THE 1987 HOMECOMING got a big sendoff Thursday evening at the school bonfire. Here young student spectators climb aboard one of the Spearman Volunteer Fire Department trucks which was on standby. In the picture to the left, SHS cheerleaders urge the crowd on in cheers and victory chants. The bonfire was the prelude to Friday's homecoming gridiron clash between the Spearman Lynx and the White Deer Bucks of district 1-AA. The bonfire was held in the vacant lot just east of the high school tennis courts.

Bucks stall Lynx in 33-27 contest

Like a seething volcano, the White Deer Bucks erupted for 24 unanswered second quarter points and a valiant Spearman Lynx bucket brigade was unable to quench the inferno as they bowed out to their district 1-AA guests Friday night before a full house of homecoming fans in Lynx Stadium.

Friday's loss was the first of the 1987 season for the Lynx who go to 3-1-1 for the year, but -- more importantly -- it seriously dimmed their hopes for a 1-AA district crown as that mark goes to 1-1.

In a district as evenly balanced as 1-AA, this single misstep could spell the difference between a district championship and the also-ran column.

Friday's game was as close statistically as it was on the scoreboard with both teams earning 16 first downs in the district tilt.

Spearman, however, wound up with only 124 yards rushing as they were forced into a catch up mode. But senior quarterback Brett Davis hit on 14 of 22 aerial shots for 325 yards to put the Lynx totals at 449 for the game.

The Bucks had 247 yards rushing and 121 yards passing to total 368 yards in Friday's contest.

Perhaps the turning point rest on two key fumbles -- both in the first half of play.

The first fumble killed Spearman's opening drive which they had taken to the White Deer 22 before coughing up the ball.

Then, in the second frame, trailing by a 17-0 count, the Lynx lost another fumble deep in their own territory at the Spearman 30-yard line. Two plays later, Buck tailback Tim Davis waltzed in for yet another score to put White Deer out front by a 24-0.

White Deer scored in every conceivable manner -- rushing, passing, field goal and safety -- in mounting their 1-AA win.

Following the Buck kickoff, Spearman's Brett Davis found Shawn Cook for a 47-yard pass completion to put the Lynx in scoring position as time ran down to the half.

Then, with all time expired from the first half clock, Davis again found Cook for a 7-yard TD toss to get the Lynx on the board.

A 2-point PAT conversion attempt fell incomplete, but the Lynx had broken their dry spell and the

Celebrity roast set for Friday

Longtime Hansford resident, Jimmy Shieldknight, will be the honoree during a special Celebrity Roast sponsored by the Spearman Chamber of Commerce this Friday evening.

The special dinner will be held in the Spearman Junior High cafeteria and will begin at 7 p.m. Proceeds from the dinner will go to the Spearman Chamber of Commerce general fund.

Tickets for dinner-roast are $30 for couples and $15 for individuals, notes Nancy Graves, chairman for the event.

"We're looking forward to a good time," she declares. "In addition to the roast, we'll also have dinner music provided by Cheryl Meek."

Emcee for the event will be Bob Pearson with Bill Pittman, Dick Gillaspie, James Cummings and Jim Ivey serving as roasters.

LOOKING OVER THE ENTRIES at the Hansford County fair are Mike Hergert (standing) and Doug Steele. The fourth annual county exhibition closed Saturday afternoon following the talent show and the livestock show.

Spearman woman fined on contributing charge

Hansford County Judge R.L. McClellan fined a Spearman woman $100 and court costs Friday morning on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Elizabeth Nitschke was arrested by Hansford County Sheriff R.L. McFarlin on the evening of Sept. 26 when officers of the sheriff's department broke up a party in the sand pits off FM 760 north.

Several minors were involved but were released by the sheriff's office that night.

The Spearman woman was charged with providing two kegs of beer to the minors, according to Sheriff McFarlin.

Consumption of alcohol by persons under 21 has been illegal since legislation was passed by the state two years ago.

"We need to get the word around to all the kids that the game's over," notes McFarlin. "We released those kids the other night, but we won't be doing that any more."

Minors in possession will be charged, juvenile authorities will be contacted and school officials notified in the future, McFarlin warns.

"We've got a good bunch of kids around here and it'd be a shame to see them messed up by something like this," he observes.

School officials report that students who are caught with alcohol in their possession or who are caught drinking outside of school functions will be placed on probation for the remainder of that semester.

Any further infractions would result in automatic suspension.

THE HANSFORD REPORT

by JAMES JARRETT

For all those people who feel they have been maligned by my feeble writings in this column -- well, you have a champion now to defend you.

Perhaps that should be championess... maybe even championette. Fact is, you may just call a female champion a champion. But that's not the point of this story.

