Immediately after the shooting Will Dickinson surrendered himself to the sheriff and was lodged in jail.

There were several shots fired one of which took effect producing a flesh wound only. Quite a crowd witnessed the shooting as it took place on the public square.

Mr. Dickinson passed through Tahoka in an auto Thursday afternoon on his way home, both parties living in or near Lamesa.

We were unable to learn what led up to this regrettable affair.

We learn by telephone just as we go to press this, Friday, afternoon that Mr. Morgan is doing very well.

NATIONAL CORN TROPHY

Illinois Corn Grower Wins The Kellogg $1,000 Cup At National Corn Show, Columbus

R. A. James, of Charleston, Ill., has the proud distinction of having grown the best ear of corn in all the 3,125,713,600 bushels of last year's bumper crop. At the National Corn Show just held at Columbus, Ohio, this gentleman was awarded the W. K. Kellogg National Corn Trophy, donated in 1909 by W. K. Kellogg, president of the Thousands of ears of corn from all parts of the country and of all varieties were entered in the competition. The selection of the grand champion Sweepstakes and the award of the Kellogg trophy were made on general points of superiority

James is of Reid's Yellow Dent variety. It is 10 inches long, 7 1/4 inches in circumference, has 20 rows of kernels, 6 to the inch in the row, average 5-8 of an inch in depth, and 5-16 of an inch in width. It is indeed a very correct type of yellow dent corn.

Mr. James, the winner, is a vigorous farmer about 40 years of age and of a pleasing personality, a man who has given careful study to corn culture, and who has achieved his success as

J. J. SUITER DEAD

The sad news comes to us that J. J. Suites, who once lived in Tahoka, was killed April the 8th by being run over by a switch engine in Amarillo. He was the flagman at 10th street at the time of the accident. His sister Mrs. G. W. Reed, of Post City was notified but did not get there until after the funeral.

Miss Mabl Shook, of Tahoka, visited at the home of Miss Ruby Black last week.

ANOTHER BIG WELL

J. B. Lowe came in from the country last week where he has been digging a well for S. N. McDaniel. They struck water at 40 feet, but hardly enough water for household purposes was yielded by this vein. They continued to dig and at the depth of 108 feet a fine strong stream of water rewarded them and Mr. McDaniel tells us they have 80 feet of water of the finest quality.

BOX SUPPER AND SOCIAL

The Baraca Class And B. Y. P. U. To Give Box Supper And Social In Behalf Of Ball Team

The B. Y. P. U. and Baraca Class are to give an entertainment to help buy the uniforms for our Baseball Team.

We are glad to see this fraternal feeling manifested between church interests and amusements. Our boys can enjoy their fun and recreation no a grand champion winner only by years of hard work and painstaking seed selection and careful breeding from season to season.

Illinois growers are especially elated over the result for the reason that this is the first time in four years that the honors have been wrested from the state of Indiana. Last years champion ear, the first winner of the Kellogg trophy, was grown by Mr. Fred C. Palin, of Newton, Ind. It was also of Reid's Yellow Dent variety.

crossed with Alexander Gold Standard. Last year's prize winner is the most perfectly formed of the two, though it requires a careful judge to distinguish the points of superiority.

The trophy awarded to Mr. James was made by Tiffany, of New York, for Mr. W. K. Kellogg, at a cost of $1,000. It is made of Sterling silver, bronze and enamels, and is a truly artistic creation. It stands 30 inches in height. Mr. Kellogg's interest in corn growing can be understood when it is stated that he Kellogg Toasted Corn Flake Co., of which he is president, has an output requiring 10,000 bushels of corn a day, raw product, for its manufacture. A peculiar feature is that while the Kellogg product is made exclusively from selected white corn, the Kellogg trophy has been won each time by a yellow corn exhibit. The trophy is offered for annual competition until won twice by the same grower.

The National Corn Show at which the award was made, was an event of tremendous magnitude. At one of the sessions President Taft was present and delivered an address.

EASTER SUNDAY AT DRAW

DRAW SUNDAY SCHOOL REORGANIZED ON EASTER SUNDAY

T. J. WILLIAMS NEXT SUPT

School Began its New Record With Thirty-Five Pupils And Six Officers And Teachers Enrolled. That is Going Some.

Easter Sunday at Draw was celebrated in a most fitting manner. The Sunday School was organized and everything put in shape for a busy and successful year.

T. J. Williams was elected Superintendent and Miss Willie Waller Secretary. 35 pupils were enrolled and the school was divided into four classes. W. A. Waller is teacher of class A, which is the bible class, Mrs. D. N. Sewell has charge of class B, J. N. LeMond has class C, while Mrs. Waller is teacher of class D the primary class.

The members of the school are taking great interest and we expect great things of them the coming year.

One of the most important elements of Success however depends upon the training of teachers, and we should be glad to hear from them along this line.

less because their friends in the church take so much interest; indeed a number of the ball team also belong to these other organizations who are planning to assist with the equipment for the summer.

Tahoka is proud of her ball team and of their victories. Not many towns as a body are so fond of a good game of ball. Every body from the preachers, business men and county officials to the least boy in town turns out, and the ladies from grandma in her buggy, to little Miss baby in her gocart cheer the boys on to victory.

It is only a fair exchange for so much enjoyment, that we give the boys a lift with the outfit they need for the summer.

We should be planning for the Fourth of July and who wants to face the green and red on the diamond unless it is bran new and spick and span from the tailor.

