RETURNED THIS WEEK FROM NEW ORLEANS

Harry L. McClintic returned Wednesday from New Orleans where he spent four days attending the Confederate Reunion. He and Ned Watson traveled together to that city, where Ned will continue for four weeks longer, specializing in instruction on the Model 14 Linotype. Harry reports a wonderful visit, and expressed a wish that he could have been enabled to spend a month there.

Tuesday, April 24, and Wednesday, April 25, the eighth annual convention of the sixth district of the Federated Clubs of Texas, will be in session at Midland.

Meetings will be held at the Baptist Church Monday night, Tuesday morning, afternoon and night and Wednesday morning and afternoon. The full program is published in today's paper, on page 6, The public is invited to attend any and all of these meetings, which will be both instructive and entertaining. The State and District presidents will deliver addresses on Tuesday night which is designated as President's Night and an interesting evening is promised all who attend. This convention of Women's Federated Clubs is one of the most auspicious occasions that Midland has known in many years and the ladies of our city are doing everything possible that it may be conducted with the grace, entertainment, and interest that have so charmingly characterized their efforts in the past.

Many distinguished ladies will be here. They come from all parts of this very large district, and the public generally, invited to participate in all the meetings, has in store some treats that are most rare, for there is to be in evidence talent of the highest degree in musical and literary effort, to say nothing of the fine accomplishments that so characterize the activities of women in public life. The Reporter, extending welcome to the visitors, is pleased to devote four columns of its space on page 6 to the general program of the convention. It is interesting and worthy of "Permit me to extend my sincere your attention.

The district contests are going on today and will continue through Saturday of this week. There will be contests for the Juniors and Seniors in declamation both for Girls and such a wholesome compliment, and, Boys, debates for Girls and Boys and all the track and athletic contests.

Midland has entertained the District Meet many times and all are familiar with the splendid opportunities this gives to our people to hear these contests. Last year they were held in Pecos and next year will find them some other place, so be certain that you take advantage of this year's opportunity. They will be held in the Christian Church and it should be filled to overflowing at every contest. Barstow, Pecos, Odessa and other leading towns of the district will have teams here and they are coming expecting to win, but Midland has the right men and women this year to bring in the honors and so they will. A Cozy, Comfortable Coupe for Three

This Buick 3-passenger Coupe is economical and at the same time exceedingly comfortable for business, professional and family use.

Its wide doors open to an interior with every refinement and convenience for perfect comfort all the year. Its fine plush covered seat is low and comfortable. Disappearing door windows and adjustable windshields enable occupants to catch the summer breeze or exclude winter's cold.

Notable improvements in engine and spring suspension have materially increased roadability and stamina.

More loyalty and Co-operation with our Pastors will be urged and our young people given something definite to do.

ENDEAVOR NEWS

The Endeavorers of Midland District are invited and urged to attend the Abilene District Convention, to be held in Colorado May 4, 5 and 6.

Jack Huppertz, our beloved Field Secretary, our District President, Miss Pemberton, and some of the Endeavorers of Big Springs and Coahoma will drive over on Friday afternoon.

We hope some of the Barstow folks will plan to go. We had our greatest Convention last month in Barstow. We have a bright year ahead of us, with a full Council. The following Council members live in Barstow. Brooks Jenson, Miss Beulah Cole and Mrs. Lloyd Sewell. WOMAN ATHLETICS IN SUMMER SESSION

Special instruction in supervising high school athletics or coaching women's sports will be given at the University of Texas during the summer session. Courses in physical training for women will not be compulsory during the summer, as they are during the long session, but it is thought that many teachers or prospective teachers will be glad to have the opportunity to receive such training. Miss Olive McCormick of San Antonio will have charge of the work during the first term. She is a graduate of the Chicago Normal, and is now studying in Columbia University. She will be assisted by Miss Hilda Molesworth, of Austin, who is supervision of women's athletics in the Austin High School. Miss Molesworth will have charge of the University work during the second term, and she will be assisted by Miss Lloyd Martin, of San Antonio.

Queer Feelings

"Some time ago, I was very irregular," writes Mrs. Cora Robie, of Pikeville, Ky. "I suffered a great deal, and knew I must do something for this condition. I suffered mostly with my back and a weakness in my limbs. I would have dreadful headaches. I had hot flashes and very queer feelings, and oh, how my head hurt? I read of and of others, who seemed to have the same troubles I had, being benefited, so I began to use it. I found it most beneficial. I took several bottles . . . and was made so much better I didn't have any more trouble of this kind. It regulated me."

Cardui has been found very helpful in the correction of many cases of painful female disorders, such as Mrs. Robie mentions above. If you suffer as she did, take Cardui—a purely vegetable, medicinal tonic, in use for more than 40 years. It should help you. Sold Everywhere.

Garvin, Refinery Engineer of the Bureau, on the quantity of potash contained in some of the oil (Water Glass) shales with which this department has been experimenting recently.

