TIGER POST WINS SECOND IN STATE

Monday morning was a happy time for the members of the Tiger Post staff and their sponsor. They received a letter from the Interscholastic League Press Conference notifying them of their placement. The Tiger Post, McLean High School newspaper, ranked second in the mimeographed division in the State of Texas Interscholastic League contest.

The paper received the Award of Achievement for their exhibition of work. McLean was competing with over 100 Class A schools.

This year's Tiger Post staff has been an extremely conscientious group of students. Bobby Turner served as editor for the paper; Elizabeth Boston, assistant editor; Dennis Roach, sports editor; Jack Back, artist; Jean Simpson, circulation manager; Sandra Baker and Nancy Shields, feature writers; Anita Henley, reporter; and Sandra Burnett, production artist.

Mrs. Mary Tom Riley, sponsor of the Tiger Post, was very happy with the results, as the school does not have a journalism course. The majority of the work was done during the spare time of the students and sponsor.

The Tiger Post is a bi-weekly mimeographed paper.

NOW LOOK WHAT CORVAIR'S GONE AND DONE!

The same Corvair that tallied a thumping 27.03 miles per gallon* in the Mobilgas Economy Run... went right on to climb Pikes Peak earlier in the spring than any car has ever tried!

We wanted to show you what the fabulous traction of Corvair's rear-engine design and the sure-footedness of four-wheel independent suspension really mean. So the identical Economy Run car went right on to 14,110-foot Pikes Peak—and right up to the top of that savage mountain, on April 15, still deep in winter's snow and ice. No other car—even specially equipped—had ever been able to conquer that nightmare alpine road so early in the spring. But Corvair (with United States Auto Club officials aboard to certify that not one nut or bolt was changed) purred right to the summit without chains or even snow tires! That just underscores the fact that Corvair is totally unique. But you'll find that out the first five minutes you're at the wheel!

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL TIME IS HERE

A command of Jesus is, "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world. Amen." Matt. 28:19-20

One of the more effective means of carrying out this commission of our Lord is through the Vacation Bible School. There are many advantages in the concentrated study of the Bible afforded through such a means, and those who take advantage of this opportunity reap many lasting benefits.

We believe the Bible is just as adaptable to the life of man today as it was 19 centuries ago when it was written in its completeness. Proof of this is the happiness and fullness of life which obedience to its precepts brings. When one heeds the words of the apostle Paul in Rom. 12:2 his life becomes a blessing to himself and to all those about him, "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world, but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect will of God."

"Living for Jesus" is the theme of our VBS this year.

Time will be June 6th through 10th.

Hours will be 9 a. m. to 11 a. m.

Classes for all ages, pre-school through adult.

We invite you to come where the Bible is taught as God's divine revelation to man, all its precepts are upheld, and Christ is the example in life. 1 Pet. 2:21-24.

Editorials - -

To the 1960 Seniors: WHAT TYPE WORLD DO YOU INHERIT?

According to scientists, you are graduating into an era packed with golden opportunity, into a bountiful new age of space.

According to economists, you are graduating into a period of flamboyant, inflationary false prosperity, held on an even keel by the constant effort of planning and legislation.

According to historians, you are following one of the blackest weeks of the decade, when world peace seems to be crumbling and nations seem inevitably steering toward a world war.

According to business research, you are entering an age of corporations, with small businesses gradually becoming extinct.

According to theologians, you are entering an age of increasing moral depravity and ungodliness.

According to sociologists, you are graduating into a set of standards that will furnish you the necessary pre-requisites to gain a guaranteed security and a definite niche in an absolute social ladder.

The scientists will call the theologians unrealistic and subjective and the theologians will call the scientists ungodly and objective. They forget the one who lives his faith while he proves his profession.

The economists consider the over-all picture, and cannot take into account the "young turks" who do not attempt to FIND a way in this world but set about to MAKE one.

The sociologists consider the number who blindly seek security and stabilization, and forget the boy who will crawl out on a limb, and fall off, and then get up and crawl out on another one. They can't enumerate the chance-takers and the individuals.

