

Glenn Kilgore ...

1975 Grad In Indonesia

Editor's Note: We were delighted to receive this witty and fascinating article from Glenn Richard Kilgore, Jr. as a result of our December request for information on former Spearman high school graduates. Reporter Jean Ann Behney was just as delighted to have Glenn do the writing on his own story, because she says his style is "refreshing and inimitable." We continue to welcome all suggestions for this series of articles.

Leaving High School OR
What I Have Done On
Fourteen Summer Vacations

Glenn Richard Kilgore Jr.

I graduated from Spearman High School in 1975, fully intending to continue my studies at Texas A&M University. However, two significant events (and much coercion from my mother) changed my plans and I found myself attending West Texas State University.

One of the two events which affected my college career actually happened while I was still a Junior in High School. My mother, Frances Kilgore, signed me up for a new pilot program at West Texas State University, where high school juniors could attend college-level summer school for actual credit upon high school graduation. The "Early Admissions" program seemed likely to broaden my horizons and give me a taste of what college life was all about; however, I still think that my mother just wanted to get rid of me for the summer.

The second event bearing on my college career I can blame directly on my father, Glenn Richard Kilgore, Sr. While having lunch in Amarillo one Saturday, my father happened upon one of his friends from college days, who was a member of the Texas State Board of Regents. Dad told his friend of my plans to attend A&M and major in computer science. During the conversation, the man told my father that as much money as possible would be allocated directly to Dr. Phil Gensler and his Computer Science program at West Texas State University.

I soon found myself under the tutelage of Dr. Gensler, himself, at West Texas State. All in all, I think West Texas State was very good for me. I was able to attend school in the fall, returning in the summer to continue my previous profession as Spearman City Parks Attendant and Dog Catcher. However, after one very hot summer of laboring in Spearman's parks, I returned to Canyon, got a haircut, and met the prettiest college coed on the entire West Texas State campus. I gave up parks and dog catching, immediately.

I met Mary Frances Whorton outside Stafford Hall dormitory. I was living in Stafford, which, due to a shortage of women's dormitories, had been designated a "CO-ED" dorm (which was very advantageous for me!) I helped her move her belongings into a dorm room in Stafford Hall, and have been moving her belongings around the world ever since.

We were married on April 1, 1979, and in August that same year, I was graduated from West Texas State with a Bachelors of Business Administration and began working for Diamond Shamrock Corporation. Mary and I lived in a small house in Amarillo which I had purchased during my college days. It did not take long for us to outgrow my little bachelor pad.

By March of 1980, we were anticipating the arrival of our first child, and I again found myself moving Mary (and myself, too) to a larger home in Amarillo. Barbara LeAnne Kilgore was born in August of 1980. Very soon after that, it seems, Glenn Richard Kilgore, III and Frances Elizabeth Kilgore joined her, and our "NEW BIG" house became our "OLD SMALL" house.

In the meantime, I left Diamond Shamrock Corporation in early 1981 to help form Contract Software Services, Inc. My friend and mentor, Dr. Phil Gensler, another entrepreneur and I began a data processing services company in Amarillo which flourished for eight years. Among my other responsibilities, I was Treasurer of the corporation and a member of the Board of Directors. However, none of us was above being the janitor, carpenter, or plumber if the need arose.

I got plenty of practice being all three at home. With three children and a rambunctious wife, there are always adventures of one kind or another to keep one busy. Although, my wife and daughters are sweet and demure, my son is much like his grandfather, always in trouble! My sisters, Margot Sims and Kate Hiebert, both say that he is just like me, but you really have to get to know the child before you can make any accurate judgements.

Mary and I joined First Baptist Church, Amarillo, where we taught a Sunday School class for pre-schoolers. Having grown up watching Dr. Winifred Moore on television, we were in awe getting to meet him personally and actually get to know him on a name basis. My children thought of Dr. Moore much like most kids think of Tom Selleck.

Life is hardly ever calm for very long around the Kilgore household, however. It seems that 1988 was a year for the Kilgores to start completely over. I sold my interest in Contract Software Services, and joined Maxus Energy Corporation. Very soon after that, we left First Baptist Church and joined Trinity Fellowship, a very dynamic and fast-growing church in south Amarillo. If that wasn't enough, by the end of the year we were planning to move to Dallas, where I would take a position with the MIS group.