The other day, following a particularly resplendent noon luncheon where I performed my usual gastronomical feats -- that's right, I overate again -- I came back to the newspaper office feeling more than a little full.

Walking up to our receptionist-bookkeeper, Pat Hopkins, I attempted to underline the extent to which I had gone by telling her, "Go ahead, punch it." I said this as I indicated my overfilled diaphragm.

I was proud of myself. I gurgled only slightly as her fist hit my spine. Others in the office swore my eyes bulged when she hit me, but I don't give much credence to that report. After all, they're my eyes and I'd certainly know if they had bulged.

For what it's worth, I am not a masochist. Pat merely took my figurative statement literally and punched. Hard. With her fist.

That, of course is the true definition of punch used in that context. I have learned my lesson. From now on I will use the word poke. I might be able to live through that much more comfortably.

If, at any time, we should embarrass anyone through the writings in this column, please let us know.

At no time are our intentions here meant to degrade anyone. It's done in pure fun and, hopefully, is taken in the same manner in which it is given.

We extend our apologies to anyone who might have taken umbrage at anything said here and assure them -- if they will let us know -- that it will not happen again.

1987 milo crop harvest begins

A "better than average" milo crop is waiting in Hansford County fields this week for harvesting as the 1987 cutting begins to get underway, reports Hansford County extension agent Burt Williams.

"All but some milo around and east of Spearman looks real good," Williams notes. "There's a little being cut right now, but some of it is two to three weeks away yet."

Early cuttings already received at county elevators are showing test weights in the 56 to 60 pound range with moisture running at or slightly above 13.

Yields have been running around 5,000 pounds per acre on grain sorghum cut last week.

More sorghum has been cut around the Gruver area than around Spearman, notes Williams.

score stood 6-24 at intermission. It appeared as if the Lynx run of mistakes were going to start all over again in the third quarter when -- on their first possession -- a errant snap to punter Davis flew over his head and rolled out of the back of the end zone for a safety. That gave White Deer yet another two points to up the score to 26-12 with 5:18 left in the third quarter.

A fake punt by Spearman late in the third quarter gave the Lynx new life at the White Deer 40-yard line and, three plays later, Davis found Keith Benson for an 18-yard scoring strike to bring the Lynx within 14 points on their guests, 12-26.

White Deer effectively salted the game away with a 2-yard plunge by fullback Lance Cross with 7:40 remaining in the game.

When Chris Davis toed the PAT, the score went to 33-12 for White Deer and the Lynx were a long three touchdowns away from the Bucks. But Davis found Cook for a 21-yard touchdown pass, then hit him again on the next possession for a 19-yard Td strike to pull within six points of their 1-AA opponents, 27-33.

Brett Davis kept the ball for a 2-point conversion on that first Lynx TD of the final frame.

When White Deer got the ball back, there was still 4:26 to go in the game and Spearman trailed by a slim six points. But the Bucks managed to put together two first downs while running nine plays -- and more importantly, they held the ball until only 37 seconds remained in the game and Spearman was out of timeouts.

The Lynx defense held White Deer on a fourth and one attempt on the Spearman 34 where they took over.

Despite their loss, the Lynx

Spearman jv slips past Bucks, 9-6

The Spearman Lynx junior varsity football 11 kept their season record unblemished this week, turning a defensive struggle at White Deer into a 9-6 win.

The win puts Spearman at 5-0 for the year against district 1-AA jv teams.

The Lynx got on the scoreboard about midway through the second quarter.

They had marched the ball down to the White Deer 3-yard line only to lose it on a fumble.

Three plays later, White Deer dropped back to pass and a raging Spearman defense trapped the quarterback in the end zone for a 2-point safety.

Thursday evening's defensive struggle was proven on the scoreboard as Spearman held that slim, 2-0, lead. That's the way things stood at halftime.

The defensive deadlock carried through into the second half as well with neither team able to mount an offensive strike to paydirt.

Then, midway through the final frame, Lynx signal caller Edward Mayfield found Keith Slaton for a 49-yard touchdown pass.

Cody Reynolds toed the PAT boot and Spearman held a 9-0 lead. The ensuing kickoff provided the only bright spot for the White Deer hosts when they hauled in the kick then returned it for a touchdown of their own.

A 2-point PAT pass was caught by a White Deer downlineman and was nullified. Their next attempt was broken up by Spearman to put the final count at 9-6.

"The kids really deserve all the credit on this one," declares Spearman jv head coach James Mireles. "They played when they needed to and won the game."

The Lynx coach gave accolades to both his offensive and defensive units.