The historians record the past but can't take into account the one man in a graduating class of 30 who will not accept the bleak future but plow over those who try to regiment him, and carve a chunk of destiny for himself.

Your world will be called everything by the agencies who derive their opinions from mass movement. Your chance is to be the exception to the rule.

In the final analysis, the world you are entering is up to the individual, and is pre-determined only for group entry.

It can be easy for those who desire ease, and it can be hard and cruel for those who desire accomplishment.

Some of the finest words for you to remember in the future were uttered in a prayer by Admiral Chester Nimitz, who said: "God grant me the courage not to give up on what I think is right even though I think it is hopeless." CEC

" Area Observations "

Cecil Waggoner of Claude News in his column, "Uncle Claude":
A BELITTLED SOUTH

Quite often the inferior is highly critical of the superior. I had wondered about the North's constant, almost insane harassment of the South. I now find it to be deep irrevocable feelings of inferiority. The fertile brans that nurtured our nation arose in the South. In its very essence it was the culture that cradled our civilization of today. Let's go back in history a moment:

It's birth was the first permanent English settlement in America, at Jamestown, Virginia. The first legislative assembly in America, the General Assembly of Virginia, planted the seeds of a freedom loving people. It bore the author of the Declaration of Independence, Thomas Jefferson; the commander in chief of American forces in the revolution; the "Father of the Constitution," James Madison; the first President of the United States and 11 of his successors; the greatest Chief Justice, John Marshall; both patron saints of the Democratic party, Jefferson and Andrew Jackson; the two great heroes of the Mexican War, Winfield Scott and Zachery Taylor; the great leaders of the Confederacy as well as such Union stalwarts as Admiral David G. Farragut and General George H. Thomas; the father of the League of Nations, Woodrow Wilson. You can also add to this list such men as Henry Clay, John C. Calhoun, Sam Houston, Daniel Boone, Robert E. Lee, Stonewall Jackson and George Washington.

In fact the South gave 29 generals to the Union army, more than any northern state. So it isn't surprising to find the South the last bastion of true human freedom and protector of individual worth who do not clamor for worship at the swill of federal troughs or shrines of the centralization and standardization of human thought.

From Quannah Tribune-Chief by Ed Eakin:

THE ONLY TIME you should beat anyone to his knees is to pray. MARK THIS week down on your calendar; etch it deep in your memory. History may prove it to be the blackest in the annals of mankind. Only time will tell how many men will die in the backwash of Premier Khrushchev's death blow to the summit meeting. One fact remains certain—com-munistism has not changed. The goal of international communism will never be altered as long as this diabolical ideology exists in the thwarted minds of men.

Hypocrisy was never more fluently expressed than when Khrushchev said: "As God is my witness, my hands are clean and my soul is pure."

This statement was made by an atheist who scoffs at God, kills men as calmly as you would swat a fly, whose every word is mockery of the truth.

Americans who have the silly notion that communism is a fad to be tolerated and coddled are only driving nails in their own coffin. Those who unwittingly abet communist propaganda would be the first to be purged in a communist society. Has America gone so far down the road to communism that we cannot reason any more? This is no time for confusion; nothing less than a united front will do. As Ben Franklin once said, "We'll either hang together or hang separate." But this time it will be communists, not King George, who will furnish the rope.

From Douglas Meador's "Trail Dust" in Matador Tribune:

There is no embassy for enthusiasm in work until friendly relations with achievement have been approved.

Trouble has a strange system of always being available to those dedicated to hunt it.

Apparently no one else has noticed the increased tempo of watches and clocks as compared with those in use when I was a boy.

Much advice is given to test a theory of the author without subjecting him to disaster from its possible weaknesses.

Man continues his quest for pleasures without fully evaluating the power of the soil that grows a luscious fruit beside a poisonous weed. Both are nourished from the same substances and both receive the same sunlight and rain. Goodness and evil are akin in as much as both must be conceived in the heart before they are shaped into vehicles of destiny.

Bringing home the bacon today may depend upon being lucky enough to win the super market jackpot.