We are looking forward to seeing our boys do some good playing this summer and recording many victories to their credit. There has never been a local team that crossed bats with them and carried off the laurels, unless assisted by one or more experts. This is a record of which any team may be proud.

BOYS' SUITS.

We have a fine line of Boys' Suits in all sizes from 2 1/2 to 14 years. Best Quality, Latest Styles and lowest prices. Come and let us fit your boy in the very best Suit in Tahoka.

Easter services were held at the Baptist church Sunday. Bro. Balch preached to a large congregation. Bro. Sharp being away, all the church goers went from the Methodist church.

Dr. McCoy and family spent Sunday at the home of J. N. Jones ten miles north of town. They report a very pleasant trip.

Among other things, the automobile has taken a load off the Humane society.

As yet, the aeroplane has not begun seriously to worry the automobile business.

It is better for one's aeroplane to go wrong ten miles from land horizontally than vertically.

One of the scientists predicts that the women of the future will be bald-headed. Pah! He is dreaming. If women were bald-headed, how could they use hatpins?

The Montana bride who had never spoken to her prospective husband until a few minutes before the marriage ceremony will probably make up for her lack of loquacity.

Three thousand girls are taking a commercial course in the Boston high schools. Perhaps this is one of the reasons why schoolboys are being taught to sew and darn.

In Germany there is a dog that can speak seven words. No woman is likely to have much respect for a dog that can't make use of a more extensive vocabulary than that.

The party who referred to the Smithsonian institution as a "trash heap" evidently labors under the impression that the specimens slaughtered by Col. Roosevelt are already there.

A New York judge has decided that a wife, even though she be childless, is a man's "family" to the extent of sharing in his money. Even the law these days of women's rights is deferring to the lady.

A peaceful citizen who was held up and robbed by two Chicago crooks wants to thank them because they didn't kill him. All of which constitutes our notion of the uttermost limit of optimism.

A rich coal operator of West Virginia wants a divorce because his wife insisted on putting on boxing gloves with him and whipping him every night. Before deciding to break up his happy home he should have tried putting on a catcher's mask and an umpire's pad.

Russia is going to build a $75,000,000 fleet for the Black sea. Evidently Russia isn't taking much stock in this universal peace business.

A Philadelphia woman wants a divorce because her husband allowed her only 25 cents a day. Evidently she isn't satisfied with her quarters.

It is not surprising that the remains of a dinosaur should be found in New York city. Dead ones are plentiful in the vicinity of Broadway.

Wealthy Men

There Is No Royal Road to Vast Fortunes

By GEORGE BRANDEN

THE world at large, longing for wealth as the symbol of ease and cheerful indolence as one great hungry, but stupid giant, certainly fails to realize how much real, genuine hard work the men whose names are associated with fabulous work have done and in many cases are doing right now.

And moreover it is not spasmodic work, done in fits and starts against their will; their great success is not always a matter of luck and in many cases not even a matter of supreme ability; it is rather a matter of supreme energy and capacity for genuine hard work.

It seems a strange arraignment of things which allots wealth to the man who does not enjoy idleness and chafes at inaction and decrees that the man who sighs for ease and luxurious surroundings shall never realize on his sighs. But that is most certainly the arrangement. The men of great wealth frequently have the fortune of a hundred because they have the energy of a hundred and give their capacity for work full play. An intimate glimpse into the lives of some of the millionaires would tend sometimes to silence a part of the ever-present cry of "thief, oppressor, predatory force," etc.

Take, for example, George Westinghouse, whose name appears often on your electrical fans, on the car brakes, if you notice them, and on many things electrical which you happen to see. Along the main line of a railroad just east of Pittsburg you pass hundreds of yards of great smoky, noisy shops and on every one you read the name Westinghouse in large letters until you wonder if the man controls all the manufacturing establishments in Pittsburg.

If you had never seen this man and knew nothing of him you would probably picture him as a bulky, diamond-studded person with an apoplectic complexion who does not know the topography of his own plant and would yawn if you asked him how many men he employed—one of those mythical creatures which exist chiefly in the public imagination spending their only moments of real activity on the Muldoon physical culture farm.

In so far as this relates to Mr. Westinghouse it is ridiculously untrue. As it happens, the great Westinghouse is no longer ensconced in that line of buildings which bears his name, but in an adjacent factory amid all the smoke, steam and clatter of a huge machine shop you will find him, the inventor of a score of devices that have brought in millions, the owner of a half-dozen automobiles and the veteran financier, bending over a draftman's board perhaps, or superintending the construction of a new engine, doing his day's work with his men as he has always done and will certainly do until he dies or is incapacitated, giving to the world more in every hour than a hundred of his workmen do in a day.

Proper Studies for Children at School

BY OSCAR THIELE Chicago

never took any interest in cooking at home, although my wife is a very good cook. But now she takes quite an interest at home.

I think the teachers are doing their share toward teaching the pupils, but it depends much on the children whether they learn or not.

Some are slow in learning and others are bright. What I do not approve of is the fact that the pupils of the higher grades get too much home work and their parents are expected to help them with their lessons.

Should the parents be poorly educated or have half forgotten their learning, then their help would be useless and the child's lessons poor.

Therefore their school hours ought to be one or two hours longer, so that they can do most of their home work at school with the teachers to assist them.

Need of Fresh Air for Our Cattle

By F. SCHMIDT

I have the opportunity to see every day a lot of slaughtered cattle that are condemned as unfit for human food on account of the tuberculosis from which they suffer.

I think that it would more than pay to keep cattle in perfectly sanitary stables. This would tend to provide humanity with wholesome food and besides it would prevent the loss of cattle on account of unhealthy conditions.

