health and sanitary level of the citizens and locales of Texas. The report shows that watching over the health of Texas is not enough. The health department incorporates inspection, research, active aid, and education in its program of bettering the health standards of Texas and Texans.

SPEAKING CARDS

WORKS OF ART

Until the invention of printing, playing cards were almost exclusively the property of the rich and noble born, who would commission leading artists to prepare decks especially for them and their families.

The work in some of these old decks was of surpassing artistry and skill, comparing favorably with other examples of Renaissance art.

In the Morgan Library on Madison Avenue in New York City are thirty-five such cards, painted in Italy in the Fifteenth Century for Galeazzo Maria Sforza, member of the great family of that name and Duke of Milan from 1444 to 1475. To see these gold-encrusted pasteboards is to appreciate the beauty and fabulous worth of playing cards in those times.

A hundred years or more before these cards were painted, Spanish and Italian monks were experimenting with a new "labor saving" device that was to lead eventually to the invention of printing. This device was a wooden block cut so expertly that it could be pressed against a piece of manuscript paper to leave the outline of an initial letter, thus saving hours of freehand drawing.

After this engraved initial letter was developed, the next step in the history of printing was the use of wooden blocks to print playing cards. Later similar blocks were used for printing fabrics, religious pictures, and entire words, until finally in 1440, Gutenberg of Mainz, Germany, introduced movable type for the first time.

Since the time of Gutenberg, the history of printing has in many respects paralleled the history of playing cards. As card games became popular, so did the demand increase for fine quality, low cost cards, a demand that found a response in many improvements in the printing art. As a result today's playing cards are without question among the finest examples of printing and paper-making of their kind and at their cost in the world.