Experience has taught many that wild oats soaked in liquor before planting will develop an increased germination.

TOP AMATEUR HORSEMAN AWARDED BRONZE TROPHY

NEW YORK—Frank Rice, America's top amateur Horseman Of The Year, receives the Martini & Rossi Trophy from Mrs. W. J. Barney. Mr. Rice, who won the title by a vote of the membership of the American Horse Show Association, shares honors with Patricia Galvin, the society's choice for Horsewoman Of The Year. Each received a handsome bronze trophy, a replica of the world-famous statue of Duke Emanuele Filiberto which stands in the city of Torino (Italy), the municipality which he founded. Torino is known today as the worldwide headquarters of Martini & Rossi, leading makers of wines and vermouths.

Current plans call for an annual presentation of the award to the year's top-rated horseman and horsewoman at the association's conventions.

Heads You Lose, Tails They Win
by Vant Neff

You know how it is. You go down to the polling place on Election Day. You wouldn't miss it on a bet. It is your duty, you tell yourself. And so it is. You insist that your wife be a registered voter, too. So far so good.

What happens when you draw that curtain around the voting booth. You vote Row A or Row B, or maybe C or D or a combination of candidates. You leave the booth feeling pretty darn good. You are a citizen who takes his civic duties seriously. Now here is the $34,000 question.

How did those candidates get their names up on that machine? Who decided which men to offer up to your choice? Did you? Did your neighbor? Did I? Or were they put up there by a nameless group you never heard tell of?

A nameless group did it... unless you voted in the primaries. Yes, the primaries! Primaries are held from time to time and they don't get nearly the publicity the big elections get. Of course, you've heard about primaries. But maybe you usually skip them because they seem to be unimportant. Chew on this for a minute: It is in those primaries where the list of candidates is chosen!

If you ignore the primary election you really don't have much to say about who gets elected in this country. All you are really doing is picking from a list put up by the men who are anxious to get their man elected. The candidates have been "approved" by the "boys in the back room"... but who else has checked on them? Have you?

If you give up your vote in the primaries, your approval isn't needed. You may find a good man on the ballot, it's true. Or you may not. But if any of us gives up our vote in a primary election, we negate a fundamental fact of the democratic process. It's this: The health of democracy is based on the assumption that you and I are always interested, that we always exercise our rights and duties.

You have nothing to say about the candidates — unless you take an interest in the primaries where the candidates are selected. If you don't you're likely to get the short end of the stick, any way you vote. Heads you lose, tails they win. Learn who the people are that are running for the nomination. Find out which ones are most likely to have the public interests at heart instead of those of some pressure group. Look into their backgrounds. Have they promised allegiance to some sinister self-seeking group or special interests? The primary is the place to stop these men. By election day it is too late.

The information you need is not hard to come by. Look up voting records. Read your newspapers. Usually the papers give both sides and try to present a true, unbiased picture. Find out which groups are backing which candidates. Then, when you have the facts, decide which man is best for you and your community and vote for him in the primary.

Then on election day you will truly have a choice. Vote for the man you want, not the hand-picked candidate of some group who serves only its own interests with no thought to what is best for the people. For your own good, make primary day an important day in your life!

Highlight of the operation was a night amphibious assault by the 20 Navy ships and 60 Marine helicopters of "Big Top's" task force.

TELEPHONE TALK

by Joe McDonald, Manager

Thirty McLean High School seniors will graduate tomorrow night, and I'd like to offer my personal congratulations to them all on the achievement.

And special congratulations go to Miss Elizabeth Boston and Keith Goodman as the honor students for the year. These scholars have attained a mark they can well be proud of.

In fact, all the graduates of this year can be happy for completing a successful and eventful term. I recall many occasions during the past nine months when individuals, groups, teams, etc., have made area-wide mention for their accomplishments.

So whether you seniors plan for college, or work away from McLean, or jobs in the community, our best wishes go with you. Good luck!

