"The Lord of Hosts"—The God of Nations
 Old Testament history should teach us that God is a God of nations as well as of individuals. Notice that Jehovah Saboth, "Lord of hosts" (Nations), is a favorite divine title with the prophets (occurring 246 times in the prophetic books.) The original idea of kingship was that the king is God's earthly vice-regent. Would that every ruler—president, governor, mayor, selectman—felt that the government that he is exercising is peculiarly God's affair and in God's keeping and that therefore to God he is accountable!

Isaiah, A Seer and Statesman
 Isaiah the son of Amos was born of apparently royal blood and brought up with high advantages in the city of Jerusalem. He was influential alike at court and among the people. In a ministry which is thought to have extended over sixty years Isaiah prophesied during the reigns of four of Judah's kings: Of Uzziah and Jotham, of Ahaz and of Hezekiah, who, hearkened to Isaiah, and left a shining record as one of the best of the kings.
 When he entered upon his prophetic office the two kingdoms of Israel and Judah were outwardly prosperous but inwardly corrupt and so declining. Assyria the great world power of the time was wrongly invoked by Ahaz of Judah about 734 B. C. More than twenty years later and after the overthrow of Samaria and the Northern Kingdom, Assyria exacted tribute from Hezekiah and finally threatened the utter sacking of the city, a threat from which Judah miraculously escaped.
Hezekiah and Sennacherib. Read Isaiah 36 and 37
 The mightiest and most dreadful ruler of his time was Sennacherib, King of Assyria which was the world-empire seven hundred years before Christ. It was a nation of warriors then at the height of their power and pride. To recover revolted territory, including Judah and Egypt, Sennacherib marched from Nineveh with an immense army. According to his own account he captured forty-six fenced cities belonging to Hezekiah and carried off more than 200,000 captives; he also shut up Hezekiah "in Jerusalem, his capital city, like a bird in a cage. Against such overwhelming odds there seemed little for Hezekiah to do but submit to the terms of the enemy. Accordingly, immense gifts were bestowed and heavy tribute was paid in acknowledgement of Assyrian supremacy.

Hezekiah Looked Godward
 In desperation Hezekiah and his people turned to God. Assyria was such an irresistible power, that there was nowhere else to turn. "Man's extremity is God's opportunity"—to recall man to himself. It is sad to reflect that sometimes he has to do it that way, but it would have been sadder if Israel had forgotten that there is a God to turn to.

 "Hezekiah was a splendid king. He did that which was right in the eyes of the Lord." But the three best things that are recorded of Hezekiah are: (1) He knew the way to the house of God; (2) he was a man of prayer; and (3) he had the good sense to go to the prophet, a man of God, for counsel.

The Help of Jehovah, v. 5
 "As birds hovering so will Jehovah of hosts protect Jerusalem." v. 5. "Listen to this expansion of the metaphor of the hovering mother bird in one of the Psalms:

"He shall cover thee with his feathers, and under his wings shalt thou trust." The word for trust here means to 'fly into refuge.' Can you not see the picture? A little brood round the parent bird, frightened by some beast of prey, or hovering hawk in the sky, and fluttering under its wings, and all safe and huddled together there against the warm breast, and in amongst the downy feathers. Under his wings shalt thou trust.' Put thy trust in God, and God is to thee a hovering bird, the broad shield, the Angel that 'passes over'."—Rev. Alexander MacLaren D. D. "He will protect and deliver it, he will pass over and preserve it." "The verb, 'pass over' is that from which the word passover is derived; it occurs again only in Ex. 12:13, 23, 27."—Prof. J. Skinner. As the death angel passed over the houses of the Israelites in Egypt, marked by the blood of the lamb sprinkled on door-posts and lintels, and did not slay the first-born there, so God spares his children and saves them from their doom.