"This was a true team effort," he remarks. "The entire team did an outstanding job."

The Spearman defense held the White Deer junior varsity to only 109 yards rushing and 68 yards passing for 177 yards total offense.

Spearman, meanwhile, racked up 167 yards rushing and added another 68 through the air for 235 yards total.

Scott Wilkerson proved to be the workhorse for Spearman with 83 yards on 26 carries. Edgar Nava had 66 yards on 14 totes and Mayfield finished the night with eight yards on seven carries.

Slaton caught two passes for a total of 56 yards and Reynolds had one pass reception for 12 yards.

The Lynx jv will be idle next week during an open date, then will play host to the Gruver jv on Oct. 15.

White Deer edges Lynx eighth grade

A wily crew at White Deer had to rely on a pair of back-breaking kickoff returns and a last-second effort to escape their Spearman 8th grade counterparts with a 20-14 win Thursday evening in White Deer during junior high football action.

The tone of the evening was set on the opening kickoff which White Deer returned for a touchdown to capture a 6-0 lead just seconds into the contest.

Not to be outdone, the Lynx eighth graders took the ensuing kickoff to march the length of the field with Tino Garcia dancing in from the 8-yard line to knot the score at 6-ALL in the first quarter.

White Deer came back to set up their second touchdown of the night following that kickoff with a return which netted the Lynx 20.

But it wasn't until the second stanza that White Deer could convert against a determined Spearman defense.

Following that TD, White Deer went for the 2-point PAT and made it good to go out by a 14-6 count.

Later, Spearman again put together another strong drive -- this some 70 yards -- with Brian Beck providing the fireworks on a 3-yard plunge for paydirt.

Chris Kelp hit Chris Strawn on a short pass for the 2-point conversion and the score stood tied again, 14-14.

The second half was marked by strong defensive plays both ways, but disaster struck the Lynx offense when, with 1:15 remaining in the game, they fumbled on their own 20-yard line.

Operating from there, it appeared that Spearman had managed to defend their position on a fourth down try which came short of a first down -- only to have an unsportsmanlike conduct flag to give White Deer new life with a first and goal inside the Lynx 10.

With only 12 seconds remaining in the game, White Deer broke into the end zone to take their 20-14 win.

No seventh grade game was held

The Hansford County Veterinary Hospital has been owned by Dr.

Tom and Linda Latta since 1976. They came to Spearman in 1968 and were associated with the Panhandle Veterinary Clinic operated by Dr. H. B. Rinker. They purchased his interest in 1976.

The treatment and boarding facilities have been expanded and now there is considerable acreage adjacent to the structures and some pens used for cattle conditioning.

It is located on County Road #1. There is adequate hospital, treatment and boarding facilities for use in both small and large animal veterinary services.

The Lattas consider the firm fortunate in having the services of Dr. Clint Irwin who is associated with them.

Other employees are Cynthia Floyd, Elizabeth Taylor, Karla McGarrough, Roger Buchanan, Edmond Flores, Encelmo Rodri-

Dr. Latta decided to pursue a veterinary career early in his life due to his devotion to all animals and concern for their welfare. He has some preferences as to which he deals with, but is equally conscientious with large and small.

He recognized that his dedication would have to compensate for the long hours, interrupted nights, and disappointments that are expected with the veterinary practice.

Dr. Latta makes time to study and keep abreast of the latest research and medicines, as well as surgical techniques in order to offer his clients service equal to any available.

Spearman grad leads TSU rodeo'ers

Editor's note: The following article on Hadley Reed appeared in a recent edition of the Texas State University's campus newspaper. Reed is a Spearman High School graduate and is now president of TSU's rodeo club.

"Rodeo is the greatest sport in the world," Hadley Reed said. "I don't want to make a living at it, but I figure I'll do it as long as I'm able."

Hadley Reed is President of TSU's Rodeo Club and Regional Student Director for the National

Inter-collegiate Rodeo Association (NIRA). He's been to the College National Finals (CNFR) twice and thinks the TSU Rodeo Team will probably be back in Bozeman, Mon. competing at the CNFR again next Spring. "We've just got so many people with so much talent," talent."

At last year's CNFR, Reed did not do as well as he would have liked. Just before Bozeman, he tried his luck at riding the buffalo at the Mesquite Rodeo and was about two seconds short of winning the $500 prize money offered. Reed injured his knee during his 'dis-mount.' He is just now getting back to riding broncs and roping calves since knee surgery.

At the Portales, New Mexico College rodeo last weekend, Reed was one of the 75 TSU Rodeo hands to enter up. In the Saddle Bronc, he placed third in the short go and third in the average. Don Eddleman was first in the calf roping and Pat Yancy placed second in the first round of Bull Riding.