We had to think long and hard about moving to Dallas. We had called Amarillo home for over 10 years. It was nice to be close to our family and loved ones. Mary's parents, Clyde and Rosie Whorton, live in Dumas, while my mother and grandmother, Sada Hoskins, still live in Spearman. It was very easy for our families to get together. But, by Christmas of 1988, we were living in Cedar Hill, Texas, just south of Dallas. This time we had professional movers and I got to take a rest.

In Dallas, it was much like a continuous college reunion. Many of my friends from college days now call Dallas home. Many of the people I had classes with at West Texas State University were active in the Dallas Data Processing Market, and I constantly ran into familiar faces. In fact, many of my friends from Spearman and CSS came back to haunt me. Ken McClellan worked just a few doors down the hall from me. I also worked closely with Michelle Salinas, Junior Salinas's wife, and Carol Wehrman, a former CSS employee. For some strange reason, I kept meeting Bobby Bulls in out-of-the-way restaurants in Dallas. Does he really live in Amarillo?

We really enjoyed Dallas and took advantage of all of the amenities a city of its size has to offer. But we hardly became comfortable in our new environment when Maxus offered another unique opportunity. In March of 1989, I was offered a position with Maxus Southeast Sumatra, Inc. based in Jakarta, Indonesia.

I don't run into many friends from Spearman or old college buddies in Jakarta.

Having accepted the job offer, we were soon packing and moving to an island nation straddling the equator in Southeast Asia. The nation of Indonesia is located just south of some more well-known places like Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos. Jakarta is the burgeoning capital city of 8 million people on the northern coast of the island of Java. The arrival of the Kilgore family hardly made an impact. There is no way to describe how it feels to be a foreigner in a strange land where you don't know the language or the customs, but it does generate some interesting stories.

My first shock was getting into a car with the steering wheel on the wrong side. The second shock was arriving at my destination in one piece! There are very few driving rules in Indonesia. The main rule is "if you get there first, you have the right of way." All other rules are secondary to the main one. Coming from the USA, where driving makes sense, you become overwhelmed by the chaos on the road. I have personally seen four lanes of traffic moving one way down a two-lane, two-way street - and that's not unusual!

There are strange new things to become accustomed to, like cicaks, for instance. Cicaks are small lizards that live in your house. However, it is considered a "blessing" to have cicaks in your home, because cicaks eat bugs and other household pests. I was personally very happy when I heard about cicaks, since it sounded like they would eat the cockroaches. There is only one problem with that theory: the cockroaches are bigger than the cicaks!

The Indonesian people are

EIDL Loans Available In Hansford County

Hansford County has been designated as one of 39 Texas counties from which the Small Business Administration is accepting applications for Economic Injury Disaster Loans (EIDL), according to an announcement made by Walter Fronstin of the U.S. SBA in Lubbock.

Eligible small business concerns and small agricultural cooperatives (without credit elsewhere) located in the following Texas counties may apply: Andrews, Armstrong, Borden, Briscoe, Carson, Cottle, Crosby, Dal-lam, Dawson, Dickens, Donley, Floyd, Foard, Gaines, Garza, Glasscock, Hall, Hansford, Hart-ley, Haskell, Hemphill, Howard, Hutchinson, Jones, Kent, King, Knox, Lipscomb, Martin, Mid-land, Moore, Motley, Ochilree, Oldham, Potter, Roberts, Sher-man, Stonewall, and Swisher.

The Secretary of Agriculture made a disaster designation as a result of adverse weather and in some counties rangefires which occurred in 1989. Businesses in these counties have until July 17, 1990 to file an application with SBA. Applicants must have sustained substantial economic injury because of agriculture damages caused by the specified adverse weather or rangefires. Farmers and ranchers are not eligible for these loans. However, nurseries that are victims of drought disasters are eligible.

The EIDL program is intended to assist agriculture-dependent businesses and small agriculture cooperatives who sustained a substantial decrease in sales (or other forms of economic injury) directly due to losses incurred by farmers and ranchers to whom the business usually sells. In some cases, this may include non-agriculture-

Water Addressed At Annual Conference

AMARILLO - Public concern over water quality and water availability, now and in the years ahead, will be addressed at the annual High Plains Irrigation Conference here Jan. 9.