It is found that after complete retorting, that is, after removing of all volatile and fixed carbon, there is a certain amount of water-soluble potash found but not sufficient to make its recovery visible. This practically exhausts another source on which the Government had been depending for its potash supply. The fact that these shales cannot be worked commercially is almost certain to turn the Government heads to the operations that are now being carried on here. A Page Concerning Our Technological Campaign From Midland Brief

Submitted to State Locating Board West Texas Technological College

MAP SHOWING THE RELATION OF UNIVERSITY
(STATE OWNED) LANDS TO MIDLAND

Within a small radius of Midland, as shown by the map, there are approximately 2,000,000 acres of University lands. The location of the College here would not only increase the value of these lands but would stimulate the market for them. The result would be a gain by the State of millions of dollars to be used for educational purposes.

BRIEF AND ARGUMENTS

TO THE HONORABLE MEMBERS OF THE LOCATING BOARD, TEXAS TECHNOLOGICAL COLLEGE:

Midland has long been known as "The Queen City of the South Plains," and in her application for the location of the Texas Technological College, she promises to prove her right to this title. In location, in water supply, in climatic conditions, in natural resources, including soil, agriculture and stock raising, and in religious, educational and moral atmosphere, she stands second to none. Midland is a modern, progressive city, working under the commission form of government. She has a fine water system, modern motorized fire department, electric power plant, strong banking and business institutions, beautiful homes, excellent schools, handsome churches and a free public library.

GENERAL LOCATION

Midland, as her name implies, is in Mid-Land, being half way between Fort Worth and El Paso and half way between San Antonio and Amarillo. She is therefore in the center of the great empire north of the 29th parallel and west of the 98th Meridian. She is also in the middle of the group of State Institutions in this territory, but at a distance of from 200 to 300 miles from all of them, being in the center of the vast territory which is not directly connected with the West Texas Normal at Canyon, the School of Mines at El Paso, the Sul Ross Normal at Alpine, or the Junior Agricultural and Mechanical College at Stephenville. Nor is she in the range of territory served by the experiment stations at Balmorrhea, Sonora and Spur. We believe that the general location of Midland places her in a class by herself in the contest for the great college.

WATER SUPPLY

Midland has an abundance of good pure water, meeting admirably the four requirements on the point, namely: Quality, quantity, permanency, and cost of making it available. Several irrigation wells adjacent to Midland each produce a million and a half gallons per day. Thus each well, at the estimate of 25 or 30 gallons per capita, would supply a population of 50,000 people. This inexhaustible supply of water is found at a depth of from 30 to 80 feet, the water in one well rising to within fifteen feet of the surface of the ground. After investigating some of the wells in and around Midland, the Fort Worth Record says: "It has been demonstrated beyond doubt that another great irrigation district has been discovered." The Pecos Times-Record says: "Midland is the next big shallow water irrigation section." The Texas Farm and Ranch says: "The purity of the water in the Midland section is another important feature, the water there being entirely free from gyp and alkali." One of the problems for this great institution will be the working out of a system of irrigation which will result in the development of this great western empire, and we respectfully submit that Midland offers an opportunity almost unique in this respect.

ACCESSIBILITY

Midland is on the Texas & Pacific Railway, one of the two trunk lines passing through the territory north of the 29th parallel and west of the 98th meridian. This makes her easily accessible to all parts of the vast empire to be served by the College, and with few stops or changes of trains. She is on the Bankhead highway, the only transcontinental highway in the South. She is on the Midland and Northwestern railway, which has been in the hands of a receiver for two years and has consequently not been in operation during that time. This line will be sold in June, after which it is thought the road will be completed to Roswell, its original objective. Midland is also on the projected Santa Fe, for in the event the College is located in Midland, the Santa Fe will doubtless connect Sterling City and Lamesa, passing through Midland and opening up direct connections between the north and south through the center of the western part of the State. This can be done by constructing about one hundred miles of road, and it will hasten the development of a vast portion of the State of Texas.

SOIL AND AGRICULTURE

The rich sandy loam soil in and around Midland, together with our favorable climatic conditions, is such as to favor the greatest variety of stock and farm products. There are probably more crops adapted to the Midland country, with or without irrigation, than to any other farming section in the United States, as may be seen from cuts which are shown in this brief. Among these are: Cotton, corn, milo maize, kaffir corn, feterita, all the sorghums, alfalfa, wheat, oats, barley, cowpeas, sudan grass, clover, sugar beets, peanuts, sweet potatoes, Irish potatoes and 40 other varieties of grass. Truck crops which produce abundantly are: Watermelons, cantaloupes, onions and tomatoes and many kinds of fruit, including apples, pears, peaches, apricots, plums and strawberries. Watermelons have been grown here to weigh 100 pounds each. These ideal conditions will afford the college a rare opportunity for courses in agriculture and kindred subjects.