Reed plans to compete in the three additional college rodeos this fall; Sul Ross, Vernon, and Texas Tech. His events are Saddle bronc, Calf Roping and Team Roping; he said he has "given up Bareback Riding."

He has been involved in rodeo since his high school days in the Spearman High School.

As busy as Reed is with rodeo, he has managed to maintain a 3.6 GPA with a major in horse production. He takes care of his place just outside of Stephenville, and tends his animals well. His 12 head of roping calves and his steers "are fed as much as they'll eat," Reed said.

"The calves last until they're too big for me to rope," which Reed estimated is about a month or two. They then get turned out on his dad's wheat field in the Panhandle.

"You've just got to take good care of your livestock," Reed said. Hadley Reed is the president of the Rodeo Club; Amy Sanders, Vice-President and Toni Randall, Sec-Treasurer.

Spearman artist featured at Pampa

Spearman's Edith Eddleman will be one of some 40 featured artisans at the 21st Annual Top O' Texas Fine Arts and Crafts Festival which will be held in Pampa Oct. 10-11.

The 2-day run will be held in the M.K. Brown Civic Center there with exhibitors from four states on hand to display their talents.

The festival opens Saturday at 10 a.m. and will run until 6 o'clock that evening. Sunday's hours will be from noon to 5 p.m. Admission is free. Eddleman has chosen to display her works of clay and fabric ornaments at the Pampa exhibit.

In addition to the arts and crafts displays there will also be several food booths.

Featured artist for the 2-day show is Nancy Brown, a noted watercolor painter from Amarillo.

One of her paintings will be given as a door prize at the Festival.

Spelling bee plans being formulated for 1988

AMARILLO, TX.: The Amarillo Globe-News and West Texas State University are again sponsoring the National Spelling Bee for students in the area.

This year's Spelling Bee will be the 40th annual competition for students in the eighth and lower grades and who will not reach their 16th birthday by the end of the current school year.

In each of the 46 counties assigned the sponsors, bee directors have been named to coordinate the program. Serving as bee director for Hansford County is Eddie Gage, principal, Spearman junior high school.

Interested students and school officials should contact the director for information concerning participating.

Each county winner is to be named by March 19 in order to compete in the Regional Bee on the WTSU campus in Canyon on April 16.

One of the 46 participants will win the trip to Washington, D.C. to represent the area in the 1988

National Spelling Bee. The Amarillo Globe-News will provide expenses for the winner and one parent.

Some of the other top finalists will be given special awards.

Gene Parker, director of placement at West Texas State University is bee coordinator.

"I urge all students to participate in this worthwhile educational program. All of us at the university are proud to be associated with the Amarillo newspaper in recognizing the accomplishments of young students," Parker said.

Additional information is available from Parker and also from Jeane Bartlett, spelling bee editor of the Amarillo Globe-News.

The 1988 issue of "Words of the Champions", the study booklet used in the schools, is available from Jeane Bartlett at 50-cents each. Orders may be placed directly with Mrs. Bartlett by contacting her at the newspaper, Box 2091, Amarillo, 79166. The booklet contains more than 3,000 words.

Each county director has the option of conducting a Junior Bee for grades six and lower. Junior county winners do not compete unless they also win the secondary championship.

The sponsors will provide special

Sunday, October 4, 1987 awards for each county Junior champ.

Four states are assigned the WTSU-AGN sponsors. They include parts of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Kansas.

HOWDY, PARTNER!

Repeat that greeting 60,000,000 times to that many cooperative consumer-owners throughout the entire nation, and you come up with one of the greatest networks of partnerships in existence.

Cooperatives, owned and operated by their members, provide an array of goods and services for their friends, neighbors and communities. Co-ops are found in big cities, small towns, rural areas — anywhere people need to get things done efficiently and economically.

There are co-ops for electric and telephone service, farm credit, credit unions, farm marketing and farm supply, insurance, food, and health and day care.

40,000 co-ops have made their mark on their communities with a 50-year-plus track record of helping their communities thrive. That's a lot of progress for a lot of people.

So look for the people in partnership in your community. They're working hard for you and for the nation.

The Energy Wire

The Energy Wire
Washington -- No one is predicting flatly that the crude oil windfall profits tax will be history before the end of the year.
 But the reversal by Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., in favor of killing the tax is perhaps the strongest indication that a fresh political attitude toward the oil and gas industry is as present in the political atmosphere as the new crispness in the early autumn air.
 Dingell, chairman of the House Energy and Commerce Committee, has often been an arch enemy of industry initiatives in Congress, including repeal of the windfall tax. He was famous in the early 1980's for his phrase that he would allow decontrol of all natural gas prices only "over my dead body."