Triumph Through The Lord, vs. 36, 37
 "It was a dark and cloudy day for Judah in 701 B. C., Sennacherib, king of Assyria, invaded its territory and called on Jerusalem for abject and unconditional surrender. But the angel of Jehovah accomplished the overthrow of the invader. The prophecy of Isaiah did not fail to the ground nor did Hezekiah and his people rely in vain upon the Word of the Lord. To the camp of the Assyrians went the angel of Jehovah and smote the flower of the army of the East. In that one night 185,000 Assyrian soldiers were slain by the angel of the Lord. "So Sennacherib king of Assyria departed and went and returned, and dwelt at Nineveh."

Let Chevrolet tell its own story of riding and driving comfort

Make the ownership test

WHEN all is said and done, the best way to get at the truth behind the fine things you hear and read about the new Chevrolet, is to get in the car and drive. Take this car (your Chevrolet dealer will gladly loan you one), drive it over the same routes, in the same way you drive your present automobile, and let the results you can see and feel tell their own story. You have heard that Knee-Action makes bad roads good, and good roads better. A ride will prove it. You have heard that Chevrolet provides shock-proof steering, Syncro-Mesh gear-shifting, a remarkably flexible 80-horsepower engine, and cable-controlled brakes.

CHEVROLET
 One ride is worth a thousand words

A few minutes at the wheel will show you what a difference these advancements make in safety and driving ease. And when the ride is over, and you step out refreshed and ready for more, you will know why so many thousands have found it impossible to return to ordinary driving after an experience like this. That is the Ownership Test—simple, easy, enjoyable, and the most practical way to choose a car. Your Chevrolet dealer has a car waiting so that you can make this test. How about today?

THE LYNX NEWS

Published Weekly News Of The Students By The Students. Sept. 20, 1934.

TRACING METEORS IN THIS VICINITY

H. T. Nininger of Denver, was a guest speaker at assembly on Friday morning, Sept. 14. He is collecting fragments of meteors for the Smithsonian Institute of Washington. By studying these fragments scientist hope to find a solution to the composition of the center of our earth.

Pieces of meteorites found will be purchased at one dollar per pound by Mr. Nininger. Interested parties may write him at 1955 Fair Fox Denver, Colorado.

Mr. Nininger had with him a meteorite about eight inches long by four inches wide and three inches deep, found near Plainview this year. It resembled a piece of iron. A broken corner of the outer surface revealed a material resembling cement.

It will be a fortunate person who finds the main body of the large meteor that crossed over Spearman in 1933.

FACULTY ENTERTAINED BY LIONS CLUB MON.

Monday night, May 10, the Lions Club members and their families celebrated the opening of school by inviting the entire faculty of the Spearman schools to be their guest.

A beautiful spot on the old Cator ranch west of Hansford was chosen for a picnic. Some of the teachers who had been in Spearman for several years could scarcely believe that such a beautiful place could be found in the Panhandle.

The chicken and dove barbecue, followed by watermelon, was a treat indeed. The faculty enjoyed this outing very much and especially appreciated the good will and co-operation pledged to them at this time.

LOCAL TEACHER WINNER IN LITERARY DIVISION AT TRI-STATE FAIR

Miss Lucille Maize, English teacher in the Spearman high school, won second place for the short feature article in the literary division of the Tri-State Fair. This is a signal honor for Miss Maize and Spearman high school as there is keen competition by experienced writers from Oklahoma, New Mexico and Texas.

Miss Maize studied Journalism in Southwestern University.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES DONATED TO LIBRARY

On the first day of school twenty-two books and ninety-six magazines were donated to our library by Doris Kirk. This gift is appreciated very much. We hope our library will continue to grow during the year. If you have good books or magazine that you wish to discard, we will appreciate it if you will place them in our high school library.