PLAYING CUPID

It's such a natural thing—sometimes it's almost automatic—for your phone to come to mind when you think of someone you love who's out of town. Yes, I suppose not a day goes by that somebody in McLean doesn't use the phone to remember a loved one.

So it's easy to see why an Air Fore sergeant stationed in Iceland thought of telephone service when he wanted to send flowers to his wife back home for her birthday. This fellow wanted folks at the telephone company to have the flowers delivered and then charged to his telephone account.

Now, even though it wasn't possible to bill the flowers to his telephone account, the girls in Miss Clara Balzen's group decided to help, anyway. They wrote they were sorry that the telephone company was unable to charge a florist bill to his phone, but they added this personal note: "However, we feel such thoughtfulness deserves special attention."

Then they picked out a birthday card and a dozen roses and had them delivered to the sergeant's wife.

The upshot of it was that the lives of two people—miles apart—were brightened by the thoughtfulness of a group of telephone girls who cared enough to find a way to help.

WHAT ELSE IS SO DEPENDABLE?

Most folks don't realize it, but every time you make or receive a telephone call, your phone sets a new record for dependability.

And because it does, you needn't worry about wear and tear, replacement parts, or repair bills. When repairs are needed, there is no charge to you. I doubt whether there are many other things you have that are so free of trouble as your phone.

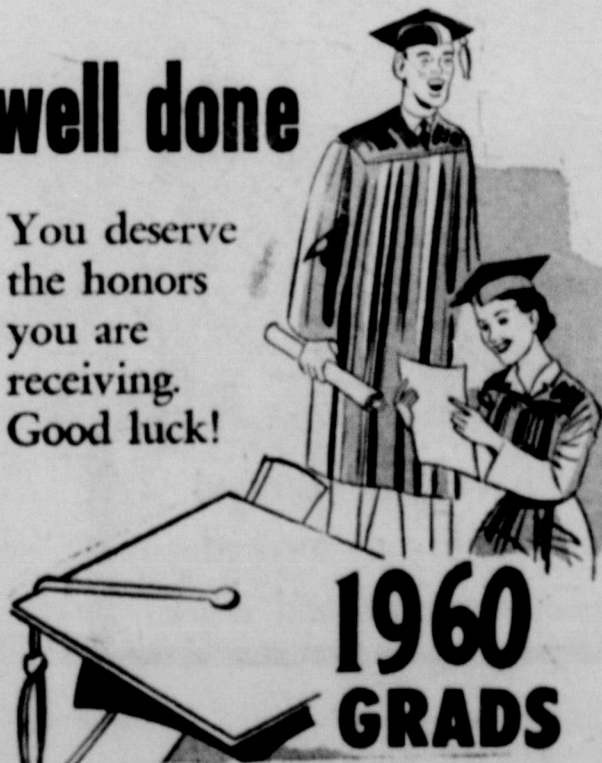

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

Two happy finalists model winning garments that brought them to New York for gala fashion show in last year's Young Stylemaker Contest.

How often have you dreamed of fame and fortune, of an exciting trip to Paris or famed cities in the United States? All these dreams can come true, if you are between the ages of 10 and 21, like to sew or want to learn how. Prizes and glamour galore are in store for the winners of the Young Stylemaker Contest being sponsored by the Singer Sewing Machine Co.

Starting now and through August 13, registrations will be accepted at your local sewing centers where entry blanks are available. Each contest entrant takes an eight-lesson sewing course and makes herself a garment which must be completed by August 27. This is then judged on a variety of points.

Climax of the contest is the crowning of the Queen of Sewing at a gala fashion show in New York City—the "Misses and Mrs." division, age 18 to 21, the "Teen" division for girls aged 14 to 17 and the "Tween" division for those aged 10 to 13.

Here is an opportunity to express your own individuality in fashions that appeal to you. You can select a pattern that you feel will be flattering to your figure, a color that flatters your personality and a fabric of your own choice. Finished garment will be a reflection of your own personal taste that may lead to sewing fame, as well as exciting trips, cash awards and a glamorous visit to New York City.