Widower Should Contract Second Marriage

By MARY LIGHTE

It is just as essential to learn the arts of sewing and cooking as to learn reading, writing and arithmetic. My motto is, "One can never learn too much."

A girl is not compelled to take up sewing or cooking. She does it of her own free will. Still I must criticize the way cooking is taught in school. There are too many cakes and expensive dishes taught. The children ought to learn to cook more wholesome and inexpensive everyday dishes.

I have two girls at school. The older studies cooking and she enjoys it. Before she studied cooking in school she

In my opinion the importance of the sanitary conditions under which cattle are kept is not sufficiently taken into consideration.

We know that it is recommended that cattle should be treated with serum against tuberculosis. But there is very little done to keep cattle in sanitary stables in order to prevent tuberculosis.

We hear almost every day the preaching of pure air for people in order to prevent sickness, particularly tuberculosis. But when do we hear anybody advocating plenty of pure air for the cattle?

There is no real reason why an elderly man should not make a second marriage. I have had the care of my father for ten years, and he has been a widower 23 years.

He might have been married 20 years of this time only for other people's interference.

I am not sorry that I have given ten years of my life to his care, or that I am still doing so.

But what I cannot check is my father's oft-repeated "Dear, I'm so lonely."

ANGORA GOATS VALUABLE AS PASTURE SCAVENGERS

One Animal to Acre Will Keep Briers, Weeds and Bushes Completely Subdued on Land That Is Inclined to Grow Up in Wood.

Angora Goat and Does.

My experience with the Angora goat for the past five years has proved that one goat to the acre will keep the briers, weeds and bushes completely subdued in land that is inclined to grow up in blackberry briars and hickory, oak, red bud, dogwood, sumac and similar growths, writes Rufus Lester of Wayne county W. Va., in the Orange Judd Farmer.

At the same time, the land will yield as much pasture for horses, cattle, hogs or sheep as it would if the goats were not on it. All kinds of stock seem to do well in the same pasture with the goats.

For the goat to be of best service the underbrush should be cut out or fire should run through the woods, so as to kill the small timber. The large timber should be girdled so as to kill it, and the goats will then keep the sprouts down until the roots of the timber die out and blue grass will sod the land. This will require about three years. The Angora goat is not afraid of dogs and can protect itself well against their attacks. They are fond of butting each other in play, but I never saw one attempt to fight other stock.

It requires some kind of fence to keep the goat in which he cannot stand on the top of or climb up. The best fence for Angora goats is the woven wire fence. This fence need not be over 40 or 42 inches high. The fence must be close to the ground, so they cannot crawl under. When their hair is long enough to protect them goats will often crawl through a barbed wire fence, if the wires are not very close or the posts close together with the wires well stretched. Goats will not jump over any fence, they want to climb up, and then they will jump down, or they will jump up on top of the fence and then down; but they never jump over a fence like a mule or steer.

FRUIT TREE PLANTING POINTS

Should be Placed in Ground While Dormant in Well Drained Soil With Hole Large Enough to Spread Roots.

(By PROF. JOHN W. LLOYD, Illinois Farmers' Institute.)

1. When to plant fruit trees: While they are dormant; while the ground is in a workable condition; late in the fall after growth has stopped, or early in the spring before it has begun.

2. Where? In well-drained soil.

3. How? Dig an ample hole; spread the roots out in their natural position and pack fine earth around them. It is handy to separate the clods from the fine soil in digging. There is always a balance between the roots and branches of a tree, so if many roots have been cut off in digging the tree from the nursery, a corresponding amount of the top must come off. If trees are planted in the fall some precaution should be made against their being heaved out of the ground by alternate freezing and thawing. This can be done by spreading a thick layer of straw or manure around the tree.

There are four essential points in the care of fruit trees. They are: 1. Tillage. 2. Fertilization. 3. Pruning. 4. Protection from enemies.

Tillage is just as necessary in tree raising as in corn raising, and for the same reasons: To avoid the competition of other plants, to conserve moisture and to render plant food available.

Intelligent pruning is also very necessary to raising fruit. Each bud on a tree is capable of giving rise to a branch, and if every branch is allowed to grow the tree will become too dense. We must thin out the branches in the tree tops or we will have little fruit. It takes moisture to develop an apple and sunlight to color it: so the foliage must not be too thick. Pruning is also employed to make the tree assume the desired shape. It should also distribute the large branches equidistantly, as nearly as possible. It is always best to grow a good strong branch on the southwest side of the tree, where the hot suns and strong winds come from.

In pruning, we should cut the limb in such a way that it will heal quickly. To do this the limb should always be cut as close to the body as possible, and parallel with it. A saw should be used, and the wound must be coated over with white paint or something similar, to prevent weathering and infection from bacteria or fungus growths. Another important thing is to keep trimming off the ends of the limbs on young trees.

There are three kinds of enemies that trees must be protected from. The first of these includes rabbits, mice, etc. A tall piece of heavy paper tied around the base of the young tree, or a piece of wire screening will settle this matter. The second class of enemies contains the insects, of which the scale insects are the most dangerous. The scale insect can be controlled by spraying with a lime-sulphur wash and the chewing insects by spraying with paris green. The third class of enemies consists of fungus diseases. These can be controlled by spraying with Bordeaux mixture, which is composed as follows: Four pounds copper sulphate, four pounds lime, 50 pounds water.

Best Lubricant for Machinery.