PARENT TEACHERS ENTERTAIN FACULTY

Last Friday evening at 3:30 the faculty of the Spearman schools was invited to the home economics rooms where the executive committee of the P. T. A. served a delicious luncheon. Mrs. Sid Clark president of the P. T. A. welcomed the teachers and pledged them the cooperation and support of the entire association. Mrs. J. C. Tuttle, primary supervisor and Supt. A. H. Word gave short talks concerning the opening of school and their plans for the year. Mrs. H. A. Nichols gave an interesting reading. Supt. Wilson of the Gruver schools was a guest on this occasion and gave a short talk in which he expressed a desire that our schools and P. T. A.'s might work together for the welfare of the children in our schools. The faculty enjoyed this reception and take this opportunity to thank all members of the P. T. A. who were responsible for this delightful occasion.

LYNX STAFF SET GOAL FOR 1934-1935

Friday morning at 10:15 the Lynx Staff was chosen at the time of the class organizations. As is the custom, the editor was elected from the senior class and the assistant editor from the junior class. The following staff has been selected: Editor in chief, Elsie Reed; assistant editor, Doris Kirk; boy's sport editor, Arthur Haines; girl's sport editor, Helen Browder; senior reporter, Lady Maurine Archer; junior reporter, Helen Jenkins; sophomore reporter, Jim Ed Wallace; freshman reporter, Martha Delon Kirk; Sponsor, Miss Ethel Deakin.

The "Lynx" will have their news in the paper every week, and we hope to publish everything that will be of interest to the parents and people of the community. We hope to have an account of all school activities, not only of athletics, but also of the various meetings, clubs and classes.

SOPHOMORE REPORT

We freshmen have organized our class and have gotten our schedule fixed at last.

We elected Mrs. Bob Archer as our room mother. The president of our class is Floyd Close; vice president, Mary Dougherty; the secretary-treasurer is Donavon Clark; the reporter is Martha Delon Kirk. Since the thrill of the first week has worn off, we are getting ready to settle down to work.

After one week of school we sophomores are trying to get started to work. We have been dreaming for the first week, and now we have begun to realize what is taking place.

The class officers elected are as follows: President, Dorothy Jo Benton; Vice President, Oleta

Mae Sumrall, Secretary-Treasurer, Victor Ooley; Reporter, Jim Edd Wallare; Assistant Reporter, Helen Richardson; Room Mother, Mrs. Bolton; Class Colors, Blue and Silver; Class Flower, Texas Cactus.

JUNIOR REPORT

The Junior class is proud to report an enrollment of thirty-five students and we are striving to make this the best junior class that has ever been in Spearman high school.

Mr. Stewart has been chosen as our sponsor.

We are glad to welcome to our class George Nies from Perryton.

The class met Thursday morning, September 13, and elected class officers; those elected were: President, Dick Vernon; Vice President, Violet Hanners; Secretary-Treasurer, Doll Howerton; Reporter, Helen Jenkins; Room Mother, Mrs. Glover; Social Committee—Ina Mackie, A. J. Curtis, J. R. Douglas and Elsie Harbison. The class has not yet chosen their motto or class colors but plan to do this at the next class meeting.

We are all enthusiastic about our football team and we are hoping that the "Mighty Lynx" will win the game at Canadian Friday.

SENIORS A BUSY BUNCH

Sept. 10, 1934, marked the beginning of the end of the long trail of the class of '35. We are one of the largest classes ever enrolled in Spearman high school. Our thirty-six qualified members proved too large a number to be seated in the senior room; so we moved to the room formerly occupied by the Juniors.

In our first class meeting Sept. 13, the following officers were elected: President, Elmon Jacobs; vice president, Carrie B. Nesbitt; secretary-treasurer, Omar Cotter; editor-in-chief, Elsie Reed; class reporter, Lady Maurine Archer; girl's sport editor, Helen Browder; boy's sport editor, Arthur (Shine) Haines; room mother, Mrs. R. Douglas, class colors, maroon and white.

Our motto will be selected at a future meeting. Mr. Gunn is our sponsor.

