Full Information Should Accompany Screwworm Samples

Eradication Officials Wants To Know Location All Outbreaks

Livestock sending larvae specimens to screwworm eradication headquarters at Mission are urged by County Agent Pete Jacoby to be sure the information sheet that should accompany the sample is filled out completely and accurately.

Eradication officials have reported that numerous samples are received with no information included. Some have been identified as screwworms.

Jacoby stated that prompt action is taken whenever an infestation is confirmed. In most instances, additional sterile flies are dispersed over the infested farm or ranch and livestock near the infested premises are sprayed at program expense.

"When samples are received with no info as to where it was collected, no action can be taken," the county agent said. "This could permit additional infestations to develop because no special sterile fly and spray treatment can be given to the area."

Eradication officials report less than 20 percent as many screwworm infestations have been experienced during the first four months of 1963 as during the same period last year. If livestock producers continue to inspect their animals at least twice a week, treat wounds and infestations, collect samples and report cases, officials feel there should be no re-occurrence of heavy infestations as was experienced last year.

Completion Near On New Stands At Fairgrounds Park

Bids Received On New Dance Platform; Plot Recreation Park

Final phase of construction of the new fair park grandstand got under way early this week when materials for the new steel stands arrived and crews of the contracting firm began their erection.

Central Texas Iron Works at Waco bid in the grandstand job at $10,600 and concrete foundations were poured several weeks ago while the stands were being made up for shipment and erection. The grandstand will be 115 feet long 18 rows high and will seat 1485. The stands will be ready in ample time for the first event of the summer, the annual Quarter Horse Show, sponsored by the Ozona Roping Club, to be held June 1.

Two other progress steps in the development of the new park, recently placed under county supervision through a lease arrangement with the Crockett County Fair Assn., were taken this week.

The Crockett County Commissioners Court meeting Monday received bids for construction of a new concrete dance platform at the fair park. Foxworth - Galbraith Lumber Co. of Ozona was the apparent low bidder on the project, the final contract award to be subject to approval of the park board of directors. Other bidders were Allie Armentrout, and Herman Marks, contractor on the State Highway maintenance building.

The park board also received this week a plot or plan for planting and construction in the new park, prepared by Frank C. Bowen landscape architect with the State Highway Dept. Mr. Bowen's services were made available through the efforts of J. D. Snell of San Angelo district engineer, State Highway Dept. The plan spots tree and shrub plantings, picnic spots, barbecue pits, rest rooms, drives, and provides locations for two badly needed public improvements in Ozona, a museum building and a community building. The park board is toying with an idea to construct a replica of one of the buildings at old Fort Lancaster for use as a museum building, incorporating some of the rocks from the fort ruins in the reconstruction. The community building idea presents a number of possibilities, including an auditorium for public meetings, a library and club or party rooms, kitchen facilities, etc.

The park development is a long range plan for providing a recreation center for use of the public, retaining the rodeo and fair grounds facilities as originally incorporated in the park. The Highway Department park beautification expert laid out drives through the park area, located picnic spots, with tree and shrub plantings spotted, making use of every foot of the grounds not subject to overflow of the Gurley draw which cuts across the north-west corner of the plot.

Oilers Take Lead At Little League Field Dedicated

Handsome New Playing Field Formally Opened Monday Night

By Ernie Boyd

Ozona Oilers, for several years the door mat of the Ozona Little League, established themselves as solid favorites to take this year's crown this week in their two opening contests while the League dedicated its fine new field in play Monday night.

The new stadium, located on the site of the field destroyed by the 1954 flood, was formally opened for play Monday night after the league began play on Powell field the previous Friday night.

The new stadium, with parking space around the entire area, has spacious stands with concession and rest room facilities built of concrete blocks.

The press box, also built of the concrete blocks, stands on top of the lower structure and the back of the stands are anchored to the structure.

A large crowd saw the first two games unreel at the park and saw Ozona Oil win its second game of the season in belting Mason Motors 18 to 9.

The Oilers opened their season with a 7 to 5 win over B&B, breaking open a pitching duel between Kirk Boyd and Fleet Coates in the fourth when Cary Conn hit the first homer of the season. Boyd tied in the sixth inning but was never in trouble.

Monday the Oilers emptied their bench in winning 18 to 9 and Conn hit his second homer of the season to highlight a solid hitting parade by the Oilers. Terry Lindsey homered for the B&B.

