Citizens Meeting Called

Council Calls Meeting to Discuss Community-Factory Relations

A community-wide meeting was called Monday night at a special city council session here. The meeting, set for 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the high school auditorium, will be held to discuss matters connected with the Marie Foundations plant located here. Everyone is invited and urged to attend, the council stressed Monday.

Since the plant provides a considerable boost to the entire economy of the area, the council felt that all citizens—whether or not directly connected with the factory—should attend to pledge their support to the foundation. One of the problems to be discussed will undoubtedly be the labor problem. As the factory has progressed, more employees have been needed, and a minor shortage has developed.

Action to remedy this shortage was taken by the council Monday night, when they appointed Councilman Amos Page and Mayor John Haynes to check the cost of securing another bus to transport personnel here from other areas.

Their report will be given Tuesday night before the citizens' meeting.

The council also appointed a merchants' committee to promote the Tuesday meeting. This group met Tuesday and discussed the problems connected and possible course of action.

Members of the committee are Hickman Brown, Creed Lamb, Charles Cullin, W. C. Simpson, Dick Dickinson and Jewel Meacham.

The council pointed out that any ladies in the McLean, Alameda, Kellerville or surrounding areas are urged to put in their applications at the factory if they are desirous of employment.

The merchants' committee, in their meeting stressed the fact that the factory is of vital importance to every member of this community—even though some may not have any direct connection with the plant.

The payroll last year was in excess of $300,000 and when this much money is put into local circulation it means $1,200,000, the committee said. By way of explanation, the committee pointed out that national figures show that each dollar kept in circulation in a town is worth four dollars, since it changes hands four times on an average before going out of circulation.

They also said that more than 150 women were employed and that a great percentage are from this immediate area.

Marie Foundations has operated a branch office here for about three years now.

"In view of the big boost given our economy, we feel it is every citizen's duty and obligation to attend the public meeting Tuesday night," the committee said. "Problems will be aired that are of vital interest to everyone here."

Mrs. Hester 'Improved' Following Car Wreck

Mrs. Erma Hester was reported "considerably improved" in Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo after suffering a brain concussion and other injuries in an automobile accident last Thursday.

Mrs. Hester, McLean librarian, was in a two-car crash near the "10-mile station" on the McLean-Pampa highway Thursday afternoon. The 1957 northbound Buick driven by Mrs. Hester collided with a southbound 1950 model Dodge pickup driven by O. L. Sims, owner of the Trail Inn Motel in McLean.

According to investigating officers, the Sims pickup topped a hill several hundred yards south of the curve at the 10-mile station and was on the wrong side of the road. In attempting to avoid a collision, Mrs. Hester swerved to the left, but sideswiped the pickup—the right side of the Buick crashing into the right side of the pickup.

After the impact, the Buick rolled over two or three times. The pickup remained upright, however, and Sims was not injured.

Jimmy Hester, 9-year-old son of Mrs. Hester, was riding with her, but was not injured.

The accident occurred near the Neville Back house on the Pampa-McLean highway.

Mrs. Hester was brought to McLean by a Richardson-Lamb ambulance and treated by Dr. Fabian. Later, however, she was transferred to the Amarillo hospital for further treatment and observation.

Pampa Rodeo Slated for August 3-8

Jake Osborie, president of the Top o' Texas Rodeo Association, announced this week that final details of the big Top o' Texas rodeo, scheduled in Pampa for August 3-8 are near completion. Performances will be held nightly August 4-8. All cowboys and cowgirls are reminded that this year's show will include five rodeo performances rather than four as in the past. Entries will close at 10 a. m. on Tuesday, August 4.

Events will include calf roping, double muggin, bulldogging, saddle bronc riding, bareback riding, and bull riding. The purse of some $5000 will be supplemented by one-half of all entry fees, with handsome silver buckle trophies going to the winner of each event.

The colorful cowgirl sponsor contest will use the standard clover leaf pattern for both grounds, with a beautiful handmade western saddle going to the cowgirl with the best average time in two rides.

Much interest is being shown in the American quarter horse show, scheduled for August 6 and 7 with Wiley Reynolds and Buddy Price directing activities.

The open cutting horse contest, under the direction of Guy Andis, is always a very popular contest of the Pampa show.