We are happy to welcome two new members to our class: Ruth Walberry and Mable Stevenson. The Lynx football team is captained by a senior, Sam Patterson, and several other seniors are on the roster.

Calling all seniors and friends of seniors to stand by for help in editing this class report! If you know any news concerning seniors please notify the class reporter.

PRIMARY SCHOOL

First Grade

The first grade has enrolled 41 pupils. They are a group of sweet youngsters, and are proving to be live wires. Some of them are beginning their reading real well.

We hope every parent will make a special effort to keep all beginners in school as much as possible.

We are happy to have a music teacher. The first grade music period will be from eight-forty to nine o'clock.

Second Grade

Everyone seems very happy to be back in school after a nice summer vacation. We have 29 second grade pupils enrolled in our room and all are starting out nicely.

Our first project this fall is making recitation chairs from orange boxes which the pupils bring to school.

Second and Third Grade

Due to the large number of second and third grade pupils this year, it has been necessary to have a small section of each grade in the same room. We have started off nicely and we expect to have a very successful year. Mrs. Campfield has been chosen for our room mother.

Third Grade

We are very glad to say that we have enrolled twenty-seven pupils in our room this year. We have all begun work very earnestly, and expect to do many interesting things this year.

We have several new pupils entering our school for the first time. They are: Helen Kenney from Blodgett, Jean McNulty, Morse; Eugene Horne, Guymon, Okla. Irene Hill, Trinidad, Colo.; Billy Jo Thomas, Spur; Jackie Pope, Kimball and Patricia Hutton, from Canadian. We are very glad to have all these new pupils.

We have elected Mrs. W. V. Murry as our room mother, and Mrs. Bill Hutton as assistant room mother.

ADALYN DOUGHERTY ELECTED FOOTBALL SPONSOR

Monday morning at 8:45 the football boys held a very important meeting in the science lecture room in order to select candidates for football sponsor.

After much heated discussion, Adalyn Dougherty and Lois Blackburn were chosen. Adalyn is a senior and Lois is a junior which fact caused considerable rivalry between classes the last few days.

I order to raise a little money for the athletic fund, it was decided that a penny per vote would be charged for those wishing to support their favorite candidate.

The polls opened at 5:30 Tuesday morning and closed at 1:05 Thursday noon. After the candidates were announced, the football boys and others made speeches and did a great deal of campaigning for their candidates.

The race proved to be close and exciting. The returns were posted once or twice a day and were watched with interest.

The final results were: Adalyn 1753 and Lois 1734. A sum of $34.87 was realized from this election, and the boys are proud of their sponsor.

MEET THE NEW TEACHERS

The faculty of the Spearman schools for the ensuing scholastic year is composed of eighteen teachers, eight in the high school and ten in the grades. Of this number fifteen taught in the system last term and some have been with us for several years. One teacher has been added to the high school faculty, while the two grade teachers were elected to fill vacancies in that department.

Mr. T. H. Stewart of Lubbock is teaching science in the high school and is sponsor of the Junior class. He is a graduate of Texas Technological College and has completed a year's work on his Masters' degree. He held a fellowship in the chemistry department at Tech and had charge of a section of Freshman chemistry. We feel that Mr. Stewart is a valuable addition to the teaching staff of Spearman high school and we are glad to welcome him to our town and community.

Miss Louise Garrison, also of Lubbock and a graduate of Texas Technological College, has been elected to teach public school music in the grades. This subject is being included in the curriculum for the first time. Miss Garrison has four years of music in college, and we feel that she is thoroughly qualified to handle this subject in the grades.

Miss Lois Bailey of Spearman needs no introduction to the students and partons of the school. She is a home girl and has taught two years in the system before taking her degree in Tech last June. We are fortunate to have Miss Bailey in the schools again. She has charge of a group of students from the second and third grades.