In the best game of the young season, B&B broke open a 9 inning duel with 3 runs in the ninth to win a 5 to 2 overtime decision from Moore Oil. The Grocer rally broke a 2 to 2 tie that occurred in the second inning.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry McElwain of Midland were visitors last weekend with Mrs. McElwain's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Everett of Ozona.

Valuations May Be Up Million And Half, Or Down Half Million?

Whether Crockett county's total property valuations for tax purposes climbs another million and a half or whether it declines a half million, is the big guessing game occupying county and school authorities here.

The county's oil evaluating firm recently expressed the opinion to County Judge Brock Jones that the county's valuations would climb a million and a half.

But on the eve of the Commissioners Court meeting this week, one of the company's "experts" called to say that now they see a possible slump of a half million in valuations.

All will be cleared up on May 31 when the court meets as a Board of Equalization, but meantime it is a little difficult for county and school officials to map out their budgets for the coming year.

SO WE DIDN'T LIKE BATISTA

It begins to look as though "any number may play" in the national guessing game over the Soviet troops and armament presently occupying their new Cuban base. But Americans everywhere will agree with the Senate subcommittee which has said that the military and political problems posed by Cuba should have "the highest priority by our Government officials to the end that the evil threat which the Soviet occupation of Cuba represents will be eliminated at an early date."

This, in substance, is the outcome of the long and largely closed-door investigation of the Senate Armed Services Preparedness subcommittee. Pointing out that no one in the US Government knows for sure the number of Russian troops on the island, the official estimate of 17,500 is probably minimal.

Our intelligence agencies, said the senators, estimated that 5,000 troops were taken home after the October crisis, but they were in some doubt the number of replacements that have arrived since. Nor was there any evidence that any combat troops of the four mobile armored groups have been withdrawn. Estimates by refugee and exile groups, they said, place the number of Russian soldiers as high as 40,000. These sources also report that those much-discussed Cuban caves are concealing strategic offensive missiles, and while, says the subcommittee, our intelligence believes all such weapons have been shipped back, "it is of the greatest urgency to determine whether or not strategic missiles are now concealed in Cuba."

Whatever their number, said the senators, the Red troops could suppress any internal revolt and "offer severe opposition to any attack". Since they are armed with large and medium tanks, self-propelled assault guns, field artillery and personnel carriers, an invasion now "would require large forces, extensive sea-borne landing efforts, and adequate air cover."

In summary, the subcommittee noted that Cuba must be considered a base for Soviet subversive activities, as an intelligence base, a threat to US air and sea lanes and the Panama Canal, a recovery base for Russian planes sent against the US — and with little effort an advanced submarine base.

Nor will anyone question the official opinion that the Russian build-up "affects adversely our national image and prestige," and that: "Our friends abroad will understandably doubt our ability to meet and defeat the forces of Communism thousands of miles across the ocean if we prove unable to cope with the Communist threat at our very doorstep."

might be: "How do we start Coping?"

YES OR NO?

On May 21st American wheat farmers will have the first real chance in 30 years to strike a blow for freedom — their own freedom to run their own farms.

On that day, every qualified grower will be asked to say whether he wants the Government to establish its new production control plan over his wheat and his acres (with an eye to subsequent control of other crops, or whether he doesn't.

If two-thirds of all who vote favor Government management of their farms, that's the way it's going to be — from here on, as far as the eye can see.

If more than one third of the farmers voting say "No", that's the end of it.

And President Kennedy told his press conference that if the farmers turn the wheat plan down, there will be no new bill coming up this year to "solve all the problems."

We hope that's a promise, Mr. Kennedy.

WE'RE NO WORSE OFF

In expressing his discouragement at the lack of progress in achieving a nuclear test ban agreement with Russia, President Kennedy told his May 8th press conference that he was "not hopeful" — and repeated the words for emphasis.

And in reply to a second question on the subject, said that while we seemed to be moving closer to agreement in December, but away from it today. He expressed the belief that it will be "a great disaster . . . if we don't get an agreement this year."

Presumably, he sees ahead nothing more encouraging than further rounds of nuclear weapons-testing by the USSR and the US. In what is probably the most bitterly pessimistic remark of his public life, Mr. Kennedy said in concluding the discussion: "If we don't get it (a test-ban) now, I would think perhaps the genie is out of the bottle, and we'll never get it back in again."