Special attractions are being booked to add to the entertainment of the regular rodeo events, including the Johnson and Owen Comedy Bar Act of Chicago. Other special features will include the 4-H and FFA calf scramble a giant downtown street parade on Tuesday, August 4, at 3 p. m., dancing nightly to the music of the Miller Bros. band, the kid pony show on August 3, both afternoon and night, and the observance of Western Week in downtown Pampa during show week.

On Monday, July 27, rodeo headquarters will open in the Pampa Hotel, handling all entries and advance sale of tickets.

Wolfe Resigns As McLean English Teacher

Keith Wolfe, English teacher in the McLean school system for the past year, resigned recently. No announcement has been made yet as to where Wolfe will continue his teaching in September.

Most outstanding accomplishment of the former teacher was his direction of the state championship one-act play last year. Using three students, Wolfe directed Tennessee Williams' "Glass Menagerie" which not only took the state title but placed its members on all-star casts in district, regional and state competition. Members were Peggy Sharp, Elizabeth Boston and Keith Goodman.

Prior to teaching in McLean, Wolfe taught speech and English in Lefors for three years.

He is a graduate of West Texas State College in Canyon.

Area Observations

EDGAR HAYS in the LOCKNEY BEACON: Each week we receive news letters from U. S. Senator Ralph Yarborough, along with letters from other office holders and government agencies. One thing we have noted about Senator Yarborough's letters and that is his consistent desire to give away government money. The Senator seems to feel that it is his duty to provide money from the federal treasury for every need that arises in the state. This week he wants to set up a fund of 450 million dollars to be loaned to colleges for building purposes. Last week it was some other cause. We suppose Senator Yarborough has sponsored more appropriation bills in the Senate than any other Senator. At least that is the impression we get from his weekly letters. Generously giving away or even loaning government money for every cause under the sun may be good politics but it has passed the place where it is good sense in our estimation. We wish we had more Senators and Representatives who would work as hard at saving money as Mr. Yarborough does at giving it away.

CECIL WAGGONER in the CLAUDE NEWS: Have you noticed there are no longer any bad Njuns, Negroes, Mexicans, Japs, Chinamen and related cline on TV, radio or in the movies. They are all lily white.

Who are the bad guys? The white man, of course. The idea is continually being presented that the US soldier and the white man is a scourge of the earth.

This whole business is fast becoming absurd and ridiculous. Perhaps the white man should start a loud wall against any programing that portrays a white person in a bad light. Since we are becoming ridiculous, we may as well go all the way.

Recent reports indicate the following have taken place:

Southern editors are being prompted by the bait of national awards and the monetary lure of national magazines to give untrue picture of their sections. For three years straight, a Southern "moderate" editor has won the Pulitzer Prize. Quite unusual?

Negroes are being placed in the casts of motion pictures, even where there was no Negro in the original play or novel. And thanks to pressure from the NAACP, Anti-Defamation League and other professional minority pressure groups, Negroes can no longer be portrayed as servants, comics, menials, or as Uncle Tom characters. They must be placed in roles which are dignified, and otherwise designed to brainwash the Northern viewers into believing that the Negro is equal to—if not superior to the white man.

The NAACP exerted enough pressure to keep the film, "Birth of a Nation," from being released to television because it "distorts the role of the Negro in reconstruction" and makes "a hero of the Ku Klux Klan."

The NAACP and the Negro newspaper "Amsterdam News" secured an apology from New York television station WNEW-TV for airing a film, "Unusual Occupations," which showed Negroes picking cotton.

Perhaps the "cream of the crop" in Northern bigotry is the CBS network who, without any pressure from anybody, would not allow singer Nelson Eddy to sing "Shortnin' Bread."

MAX WADE in the GROOM NEWS: Bill the Barber says the honeymoon is really over when He phones that he will be late for dinner and She has already left a note that it's in the refrigerator.

DOUGLAS MEADOR in the MATADOR TRIBUNE: I keep worrying about the method chewing tobacco manufacturers will use if they ever decide to glorify their product on television.

PAUL LOFTIN in the PANHANDLE HERALD: Don't worry because you are getting older. When you stop getting older, you're dead.

Clock Collector De Luxe

200 Signs Of The Time

By BILL NEAL
KELLERVILLE—The other day a stranger passing through here poked his head out the window and asked Joe Bruton what time it was.