PLOWIN' Out the CORNERS

Most of us like to go shopping. Some people like to go window shopping; just looking without spending any money. The following tells us about one way to go shopping any day without using money at all. We do not know who wrote it, but we do agree. It is called: One of These Days I Must Go Shopping.

One of these days I must go shopping. I am completely out of self-respect. I want to exchange some self-righteousness that I picked up the other day for some humility which they say is less expensive and wears longer. I want to look at some tolerance which is being used for wraps this season.

Someone showed me some pretty samples of peace; we are a little low on that and we can never have too much on hand. And by the way, I must match some patience that my neighbor wears; it is so very becoming on her, and I think it might look right well on me. I might try on that little garment of long suffering that they are displaying; I never thought that I would want to wear it but I feel myself coming around to it.

Also, I must not forget to have my sense of appreciation mended, and look around for some plain everyday inexpensive goodness; it is surprising how quickly one's stock of goodness is depleted. Yes, one of these days I must go shopping and it likely should be today.

All the above are on display in the windows of everyday life, and can be had without money. Neither does our joy of possession reward us in dollars and cents but in the deeper values of friendship and happiness.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

PARENTAL CONSENT NEEDED FOR CHILD'S MEDICAL CARE
It's a good idea to give written consent for necessary medical care if your child leaves home for a visit or a camping trip, or if you plan to be away for any length of time.

For example, a summer camp nurse may bring a boy into a hospital with an acute case of appendicitis. But the doctor may well hesitate to go ahead and operate without the parents' consent.

Is the doctor arbitrary, and is such permission just a legal technicality? No, he is well within his rights, though he may give first aid—but only for emergency treatment where a child's health or life may be at stake. He is likely to put off follow-up care until he can reach the child's parents. A relative or baby sitter generally cannot grant consent for a child's treatment.

Even an adult must request treatment and grant consent to medical care on his own before a doctor can give it to him. Children cannot do this.

By going to your doctor you show your willingness and consent to accept his treatment. Your consent is assumed also when you ask for a house call by the doctor, or if as a result of an accident you come to a hospital for emergency treatment. If you are unconscious, the doctor may well give you emergency care, yet later he should get your consent to further treatment.

Minors cannot consent to medical treatment, and except in dire emergencies their parents or guardians must give it for them.

The consent should not be broadly or loosely phrased, but should be as specific as circumstances permit.

The principal reason for having the consent in writing is to avoid later misunderstandings. It is a protection both to the patient and the physician.

DUTY OF MAN

By Lois Daniels, Pastor Pentecostal Holiness Church

Solomon said, "Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man. For God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil." Eccl. 12:13-14. A great number of people today are as the people that Malachi spoke about when he said, "Ye have wearied the Lord with your words. Yet ye say, Wherein have we wearied him? When ye say, Every one that doeth evil is good in the sight of the Lord, and he delighteth in them, or, where is the God of judgment?" You may say I can commit this little sin and get by, surely the Lord won't mind. But, sin is sin and righteousness is righteousness and every work will be brought into judgment whether it be good or evil. Some have said no one will ever know that I did wrong. That could be right, no one but the Lord, but He knows and is keeping a record of all those secret things, whether they be good or evil. The conclusion of the whole matter is that we should fear God and keep His commandments. Let us not forget that Jesus said, "The first commandment is to love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength. And the second is like, namely this, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. There is none other commandment greater than these." Mark 12:30-31. We owe it to God, ourselves and to our neighbor to fulfill our duty, which is to fear God and keep His commandments. The duties of man are manifold, almost too numerous to mention. But, I feel that the one mentioned above is a paramount duty. We do not deserve special credit for doing our duty, but we do deserve censure if we neglect it.

SPEAKING OF CARDS

HOW IKE PLAYS BRIDGE

How good a Bridge player is President Eisenhower?

Here's how the late great Ely Culbertson once appraised the President's game: "You can always judge a man's character by the way he plays cards."

Eisenhower is a calm and collected player and never whines at his losses. He is brilliant in victory but never commits the Bridge player's worst crime of gloating when he wins.