The President's disappointment will be shared by all those Americans and all the other among the earth's still-free peoples who continue to cherish the base less hope that the Reds may some day honor an agreement — when they have been telling us flatly for 35 years, and proving it repeatedly that Communism is their only ethic and that they will take whatever action is to their advantage in any situation.

Realistically, the genie is not now in the bottle — and has not been since Einstein opened it with his relatively equation. What we had most to fear from the decade-long disarmament talkathon in Geneva was an agreement — on any inspection terms — an agreement that we would honor and our enemy, avowedly, would not. Historically, our enemy would ignore this pledge as he has every other when it suited his advantage — as he did after Yalta, and repeatedly in Berlin and even in this very area of nuclear control.

Or have we forgotten the two-year "moratorium" which we so trustingly kept?

REA LENDS MONEY NOW (From Houston Post)

When REA co-ops begin lending their 2-per-cent money to industries in order to obtain customers (incidentally making a profit on the loan) and build generating plants in areas where private companies have plenty of power to sell to them, it's time to take a good, hard look at the current trends.

A particularly hard look is indicated, since the co-ops enjoy a tremendous tax advantage. They pay no direct federal taxes and their state and local taxes are low. They now sell more than half power to non-farm customers. No one complained as long as their operations were purely rural in areas served by no other supplier. But when they begin to compete with other power companies, as they have, the dual advantage of low-cost loans and token taxes can be killing to the latter in time.

Janis Burger, granddaughter of Mrs. Wellington Burger, Jr. of Ozona, has been named treasurer of the Cuero High School Chapter of the National Honor Society. She and other officers of the chapter will serve during the 1963-1964 school year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Burger, Jr., of Cuero.

A Creek In My Back

By Allan R. Bosworth

Author of "New Country" and other historical & fictional works

Bell-bottom trousers,
 Coat of Navy Blue;
 'E'll climb the rigging,
 Like his daddy used to do. . .

Sadly enough, the Navy is conducting a survey — the second in some six years, — to see whether or not a change in the bluejacket's uniform would help Navy recruiting, "persuade more men to sign up for another hitch, and boost enlisted men's morale."

It definitely would not, and it might have the opposite effect. I have been through this before, and in more than forty years of association with the Navy, I have never seen any man, other than a misfit who wanted out, who was not proud of the distinctive uniform he wore.

This survey smacks strongly of a civilian advertising consultant hired to study "trends". The trends actually will always be the same. Boys join the Navy for one unchanging, basic reason. They want to see the world. In nine cases out of ten, the other things come later, and can be inspired; the chance to learn a highly-technical trade, the opportunity to make the Navy a career. At first, the motivation is Adventure, travel, the lure of far places.

A Navy man would not have used the word "hitch." He would have said "cruise." The release was couched in landlubber's language.

The survey will ask five hundred enlisted men if they would prefer a single-breasted suit, as worn by the Army, Air Force and Marines, or (Heaven forbid!) an Eisenhower jacket, or a double-breasted coat, shirt, tie and trousers such as now worn by Chief Petty Officers. . . .

In the first place, let us not denigrate the Chief Petty Officer by making all hands look like him. It takes time and brains and guts and an unswerving love for the Navy to make a Chief Petty Officer. Give me six or eight good Chief Petty Officers, and I will take a destroyer to sea at any time.

In the second place, let us remember that no bluejacket has ever been mistaken — even at a hundred yards — for a bus driver, policeman, elevator operator, bellhop, or Eisenhower-jacketed service truck driver. A Navy man is a Navy man as far as the eye can see . . . and don't tell me this doesn't give him pride of outfit.

In the third place, the wide-collared jacket and the trousers (they have not been bell-bottomed in recent years) are comfortable, economical, and practical.

When I did what was known as a "kid's cruise" in the 1920's, my pride was a suit of tailor-made dress blues with bell bottom sixteen inches in diameter. In these, I could take two steps before my pants began to move, which gave me a certain strategic advantage. I also had a tailor-made (i.e., non-regulation) flat hat, sixteen inches across the grommet. No doubt about it, I was "salty."

Coming back to Fleet Landing after overnight liberty, the wind invariably funneled up those bell-bottoms and blew the flat-hat off my head. It rolled like a hoop — always landward, toward naval tailors, hockshops, beer points, tattoo parlors, and other auxiliary naval establishments. But no Commanding Officer ever believed the gag about chasing a flat hat and missing the last boat before 0800.

