Learning disabilities...an all-too-common problem

Peggy Lindley gave the program at the Spearman Lions Club Tuesday. All of the club members agreed that this was the best program of the year We all join in saluting Mrs. Lindley and all of the excellent teachers in the Spearman school system. The following story explains the importance of this excellent program presented by the Spearman school system.

Estimates vary, but in various forms they may affect up to 20% of all school children....

Most have average, nearly average or above-average intelligence. Most have no noticable physical handicaps. Untreated, learning disabili-

1) prevent a child from mastering the basics 2) damage a child's self-image and self confidence--with lifelong effects. Better understanding of the problem can lead to earlier detection and help for the learning-disabled child.

What do you mean, "Learning Disabilities?" They're usually disorders of the central nervous system that interfere with one or more Basic Learning Functions (collecting information -- child judges depth, distance or size incorrectly--or can't match clues from different senses; sorting information--child can't perceive small details or class similar objects together; confuses sizes, shapes, colors, etc; storing information--memory may be poor; in certain areas; child may not be able to remember sequences of sounds, how sounds match with letters; expressing information--child may have trouble translating what he/she knows into speech, writing or physical activity.

Some learning disabilities are mild (child will probably overcome them alone)...others are relatively severe (child will need get extensive specialized help. What causes learning disabil-

No one knows for certain. Most experts believe they're caused by illness or injury. Some learning disabilities may be hereditary. We do know that learning disabilities usually are not caused by--defects in sence organs, emotional troubles (except in a few cases), mental retardation, or cultural depriva

Symptoms of a learning disability may show up before school age ... every child "acts up" and "acts out" from time to time; learns some skills faster than others. It's when problems are very frequent or severe that there is cause for concern.

However, most learning disabilities are discovered when school problems occur (when a child isn't able to participate in class activities or complete schoolwork consistently).

Common learning disabilities

Speaking/Listening--Brain can't control speech muscles, so child can't reproduce sounds accurately. He/she can't perceive sounds or their order in a word, so can't repeat them correctly.

Reading--Words and letters are confused--may be seen backwards. Child can't build words from letters.

Writing--Child has inability to copy a visual image. He/she may be able to tell shapes apart, but can't draw them.

Numbering--child is unable to understand and use number concepts. Child may reverse the order of figures, fail to understand the order involved in counting, etc. Other problems--such as short attention span, anger, nervousness, impulsiveness, hyperactivity--often make learning disabilities seem even worse. Without specialized help, several disabilities may overlap and make schoolwork impossible. When a learning disability goes untreated, the child may be caught in a vicious cycle of poor performance, anger, frustration and more failure. The child's confidence and selfesteem may be permanently

For example:

1) A child scores poorly on a spelling test. The child studied hard, but just couldn't remember the letters. 2) The parents get worried; tell the child he/she will have to study harder and longer until the words are learned, even if it means no playing after school.

3) The child tries again. He/she knows how to say the material: but still can't write it, and fails the test again.

4) The parents get angry; blame the child. They may threaten punishment, accuse child of being "stupid", etc.

5) The child may just "give-up" No matter how hard he/she tries, the child just can't succeed, so why bother? 6) From then on, the child is convinced failure is his/her fault. The child expects to fail and does. To compensate, he/she may become withdrawn or overly aggressive.

Children with learning disabilities usually need SPECIAL HELP at school and at home to learn how to learn. The right environment can make a big

Spearman gas prices average

If you gasp when you get your gas bill during the winter months, you are not alone, according to a survey made by Donna Thomas of the City of Spearman on the average prices for natural gas for cities in the Texas Panhandle.

The survey, which encompassed 28 cities in the north and south plains area and the Panhandle, studied the cost of gas based on an average of 20 million cubic feet of gas per utility customer.

Spearman residents pay $89.61 for 20 MCF. Perryton residents pay $87.60 per MCF. Residents of Dalhart and Amarillo have the lowest bills of the cities surveyed. Dalhart customers pay a mere $13 for 20 MCF of natural gas, while Amarillo bills amount to only $42.32, according to the survey. The highest rates are found in Gruver and Stinnett. Gruver customers pay $115.50 for the base amount of gas, while Stinnett residents face an overwhelming bill of $120.71. Both city-owned utilities and private companies were repre-sented in the cities surveyed. Rates are based on November 1

The meeting is scheduled for 10 a.m., Monday in the Deliberation Room of the Hansford County Courthouse. The agenda for the meeting follows:

1. Reading of minutes of last meeting. Receive Treasurer's report.

Payment of claims.

4. Appoint county Greviance Committee. Approve Bonds for Clerk's office.

Discussion of County Jail.

Set salary for releif dispatcher, Sylvia Schaffer, is Sheriff's office.

8. Order to pay County officials on salary basis.

The commissioners court conducts two such meetings a month. State statute requires a meeting for all county commissioners courts on the second Monday of each month. Counties are allowed as many convenings of the court as deemed necessary by local county administration.

To offer every opportunity to Hansford citizens, two regular meetings per month are scheduled and the public is urged to attend each meeting.

Those with business to come should check with the office of County Judge R.L. McClellan because items eligible for attention and action must be on the official agenda and that must be published well in advance of the meeting as required by state law.

The same statute requires advance notice of any emergency sessions of the court, too, so that the public is aware of the activity of the commissioners court at all times.

Drache interviewed hundreds of highly succussful farmers in the course of research for his writings and teachings. # Lynxettes 'Smear' Darrouzett "Lookin' Good". They defeated the Darrouzett Lady Longhorns in the first round of the 54th Annual Canadian Wildcat Varsity Tournament. The final score was 65 to 12!!

The game was close in the first quarter, 14 to 7, but after that the Lynxettes' Claw "cut thru" the Lady Longhorns making them "short"horns in the end of the game. The Lynxettes Defense was superb. the Offense was excellent, Darrouzett could accomplish nothing except congratulate this fine team at the final buzzer. The Lynxettes scored 25 points to 3 in the 2nd quarter-that is when the Lynxette domination of the game took over. The score at the half was 39 to 10

There was really not much to say to his Lady Longhorns except to try and score some points, the Lynxette pressure was just too much for the Lady Longhorns. The Lynxettes outscored the Lady Longhorns 12 to 2 in the 3rd quarter, but their finest quarter was the final quarter. The Lynxettes Defense completely devastated the Lady Longhorns' Offense letting them be scoreless in the final quarter. The Lynxettes outscored Darrouzett in the 4th quarter, for the 4th time that morning 14 to 0. The final score was 65 to 12. Lea Ann Gibner had 10 points as did Andrea Mires. It was a tough game for the 7th Lynxettes, their first "district" game of the season, and the tough news was, it was against Dalhart at Dalhart, and the sad news was that Michelle Sandoval, one of the 7th grade Lynxettes that handles ball really well and shoots really well, had gotten sick. That sort of left the 7th Lynxettes hoping that she would get better and that took their concentration of the game. The 7th Lynxettes finished the game with 4 hard earned points, it was tough.