Where the pressure is heavy the lubricant should be thick in order to resist being squeezed out under the load. For light pressures oil should be used. Thus for a wagon heavy grease is best, while for a cream separator of high speed a thin oil is necessary in order that its viscosity will not add to the friction. Solid substances in a finely divided state, such as graphite, are often used effectively to reduce friction. This is regarded as a good practice in handling the bearings of a windmill, which can only be looked after occasionally.

Peaches on Grape Vines.

It is reported that near Greensburg, Ind., a large grape vine in some manner became inoculated with a seedling or shoot from a peach tree and last season grew a half dozen well-formed small peaches.

They cured me completely, no sign of kidney trouble having shown itself in years. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to at least one hundred people." Remember the name—Doan's. Consumption Spreads in Syria.

Consumptives in Syria are treated today much in the same way as the experts have been for the last 2,000 years. Tuberculosis is a comparatively recent disease among the Arabs and Syrians, but so rapidly has it spread that the natives are in great fear of it. Consequently when a member of a family is known to have the disease, he is frequently cast out and compelled to die of exposure and want. A small hospital for consumptives has been opened at Beyrut under the direction of Dr. Mary P. Eddy.

A Generous Gift

Professor Munyon has just issued a most beautiful, useful and complete almanac. It contains not only all the scientific information concerning the moon's phases, in all the latitudes, but has illustrated articles on how to read character by phrenology, palmistry and birth month. It also tells all about card reading, birth stones and their meaning, and gives the interpretation of dreams. It teaches beauty culture, manicuring, gives weights and measures and antidotes for poison. In fact, it is a Magazine Almanac, that not only gives valuable information, but will afford much amusement for every member of the family, especially for parties and evening entertainments. Farmers and people in the rural districts will find this Almanac almost invaluable. It will be sent to anyone absolutely free on application to the Munyon Remedy Company, Philadelphia, Pa.

WILLIAM A. RADFORD
Editor

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 215 Fifth Ave., Chicago, Ill., and only use these two-cent stamps for reply.

A commodious and at the same time conveniently arranged house of moderate cost, is illustrated in the accompanying perspective drawing and floor plan. By fitting up three rooms upstairs—for which there is space available—this plan gives us a house of nine rooms, besides bathroom, front and back entries or vestibules, and a pantry.

This house is adapted to a lot 35 feet or more in width, being 33 feet 6 inches wide by 46 feet long, exclusive of the spacious front porch. The structure is somewhat on the bungalow order, or rather a modification of the bungalow idea. Properly speaking, a bungalow has only one floor, but here we have a slight departure from this rule, though the resemblance to that type of house is still maintained.

The bungalow developed in this country on the Pacific coast. The idea, probably, was originally brought from India, although a great many architects claim that the modern bungalow is really the outgrowth of the log cabins and the sod and adobe houses of the early inhabitants of the United States. Probably bungalow architectural ideas could be traced back to all these sources. The result is that we have a very comfortable, low-cost house, and the bungalow type of structure is being extensively built in different parts of the country and is constantly increasing in popularity.

Within easy reach of large cities, bungalows are going up by the hundreds, and the idea is a good one. People are tired of being crowded into small, unhealthy quarters, and are taking this means of providing themselves with good, sensible homes at a reasonable outlay.

The original bungalow roof was low and broad; but, in order to get more sleeping accommodation, the ridge was raised just enough at first to get one room above the ground floor. Builders, however, have repeatedly pushed it up higher, until now we see a good many houses built very much after this plan, with as many as three bedrooms in the roof.

It costs but little more to build a seven or eight-roomed house in this way than to build a five-roomed house with the rooms all on one level. The rafters, of course, are longer, and it takes more shingles; but the work on the roof is not much different, and so far as the inside is concerned, you simply add the finishing up of the extra rooms. The foundation is no larger; and the only addition on the first floor is the stairway, which, in this case, is built in and closed with a door at the bottom. You seldom, in fact, see an open stairway in a bungalow house. It seems to be out of keeping with the general layout. There is a modification of ideas in regard to house stairways, even in larger houses. The question has often arisen: Why should we build a fancy open stair directly opposite the main entrance door, as though every person entering must receive an invitation to go up aloft? As a matter of fact, not one stranger in a dozen entering the front door goes upstairs, and it makes considerable difference to the members of the family where the stairway is placed. Very often it would be much handier if located in the middle of the house. It would take up less room, too, and save some money—and save the architect's headache. It seems to me that we pay too much attention to fashion or custom; one person is afraid to do anything different, and each one follows along after his neighbor without knowing why.

I have watched the development of the bungalow idea in house building with a great deal of satisfaction, because I think I can see in it the means of providing thousands of homes at prices within the reach of those who would never own homes of their own if they had to buy or build houses built on the regular orthodox lines, laid out by conservative architects, and built in the old-fashioned way. I have nothing to say against large two-story solid houses as heavy as any one wants them. They are all right in their places. But what suits one person does not suit another either in plan, in appearance or in cost; and the bungalow has added a chapter to house building which meets the needs of large and increasing numbers of home owners and home builders.

This house plan gives an opportunity for young people to start in with a home of their own without a great outlay in cash. As designed, the house is built without a cellar; but a cellar may be added at any time. While the children are small, it is not absolutely necessary to finish the bedrooms on the second floor. The house is complete downstairs. I have known men with families of five or six children to build a house like this, occupy it for a year or two, then add a cellar sleeping rooms in the attic, a porch at the back or side, and many other attractive features as they felt they could afford the expense. And very often the money saved in rent has paid for these improvements.