The pants had no pockets, nor did the jacket — and better so. Put pockets on any military uniform, and they become the repository for all manner of things, and soon bulge. The old-time man-of-war'sman navigated without impedimenta. He carried his few necessities in his sock, or tucked into the waistband of his bell-bottom trousers — and his waistline was such that he could do this.

The pants had no belt, but were held up by thirteen buttons on an apron-like flap. Many an old salt swore that these stood for the thirteen original colonies, that the black neckerchief was in mourning for Lord Nelson's death, and the three white stripes commemorated Nelson's major victories.

So what? These things were part of a tradition, and no branch of our Armed Forces will ever be greater than its tradition. They said the bell bottoms enabled you to roll up the pants when swabbing or holystroking the hull that was true. But there's no reason for the bell bottoms, and we should have them if a man fell overboard they still do, sometimes give one swift pull and the bell bottoms impede the over his feet. Bell bottoms saved a lot of lives. I remember only one being mistaken, because uniform, for someone else. An Admiral, and present come out of the U. S. in San Diego, and was his car. A drunk emergency taxi!"

The Admiral stiffened, not the doorman!" he said. "I am an Admiral in the Navy."

"Okay, Admiral!" he said cheerfully. "Call me a uniform in the other let's go back to the red forms. They made sense."

Miss Maudie Jo Good,
Frank H. Carter Wed
In Angelo Ceremony

A candlelight ceremony Tuesday in San Angelo united Miss Maudie Jo Good of Ozona and Spec. 4 Frank H. Carter, Jr., of El Paso. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Good of Ozona. Her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Carter of Wilson, North Carolina.

Vows were exchanged in the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Maudie Baker, 2610 W. Harris, with the Rev. G. A. Magee, former pastor of College Hills Baptist Church, officiating.

Miss Vicki Good of Ozona was maid of honor, and Muggins Good of Ozona was best man. They are brother and sister of the bride.

A centerpiece of white blossoms centered the refreshment table for the reception, held in Mrs. Baker's home. Miss Kathryn Ann Baker was at the punch service, and Mrs. Bill Baker served the wedding cake.

The bridegroom, who is in military service, has been stationed in El Paso, but is leaving soon for three months duty in South Carolina. His wife, who is employed at Betty's Beauty Bar here, plans to remain with her parents in Ozona during that time.

Time To Spray For Mesquite Control, Says
Conservation Service

"Now is the time for ranchers in the Crockett Soil Conservation District to make plans for aerial spraying of mesquite", according to James Glynn of the local Soil Conservation Service. Aerial spraying is one of the most economical methods of mesquite control using chemicals such as 2,4,5-T with a base mixture of diesel and water. The optimum time for spraying mesquite is after the leaves are fully formed and start turning from light green to dark green in color. This usually occurs from 40 to 90 days after the first leaves appear in the spring. This also is the time that maximum translocation of chemicals from the leaves to roots takes place.

To obtain best results, pastures should be deferred for three months following brush control. Without proper grazing management on treated areas, little or no improvement may be made.

CLASSES VISITS CAVES

The South Elementary fourth grade visited the Sonora Caves and ate a picnic lunch on the picnic grounds near the caverns Tuesday. The group of some forty-eight children and parents were accompanied by teachers Mrs. T. J. Bailey and Miss Roberta Lawrence and by Principal Ernest M. Boyd.

What kind of a nut is he? He's an American who understands and believes in the Declaration of Independence, and that's what kind.

Are't you glad you are too? And don't you wonder why so many of our fellow Americans are trying so hard to destroy the kind of life that has made us the aim and the envy of every other people on earth?

The question is: What kind of nuts are they?

Another school year is ended, and this edition of the Lions Roar is the last one to be published by our staff.

In all sincerity we, the Journalism Class, can say that it has been our pleasure to give the news of Ozona High to students and to citizens of Ozona for the past nine months.

Our gratitude and appreciation go to all the people who have given assistance in so many ways. Without help from our sponsor, Mr. Moody, and from all the other teachers and administrators, our paper could not have been.

We are grateful for the broad-minded attitude of the students and citizens concerning any publications which might have been offensive.

Special thanks go to Mr. White, who has given us valuable space in the Stockman and has done our printing.

HIGHLIGHTS OF 1963

By Cheryl Clayton

As this school year draws to a close, we find ourselves remembering outstanding activities and events on the school calendar. Sad and happy moments alike are relived as the pages of time are turned back. Do you remember these big moments?

