Damage From Various Kinds Of Pests Reported Over Nation

WASHINGTON, May 22. (UP)—With the advent of spring, crop insects have begun their annual destruction throughout the nation, according to the bureau of entomology and plant quarantine of the agriculture department.

Reports received by the bureau reveal that due to the severe winter pests have been slowed up considerably, but others have been little affected and are appearing in large numbers.

The Japanese beetle, for the first time, since discovery in the United States, suffered winter losses in a few places in the territory first infested by the pest. Chinch bugs in Oklahoma and other parts of the Middle West were considerably depleted in numbers by the cold winter weather.

Broods of heanion flies were reduced by the hard winter, but the early fall brood, now infesting wheat fields in southwestern Kansas, has not been retarded.

Other important cereal crop pests now active are the Mormon cricket, which began hatching in enormous numbers in the latter part of April in Idaho and western Montana; the army cutworm, seriously damaging alfalfa and small grains in Oklahoma and Colorado and cotton in Texas; and wireworms, present in abnormally large numbers in the state of Washington.

Adults of the wireworm, according to the bureau, have been damaging fruit buds in California. Apple aphids, though scarce in the Pacific northwest, are more numerous locally than in the northeast than for the past few years.

The codling moth is well along on its new life cycle in Delaware, Georgia, the east central states and in the Great Basin region. The oriental fruit moth has been observed in normal numbers in Delaware, Virginia and Georgia, the bureau's reports showed.

The eastern tent caterpillar gives every sign of repeating its last year's defoliation of trees in New England and the Middle Atlantic, South Atlantic and Mississippi Val-

FHA Designs New Low Cost Home For 'Pioneer Life' In Modern Way

WASHINGTON, May 22. (UP)—The Federal Housing administration has found that the lowest price a family can pay in an average community for a livable, durable house is $1,200.

The price will vary, says FHA, in different geographic sections, depending on prices of building materials and labor. The average price was found by studying building supply costs from various sections.

The $1,200 does not cover the cost of the lot. FHA has found that lots can be had for as low as $300 in some sections, and that the average runs from $450 to $600. Those prices cover lots ranging from 35 to 50 feet wide and 100 to 150 feet long.

The house may be built under FHA's insured mortgage plan which permits the buyer 20 years to pay.

Has No Basement

Floor plans for the house reduce living conveniences to the lowest common denominator, but omit none of the necessities, FHA architects say. The house has two bedrooms, a bath, a hall and a third room where the family, like pioneer folk of old, live, cook and eat.

The all-purpose room is 11.3 by 21.4 feet. One bedroom is 9.5 by 11.3 feet, the other is 8.5 by 9.5 feet, and the bath is "just big enough to turn around in."

The house is planned without a basement, one of the elements which had to be eliminated in order to achieve the low price. The house is designed to set on a concrete slab reinforced with a wire mesh laid over a gravel bed. The cement slab becomes the floor of the house which can be painted if desired.

The walls of either eight-inch brick or concrete block, are lined inside with wood strips and plaster. The papering or painting is included in the price.

Colorful Kitchen Fixtures

Along one wall of the living room is a miniature kitchen arrangement which includes a sink and cabinet, a cooking range and a heater. If the prospective homeowner has an extra $500 he can shut these conveniences off in a separate room.

All three of the iron enameled kitchen fixtures may be bought in colors to blend with the rest of the room. The range and heater can use coal, gas, oil or electricity. The heater warms the living room and ducts carry heat to the other rooms. In warmer climates the ducts are unnecessary.

Armored cable for the electric wiring has been figured into the price, as well as both base-board and ceiling outlets.

The roof can be wood, tin or composition shingles, and pitched or flat. FHA architects favor the pitched roof because it provides storage space which can be reached through a trap door in a bedroom ceiling.

Waste Eliminated

The secret of this minimum-cost house is declared to lie not so much in use of the cheapest materials, but in the use of stock sizes of lumber and trimmings which may be nailed or cemented into place without extra figuring and sawing.

A man earning as low as $900 a year could afford such a home, according to FHA estimates, even if he bought a $600 lot.

FHA estimates that a regularly employed head-of-a-house can indent himself for a home costing twice the amount of his annual salary. This means that a man earning $900 a year could spend $1,800, $1,200 for the house and $600 for the lot.