I particularly like to see thrift of this kind, and I am optimistic enough to believe that similar sentiments are increasing as the country becomes more thickly populated. I see evidences of economy that I never noticed before except in isolated cases. Economy is one of the greatest virtues. Economy and ignorance seldom go together. It requires a person of more than average intelligence to practice economy sensibly. Economy is not stinginess; there is a wide distinction.

A house after this plan can be built for $2,500 to $2,800, according to the location, cost of materials and the price of skilled labor.

Art of Letter-Opening.
Secret service agents of certain of the foreign offices and police departments of foreign countries have raised letter opening to a fine art.

Some kinds of paper can be steamed open without leaving any trace and this simple operation is followed by refurbishing the flap with a bone instrument. In the case of a seal a matrix is taken by means of new bread before breaking the wax. When other methods fail the envelope is placed between pieces of wood with edges projecting one-twentieth of an inch. The edge of the envelope is first flattened, then roughened and finally slit open. Later a hair line of strong white gum is applied and the edges are united under pressure.—Harper's Weekly.

Welcome Moving Picture Shows.
The cinematograph theaters which are springing up like mushrooms in Berlin and other German cities are a sociological blessing. Countless thousands who were in the habit of wasting their time, money and substance in beer gardens and cafes are now attracted to the moving picture shows.—Deutsche Tageszeitung, Berlin.

RAISING OF COTTON

Dr. H. Guy Hathorne Gives Some Advice to Farmers.

Impossible to Grow the Staple Successfully in Boll Weevil District Under Existing Conditions—Some Pointed Comments.

Dr. H. Guy Hathorne, special agent of the United States department of agriculture, bureau of plant industry, in charge of the co-operative and demonstration farm work in southwest Mississippi, has issued the following bulletin to the farmers of the state:

It is conceded by all that cotton cannot be longer grown in this section under the ruinous system that has been the rule for many years. It is evident to the careful observer that it may be grown with profit even yet, if treated as a surplus crop, by complying with certain conditions. One of the conditions is that the cotton farmer shall have confidence in his ability to grow cotton.

If he lacks that confidence, and if it cannot be inspired in him by common sense reasoning, and by the results others have obtained under conditions more or less similar, he would get out of the game and grow something else.

Tremendous failure of many farmers in southwest Mississippi has so paralyzed them that they will, in many instances, not listen to reasons calculated to inspire confidence. My attitude toward these is that they would do better not to plant cotton at all. Most of them have already turned their attention to some other crop or products designed to take the place of cotton, and they are as a rule in better shape to do without cotton as a money crop than they were a year ago. But there are many who either cannot or will not grow any other money crop than cotton. It is to this class that I am specially directing this article.

There was a combination of causes, entirely aside from the weevil, responsible for a large part of the shortage in the last year's cotton crop.

It is extremely unlikely that the combination of causes that made the cotton crop of 1910 late will prevail in 1911.

Therefore with the same number of weevils, and conditions identical except the season, which by the law of probabilities is apt to be normal this year, it stands to reason that the same acreage would produce much more cotton this year than last year.

But I propose to show by reasons that are sound, even if I had only a theoretical knowledge of boll weevils, that the overwintered weevils will be far less numerous this year than last year. The experience of people west of us show that after three years of serious damage, which we have already had, that with a normal season cotton is grown, as a surplus crop, profitably whether anything special is done in the way of fighting weevils or not. The reason for this is simple; the Almighty in his wisdom creates natural enemies for everything that lives. The boll weevil is not exempt from this natural law, and always his natural enemies have increased by the fourth year to such an extent that they in some means hold him in check, and make it easier to produce a profitable crop of cotton.

Men who have made profitable crops of cotton this year in badly infested territory tell me that the early destruction of cotton stalks every year is the "keynote to the situation" in fighting the weevil. That practice has never been followed in this section, but we had a killing frost three weeks before the usual date, that largely accomplished the same purpose.

This early frost did not destroy the mature weevil, but it stopped his further breeding, forced him into hibernation ahead of his usual time, and absolutely destroyed the immature brood that would have gone into hibernation at the usual date of killing frost.

The average life of the weevil when inactive is two hundred and ten days. There is no weevil living hatched out after November 1. From November 1 to June 1 is 212 days, two days longer than the average life of the hibernating weevil. This being true, is it not reasonable to believe that those weevils that survive the winter and come on the young cotton will not be able to do anything like the damage they usually have done. It is unreasonable to conclude that this certain diminution in the number of the enemy we have to fight will make it easier for us to win this year.

seed are much larger than those of the cowpea, and the pods do not split open when ripe.

It requires a long season in which to ripen seed, from eight to eight and a half months. In an average season, few seed are ripened except where the vines have run on some support.

The planting should be done as early in the spring as possible after the danger of frost is passed.

It is best to plant in drills with rows from three to four feet apart and two to three seed dropped in a place, from one to two feet apart in the drill. The crop should be cultivated once or twice with a shallow running implement to give the plant a good start.

While the analysis shows the velvet bean hay equal to cowpea hay in feeding value, practical feeding trials at this station do not so indicate.

The stock ate it very sparingly and refused it when other hays were accessible. On account of the great length to which the vine runs, it is very difficult to cut and handle. We do not recommend it highly for hay.

As soon as the vines completely cover the ground the lower leaves begin to fall off and form a very rich mulch.

This plant is valuable on thin upland as a summer cover crop; it will completely shade the land during the greater part of the summer and produce an immense quantity of vegetable matter to plow under in the fall.

Southern Live Stock.