The beginning of football season found Ozona playing new members of District 8-A. Sander-son and Iraan replaced Sonora and Junction as our District competitors. For the first time in several years, the Lions did not "burn the broncs" at the bonfire.

The P. T. A. carnival provided fun and entertainment for the participants as well as the observers. With its hillbilly singers, the freshman side show was a great attraction.

During football season, seniors first realized the problems of working in the concession stand.

Halloween found unwanted presents delivered to people's doorsteps. There were many water balloon fights that night, too.

The Christmas dance, given by the sophomores, added a festive atmosphere to the holiday season.

In January the Lions defeated Big Lake in a thrilling overtime at the annual basketball tournament.

The seniors got farther along the road to Dallas with money made at the tournament concession stand.

Mid-term tests found many students studying hard to remember what had been forgotten during Christmas vacation.

The Spanish Jr.-Sr. banquet and prom with the junior as hosts, gave students an evening of fun and entertainment.

The Ozona volleyball team completed their successful season with a trip to the state meet.

Ozona had many entrants in the interscholastic league meet this year. Several students won medals in the district and regional meets, and a few students went to state.

For seniors, the senior trip provided many memorable experiences because it was one of the last times the class was together.

RONNIE HOUSTON WINS THIRD IN ESSAY CONTEST

Ronnie Houston, senior at OHS, was awarded a trophy last Friday night in San Angelo for his conservation essay which won third in regional.

This banquet, held in the San Angelo College Student Center, was sponsored by the Fort Worth Press Association as an award banquet for all phases of conservation. One phase was an essay contest in which contestants wrote an essay entitled "Conservation—A way of Life."

Earlier in the year nearly all of the students in OHS wrote a theme on this subject. The winning theme from this group was then chosen to represent this county in the regional contest.

Dr. Raymond Cavaness, President of SAC, was the guest speaker of the evening.

Persons wishing to purchase an A-aver may contact Mildred North at 2-2433.

BACCALAUREATE SERVICES TO BE HELD MAY 19

Baccalaureate Services for the graduating class of 1963 will be held Sunday morning, May 19, at eleven o'clock in the High School Auditorium.

The professional and recession-al will be given by Janet McAlister. The invocation will be given by Rev. William R. Fleming of Ozona and the benediction will be by Rev. Max Brown of Ozona. The sermon is to be given by guest speaker Rev. Stanley Lockhart of San Angelo.

50 OHS BAND MEMBERS ENJOY ALL-DAY OUTING AT GARNER PARK

The Ozona High School band traveled to Garner State Park last Saturday. Approximately fifty members made the trip.

At the park members had their choices of activities. Some of the activities were swimming, miniature golf, horseback riding, and paddle boating.

Mrs. Bud Coates and Mrs. James Childress took care of the two meals eaten during the all-day outing.

STUDENTS PLAN EVENTFUL SUMMERS

As we approach the end of this year, most of us will begin planning our summer activities. Several of the students have already planned their summer vacation.

The following are answers given by students to the question, "What are you going to do this summer?"
Leroy Cooper — "Go to California and work."
Robert Cox — "I guess I'll go to summer school at SAC."
Cheryl Clayton — "I'm going to Hawaii to go to school."
Carmen Childress — "Go to the ranch."
Coach Dozier — "Attend school in California."
Gary Boyd — "Spend the summer at the Wall Drags."
David Childress — "Play golf (Hack!) and swim."
Mike Walters — "Fall out of trees!"
Arene Gotcher — "Spend the summer in Llano."
George Kyle — "Play golf all summer."
Mr. Green — "Go to Chicago."
Scott Mahon — "Stay at my ranch."
Vicki Applewhite — "Go to Cheerleader's school and the river."
Janis Walker — "Visit Jeanie Compton in New Mexico."
Earnie Hanson — "Eat, sleep, swim, play, fish, travel, drink, date, and waste gas."

SENIOR PARTY ITS

By Andie Elliott

Bloodshot eyes, swollen eyelids, slow movements, empty classes, and surpluses on the day are just a few of the serious symptoms of a small portion of OHS students.

These students also have slightest noses, cough all bright light, and push themselves from class to before school in the morning. The first ones to leave at the term.

Notes From The County Agent's Office

By Pete W. Jacoby

Many people wonder why they have pecan crop failures. Here are some of the reasons. It requires about 18 months for the pecan tree to produce one crop of pecans.

The fall harvest is the end of a long series of growth processes which began in the pecan tree some 18 months earlier. Buds for this year's pecan crop which contain the pollen-bearing flowers were formed on the tree 18 months ago.

