BUILDING MEDALLION DEDICATED: This historical building medallon, symbolic of the first 100 to be erected across the state of Texas, was dedicated recently in ceremonies at the 1840 Eggleston House in Gonzales. Participating in the program were Sen. Culp Krueger of El Campo, acting governor, and Mrs. Mike Butler chairman of the historical buildings committee of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee. The organization which administers the medallion program expects to have mounted 1,000 of the metal plaques by the end of 1962. They will mark early Texas structures that have been

I am a Democratic candidate for State Representative from the 87th District. This is the third Born March 20 to Mr. and Mrs. in my series of newspaper columns and radio speeches.

All acts appropriating money to finance programs in our education system must originate with the House of Representatives. Therefore, I feel obligated to inform Mrs. Ed Lander, Mr. and Mrs. people of this District concerning Educating the young people of Texas is our most important contribution to the future. Economy that takes precedence over education is a false economy. For ward strides have been made and can continue to be made in education. However, prior to the enactment of our Sales and Use Tax Law, the Legislature has been most reluctant to provide added financial support for our education sys-

I am opposed to Federal Aid to Education. The best preventive for this control is an education system, second to none, provided for on a state and local level. Our present relationship between state and local control of schools must be maintained and strengthened.

There is one phase of our edu cation in which we are weak. This eight is for the student who desires a vocation which our colleges are and desirability of such trade schools. I will vote for the appropriation needed in the survey. Provided the result of the survey was favorable, this question should be made available for the vote of the people before any legislation was initiated on this subject. A detailed discussion will be made on radio, Friday of this week.