The coming live stock country of the United States is the great southern country. Its splendid climate and long grazing season gives it superior advantages over all the rest of the country. In the past years millions of dollars have been lost annually on account of animal diseases, but each year this is decreasing and with the splendid work now being done by the government, as well as the state departments, it will soon be entirely eradicated.

He Drew the Line

"I've been a wicked man," he said, "I've done a-many crimes; I've shot at folks by way of jokes a half-a-dozen times; I've gone in broad daylight an' stole a widder's fattened shoat. But though I've been a man o' sin, I never sold my vote.

"I've set fire to a tenement to see the engines run. I've swiped the alms from blind men's palms an' thought that it was fun; An' once when it was bitter cold I took a cripple's coat; I've scuttled ships on pleasure trips—but never sold my vote.

"I've dynamited savings banks an' skipped off with the cash; Gold bricks of brass I've made to pass with all a con man's dash; I've been a counterfeiter too, an' made a greasy note; I've held up trains out on the plains—but never sold my vote.

"I've worked the shells at county fairs, an' pockets, too, I've picked; I've sold fake stocks in thousand blocks—the come-on I have tricked; Each victim's tears were like three cheers when'er I'd get his goat; Yet though, old pard, my heart was hard, I never sold my vote.

"I've burgled here and burgled there, an' run a racin' book; You'll find my name is one o' fame with almost any crook; But set this down—the dying breath was rattling in his throat— "Although I've been a man o' sin, I never sold my vote."

'Rah for Reform.

Comes now another reformer who wants to uplift us by eliminating the word "Hello" from our telephone conversations. Good! We heartily agree with his deep-drawn suggestion that the first syllable of that word is too suggestive of a certain form of swearing. It had not occurred to us before; very few people are in the habit of standing on windy corners of conversation and watching for embarrassing displays of language. But we extend to the pure-minded reformer our warmest accord. Also we move that a certain well-known rhyme, on which we were trained years ago, be revised to read:

"Early to bed and early to rise
Makes a man hearty and wealthy and wise."

Furthermore, let us change the name of the Helicon to the Rubicon, or the Rhymlcon. And let us prohibit the sale of hellebore in drug stores. While we are about it, let us disinfest things properly. Change the name of damask, for instance, and take Damascus off the map. And pass a law forbidding people to sue for damages, and, with one supreme motive, brethren, let us wipe the infamy of the Gatun dam off the Isthmus of Panama.

Wishes of No Avail.

"This is my husband, Mr. Grump. We've just been married. Don't you wish us happiness?"

"When I look at your husband, madam, I cannot wish—I can only hope."

Imperfect Reproduction.
"It must be very consoling to you," we say to the bereaved lady, "to have that splendid phonograph record of your late husband's voice. It is so absolutely natural, too."

"Ah," she sighs, "it is like, and yet so unlike, poor dear Henry!"

"Unlike?"

"Yes, it talks right ahead in his tone, but it never stops when I interrupt it."

Puzzle.

"He is my hero," she sighed. Without finishing this we leave it to the reader to guess whether he was a half back, a college orator, a baseball star, a matinee idol, a novel celebrity, a prize fighter, a novelist, a soda fountain clerk, or just a plain every day and Sunday young man.

SUFFERED 23 YEARS

Mrs. J. H. Bourland, San Saba, Texas, writes:

"For twenty-three years I was a constant sufferer from chronic catarrh. I had a severe misery and burning in the top of my head. There was almost a continual dropping of mucus into my throat, which caused frequent expectoration. My entire system gradually became involved, and my condition grew worse. I had an incessant cough and frequent attacks of bilious colic, from which it seemed I could not recover. My bowels also became affected, causing alarming attacks of hemorrhages. I tried many remedies, which gave only temporary relief or no relief at all. I at last tried Peruna, and in three days I was relieved of the bowel derangement. After using five bottles I was entirely cured. I most cheerfully recommend the use of Peruna to any one similarly afflicted."

Woman Was Not Superstitious, but She Cut Short Her Visit to the Country.

"I'm not a bit superstitious, not in the least bit, but—I don't ever want to hear another screech owl in the night," said a woman who remained in the country until the holidays. "Possitively, I believe I should go mad if I ever heard that blood-curdling sound again.

"You know they say in the country that if a screech owl comes crying around the house it's a sure sign of death. Of course, I've no faith in that sort of nonsense, but all the same the coachman's mother died after the owl's first appearance.

"The owl came back and one of the employees died. It came back again and I decided that, after all, I didn't want to spend Christmas in the country and lighted back to town. The coachman said something about 'the old rule,' and I just naturally packed up my duds and bought a ticket for New York.

"Ugh-h-h! I shiver now whenever I think of that owl in the apple tree."

The Point of View.

This is a true story. A certain belle was present at a recent Chopin recital. During the "March Funebre," her eyes glistened and her whole attitude of rapt attention was as if the music had entranced her very soul. Her whole face was expressive of admiration and intense interest. When the pianist had finished, the escort of Miss "Belle" turned to her and said: "How beautiful!" To which she replied: "Yes, indeed; doesn't it fit her exquisitely in the back? How much do you suppose it cost in Paris?"

The Easier Way.

"Your wife and you seem to get along so beautifully together. Don't you ever have any differences of opinion?"

"Oh, yes, every day, but I don't let her find it out."

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 2.

A resolution proposing to amend the Constitution of the State of Texas, by amending Article 16, Section 20, thereof by striking out and repealing said section and substituting in lieu thereof a new Section 20, prohibiting the manufacture for purposes of sale, barter or exchange, and the sale, barter and exchange of intoxicating liquors, on and after the second Tuesday in January, A. SEC. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors for members of the Legislature at an election to be held throughout the State of Texas on the fourth Saturday in July, being the twenty-second day thereof, A. Said ballot shall have also written or printed thereon the words "For Prohibition," and the words "Against Prohibition."