 It was a subdued Dingell, limping on crutches due to a recent hip operation, who told reporters that he had reached a conclusion that the oil industry should receive a political boost and the most attainable way to do it would be to set aside the seven-year-old tax.
 He joined several other oil-state lawmakers in signing a letter to House Ways and Means Committee Chairman Dan Rostenkowski asking that the Illinois Democrat go along with a Senate provision in the omnibus trade bill to repeal the windfall levy.
 Rostenkowski, as chairman of

THE HANSFORD PLAINSMAN

House members on the House-Senate conference committee revising the final version of the trade measure, will play a pivotal role in determining the outcome on the tax. The Senate passed repeal of the tax on a 58 to 40 vote last July after Sen. Lloyd Bentsen D-Texas, was successful in adding the provision to the trade bill in the Senate Finance Committee.
 Dingell cited several factors influencing his change of heart on the windfall tax and, more broadly, about the oil industry.
 "The domestic oil industry is struggling through a severe recession," he said. "Wells are being shut-in, drilling is down, and even ordinary maintenance is being deferred. The downturn in the industry is increasing our vulnerability to future oil shut-offs," said Dingell.
 "In short, the time has arrived when we should repeal the windfall profits tax. We should do so both because no significant revenues are being -- or will be -- collected, and because we must reverse the downward trend of our domestic oil industry. The energy security of the nation depends on it," Dingell said.
 The words might have been uttered by one of the seven oil-state Democrats who joined him in the letter, including Reps. Mike Synar, D-Okla., John Bryant, D-Texas, W.J. "Billy" Tauzin, D-La. and Bill Richardson, D-N.M.
 Dingell also noted the high and useless cost to producers of filling out forms for a tax most of them have not paid since the crash in oil prices.
 "As with the automobile industry, the domestic oil industry is vital to this nation's economy. The repeal of this tax should signal the domestic oil and gas industry that it is time to increase and expand its operations," said the energy committee chairman.
 He added that other northern congressmen might also go along with repeal. "Many members from the Northeast will support it when the issue becomes plain," he said.

Washington -- An oil import fee has been on life supports for months in Congress without hope of immediate recovery, but opponents of the fee were surprised last week by a report from an unexpected source.

 Congressional observers said the study favoring the fee would carry higher credibility not so much because it was done by Harvard's Energy and Environmental Policy Center as because it was produced in New England, the area where opposition to an oil tariff has been strongest.
 The immediate question for those favoring the fee is whether the report really will stir any action in Congress.
 The House Ways and Means Committee is looking at a wide variety of revenue measures for the 1988 budget and an oil import fee has been one of the items thrown on the table, though without backing from the committee's leadership.

A spokesman for the ways and means committee said the committee's chairman, Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., had been meeting behind closed doors to come up with revenue suggestions from the panel's members.
 "My guess would be that in these private conversations, they are saying we should really consider an oil import fee," he said about oil-state lawmakers. So I think it's really a felicitous time for Harvard to have issued this thing. But how much influence it will have, it's still too early to tell."
 The 99-page study does not attempt to justify an oil tariff solely on the basis of providing assistance to the domestic oil and gas industry.
 One of the authors made clear to reporters that the fee would be best for the overall U.S. economy, even though it would have the side-benefit of providing greater industry stability.
 William W. Hogan, Thornton Bradshaw professor of public policy and management at Harvard, said the "optimal tariff" would be $10 per barrel to offset the "social costs" of oil at prices that are expected to gradually rise.
 The argument goes that, in a situation of increasing oil imports, all consumers pay for the cost of increased imports rather than those consumers who actually cause the increase by creating the demand for more foreign oil.

 Thus, Hogan said as an example, if imports go up from 4 million barrels to 5 million barrels per day and the price, due to higher demand, goes up from $18 to $20 per barrel, the total U.S. import bill would rise from $72 to $100 million per day. The actual cost for the 1 million barrels of increased oil imports is $28 per barrel and yet, by spreading the cost to all imports, the market price is only $20 with an increase of $2 per barrel.
 By adding "security costs" onto the social costs, Hogan said an import fee of $10 would more truly reflect the cost of imports and help balance the nation's import diet by encouraging more conservation.

 stration's "Energy Security" study earlier this year wrongly calculated the cost to the economy of a $10 per barrel oil import fee at $200 billion over 10 years. Hogan's report said the fee would benefit the economy by $10 billion over eight years.
 Since a $10 per barrel fee is not politically practical in Congress, the report recommended a flat $5 fee, regardless of the price of oil, which Hogan said would do almost as much good.