CLIMATIC CONDITIONS

The climatic conditions of Midland are almost ideal. While Midland does not support a sanatorium of any kind, she is often looked upon as a health resort. The winters are mild and the summers are favored with a delightful breeze. With a long growing season—about eight or nine months—with sunshine for about eleven months, and with a climate characteristic of the south plains, Midland offers conditions which are favorable toward the health and the proper development of the student physically and intellectually, and toward the pursuit of such courses in agriculture, animal husbandry and technology as may be organized by the College. The following statistics are taken from the United States Agricultural Weather Bureau reports, and include averages covering a period of three years:

ENDORSEMENTS

Midland is joined in her petition for the Texas Technological College by the vast territory to the west of her for a distance of 300 miles, every town and county in that territory and on the Texas and Pacific having endorsed Midland as the proper and most desirable location. We, therefore, most respectfully petition your honorable body to give Midland your most careful consideration, believing, as we do, that the best interests of the institution itself, the best interests of those institutions which now exist, and the best interests of the section which this institution is to serve, will be best fostered by locating the College in Midland.

Very respectfully submitted,
LOCAL COMMITTEE,

Midland, Texas.

SHOWING THE RELATION OF UNIVERSITY LANDS TO ALL WEST TEXAS

No other claimant for the College may present an argument that will so directly affect ALL the people of Texas. Midland is the natural trade center of territory tributary to these lands. The location of the College at any other point will not have a direct effect on these lands as will the location at Midland.

THE APPROAGHING MOSOUITO SGASON

Senior Sanitary Engineer J. A. Le-Prince of the U.S. Public Health Service who because of his long experience fighting mosquitoes and mosquito-born diseases is as well qualified as anyone to speak on this subject, makes the following comment and suggestions relative to the approaching mosquito season in the

It is pleasing to note the increased intreest and activity developing in many places with regard to mosquito control.

For many years we have been satisfied with the partial protection from the mosquito pest obtained by screening our houses. But the public are evidently no longer satisfied to pay fifty million dollars a year to be driven behind screens and in many localities they have not only decided that the pestiferous and disease bearing mosquito must go, but are actually eliminating both species. In one southern state over two hundred communities were busy last year with mosquito elimination.

Last month the propagation season of the malaria conveying mosquito began again in the southern portion of the Gulf States and within the next sixty days while the farmers are busy planting their crops, the mosquitoes will be busy planting mosquito eggs in such stagnant water as they can find within flight range of your home.

In many localities the public are now ready for mosquito protection, and, in fact, paying for partial screen protection, but they do not get together to discuss their local mosquito problem and determine just what it is. Nobody steps to the front to see that a proper start is made.

What sort of a mosquito problem have you in the community in which you live? Some small communities in rural districts are worrying along with a high sick-rate and discomforts that are not at all necessary and which cost more to support than to eliminate. Your State Health Department has trained mosquito men out in the field to help and to show you how your community can get most results for least expenditure. Mosquito freedom is just like everything else-first we must decide that we want it and then we must go out and get it.

CONSIDERATION IS TOPIC OF GALVESTON RABBI

A recent issue of the Galveston Tribune contains the following interesting editorial on the telephone, written by Rabbi Henry Cohen of Galveston:

"Telephones are a public convenience, and their use the privilege of all subscribers.

Business calls over the 'phone should be as brief as the matter allows and social calls briefer.

"A telephone conversation is not or should not be a substitute for an afternoon call, or a tete a tete visit for the interchange of random gossip, and desultory communication. "It is well to think that someone else may wish to talk to either of the persons, using the 'phone, possibly of an important matter.

"There are not wanting instances of where a 'phone conversation on trivial things has lasted one hour or more, while an important message is on the lips of a subscriber who is told by the operator that "the line is busy."

"Since the telephone company allows no breaking in on a conversation, it should find a means to stop wholesale gossip."

"Maybe one's house is on fire, or the telegraph company wishes to 'phone a message, or a long-distance call is waiting, or one's child is take sick at school, or a member of the family is ill, or the husband wishes an important meeting is scheduled, or the storekeeper cannot send the makeeper to know in time.

Of all citizens of this country the American Legion values the good opinion of none more than the boys of grade and early high school age; wide awake youngsters, still bound by affectionate ties to dogs and swimming holes and pirate caves, but beginning to take an unfeigned interest in mathematics and history and composition. Of such is Gene Haver of Vicksburg, one of the prize winners in Mississippi, in the recent national essay contest conducted by the legion.

Girls and boys were invited to write on the subject: "How can the American Legion best serve the nation." First prize was won by a young lad of Chinese extraction, of Hawaii: secend prize by a school girl in Indianapolis; third, by an American lad of

DEATH OF MRS. ORA EASON WEATHERRED

"None knew her but to love her; None named her but to praise." These words could truthfully have een spoken of Mrs. Weatherred, for she was ever a joy to her parents and a blessing to her husband and children. So patient during the long, dreary illness, she endeared herself to all who ministered unto her. While suffering intense pain she always wore a cheerful smile and was hopeful that she would again be well and strong with her loved ones. She was born May 5, 1897 and died April 12, 1923, just in the spring time of life, when she was enjoying the love of her husband and children; but it was the Master's will that she should go, and to Him alone can we refer the broken hearted family.