Joe glanced at one of his almost 200 clocks and gave him a pretty fair estimate. Undoubtedly the stranger didn't realize he had just consulted the best qualified "time giver" in the Golden Spread.

At least Joe claims the largest clock collection in the area. He estimates it's worth close to $10,000.

Of course, Joe conceded that clock collectors are about as plentiful as hen's teeth here in the Panhandle. "The West Texas settlers just grabbed their woman and shootin' iron and lit out," he says.

Most of his clocks, therefore, have come from the North and East. But he has them from everywhere. (He just returned from a Wisconsin trip where he picked up 17 more.)

The 67-year-old pumper for the Texas Co. here in Kellerville (a three-store village hidden 15 miles northeast of McLean in the rolling sandhills) looks like anything else but a clock collector—whatever clock collectors are supposed to look like.

Dressed in old khakis and a straw hat, Joe will stroll over and begin telling you about his latest clock in a neighborly West Texas drawl. Out in the shady yard he's got a lawn sprinkler cooling a watermelon.

Every clock, he'll tell you, has a story behind it. For instance there's the old Atkins & Downs clock—valued at $600—which is completely made of wood except a brass "escapement" wheel. It was manufactured in America in 1832, one of the only two years this kind of clock was made. At that time spring steel still had to be imported from England. Thus the all-wooden parts. Even the fine-toothed counter wheel is of wood.

It still runs perfectly, and Joe says there are only about 25 or 30 such clocks in existence. Then he has clocks that, above and beyond the regular duty of keeping time, perform all sorts of odd stunts. There's the hickory-dickory-dock clock in which the wooden mouse actually "runs up the clock," and when the "clock strikes 12 the mouse runs down." There's the calendar clock. It shows the year, month and day—even allowing for the difference in the length of months and for leap year.

But the real collector's item is the "illuminating" alarm clock. Mounted on top is an asto-zinding little device which looks like it's straight out of a Donald Duck cartoon. When the alarm goes off a series of wild, jerky movements are triggered.

First, a long steel spring with sandpaper on one side is released. This rubs vigorously against a match which is held by a small arm which in turn whirls the lighted match around, halting just above the wick of a miniature kerosene lamp.

"You know for sure that's an old one," says Joe. "That was when people got up before daylight."

Other interesting pieces include the old sun dial and some of the intricate woodwork on the cases. Joe made one case containing various kinds of wood from Brazil, British Guiana, America and Africa. Another unusual case is made of genuine "wormwood." The work eggs were laid inside the trees about 150 years ago and have only recently hatched. Consequently, the worms "eat out"—not "in" as most people believe.

The Kellerville man first became a professional clock watcher about five years ago when he inherited his father's old time-piece.

"In addition to being a good hobby, it's a good business," he says. "Just the reverse of the automobile business, my stock gets more valuable every day."

According to Joe, lots of people throw away valuable clocks because they think they are too old to keep good time or they can't find parts.

During the summer months, the Brutons have a number of tourists and fellow collectors who drop by to see the clocks. Recently a collector from Canada dropped in for a look.

And, indeed, a full day could easily be spent in inspecting the old clocks, the ornate woodwork, the gadgets and listening to the chimes.

"With all this chiming, and ticking and ding-donging going on around here—why, there's no excuse for me being late for work."

Come August 1 and Joe won't have to worry about being late to work. He's retiring. Joe and his wife (who, incidentally, does expert leather work) are opening up an antique clock museum nine miles east of Ardmore, Okla.

Folks here will hate to see the Brutons leave. After all, they say, there's nobody in the Panhandle better to pass the time of day with.

Mrs. E. W. Brock of Chillicothe is visiting in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Glin Davis. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brock and some of Odessa are also visiting in the Davis home. Week end guests in the Davis home were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tedder and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Tedder of Dinger.

BEST FUEL ECONOMY
Take it, not from us, but from official results of this year's Mobilgas Economy Run: Chevy's pennypinching 6 delivers the most miles per gallon in its field. For a pair of these Chevrolet sixes with Powerglide walked away with the first two places in their class, getting the best mpg figure—a whopping 22.38—of any full-size car. And here are more expert, impartial opinions and on-the-record facts backing us up on Chevy's other six bests:

BEST TRADE-IN
Check the figures in any N.A.D.A. Guide Book. Chevrolet used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two."