Plant food was manufactured by the leaves and stored during the growing season of 1962 and this stored food caused the tree to form buds containing fruit-bearing flowers during February and March of this year.

A pecan tree requires a lot of plant food during just one year for the development and maturity of the nut crop. Often, because of this severe drain on the plant food, the tree does not have sufficient stored food left to enable the tree to develop pollen and fruit-bearing buds for a crop the following year.

The pecan tree roots take mineral nutrients from the soil and these are carried by the sap stream up to the leaves where plant food is manufactured and returned to the sap stream and thus stored in the roots and used by the tree. Any condition which destroys the leaves during one season, discourages a crop the following year by limiting the reserve food supply upon which fruit-bud formation depends.

As growth started in the spring of 1963, the buds containing pollen-bearing flowers and the buds containing fruit-bearing flowers began growth and produced stamens (pollen-bearing) directly from the bud and produced pistils (flowers) terminally on new shoots, after they had made some growth.

If the new shoots have made good length growth before the nuts form (during April), there will be a high leafnut ratio. This is important because lots of leaves are needed to help manufacture food which in turn is used to keep the nuts from shedding and also to carry the nuts to maturity as well as to furnish stored food in the tree.

In late April and early May of this year, pollen from the stamens was blown by the wind to the pistils, a process known as pollination. Fertilization followed and the small pecans were formed.

Rain or unfavorable weather during this period may cause a crop failure. The pollen of some varieties does not mature at the time the pistils are receptive and this too may cause crop failure. This is one reason for planting more than one variety of pecan. However, where other plantings are nearby cross-pollination takes place freely.

The pecans which are formed this spring will continue their growth during the next 5 or 6 months. This growth is influenced by: 1. Soil moisture, 2. Soil fertility (the amount of food nutrients in the soil), 3. Aeration (air is important as water in the soil), 4. Humidity, 5. Leaf-nut ratio, 6. Second growth of the tree (the amount of growth which takes place after the nuts are formed), 7. The size of the nuts and the number in the cluster, 8. The amount of sunlight the tree receives and, 9. Possible damage to the leaves and nuts by insects and disease.

The number of nuts and their quality which you will harvest this fall will depend upon all of the above factors.

Remember, you must provide proper moisture, proper fertilization, aeration, proper pruning and insect and disease control for 18 months to produce just one crop of pecans. Therefore, it is necessary to care for your pecan trees each and every year.

GENERAL TELEPHONE TOWNS ON THE MOVE

Olney Creates Home-grown Industry

When an aeronautical engineer and the business leaders of Olney, Texas, got together, a new home-grown industry was born. The product: an agricultural aircraft especially designed for crop dusting and spraying.

Now, 4½ years later, Snow Aeronautical Company employs 57 skilled workers in this West Texas community of 3872, and has sold aircraft in many agricultural states of the Union and in seven foreign countries.

Success of this thriving local enterprise is evidenced by a plant expansion program which will double the factory size when construction is completed this Fall. It is another reason we say big things are happening in General Telephone towns.

These towns are on the move. Community improvements are under way, local resources are being developed, new businesses, new industries are coming in. If your town seeks additional information about expansion perhaps we can help. Just write our Community Development Department, Box 1001, San Angelo, Texas.

Foreman Blasts Udall For Public Power Ideas

In a speech before several hundred enthusiastic conservatives at a rally in Arlington, Va., Congressman Ed Foreman (R. Tex.) Tuesday night blasted Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall for his publicly announced intentions to further the federalization of private electrical power.

Congressman Foreman said, "The inspiration that Secretary Udall received from his visit to Russia last year came to light in a speech to public power advocates in Cleveland, Ohio, when he announced plans to link up all western power producing areas into one massive power grid.

Foreman said, "The Secretary took eleven power 'experts' with him to Russia, who were, incidentally, advocates of socialized power. Secretary Udall was truly 'impressed' and said that the United States has a lot to learn from the Russians in the way of producing and marketing power.

"If the Secretary would look and listen to the private investor-owned power companies in this country, he would undoubtedly learn a lot right here from the good old American free enterprise system, which has given this country the best electrical power system that any country has ever known," Foreman said.