To these three teachers we extend a most cordial welcome, and trust that they may find their work pleasant and agreeable, and that in the students as well as the teachers they may make many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Delon Kirk and daughter Martha Delon made a business trip to Amarillo Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilbanks and Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Wilbanks attended the fair in Amarillo this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hester attended the fair in Amarillo this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Riley and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Riley attended the fair in Amarillo Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Miller and Elizabeth Ann and Billy attended the Tri-State Fair Wednesday.

Mrs. Priscilla Jones of Amarillo visited Mrs. Allie Horn in Spearman Tuesday.

CORRECTION

Evidently the reporter who wrote the story of the death of Mrs. Couch appearing in the Reporter last week was misinformed as to the cause of her death, as is indicated by the following letter from Dr. G. P. Gibner of this city.

Editor Reporter: In your last issue of Reporter you stated Mrs. Ethel Couch died of maternal confinement, which is not true. Mrs. Couch died of uremia, a total suppression of urine which also caused the death of her baby before it was born.

Yours truly,
Dr. G. P. GIBNER.

ROBBERS' ROOST

COPYRIGHT W.N.U. SERVICE

"Maw'nin', Jim," drawled Smoky, with a grin. "You see we've got a new chief."

"Who hawg-tied the boss?"

"Reckon I did—with a little help."

"What for?"

"D—n if I know. Our lady prisoner made me do it."

"Miss Herrick forced you to tie Hays up?" queried Jim, trying to conceal his exultation.

"I should shiver she did. Struck Hays' hair-trigger gun—cocked—right into my belly, an' says: 'Will you tie this villain—an' swear by your honor not to release him or allow any of these other men to do so or will you have me shoot you?'"

"How'd she get that gun?"

"Wal, she snatched it quicker'n lightning, that's how. An' when she cocked it with both hands it went off bang! The bullet went between Hank's legs. Ticked him. You can see the hole in his pants. Scared? My Gawd, you never see a man so scared. That gurl, cool as a cucumber, cocked the gun again, an' held Hays up—then all of us.

"We was sittin' at the table. She made us all stand, hands high, an' then she performed that little trick with Hanks' gun again my gizzard. Jim, I hope to die if I didn't go cold an' stiff. But I promised on my word of honor—as a robber—that I'd tie Hank up, an' make the other fellers play square. It was so funny, too, that I near bust. Hays, soon as he was helpless, got over his scare, an' then was he mad! I reckon no one on this earth saw a madder man. He cursed so terrible that she made me gag him."

"Well, I'll be—blowed!" gasped Jim.

"No wonder. We was wuss. We'd had breakfast, an' Hank was tryin' to face us fellers. I'll say he came clean, Jim. He divided all the money he got from Herrick an' his sister, an' the gold things an' diamonds. 'Fellers,' he said, 'I could lie an' say I meant to give this to you later. But I'm not built that way. I double-crossed you all—first time in my life. I meant to keep it all, an' the ransom for the girl. But now there won't be no ransom, for I'm not goin' to give her up. She's mine, an' I can do as I want, an' if any of you don't like it you can make your kick now.' . . . Wal, we was so plumb flabbergasted that we didn't see the gurl, who came close on the sun side of Hays's shelter. She heard the whole d—n show. . . . Jim, I wish you could have seen her when she stepped up to Hank. I don't know what did it—maybe her eyes—but he shore wilted. It was then she snatched his gun."

"So that's the deal!" ejaculated Jim. "What are you going to do?"

"Don't ask me. I gave my word an' I'll keep it. For that matter the rest of our outfit air fer the gurl, ransom or no ransom."

Suddenly Jim awoke out of his stupefaction to remember the approach of Heeseman.

"Smoky, I know what you're all going to do, and that's fight," he flashed, curtly. "Heeseman's outfit is coming. I sighted them perhaps three miles. Traveling slow, but sure. We've no time to pack an' get away. We've got to find the best place to stand an' fight, an' pack our stuff into it pronto."

"Heeseman!" cried Smoky, coolly. "So it's come. I reckoned on that. Git busy, men."