Presented by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and its Panhandle Economic Program, the conference will be at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center, 6500 Amarillo Blvd. West. Registration opens at 8:30 a.m.

Use of water, rights to water and the permits and laws which regulate these are under new scrutiny and being challenged in some areas, said Leon New, Extension Service irrigation engineer and conference coordinator.

Such legal issues and their implications for the Texas High Plains will be explained by Frank Booth, Austin attorney.

Recent legislative activities addressing urban and agricultural water issues will be reviewed by Richard Bowers, manager of the North Plains Underground Water District, Panhandle.

Protection of groundwater quality is another public concern. Wayne Wyatt, manager of the High Plains Underground Water District, Lubbock, will report on the present condition of water quality, especially in the Ogallala Aquifer.

The impact of water availability and quality on land value will be examined by Jim Hayes, real estate agent and appraiser, Clarendon.

After lunch, the conference will focus on irrigation management decisions and provide an update on pesticide application regulations.

Furrow irrigation with limited water supply will be explained by Hereford producer Charles Schlabs. Harold Grall, farm manager for Coleman Agri Enterprises in Dumas, will discuss the economics of center pivot and other types of irrigation.

Managing Old World Bluestem as an irrigated grass in cattle operations will be discussed by Larry Jeffus, Guymon, Okla. producer. Byron Gossett, Dumas cattleman, will examine key points in a decision to use irrigated grasses.

The pesticide update will be presented by Dr. Carl Patrick, Extension Service entomologist, Amarillo.

The American Heart Association Hansford County Planning Committee met on Thursday to begin planning for "Heart Month" celebrations for February. They include (l-r back row) Michete Davis, Tim Barkley, Teresa Barkley, (front row, l-r) Mary Dixon, chairman; June Barkley.

Among The Neighbors

by Helen Fisher

Kenneth and Ethel Snow of Lineville, Ala. spent a weekend here during the holidays visiting their only grandchild - Toni Snow. They were guests in the home of Nelva Snow.

Nelva's other daughters and their families also shared Christmas and there were several Christmas gatherings, both here and in Gruver.

Magda and Wesley Garnett are noticing the quiet now after a pleasure filled Christmas week.

Lyn and Andy Riley and two children of Laurel, Miss. and Dr. and Mrs. Wesley Garnett and three children from Columbia, MD brightened Christmas here with their presence.

Mike and Marti Garnett and their family also shared the activities. Dr. Wesley is now with the USDA Relations for Veterinary Services and travels extensively.

Guests of Ray and Beth Phelps during the holidays were their children, Howell and Sandra Phelps, with Todd and David, and Janice and Craig Thornhill. The Phelps live in Austin, and the Thornhills in Dallas.

Friends of Crickett Giles, formerly of Spearman, will be interested in knowing that she is moving from Amarillo to Weatherford, Texas. With her poor health, it seemed wiser that she live near her son, Billy.

Billy is a professor of electronics in the college at Weatherford. Crickett's address will be Box 659.

Weatherford, TX 76086.

Already the committees are gathering addresses for contact with alumni for the all-school reunion, to be held this coming July 6 and 7.

Lois and Woodrow Gibner spent a week in Portland, Ore. over the holidays. They had a delightful week with the three grandchildren as well as with their son, Lynn and Mrs. Gibner.

Ken and Ruth Burch were pleased to have a visit from their nephew Gary Duran of Asheboro, N.C., along with his family, Angela and Carol, and Carol's friend Brent, last Thursday. Family members gathered that evening for a hamburger supper and get-together at the Burch home.

Those attending included Ken and Ruth Burch; Terry, Tammie, Brandi, Natasha, Joseph, Jacob and Jeremy Burch; Elbert, Carma and Megan Dorton; June Potts; and Bill and Billy Martin.

On their way to Spearman the travelers stopped at Cleburne, Texas to visit with Gary's sister, Cindy Simms. They left Spearman late Thursday night to go to Goodwell, Okla. to see Gary's father, Manual Duran, then started their trek homeward on Friday.