FHA is ready to supply would-be home owners with information about planning and building small houses.

ring, 115 Virginia avenue, Waxahatchie, World war veteran and former educator, received the $50 third prize. Ten $10 awards were presented and 46 persons won $5 prizes.

A few days' time remains for contestants to take advantage of the offer of cash prizes in the ninth and final contest, which is announced in an advertisement appearing in this paper today. The question for this contest is based on the annexation of Texas by the United States.

Hundreds of dollars of cash have already been distributed to more than 300 winners. Announcement of winners in the fifth contest will appear soon in this paper.

William Merrick, sales manager of the Texas Electric Service company, with headquarters in Fort Worth, was a business visitor in Big Spring Wednesday.

Other winners announced in history test

Mrs. Martha Schonerted, 919 Fowler street, Taylor, 26-year-old mother of two children, joins the lucky group of $100 first prize winners in a series of nine Texas history contests sponsored by the makers of Post cereals, according to the judges' announcement.

Mrs. Schonerted's answer to the fourth contest question dealing with an episode in the history of the Texas navy was rated best among a flood of entries received from patriotic Texans of all ages.

Lawrence A. Rehm, 3528 Avenue N 1-2, Galveston, was awarded the second prize of $75. John B. Har-

Black-Draught A Laxative That Thousands Prefer

Black-Draught has helped so many men and women that others, needing a purely vegetable laxative, should have no hesitancy in trying it. Black-Draught relieves constipation in an easy, natural way.

"We have found Black-Draught so satisfactory, I do not see any need to change," writes Mr. Ralph Purch, of Black, Ala. "I take Black-Draught for biliousness and constipation which makes me feel sluggish, tired and no account. Black-Draught surely will relieve me."

The proper use of this old, reliable laxative tends to leave the bowels acting regularly.

Be sure to try it. Sold everywhere in 25-cent packages.—adv.

Indian Groups And Villages Will Be Among Centennial Display Features At University Of Texas Exposition

AUSTIN, May 22.—How the many tribes of Indians lived before the arrival of white men in Texas will be shown by small model groups of Indians and their villages at the University Centennial exposition. This opens on June 1 on the campus of the University of Texas.

Not only will white man's reconstruction of the Indian mode of life be shown visitors by dioramas, or miniatures, but by copies of scenes painted by the cave-shelter dwellers of the Big Bend region of Texas. A diorama is a three-dimensional scene, and seven of these are now being prepared by skilled preparators in the division of anthropology for the exposition. Two murals or photographs, six by eighteen feet, reproduced from Indian drawings found on the walls of Painted canyon and Rattlesnake canyon in Val Verde county, have been copied by Ben Bailey, preparator for the division of anthropology.

Photographs, it is believed, are records of past events, Bailey explained. The symbolism used by the various tribes differs so much that translation of various photographs has been difficult. Since an alphabet was unknown among any of the Texas Indians, an agreement as to the meaning of a certain symbol may have existed. The meaning of some of these symbols never will be known, Bailey said.

Habitat Scenes The miniature habitat scenes of Texas Indians will represent the Karakawas of the coast, the Tonkawas of central Texas, the cave-shelter dwellers of the Rio Grande region, the Comanches of the Texas plains, and the Caddoes and the Asinai Indians of East Texas.

With the exception of the Comanches, the life of the Indians will be shown before white man had brought his culture.

For example: In the Karankawa diorama, the bay is shown in the background with the white sand hills of Padre Island in the distance across the Laguna Madre. The ancestral Karankawas lived in the area from Corpus Christi to Matagorda bay. They lived principally on sea food with a few prickly-pear, apples, seeds and small game. In the foreground of the diorama in which they are pictured, a young woman is cleaning a flounder while another is gouging food from a conch shell. A man is stringing a bow, while another is hollowing out a log and fashioning it into a rude boat. The men, usually six feet tall among the Karankawas, are made six inches high, the scale being one inch to one foot.

A second diorama will depict the life of the central Texas Indians, the Tonkawas, who were also cannibalistic. On a burnt-rook mound is a woman tending a fire while a man nearby is engaged in chipping arrowpoints of flint.