Jim strode under the shelter to face Miss Herrick. She had heard, for she was white.

"We're all but surprised by Heeseman's outfit. You will be worse off if you fall into their hands. I'm sorry I must release Hays. We need him."

"Too late!" she exclaimed.

"Pack your things quickly and hurry over to the cave on this side." Then Jim picked up Hays' gun from the table and ran out. First he removed the gag, then in terse terms he stated the situation. Next he released the robber from his painful fix and handed him the gun.

"Heeseman, huh! Wal, so be it!" Hays said. "How far are they away?"

"Two miles."

"We've got half an hour—maybe. Did you think to look fer the bosses?"

"Eight horses in the valley. Others not in sight."

"Fine scout you air. How come you didn't spy them soon enough fer us to rustle out of hys?"

"I couldn't have seen them half a mile sooner," snapped Jim. "They came out from behind a bank."

"Hell's fire! Tell that to me? You was sleepin'."

"You're a liar," flashed Jim, leaping clear of the others. "Open your trap to me again like that!"

"Say, it's you who'll shet his trap," replied Hays, stridently. "Or you'll git a dose of the medicine I gave Brad Lincoln."

"Not from you—you yellow dog of a woman thief!"

Smoky Slocum ran out in time to get in front of Jim.

"Hyar! Hyar!" he called, pleadingly. "Is this a time fer us to fight each other? Cool down, Jim. Make allowances for Hays. He's wuss'n drunk."

"I don't care a d—n if there's ten outfits on our trail. He can't talk to me that way. . . . And, Smoky, I reckon you're presuming on friendship."

"Shore I am," returned Slocum, hurriedly. "I'll not do it again, Jim. Hays is what you called him. But leave your dispute till we settle with Heeseman."

"All right. You're talking sense," replied Jim. He had been quick to grasp the opening made by Hays. "There must be ten riders in Heeseman's outfit."

"Wal, that suits me," rejoined the robber, harshly.

"Now think fast," snapped Smoky. Hays pulled himself together. "Mac, you an' Jeff run to fetch what hosses you can find quick. . . . Jack, you an' Smoky an' Wall bustle the grub, cook kit, packs an' beds into that cave across the wash. I'll git up high an' watch. When I yell, dig fer cover."

"You ain't to fight or run?" queried Smoky.

"We might git packed light. If somethin' holds them up. But we can't leave the way we come in. Dirty Devil too high. Heeseman has stumbled on the next best way. If we had plenty of time. . . . But rustle, everybody."

Mac and Jeff were already in lumbering flight up the oval. And Happy Jack, not concerned enough to stop his whistling, was sacking his utensils. Hays made for the notch in the bluff west of the cabin. Jim sprang into action, while Smoky dashed off toward the cottonwood grove.

Upon Jim's first return trip from the cave he encountered the girl burdened with her effects.

"Helen, I'll carry that. Hurry. We've no time to lose."

At the back of the cave there was a crack deep enough to protect Helen. He directed her to hide inside and await developments.

Jim ran on toward the camp, resolving to withhold a shell in his rifle and to keep a sharp watch on Hays.

The next quarter of an hour was filled with strenuous and unceasing action. Their united efforts collected all the supplies, utensils, saddles and packs, and several of the beds in the three-cornered cave back and to one side of the shack. A huge slab of stone lay across the top of this triangular notch in the cliff. The wall had been hollowed by the action of water. A small stream flowed out from the base of the wall.

It was the best place for defense in the oval, and Jim believed Hays' outfit could hold it indefinitely, though they couldn't save the horses. If it came to a siege they could be released.

CHAPTER X

SMOKY came panting in with Hays' pack, and started off again. "That's enough, Smoky," called Jim.

Slocum returned. "Nothin' left—cept Hank's bed," he panted. "I couldn't locate that."

"Listen!"

"What do you hear?"

"Hosses."