BEST STYLE
It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "Chevrolet establishes a new high in daring styling."

BEST BRAKES
In direct competitive tests of repeated stops from highway speeds, conducted by NASCAR, Chevrolet out-stopped both of the other leading low-priced cars—and why not? Chevy brakes are far larger, built with bonded linings, to help lengthen brake life by as much as 66%.

BEST ROOM
Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.I. make this clear. For example, Chevy front seat hip room is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars.

BEST ENGINE
Every motor magazine has given Chevrolet's standard and Corvette V-8's unstinted praise. As SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED puts it: "Indeed this device is surely the SEVEN COME ELEVEN—To illustrate his contention that the Federal debt management is "loaded," Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex.) uses box-size rigged dice during a speech on the House floor. He places the dice on a table and knocks them to the floor. They turn up 7 or 11 each time.

Congressman Rogers Reports— TO THE PEOPLE

WATER RIGHTS
The problem of water rights has long plagued mankind and apparently will continue to do so. The issue "Who has control over the water in this country, the federal government or the state governments?"

Attempts will be made to resolve this question during this session of Congress. It is another prime example of the federal government, by devious means and methods, undertaking to override state laws and to assume full control of the water in all of the states insofar as the federal government wants to use or employ it. In other words, the federal government takes the position that all of the citizens of this country as between each other and the states in which they live, are subject to the provision of state water laws. But the federal government is wholly and completely exempt from compliance with any state laws, rules or regulations governing the search for water, the production thereof, and the use to which it is to be put.

The problem has been developing over a period of several years, but it is only in recent years that the Supreme Court has gone afield in subjecting the water and water courses to a "dominant servitude" invested in the federal government. In 1940 the court held that the navigability of a stream for purposes of federal control does not depend solely upon natural and ordinary conditions of a river, such as volume of water, regularity of flow, etc., but the availability of the river for navigation if reasonable improvements are made, regardless of whether or not such improvements are constructed or utilized.

Although there were no federal lands in Texas originally, the federal government has acquired much property in recent years, and can acquire such additional amount as it desires simply by condemnation procedures. Hence, every state of the Union is a potential victim of possible complete servitude to the federal government. This information is gathered together for the purpose of showing the trends toward centralization of the government in all facets of the economy. Unless these trends can be successfully checked, it will be only a short time before state governments will be governments in name only and wholly without power. The peoples living in the less densely populated areas of this country will be subject to the rule and the control of the thickly populated metropolitan sections of this country. This will not meet with the approval of the people in the 18th Congressional District of Texas or any other group of independent thinking free Americans.

If a substantial part of a stream can be made navigable, by construction of improvements to make it navigable, it is to be considered navigable in the first instance and subject to the control of the federal government, even though no work is ever done thereon. In 1955 the court held that even though certain federal laws subject the waters on and under public lands of the federal government to state water laws, the United States government could simply withdraw the lands from the public land category, call them "reserve lands," and thereby be fully and completely exempt from any state laws concerning the waters or any rights acquired by individuals from the states.

It was later held in another case that a military installation of the federal government was not required to comply in any respect with the water laws in the state in which the installation was located.

There are many other cases that could be cited on this subject, but I hope that these will point up the great danger that lies in this trend. Since the scarcity of water in the western states places the people in those states in a position of complete dependence upon the ability to obtain water, the control of water is an all-powerful weapon. People of these states could be completely overwhelmed and dominated by the federal government. If such powers fall into the hands of unscrupulous public officials, and they easily could, it would take many, many years to recover from the damage which could be done.

ADJOURNMENT
Everyone seems to be making a guess about the adjournment of the Congress. Frankly, I feel that much would have been accomplished had we adjourned by July 15. This was not possible because of the controversy surrounding the "labor reform bill." It appears that this bill has now been agreed upon by the House committee and will be before the Congress within the next several days. This will be a hotly contested matter and may hold Congress up for as long as two additional weeks. Added to this is the time that will be required for a civil rights bill is debated. This could hold the Congress in session until September 15; however, most of the guessers think that we will be out by Labor Day, and I certainly hope so.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Reeves and daughter, Denese, of Canyon spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Reeves.

The Peripatetic View by CEC

Last week mention was made in this column of voters checking on the in-between acts of political representatives, and the progress being made in Austin.