The Texas conservative said, "This lack-logic acceptance of the Communist system should be shocking to every American. The average U. S. home uses more than 4,000 kilowatt hours a year, while in Russia a home uses 400 kilowatt hours. Russia is aiming at 110 million kilowatts of generated power by 1965. We will be producing 245 million kilowatts by then. We have 240,000 miles of power transmission lines to Russia's 47,000 miles."

Communist Takeover of Cuba Lowers Prestige Of U.S. Says Sen. Tower

Senator John Tower Wednesday accused the Kennedy Administration of casting aside "the traditions of this Nation" in permitting the Communist takeover of Cuba.

In a VE day speech before the Senate Tower said the international standing of the United States because of Cuba, "has slipped low indeed."

"In permitting what has happened in Cuba," the Senator said, "we have cast aside the traditions of this Nation as embodied in the Monroe Doctrine and have reneged on carrying out our solemn obligation under the Rio, Caracas and Bogota treaties. We have done violence to the Charter of the Organization of American States . . . which binds member states to assist each other to defend their sovereignty, their territorial integrity and their independence."

"We have demoralized and discouraged those Latin American Republics who, threatened by Communist subversion, have urged us to take tough and decisive steps to purge Soviet colonialism from this hemisphere."

"This," said Tower, "is quite different from the speed with which the late, great John Foster Dulles had the Red regime broken in Guatemala."

SPRAY NOW

To Save Your Pecan Crop

It's time for the pecan casebearer, the insect that destroys the nuts as they form, to put on his annual appearance.

You have only a limited time in which to spray for the casebearer for effective control. Spraying should be done within nine days from appearance of eggs. In that period, the insect hatches out and is present on the tree. After the larva has entered the young tender nut, the damage has already been done.

Two sprayings are recommended for the control of casebearers — ten days apart. This will get the second-generation larva.

We are using a "Combination Spray" for casebearers, pecan scab and rosette. These are the principal pests that attack pecan trees in this section.

Sizable Drop Noted In Screwworm Cases This Spring Over Last

Mission — There was good news this week from the officials of the screwworm eradication program and also a word of warning. They reported that the number of screwworm cases in Texas in April totaled 357 compared with 2,633 during April 1962, a very sizable drop. Also, that only 474 cases were reported during the first four months of 1963 as compared with 3,065 cases for the same period last year.

Authorities credited the combined factors of a severe insect-killing winter, heavy release of sterile flies and good cooperation from farmers and ranchers who are detecting and treating infestations for the decrease in screwworm incidence.

They warned, however, that livestock men cannot afford to relax their vigilance because eradication has not yet been achieved. The native fly population must be kept down by preventing the development and spread of screwworm flies, they said.

Livestockmen are urged to inspect their animals at least twice a week, treat wounds and infestations, collect samples from infested wounds and report cases to eradication headquarters at Mission or to the county agent or vocational agriculture teacher. Periodic spraying of livestock with Corral or Korlan is also recommended.

Producers have been noting fast action when a sample is confirmed as screwworms. In most instances, sterile flies have been dropped in the area where the infestation was found the following day after the sample was identified in Mission. Livestock in and near the infested area are sprayed at program expense by inspectors.

Eradication workers hope to continue to treat each case promptly and thoroughly and feel this can be done as long as producers do their part in preventing any large increase in cases.

Dual Discovery From Canyon Sand Complete On Millspaugh Lands

Crockett County gained a dual discovery with completion from the Canyon sand of B. W. Wiseman Jr. and Texas American Oil Corp. No. 1 Millspaugh, recent Strawn gas discovery, 18 miles southwest of Ozona and 13 miles west of the initial portion of the Hunt-Baggett (Strawn gas) field.

It was finalized for a calculated, absolute open of 3,360,000 cubic feet of gas per day, plus 40.32 barrels of condensate, through perforations at from 5,781 to 6,744 feet, which had been fractured with 50,000 gallons.

It was completed April 17 from the Strawn for a calculated, absolute open flow of 3.4 million cubic feet of dry gas per day through perforations between 9,284-9,358 feet, which had been acidized with 1,000 gallons.

Drilled to 9,802 feet, 5-inch casing was set at that depth.

Location is 690 feet from the north and 1,950 feet from the east lines of 20-2-14GK. It is six miles northwest of Ozona, in 9-SK-TURE. The Canyon sand gas-condensate discovery; and 11 miles west of the one-well Ozona, Strawn (Canyon sand gas) field, in 1962 by Delta Drilling Co., Pauley Petroleum and Drilling Co., No. 1 Coach, in 1962. HE&WT.