Gary is a former Spearman resident, having lived here many years ago with his mother, the late Elizabeth Simms, and his grandparents Roscoe and Ethel Walberry.

warm, friendly and very happy to have Americans in their country. But white Anglo Texans with blue eyes who are at least a foot taller than anyone else in the country still attract a lot of attention. It is a very uncomfortable feeling to have groups of people gather to stare at you while shopping. During my first few days in Jakarta, I was exploring the city, looking for anything which might seem familiar. I happened upon a book and magazine shop in Surine Jaya, a local department store. I was so relieved to find some source of information (contact with the outside world!) that it took several minutes for me to figure out that all of the books and magazines were in Bahasa Indonesia. Of course, I felt pretty stupid and somewhat embarrassed, but imagine how I felt when I began to notice that everyone was staring at me! I didn't understand that I was being stared at because I was white. I, quite naturally, thought it was because I was stupid.

There are good things about living in Indonesia, though. I had heard stories of deserted tropical islands all of my life, but had never seen one until now. We spend some weekends on a private island, forty kilometers from Java. The Java Sea is crystal clear and blue. The air is crisp and clean. We swim and snorkel around coral reefs, much like swimming in an oversized aquarium. Local fishermen land their boats on the beach and we buy fresh snapper for 5000 Rupiah (about $2.75).

Dealing with the local currency makes me feel wealthy. The exchange rate is about 1,790 Rupiah to one US dollar, so I became a multi-millionaire upon receipt of my first paycheck. The only drawback is that prices on consumer goods went up along with my paycheck. It's a little scary to go to a grocery store for a weeks worth of groceries, when the bill comes to Rp. 200,000. To prevent heart attacks, you learn to be quick with mental division.

We will stay in Indonesia for a least two years, then return to the United States and make our home in Dallas. It's quite possible that the first familiar face we see upon our return will be Bobby Bulls, hanging around the airport restaurant.

related businesses which sustain a substantial economic loss directly due to the inability of the farmers affected by the disaster to purchase goods and services at their normal levels. Small businesses claiming to have been physically injured by the adverse weather or range fires are not eligible for SBA economic injury loans.

The EIDL program is available only to businesses that are considered small by SBA size standards and do not have credit available from other sources. The interest rate for loans processed under this designation is 4 percent for small business concerns and small agricultural cooperatives without credit available elsewhere. The loans are limited to the financial needs of the applicant based on the actual economic injury and may be made for up to $500,000. A loan may extend to 30 years, depending on repayment ability.

Eligible victims seeking loan information and application forms may call, toll-free, 1-800-527-7735.

AMARILLO PUBLIC LIBRARY

Ethics and people, buildings and spaces, is the topic of the series of programs titled "Texas In The 21st Century: Structures For The Future," to be presented by the Amarillo Public Library. The library recently received notification that a grant to produce a third year of lecture/discussions about "Texas In The 21st Century: Structures For The Future" has been funded. The programs will take place at Central Library at 10 a.m. - 2 p.m., Jan. 13, 20 and 27. The library is located at 4th and Buchanan.

The three programs will involve three facets of 21st century life: "concrete" structures of the Future, an architect's point of view; health and aging structures of the Future from the cultural anthropologist's point of view; and the ethical structure of the Future.

All programs are free and open to the public. Pre-registration by calling 378-3051 is suggested for all programs. Reservations for the lunches at $5 each may be made by sending a check to "Texas in the 21st Century," Group Services, P.O. Box 2171, Amarillo 79178, by the Wednesdays prior to each week's program.

Wishing You Great Restoring In 1990

Renzee Lynn Goodheart, my 2 year old granddaughter, is already reading instructions to her new cousin Austin Ford Benton, 4 months old, on how to restore trunks, which he shows little interest. We continue to strive to satisfy your interests though, in trunk restoring. We appreciate your business. Happy trunking from Charolette Ford; Kent, Tamala, and Austin Benton; Darren, Kamala, and Kenzee Goodheart; Elvin and Mildred Martin.

Congratulations to Erin Bergin of Gruver.

She was the winner of our trunk.

Her name was drawn by Brett Whitford.