After having been called somewhat hyper-critical by one person for such harassment of the legislators, I consulted this week's edition of the "House Journal," an official publication carrying a detailed report of the actual goings-on in the state capitol.

I now submit the following austere quote from the journal: "H. S. R. No. 77

"Whereas, This is a great day deep in East Texas because one of the finest gentlemen ever to land among the pine cones of this especially wonderful part of the State of Texas is celebrating his birthday today; and

"Whereas, Steve Burgess, that noble representative of District 6 and Nacogdoches, was born on just such a day July 9, many years ago; and

Whereas, Steve Burgess is especially trained for his job in the House of Representatives because he has long been an expert at corn on the cob; now, therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the House of Representatives congratulates Steve Burgess and wishes him many more birthdays full of hush puppies, taxes, and black-eyed peas."

The entire state senate took time to sign their names and on a momentous motion by Mr. Oliver, the names of all members of the House were added to the resolution as "signers thereof."

Now it's not that I object to boys having fun, as I'm quite an advocate of good clean glee myself, but these politicians are presently laboring through a special session, on the brink of still another special session. After utilizing the final minutes of the regular round to vote themselves a raise it seems not to be asking too much to expect them to save the birthday congratulations for extra curricular gatherings and during working hours sort of get at more serious business.

And these little journals are literally filled with such stupendous moves by the above mentioned august body of law makers.

So if others feel that our chosen few have been unjustly talked about, I would be happy to loan my most recent copy of the "Journal." It might even prove more amusing than "Esquire."

Mom's Cool, Too, With Small Fry in Cottons

BY EDNA MILES

Summertime is one time when Mom, like the rest of the family, would like to take it easy.

On vacation, she may have to stand over a stove, but she doesn't want to bend double over an ironing board, too.

The solution to a partially work-free summer and a clean set of children lies in all-cotton playclothes that wash and dry, just like that.

If the small fry must have their clothes changed three times a day, at least Mom needn't groan with each change.

Lightweight fabrics for the lollipop crowd include bright and pastel shades in soda poplin, checked gingham, broadcloth and seersucker, all sturdy enough to take hard wear and frequent washing.

There are coveralls with matching shirts for both boys and girls and butcherall sets for little girls.

There are full-length cotton pants or pedal pushers styled with smock top and cobbler pocket.

Checked gingham sunsuits and seersucker playsuits will lead off for summer vacation wear.

These small garments are elasticized at the waist for snug fit.

Fresh, cool and casual; pastel cotton playclothes are a delight for mother. They machine-wash, require no ironing.

Bible Comment: Complacent Attitude Taken Toward Life

The Bible, both in the Old Testament and the New, has a great deal to say about trials and temptations and also a great deal concerning enemies. But in the religious outlook and literature of today, there is comparatively little concerning trials and temptations, and almost nothing concerning enemies.

A rather complacent attitude is taken toward life, and if there is much concern it is chiefly about such matters as inner peace and strength.

Why is there such a discrepancy between the comparative complacency of present-day religious life and the tense situations of trial, trouble and temptation so common in the Biblical records, or so strongly indicated in the reference to them? We have been living in deeply troubled times. Not only have enemies in the mass been as almost never before, but almost numberless individuals have been subjected to persecution, torture and death on a scale and in a manner that would have been inconceivable in anticipations of the 20th century.

If this is so, why should there be such comparative religious complacency? Political writers have noted an utterly unaccustomed apathy on the part of the public. They attribute this apathy to a comparative ease and prosperity on the part of people who don't want to be disturbed.

The religious complacency is to be explained in much the same way, but is unrealistic and false to the actual situations and stresses of the world and of life. The Bible is a book of crisis and of crises, of trials and temptations; of souls often in what might have been desperation, if it had not been for a commanding faith.

WHAT IS YOUR WORTH?

By Jesse Leonard

Pastor First Baptist Church

We as average Americans in the day in which we live often feel depressed, neglected, and sometimes outcast. We look around us and do not see the things of real value that God has placed here for our benefit.

The greatest sin of the day in which we live is that of being ungrateful. People are always asking help and in most cases receiving same but never in any way do they express their gratefulness.

Our greatest worth is not in material possessions but in those things that God Himself has endowed us with. I think the poem that follows expresses our worth in a very vivid way.