Cave Dwellers Big Bend cave shelter dwellers will be shown in a third diorama group. In the background of the shelter stands an Indian painting pictographs in colors of black and red on the cave wall. In the foreground is a woman starting a fire by means of a friction drill while another woman is grinding seed in a mortar hole. A third woman is making a basket.

The department of anthropology has many such baskets, much corage, and other perishable artifacts from these dry shelters of the Big Bend region. A string of beads in the collection is still on the original string as found.

A diorama of the Comanches will be exhibited because they were the most typical plains Indians living in Texas, Bailey commented on this. "The Texas Indians people think of first are the Comanches. Certainly they were the most picturesque Texas Indians after they had obtained horses from the whites."

States Trim Oil Output

Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, N. Mexico Act Because Supply Excessive

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 22 (AP)—Art L. Walker, secretary of the Interstate Oil Compact commission, said today that four member states of the commission had agreed to reduce June production allowances five per cent under the federal bureau of mines market demand estimate.

The Oklahoma allocations committee, which met yesterday at Tulsa, agreed to recommend to the Oklahoma corporation commission that the state be cut to 524,875 barrels for June, compared to the federal estimate of 552,500 barrels and compared to the May allowances of 538,500 barrels daily.

Walker said he had been advised that the Texas railroad commission had cut production an estimated 35,000 barrels for the last 10 days of the month in Texas and that E. O. Thompson, railroad commission chairman, had told him the June allowable would be held at or below the May figure.

Walker said Homer Hoch, chairman of the Kansas corporation commission, announced his state would "pinch back" five per cent under the allowable, and that the general reduction would be considered by operators at a conference next week.

Hiram M. Dow, New Mexico compact representative, advised Walker that New Mexico intended to curtail production five per cent.

Walker said Colorado and Illinois, the other two compacting states, did not have sufficient production to upset the general situation, and both had been holding well within allowances.

The secretary said oil industry leaders at the Tulsa petroleum exposition were elated at news the Pelican Oil and Gasoline company's Sexton lease in the Redessa field of northern Louisiana had been shut in.

Suddenly mounting production had threatened the oil price structure.

PATROLMEN BRING $35727 INTO STATE COFFERS IN MONTH

AUSTIN, May 22 (AP)—Chief L. G. Phares of the highway patrol reported today that a month's work by 130 patrolmen in April yielded $15,597 in fines and $20,130 in additional registration fees.

Expenses for the period, he said, were $19,987, or $15,740 less than the income. Road and bridge funds in the counties in which complaints were filed benefitted by the surplus.

Fines were assessed 1,607 motorists against whom patrolmen filed charges. More than six times that number were warned against future violations. Complaints included 440 charging truck carried more than the legal 7,000 pounds load and 2,677 charging speeding.

The Rev. George Shivers, blind minister of Wise, Va., married 1,925 couples in 1935, an increase of 10.

Congratulations to the Class of '36

FRANK POOL FOOD MARKET IN NEW LOCATION ON 3RD STREET

Another milestone in the business career in Big Spring of Frank Pool, oldest grocer in the city from the point of continuous proprietorship, is being observed with the opening of the Frank Pool Food Market at 417 East Third street. Pool recently opened for business in the new location and is inviting the public to call and inspect the store.
Pool started in the grocery business here 29 years ago, operating one of three groceries here at that time. He has been in business all the time since, and his establishment is the only one of the former-day stores still operating.
A mark of tribute to Pool and his grocery service and policies is the fact that he counts among his customers today several who started trading with him 29 years ago. They have been his patrons continuously through the period.
The present location is the fifth for a Pool store. His first location was at 112 Main. Later the store was moved to 208 Main, and then for many years was at 223 Main. More recently Pool operated a Piggly-Wiggly store at 419 Main. The present store was opened when he disposed of that business.
Fixtures and equipment in the new store have been remodeled to add to the attractiveness of the interior, and new market equipment has been installed.
The store has enlarged its stocks and maintains full lines of all kinds of staple and fancy groceries, as well as fruits and vegetables and meats.

Wall Discovery Leads To Search For Ancient City

DALLAS (UP)—Search for the ruins of an ancient civilization has begun in Rockwall, a little town 25 miles north of Dallas, which was named because of an old wall, buried six feet under ground near the city.
If the theory of R. F. Canup, Rockwall business man, is correct, an ancient buried city will be uncovered.
Undismayed by reports from a few geologists that the old wall is the work of nature, Canup declared he would continue his excavations until he finds the bottom of the wall—or the city.
Excavation of the wall has been underway for the past three months and has resulted in uncovering a structure to a depth of about eight feet for a distance of 150 feet.
In the open cut along the wall, the court, which had refused a previous verdict for the same amount, accepted it.

