Farmers Revive Demands for

Spraying Law

Increasing damage to broad-leaf crops in the county is re-viving the demands for the law to control the spraying of weed killers.

County Judge Johnnie Lee said more pressure is being brought on the Commissioners Court by farmers raising broadleaf crops every day.

Lee said more damage is being reported every day by farmers. They are demanding that the law controlling the use of weed killers be invoked in the county:

Judge Lee said he inspected five fields Wednesday and all five fields had been damaged by weed killer, one field of

by weed killer, one field of cotton was damaged to the extent that it would probably have to be plowed up.

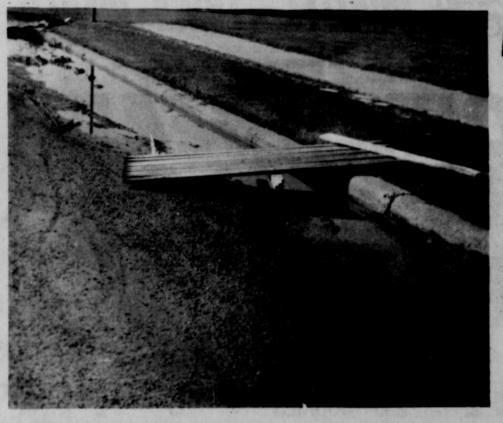

Lee said county officials are reluctant to put the law into effect because they do not feel it will solve the spray problem. There was a movement by farmers raising broadleaf crops last summer to get the state law controlling the use of weed killers invoked in the county. This law required that persons doing spraying be bonded, also that a fee be paid for each acre sprayed and other restrictions. restrictions.

After investigating the law and its effects in other counties, the commissioners court decided to try a voluntary control program.

The counties have the right to put the law into effect, but it takes an act of the state legislature to remove the law from a county. Lee reminded farmers that anyone hiring a spray plane or ground spray rig to spray for weeds is just a liable for any damage done by the spray as the firm doing the spray-few miles.

This year's trip fell many miles short of those in past years. The train traveled only from Liberal to Dodge City, Kan., in four days. This is far under the 18 and 33 day trips of the past two years.
The trip had all the excitment of past years, run-aways from 18 towns and one for-eign country and 50 head of mules.

This year there were several gunfighters from Frontier City in Oklahoma City traveling with the train in their wagon. One of the gunfighters, Jim Rollins, and his bride were making the trip their honeymoon.

The train got a lively start in Liberal the night before it pulled out. The train and the gunfighters put on a show at a baseball game. The gunfighters hanged the crooked umpire. Then, just to top that act, a team of mules ran away and made two trips around the baseball field before they could be controlled.

The next night at Mineola, Kan., the train was entertained by the Singing Moms of Mineola and other entertainers. The "Ole Professor" of the train, Otto Mangold, a teacher in Pampa, was master of ceremonies.

Another show was staged by the Frontier City Gunfighters. They had a different show for the train each night.

Mrs. Rollins also celebrated her 21 birthday that day and there was a party complete with cake, candles and the happy birthday song.

Faculty Almost Complete Now

A junior high school teacher has resigned, but Dr. Reeves, Superintendent of Spearman Schools, says he is close to having a full faculty for the opening of school.

Mrs. Eddie Read, the seventh and eighth grade reading and spelling teacher resigned this week. She and her family are moving to California.

Mrs. Read had taught in the Spearman School only one year.

Dr. Reeves said he had people selected to fill the two vacancies in the faculty. They will be presented to the board for formal approval at its next meeting.

Dr. Earl H. Collister, Executive Vice-President of the High Plains Research Foundation, has announced that the Foundation has regretfully accepted the resignation of Dr. Arthur Gohlke, Principal Soil Scientist and Administrative Assistant.

Dr. Gohlke has been responsible for many achievements during his employment with the Foundation. He has worked diligently with such projects as trace elements in fertilization, chemical herbicides and insecticides, aqua-humus studies, the effect of a growth regular on cotton, temperature effects on various crops, and sugar on various crops, and sugar beet production.

Dr. Collister stated that all of these important research projects will be continued and expanded through the efforts of a highly qualified scientist who will join the Foundation staff in the near future.

Dr. Gohlke, with his family, will be leaving the area of Plainview for his new duties with the Tennessee Corporation.

Candy Barr Returns to Prison For Annual Prison Rodeo Show

Huntsville--Texas Prison Nu-mber 153781 returned to the Texas Department of Corrections in Huntsville this week and hardly a head was turned. There was not even the slightest aura of excitement.

Such was not the case in December, 1959 when TDC153781 first entered the Goree Unit of the Texas Department of Corrections, At that time, representatives from all themelos. sentatives from all themajor news media were present. They knew the nation wanted to see and read about Cardy Barr, the darling of the Las Vegas, New Orleans and Dallas strip joints,

The readers and viewers were rewarded. Candy Barr alternate ly wept and laughed as she walked through the security gate of the Texas women's prison.

Now, six and a half years later, having been free on pa-role for more than three years, Candy Barr-Juanita Phillips in private life-came back to prison. This time, to make preparations for her appearance at the Texas Prison Rodeo in October. She had driven from her home she had driven from her home in Edna, Texas to meet with Richard C. Jones, director for treatment, to discuss her proposed act (she will sing at the Prison Rodeo) and her costume (she will wear "something simple and in good taste"). When the business at hand was concluded, she expressed a desire cluded, she expressed a desire to visit the Goree Unit where she had served three years in Dismiss the thought, Icabod, that hunters aren't good sports!

Just take those two citizens who sent the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department money of the realm along with requests for permits for the second annual experimental teal hunt September 10-18.

One gay chap, envisioning happy times afield, forwarded a $1 check and invited the permit processors to "have coffee on me."

In the same mail came a $5 check with no strings attached. Just have caviar, or anything

There have been some other aquiries about the cost of the inquiries about the cost of the permits.

Al Springs, staff services chief, stressed that the permits are available for the asking. He pointed out that only the full name, home address and county of residence are needed. Springs assumed the eager teal gunners could have been confused by information that the hunters do need a regular hunting license and the Federal duck stamp.

Can't think why, but there nust be some reason for in-spendence Day to come right fter June weddings.--Chang-ing Times.

A Thought for Retailers

Did you just lose a customer?

Every year (on the average) 18 per cent of a store's customers move away or die.

Many others shift their buying from one store to another, perhaps because of a grievance, perhaps because they think they're getting better merchandise, or lower prices, or perhaps because of one store's apparent indifference, and the other's aggressive promo-

On the Other Hand..

Many new families move into the community each year, replacing those who move out.

Many young people become adults annually. They marry, and create new families, which require food, clothing, homes, cars and ar multitude of other things.

The Point Is...

A retailer isn't dealing with a fixed group. He is selling a passing parade, an ever-changing market.

That is why advertising--consistent advertising-which reaches all the potential customers is an essential part of successful merchandising today.

In this area, nearly all your potential customers are readers of The Hansford Plainsman. New residents or natives, young or old, they need the newspaper. Its thorough coverage of the market is another strong reason why the newspaper is the basic retail advertising medium.