THE WORLD IS MINE

Today upon a bus, I saw a lovely maid with golden hair. I envied her—she seemed so gay—and wished I were as fair. When suddenly she arose to leave, I saw the cruel braces as she hobbled down the aisle; a victim of polio was she. But as she passed—a smile! Oh, God, forgive me when I whine. I have two straight feet. The world is mine!

And then I stopped to buy some sweets. The lad who sold them had such charm. I talked with him. He said to me: "It's nice to talk with folks like you. You see," he said, "I'm blind." Oh, God forgive me when I whine. I have two eyes. The world is mine!

Then walking down the street, I saw a child with eyes of blue. He stood and watched the others play. It seemed he knew not what to do. I stopped a moment, then I said, "Why don't you join the others, dear?" He looked ahead without a word, and then I knew he could not hear. Oh, God forgive me when I whine. I have two ears. The world is mine!

With feet to take me where I'd go, with eyes to see the sunset's glow, with ears to hear what I would know—oh, God, forgive me when I whine, I'm blessed indeed. The world is mine!

Summer's Two Favorites Are in This Dessert

Strawberry-lemonade pie is a dreamy dessert for summertime. Strawberries, frozen lemonade concentrate and instant nonfat dry milk crystals are among the ingredients.

This recipe combines vanilla pudding mix, frozen lemonade concentrate and fresh strawberries into a dreamy dessert.

Strawberry-Lemonade Pie
 (One 9-inch pie)
 One package (7 1/2 ounces) vanilla pudding mix; 1 can (6 ounces) frozen lemonade concentrate; 1 cup water; one 9-inch graham cracker crust; 1 cup sliced, fresh strawberries; 2 tablespoons sugar; 1/2 cup whipped, instant nonfat dry milk crystals.

Combine pudding mix, lemonade concentrate and water. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until pudding thickens and starts to boil. Cool slightly. Turn into pastry shell. Chill until firm. Combine strawberries and sugar; mix well. Arrange strawberry mixture over pudding and top with whipped, instant crystals.

TO WHIP instant nonfat dry milk crystals (Makes about 2 1/2 cups):

- Mix 1/2 cup instant nonfat dry milk crystals with 1/2 cup ice water.
- Whip until soft peaks form, about 3-to-4 minutes.
- Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Continue beating, while gradually adding 1/4 cup sugar, until stiff peaks form, 3-to-4 minutes longer.

Spiced Strawberry-Pineapple Cups (4-6 servings)
 One-half cup sugar, 1/2 cup water, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 2 cinnamon sticks, 2 cups diced, fresh pineapple; 1 pint fresh strawberries.

Combine sugar and water; heat to boiling point. Add nutmeg and cinnamon sticks; cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, 10 minutes. Add pineapple and strawberries; mix lightly and chill.

Ernest Aims Ideas On July 4th

(Editor's note: Although the Fourth of July has passed, here is a prescription for celebrating Independence Day in the kind of spirit that built the country in the first place. Author of this bit is Ernest Joiner, editor of the Ralls Banner and one of Panhandle's most outspoken newsmen.)

"It may lead to a terrible hangover or possible imprisonment, but I'm going to celebrate the Fourth of July this year. It is more urgent now than ever before, considering the gradual disintegration of American democracy, personal freedom, and free enterprise in all segments of the economy.

"Come July 4, I'm going to bust'er wide open. I'm going to shoot fireworks and tell the cops to go to hell. I've bottled five cases of home brew which I intend to drink, and somewhere along the cap-strewn path to the rostrum I'm going to make a speech about how wise the founding fathers were and how stupid their descendants are to lose their precious gifts.

"I'm going to tell my kids (if I can find 'em) how come there is a Fourth of July, and what it means. I'm going to pour syrup in at least one parking meter, tromp on all available grass, give a rebel yell in a hospital zone, blow the horn in an underpass, spit on the sidewalk, cuss out a politician, sing the Star Spangled Banner, and pinch a couple of good-looking girls.

"Just once more I'm going to outwardly manifest appreciation for what few freedoms are left, and pledge resistance to further encroachments by the beast of bureaucracy we have set upon ourselves. In short, I am going to act like a real American.

"Visiting day at the county jail is Monday, and I smoke cigars."