Canup has found a large collection of fossils, some of which were said to be bones of prehistoric animals. "Many students of rock formation have told me that no natural formation could be as symmetrical or as consistent in its direction around the town as this wall," Canup said. "Among the geologists who believe that the wall is man-made is Count de Prorok who visited Rockwall 10 years ago and declared that it is certainly the work of man."
"The fact that the wall turns and makes a square corner leads me to believe that it is man-made masonry," he said, "because nature does not, as a rule, build corners in this fashion."

EXHIBIT TO TELL STORY OF PECANS

COLLEGE STATION, May 22—One hundred years of pecan development in Texas, leading pecan producing area of the world, will

Congratulations to the FRANK POOL FOOD MARKET in their NEW HOME at 417 East 3rd St. Rainbow Potato Chips

portrayed in the pecan exhibit being arranged at the Centennial exposition which opens at Dallas June 6. J. F. Rosborough, extension horticulturist at Texas A. and M. college, is actively interested in the arrangement of the exhibit.
During the period from 1836 to 1860 pecans were eaten by Indian tribes which roamed the state. Large quantities of the nuts were carried by them in baskets. In years of large production, pecans were stored in coal to keep them fresh.
The first intimation that pecans might have commercial value came in 1860 when a few shipments were made in barrels to the eastern states. In 1900 a Texan, E. E. Hisen, tribes which roamed the state of San Saba, Texas, was the first man who budded a pecan tree. He took buds from trees that bore good nuts and budded them into trees that bore inferior nuts. Since that time pecans have become commercially important in Texas. Millions of pounds of nuts are harvested each year and shipped to other states. Texas is known as the empire of pecans.
Kansas, primarily a wheat state, stands sixth in butter production.

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) "Close the door" followed the retired physician as he strode out. The hearing room was cleared quickly of the startled audience and the committee went into an executive session at which it was decided to draft a resolution for submission to the house, recommending that Townsend be cited for contempt.

Dr. Townsend was not called to the witness stand until about 4 o'clock. His voice shaking, he asked and was denied permission to read a prepared statement to the committee. Still standing, the elderly, lean, grey-haired man, started talking and the committee listened. "In view of the apparently unfriendly attitude of this committee and the unfair attitude it has shown me and the members of my organization, I deem it my duty to say that I shall no longer attend these committee hearings," the witness said.

Retiring From Inquisition "I am retiring from this sort of inquisition and I do not propose to come back again except under arrest and I absolutely refuse to make any further statements concerning this movement to the committee." Then turning on his heel and clapping his sailor straw hat on his head, Townsend took one look at the committee and blurted a blunt: "Thank you gentlemen and goodbye."

STRATOSPHERE BALLOON 'TALKS' TO OPERATORS

HELINGFORS, Finland (AP)—A new type stratosphere balloon, little more than a yard in diameter, promises to make possible observations miles above the earth, even in uninhabited regions like the polar lands. The balloon, carrying an apparatus which automatically telegraphs air pressure and temperatures at regular intervals, reached a height of almost 13 miles in a test flight here. Hailed as an innovation in stratospheric exploration, the new apparatus weighs less than 18 pounds, including the sending equipment. The equipment, invented by Dr. Vilho Vaisala, comprises two balloons, one inside the other. They contain a thermometer, an aneroid barometer and a small radio transmitter. The sender is powered by two small storage batteries. Recovery of the balloon is not necessary as the findings are telegraphed as they are made. The Finnish Geophysical association intends to send a study excursion to Spitzbergen this year to make temperature observations in the stratosphere with Dr. Vaisala's invention. Joseph Edwards, who is in Big Spring hospital following fracture of his right ankle, was improved Thursday and setting of the broken member within the next few days is expected.

Mae West In Film At Ritz

Plays With Victor McLaglen In New Picture, "Klondike Annie"

Mae West spreads her own particular brand of light in the Land of the Midnight Sun in her newest picture, "Klondike Annie," which plays Friday and Saturday at the Ritz theater.