All voters favoring said proposed amendment shall erase the words "Against Prohibition" by making a mark through the same, and those opposing it shall erase the words "For Prohibition." If a majority of the votes cast at said election shall be "For Prohibition" said amendment shall be declared adopted. If a majority of the votes shall be "Against Prohibition" said amendment shall be lost and so declared.

All the provisions of the general election laws as amended and in force at the time said election is held shall govern in all respects as to the qualifications of the electors, the method of holding such election, and in all other respects, as far as such election laws can be made applicable.

SEC. 3. The Governor of this State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation for said election and to have the same published as required by the Constitution and laws of the State.

SEC. 4. The sum of five thousand ($5000) dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any funds of the State Treasury, not otherwise appropriated, to defray the expenses of such proclamation, publication and election.

THAT BERNIE HILL AFFAIR

F. M. Hill, of Spur, was placed in Jail here Wednesday. It seems that he has several charges against him. The best story of the case is: He hired a buggy and team at Spur and proceeded to run away with a girl. After reaching Floydada he left the team and phoned the owner to come and get it. He then proceeded to Amarillo where he and the girl were married. As he already has a living wife from whom he is not divorced, of course he will have to answer the charge of bigamy.

We understand that he is also charged with the theft of the buggy and team, just how the charge was made we do not know, also the passing of some bogus checks is held against him, one of them, a check for eight dollars was given to County Judge F. C. Gibson: The best we could learn is that he had had money in the bank and had some at the time but not enough to cover the amount of the checks. Then too when he gave the check he showed a deposit slip that it is supposed he himself filled out. He is the first man to be lodged in the jail on a criminal

Lost, Strayed or Stolen
A DOG.—He is a small dog, with many good qualities, but is a very odd looking little fellow. He has four teeth out in front, has a scar at the corner of his right eye, and his tail is cut off about six inches from his body. When flies light upon his head he will frighten them away by striking repeatedly with his right paw. When asleep he always lies flat upon his stomach with his hind legs stretched straight out. He has a heavy growth of hair over his eyes and around his forehead, and a collar has bitten a piece out of his left ear. If you find him with his front paws stretched forward, take warning and do not advance further; but if he should be lying quietly with his front paws touching, you may advance with safety. If, however, he should be resting his right paw over his left, it would be dangerous to approach him. He generally lies with his front paws folded together. He has a spot in the center of his forehead and wears a muzzle. Many persons have owned him and he is known by the name of Fido, Quincy, Moss and Andy. Finder will please return to the owner.

Sumner Clayton and J. E. Stokes returned Saturday from Abilene where they attended court several days.

Practical Fashions

DAINTY TUCKED SHIRT WAIST.

The shirt waist of today is made attractive in many little ways. In the one shown in our illustration there are numbers of small tucks grouped at the shoulders and also in the center of the front. The closing is just a little to the left of the center front and the edge is marked by a frill. In the back the waist is plain. Cuff sleeves end in a deep gauntlet cuff, and a standing collar finished the neck.

For lingerie thick and thin, silk, satin, crepe and for many cotton and thin woolen materials this will be found a desirable style.

The pattern (5301) is cut in sizes 32 to 42 inches bust measure. Medium size requires 3 1/4 yards of 27 inch material or 1 1/2 yards of 44 inch.

To procure this pattern send 10 cents to "Pattern Department," of this paper. Write name and address plainly, and be sure to give size and number of pattern.

The back is also in two styles, one having the usual reversed box plait and the other being in habit style. The length can be adjusted to suit the taste of the wearer.

Serge, cheviot, plaid and striped tailor materials, velveteens, etc., are all available for a skirt of this description.

The pattern (5334) is cut in sizes 22 to 32 inches waist measure. Medium size requires 3 3/4 yards of 44 inch material.

It's Coming to This. With apartment houses along Riverside drive, New York, advertising "ten rooms and three baths" and "11 rooms and four baths," before long one may expect to be offered five baths and a room, or, in the Rooms for Rent column, "Nice suite of three soapy baths in cleanly neighborhood, with privilege of using fire escape for sleeping purposes."—Judge.

Tar Mixture and Roads. The trees and shrubs along the Bois de Boulogne have suffered greatly from the effects of the oily dust from the roadway, which settles on the vegetation and ultimately kills it. In Sioux City the practice of tarring the roads has been discontinued entirely on this account. The advocates of road tarring claim that this result is owing to the improper application of the tar mixture.

COOMBS WAS GREAT GOLFER

President Shibe and Manager Connie Mack Persuade Famous Pitcher to Forsake Links.

Golf almost played havoc with Jack Coombs' success as a pitcher last season. His rescuer was the veteran president of the Athletics, Uncle Ben Shibe, ably assisted by Manager Connie Mack. The Athletics' great pitcher learned the "ancient and honorable" game while a student at Colby college, but for his first few years with the Athletics did not indulge in the game. While training at Mobile during the spring of 1909 Coombs was invited to try his hand, along with several other players, at the Mobile Country club's links.

Coombs could not resist the temptation and spent all the time he could get away from practice on the course, driving the little white gutta percha ball tremendous distances. Coombs became quite an expert player after he had played long enough to perfect his work on the greens. His driving was phenomenal; his keen eye, great height and strength, and his batting ability made his drives long and true. Some of the best professional golfers who saw Coombs play predicted a bright future for him.

