TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

An untruth is like the shadow of a cloud that passes rapidly without leaving any trace on the world.

Fear reduced to its lowest terms and most terrifying aspects can offer no more than death, which is the certain consequence of every life.

A life may not afford sufficient time to repent for the havoc created by evil conceived within an instant.

Taking their pension of dreams, many are able to procure the necessities for happiness and establish a strength of security beyond the purchasing power of gold.

I have frequently thought it would be satisfying to own an island homestead, except for the inconvenience of borrowing a lawn mower.

One of my first impulses to use profanity came when a buggy horse stepped on my bare foot. The pain drove me to tears and I couldn't see the horse until after I had forgotten the words that seemed most appropriate.

Beauty is a nice compliment to love but not essential to its enthusiasm or quality of endurance.

Girl's Basketball Team Guests of Lions Club

Members of the Motley County High School girls' basketball team and their coaches and manager were guests Tuesday at the regular luncheon meeting of the Lions Club at the First Methodist Church.

Team members were introduced to the Lions by head coach V. V. Scott. As he looked across the room, Scott remarked, "I believe these are the nicest decorations I've seen in here in a long time."

"We're very proud of these young ladies," Scott said. "They kept their spirit up. We were 1-7 early in the season, but our season record ended on the 50-50 mark at 13-13."

"And 11 of the 26 games were against A. A. and AAA schools," Scott added. The team's final district record was 7-2.

Scott then introduced Kirby Hatley, assistant girls' basketball coach, and announced that Hatley would assume the top coaching position for the high school girls' basketball team next year.

"He's been doing a tremendous job with the junior high. This year his team went 24-1," said Scott.

"Next year coach Hatley will be the head coach of the high school girls. I'm sure he'll do a tremendous job. We've known for some time that he is capable of this job," said Scott.

Scott thanked the Lions for their support of the girls' basketball team throughout the season.

Commenting on the turkey and dressing dinner prepared by the Methodist women, Scott said, "I believe it's just as good in March as it is in November and December." With that, the meeting was adjourned by Boss Lion Joe Smith.

Drama Is Program Subject For Club

STUDIES ABOUT THE BIBLE

Paul was a Pharisee. Educated by the Pharisees. He was conscientious and loyal to his teaching. The Pharisees were the foremost power in Jerusalem against Christ. Paul's conscience was educated against Christianity and therefore thought he was doing God a favor by persecuting Christians. His conscience was clear in this endeavor. At the same time his conscience was wrong.

Paul had one strong point in his favor. He was honest. When he learned that the Christ and Jehovah God were on the same side, he immediately had a change of heart and became a Christian himself. His conscience — or the boundaries of his conscience — were also changed. Thus his conscience was clear before and after his conversion. Because of Paul's former conscience, he wrote the following to Timothy.

... I was formerly a blasphemer and a persecutor and a violent aggressor ... Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, among whom I am foremost of all. 1 Tim. 1:13,15

Before Paul accepted Christ, his conscience was clear. After Paul believed in Christ and had his "sins washed away", through baptism, his conscience was clear again. His conscience had been re-educated. This time by the gospel of Christ.

And corresponding to that, baptism now saves you — not the removal of dirt from the flesh, but an appeal to God for a good conscience — through the resurrection of Jesus Christ. 1 Pet. 3:21.

As baptism is a part of the gospel of Christ, one who has been taught that gospel cannot have a clear conscience until he has obeyed his Lord in baptism.

Farmers, Ranchers Income Tax Tips

Because of low prices for cattle and cotton, coupled with higher prices the farmer or rancher had to pay for things, many will have a "net operating loss" for 1974. One bright spot is that this loss may be carried back three years against taxable income of those years. If this does not take care of the 1974 loss, it may then be carried forward to each of the next five years, if needed, to offset the 1974 loss.

When a net operating loss occurs, a claim for refund must be filed to recover taxes paid in prior years, and this claim is also necessary to establish the amount of loss, if any to be carried forward to offset future incomes.

A claim regarding net operating losses can be filed at any time within three years after the return was due for the year the loss occurred. For those who had a "net operating loss" in 1974, it is suggested that they contact either a qualified tax consultant or an IRS agent. (Information by Dr. Wayne Hayenga, Economist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service.)

A comprehensive slide set series on veterinary science will be available this fall from the National 4-H Service Committee. Planned with the aid of the Cooperative Extension Service with a grant from The Upjohn Company, 26 slide sets are being produced. The slides illustrate the three unit program on animal health. Information on the slide series can be obtained from the county extension service office or state 4-H leader.

TEXAS TALK

Q: I've been told some grocery stores have their own meat grades. Is there more than one system for grading beef cuts?

A: Some meat packers utilize their own grading systems known as name brand or in-house grading. However the grade you see in the supermarket is almost always that assigned the meat by the Standardization and Grading Branch of the United States Department of Agriculture. Meat products will generally carry a label reading "USDA-Choice, USDA-Prime", or whatever the appropriate grade. USDA grading is done on the basis of carcass classification and is supposed to reflect the eating quality of the meat. A USDA grading system seldom noticed by consumers is the Yield Grade. Purpose of the Yield Grade is the determination of the relative cutability of the carcass. Specifically, how much of the carcass can be used in the four major retail cuts of beef. Highest Yield Grade for beef is USDA-1. Lowest is USDA-5.