The lady who made curves famous goes back to the period of the gay and gussy '90's for her latest production, returning to the type of role which won her fame in "The Done Elna Wrong," and "Belle of the Nineties." Victor McLaglen heads the supporting cast.

"Klondike Annie" begins on San Francisco's famed Barbary Coast in its lustiest days and winds up in Alaska during the gold rush. Mae West entertains 'em in Frisco and in the Yukon with equal ease. In Frisco she is held virtually a captive by a jealous lover and when she seeks to escape he tries to stop her by force. In the struggle, he is killed. Mae flees to a steamer—commanded by McLaglen—and sets sail for Alaska.

Among the ship's other passengers are a girl missionary bound for Nome. The girl dies aboard ship and when agents arrive in search of Mae, she dons the missionary's clothes and escapes detection.

She is forced to carry on the pose at Nome. How she does it, and what the situations ultimately bring are told excitingly and amusingly in the climatic episodes of the film.

Big Boy Williams Star Of Western Picture At Queen

BIG BOY WILLIAMS

Big Boy Williams, the Texan who made good as a western star in the movies, is the star of the adventure film at the Queen Friday and Saturday, "Gun Play."

Fate throws the big boy into a border town where a cafe owner is using every means in his power to find a treasure in Mexican gold, secretly buried years before and really the property of a girl named Madge Holt and brother, who are coming to live on a nearby ranch.

This buried treasure is the cause of all the wild adventures which befall Williams and the Holts. Williams comes into possession of a map of the treasure location unaware, but finds out about it soon enough when the cafe owner's gang seeks to take his life.

There is a final battle in which the Big Boy finally emerges victorious. He gets the girl, the girl gets the gold, and everything is as movie stories would have it. Search with Williams in the picture Marlon Shilling, in the role of Madge Holt; Frank Yacanelli, Wally Wales, Charles French, Tom London, Roger Williams and Gordon Griffith.

Gary Cooper, Jean Arthur In Comedy Booked At Ritz

Frank Capra, ace of directors who won top laurels for his "It Happened One Night," is said to repeat that feat in the production of "Mr. Deeds Goes To Town," a comedy which plays at the Ritz for a Saturday midnight matinee, and on Sunday and Monday. For "Mr. Deeds" he has taken Gary Cooper, Jean Arthur and a story by Clarence Buddington Kelland.

Cooper is given credit by many reviewers as doing his best work in this humorous role. The part Miss Arthur, who has been up-and-coming in the films of late, also gets complimentary notices.

"Mr. Deeds Goes To Town" has to do with a young man from a small town who falls heir to a $20,000,000 fortune. He is taken to New York against his will to receive the money. Grafters buzz around him like bees around honey. Newspapers give him the works, label him "The Cinderella Man." One of the reporters, a sob sister, played by Miss Arthur, strikes up his acquaintance to get exclusive stories, remains to fall in love with him and cause him so much woe that he attempts to give away his fortune. This move succeeds in getting him arrested for insanity. From the sanitarium, events move on hilariously to a happy ending.

The supporting cast includes George Bancroft, Lionel Stander, Douglass Dumbrille, Raymond Walburn, M. B. Warner and Warren Hymer.

Deaths increased from 63,323 in 1934 to 64,953 in Texas last year, while births decreased from 121,486 in 1934 to 118,998 last year.

KEN COUNTS ON HIS HORSE

Ken Maynard has able assistance from his trusty mount, in the adventures of "Lawless Riders," western film which tops the Friday-Saturday program at the Lyric theater.

Ken Maynard At The Lyric

Western Star Plays Leading Role In "Lawless Riders"

Once again Ken Maynard, stalwart western star, rides into blazing adventure in tracking down lawless men of the range, in "Lawless Riders," an outdoor melodrama that is featured at the Lyric Friday and Saturday.

"Lawless Riders" presents Maynard as a roving adventurer who makes a western town his headquarters when he meets the banker's daughter, played by Geneva Mitchell.

Terrifying the region with raids and holdups is a gang led by a man posing as a cattleman. Miss Mitchell suspects the leader's duplicity but it is Maynard who single-handedly interferes with a bank

The foreclosure data is based on monthly reports to the federal home loan bank board from 830 identical communities throughout the country, both urban and rural, representing 50 per cent of the entire population.