All the summer of 1909, whenever he could spare the time, he played golf. Every Sunday he was on the links of the various country clubs. When the Athletics went south last spring they spent ten days at Hot Springs, Va., where the great game is golf. Coombs soon had the entire squad out playing, and it almost forgot that baseball was its mission in the south.

The fad became even greater last summer, and for the first few months of the season Coombs indulged it. Then Connie's pitching staff began to break down, and Coombs and Morgan alone remained to bear the brunt of the work. The game of golf demanded the expenditure of considerable energy when a whole day was devoted to the sport, as it meant five to seven miles, and sometimes ten miles of walking over hill and dale. It usually required a day or two to get the legs and body thoroughly rested after a Sunday of this sport.

So Coombs was told to give up the game, and he did.

HEAD SOLID MASS OF HUMOR

"I think the Cuticura Remedies are the best remedies for eczema I have ever heard of. My mother had a child who had a rash on its head when it was real young. Doctor called it baby rash. He gave us medicine, but it did no good. In a few days the head was a solid mass; a running sore. It was awful, the child cried continually. We had to hold him and watch him to keep him from scratching the sore. His suffering was dreadful. At last we remembered Cuticura Remedies. We got a dollar bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, a box of Cuticura Ointment, and a bar of Cuticura Soap. We gave the Resolvent as directed, washed the head with the Cuticura Soap, and applied the Cuticura Ointment. We had not used half before the child's head was clear and free from eczema, and it has never come back again. His head was healthy and he had a beautiful head of hair. I think the Cuticura Ointment very good for the hair. It makes the hair grow and prevents falling hair." (Signed) Mrs. Francis Lund, Plain City, Utah, Sept. 19, 1910. Send to the Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Boston, Mass., for free Cuticura Book on the treatment of skin and scalp troubles.

THE YOUNG BRIDE'S FIRST DISCOVERY

Their wedding tour had ended, and they entered their new home to settle down to what they hoped to be one long uninterrupted blissful honeymoon.

But, alas! the young bride's troubles soon began, when she tried to reduce the cost of living with cheap big can baking powders.

She soon discovered that all she got was a lot for her money, and it was not all baking powder, for the bulk of it was cheap materials which had no leavening power. Such powders will not make light, wholesome food. And because of the absence of leavening gas, it requires from two or three times as much to raise cakes or biscuits as it does of Calumet Baking Powder.

Thus, eventually, the actual cost to you, of cheap baking powders, is more than Calumet would be.

Cheap baking powders often leave the bread bleached and acid, sometimes yellow and alkaline, and often unpalatable. They are not always of uniform strength and quality.

Now the bride buys Calumet—the perfectly wholesome baking powder, moderate in price, and always uniform and reliable. Calumet keeps indefinitely, makes cooking easy, and is certainly the most economical after all.

Eve or Eva?

The first show that little Willie ever attended was "Uncle Tom's Cabin." When he returned home after the play papa asked him how he liked the show. Willie said it was awful nice.

"Now, Willie, if you will be a good boy, I will take you to one next week," said papa.

Little Willie and papa sat down in the orchestra circle. Willie seemed to enjoy the play very much. When they returned home Willie's mamma asked him how he liked the show? Willie replied: "It was a lot nicer than the first one I went to. What do you think, mamma? All the little Evas had on union suits."—Judge.

Work and Marriage.

In the New York courts recently a girl, aged 17, on being told by her mother that she was old enough to go to work, replied: "Work, I will not; I prefer to marry." Whereupon she was married before night to a young man earning $8 per week. That is of a piece with the reasoning of another girl who, being interrogated by a friend, "Where are you working now, Mamie?" answered promptly, "I ain't working; I'm married."—Boston Herald.

"What was the trouble?"

Remedies are Needed.

Were we perfect, which we are not, medicines would not often be needed. But since our systems have become weakened, impaired and broken down through indiscretions which have gone on from the early ages, through countless generations, remedies are needed to aid Nature in correcting our inherited and otherwise acquired weaknesses. To reach the seat of stomach weakness and consequent digestive troubles, there is nothing so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a glyceric compound, extracted from native medicinal roots—sold for over forty years with great satisfaction to all users. For Weak Stomach, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Pain in the Stomach after eating, Heartburn, Bad Breath, Belching of food, Chronic Diarrhea and other Intestinal Derangements, the "Discovery" is a time-proven and most efficient remedy.

The genuine has on its outside wrapper the Signature

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic, medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.

LEWIS' "SINGLE BINDER."

A hand-made cigar fresh from the table, wrapped in foil, thus keeping fresh until smoked. A fresh cigar made of good tobacco is the ideal smoke. The old, well cured tobaccos used are so rich in quality that many who formerly smoked 10c cigars now smoke Lewis' Single Binder Straight 5c. Lewis' Single Binder costs the dealer some more than other 5c cigars, but the higher price enables this factory to use extra quality tobacco. There are many imitations; don't be fooled. There is no substitute! Tell the dealer you want a Lewis "Single Binder."

Fighting Tuberculosis in Hungary.

The anti-tuberculosis movement was started in 1894, and in 1898 there were five institutions for the treatment of consumption. Today the campaign is encouraged and financed by the government, and over 200 different agencies are engaged in the fight. A permanent tuberculosis museum has been established at Budapest and a carefully conducted campaign of education is being carried on.

A cup of Garfield Tea before retiring will insure that all important measure, the daily cleaning of the system.

Many a man who swears at a big monopoly is nourishing a little one.