According to Oswald Jacoby, "the President plays better Bridge than golf; he tries to break ninety at golf; at Bridge you would say he plays in the seventies."

In his new book "The Mad World of Bridge," (Holt, Rinehart & Winston, Inc. $1.50) about the greats and near-greats who give Bridge its mad and wonderful hold on us, Jack Olsen gives us these insights into the Bridge playing prowess of President Eisenhower.

Like all good players, the author reports, Eisenhower has his idiosyncrasies. He remains calm when sorting his hand and bidding. But all this changes when his time comes to make an important play. An opponent describes Ike's mannerism: "The card rises vertically in the President's hand, then describes a 90-degree arc. It hits the table with a thump, upsetting ash trays and opponents."

While there may be other indoor games Eisenhower prefers to Bridge, no one has been able to discover what they are. In November of 1942, eight hundred Allied ships rode at anchor off North Africa, waiting for the fog to lift. What to do during the long wait before the great invasion? Said Eisenhower: "Let's have a game of Bridge." Ike, Army Generals Alfred M. Gruenther and Mark Clark and Navy Commander Harry Butcher played nonstop until the fog lifted. The deck they used was later auctioned off at a Red Cross fund drive.

Ike's Bridge playing follows a somewhat regular pattern. Almost every Saturday afternoon at five, the game begins in the White House solarium. "Like all Bridge nuts, the President is loathe to quit for dinner, settles instead for a snack and then resumes the contest in his second-floor study."

His favorite partner is General Gruenther, whom most experts rank just ahead of Ike in skill and who was a big time Bridge tournament director while an instructor at West Point.

What advice does the President have for Bridge players? "Play every hand as part of a lifetime Bridge career. The result is more drama, less sets and a fine average record."

THOMAS RETIRES AS AGENT; NEW MAN APPOINTED TO POST

Veteran County Agricultural Agent Ralph R. Thomas will retire August 1, according to announcement made this week by W. W. Grisham, Jr., district extension agent, of Amarillo. Thomas has served Gray County since May 1, 1930, with the exception of the four years he was on military leave during World War II and 21 months during the Korean conflict while he served with the armed forces. Thomas conducted the first terracing demonstrations on the High Plains of Gray County in the summer of 1930. Other demonstrations were conducted in the McLean area early the next year, and over 10,000 acres of crop land were terraced under Thomas' supervision the next five years. He reports that 37,500 acres were farmed on the contour by the end of 1937, with most of the guide lines surveyed under the supervision of the county agent.

Thomas says that he always found time to do 4-H club work from the time he arrived until the first assistant was assigned later in 1940. County camps were held each year, some years boys, others boys and girls, and the last three the whole family was included.

He received the National County Agricultural Agents Association Distinguished Service Award in 1947.

He has been a member of the Alpha Zeta chapter of Epsilon Sigma Phi, National Honorary Extension Fraternity, since 1940.

Thomas has held the office of president of the Pampa Lions Club, as well as zone chairman and deputy district governor. At recent convention, he was elected district governor, Lions International, and will take office after the International Convention in Chicago in July. He will supervise the activities of 64 Lions Clubs in the Panhandle area of Texas the coming year.

Foster Whaley, county agricultural agent for Armstrong County the past seven years, has accepted the county agent's post in Gray County, effective August 1, according to W. W. Grisham, Jr., district extension agent, of Amarillo. Whaley will take over the duties of Ralph R. Thomas of Pampa, who retires August 1 after 30 years in Gray County as agent. Mr. Whaley's appointment has been approved by the Gray County commissioners court, according to County Judge William J. Craig.

Whaley came to Armstrong County January 1, 1933, from Gray County, where he was acting agent. He also worked in the Carson County agent's office as assistant county agent in-training prior to going to Gray County. He is a graduate of Texas A. and M.

During World War II, Whaley served four years in the armed forces of the U. S. army, 19 months of which time was overseas. He was awarded the Purple Heart and Bronze Star Medal. He saw service in England, France, Luxembourg, Germany, Czechoslovakia, Belgium and Italy.