The most important among the factors contributing toward a freer flow of mortgage money for new construction from areas where it is abundant to areas where it is scarce is the federal housing administration's activities in the insurance of refinanced mortgages on existing property. While the insurance of refinanced mortgages on existing property does not release new capital for mortgage lending on new construction, it keeps the nation's supply of such funds flowing freely where they are needed most. This is because insured mortgages, whether on new construction or existing property, are marketable. Mortgage investments were not always marketable and the old style mortgage was not an investment on which a bank could readily realize cash when it needed it.

IS AN AID TO HEALTH—

KEEP IT fresh IN AN ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR!

Everyone knows that fresh, pure and cool milk is the finest body-building food in the world for little folks. Growing children should drink from a pint to a quart every day.

One way to make sure that all of the milk your children have is just as it should be—fresh and sweet and free from harmful bacteria—is to keep it in your automatic electric refrigerator that is built to Texas' weather specifications. Regardless of how hot the day may be, your electric refrigerator will keep constant temperatures below fifty degrees—the food safety zone.

PENNYWISE SAYS:

"Your doctor will tell you that milk is the only single food that will sustain human life. Make sure you give your children plenty of it."

World Awaits Tariff Issues

Trade Policies To Be Proposed By Democrats Significant

WASHINGTON, May 22 (UP)—Platform planks on the Roosevelt-Hull "Yankee bargaining" program will be of urgent interest to diplomats of 33 foreign countries here, since many are engaged at varying stages in reciprocal trade pacts or prepared to initiate talks if the elections confirm the present policy.

The dozen pacts already concluded have had the cumulative effect of revising the tariff system downward in exchange for concessions to American products abroad, and foreign observers are curious as to whether republicans will make a clear-cut issue on this topic, or particularly on the pact with Canada.

United States entry in the league of nations or world court is considered a dead issue, and the preponderance of "isolation" sentiment here tends to direct foreign interests to economic rather than political features of the campaign.

Monetary Policies Watched European diplomatic attention will be directed to any monetary policies which would affect the international commodities price level.

Latin American diplomats anticipate that the democratic party will give special emphasis to the Roosevelt-Hull "good neighbor" policy, which has given an amicable trend to inter-American relations during recent years.

Some observers think that the realistic American critics of the "good neighbor" policy may attack imports of farm products from the La Plata, allege that the treaty negotiated with Panama has weakened defense of the canal, and object to the administration's suggestion for independence of Puerto Rico.

For eastern diplomatic interest in the platform will be most acute with reference to national defense planks, or possible new proposals regarding international naval limitation.

Hot Breads And Butter With Milk

Fluffy and light prune muffins, crisp cornmeal sticks, served piping hot with fresh butter, and milk to drink! These are good-tasting accompaniments for family or guest meals.

Hot breads are easy to stir up in a jiffy and they are always good if kitchen-tested recipes are used and baking temperatures are accurate.

Fresh butter has an inimitable flavor. It is an easily digested fat and an excellent source of vitamin A, which is necessary to growth and good nutrition for children and adults.

The delightful flavor of fresh milk is excellent with crisp hot breads and butter.

Prunes add flavor and food value. Boil in water to cover for 10 minutes, drain, remove pits and cut into pieces.

Corn Sticks 1-2 cup flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 cup yellow cornmeal, 1 egg, well beaten, 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons melted butter.

Ham Supreme 3 cups diced baked ham, 1-2 cup green pepper, cut fine, 1-2 cup broken nut meats, 4 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, 1-2 teaspoon salt.

Melt 3 tablespoons butter, stir in flour and when smooth, stir in the milk. Boil two minutes, stirring continuously and add salt.

Melt the remaining tablespoon of butter in a sauce pan and add the green pepper, ham and nutmeats. Heat for 2 minutes and combine with white sauce.

To make butter molds, use small wooden mold that has first been soaked in ice water. Allow one-half to one tablespoon butter for each mold.

Drop molds into ice water until ready to serve.

CERTIFICATES FOR DIVORCE AVAILABLE

AUSTIN, May 22 (UP)—The old fashioned marriage certificate now has a rival in the "divorce certificate." Issuance of the gilded certificates began here today.

The certificate includes a statement of disposition of children, if any, and restoration of maiden name if that has been granted.