"Jim, keep your eye peeled on the cliff," said Smoky, and stole forward under cover of the brush.

Presently a white puff of smoke showed above the ragged rim, Spang!

The fight was on. One of Hays' men—Bridges—let out a hoarse bawl and swayed over, almost losing his balance. Jim looked no more at him, but concentrated his gaze on the rim. Another puff of white! Something dark—a man's slouch hat—bobbed up. Jim's rifle, already raised, swerved a trifle—cracked. The hat went flying.

The horses came over the bench, frightened, but not stampeding, and Mac drove them into the corral. This was around the corner from the range of the sharpshooter of the rim. Bridges, reeling on the horse, followed Mac, who ran out of the corral to catch him as he fell. Then, as they came along close to the wall, Hays arrived from the other direction.

ACT NOW! If you are a young lady between the ages of 10 and 80 years old and have a number of friends in Spearman who will help you. Join the Contest now. It's never too late-

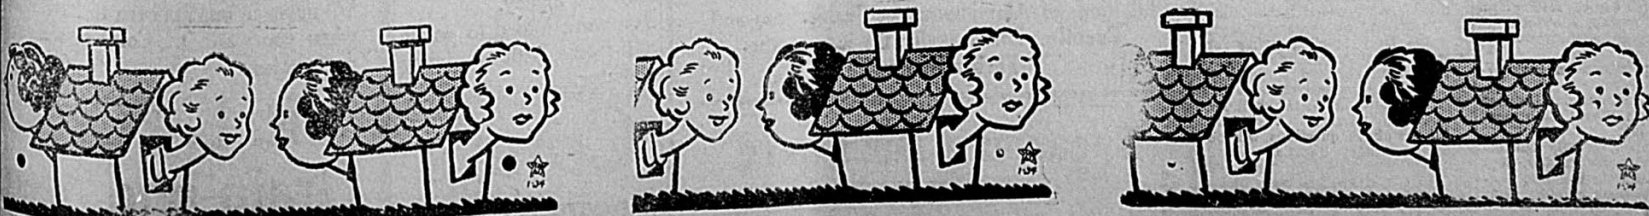

RULES GOVERNING CONTEST

1. Any girl between the ages of 10 and 80 may enter the contest.
2. When proof is brought to the attention of the management of the Spearman Reporter that any contestant is using her influence and votes in behalf of a more popular contestant, said contestant will be asked to withdraw from the race. The management makes this provision in order that the contest may be conducted open and above board. It has been our experience in some contests that candidates will give up hopes of winning themselves, and out of loyalty to a friend will devote their efforts and influence to said friend during the closing day of the contest. The management is anxious to eliminate such features from this contest.
3. Ballots will be placed in a sealed BALLOT BOX in THE REPORTER OFFICE and opened for checking each Wednesday afternoon, except the closing week of the contest, when they will be opened and checked at 9 p. m. Saturday September 29th. Each candidate is requested to be present or have a representative at the Reporter office when ballots are checked for listing the standing of the candidates.
4. In case of a tie vote the $50.00 in merchandise will be divided between the winning contestants.

In the selection and election the above officers we desire to choose the best in the church—and to do this we are going to be ready for suggestions. There will be some vacancies to be filled. This is the time we will give a resume of the year's work and reports on all lines of church work. Let's try to surpass all previous reports. It can be done by each member doing his part. This should be the climax in good reports of these five years we have worked together as pastor and people. Not a ripple of unharmonious relation has arisen between pastor and people or any of the boards and committees—but we have worked as a unit together, which has brought about mutual enjoyment by all. Therefore, let us set our faces to the task that is committed to us and never waver or let down our zeal until it shall be done. Just two more months of the conference year to finish the program or work of the church.

"There is Sound of Rain,"—18:41b.
Sound of Abundance of Rain? Ye, that is what the text says. Read it for yourself: that's the way it reads—Sound of Abundance of Rain. Give me a theme for this text, will you? I am to preach on this strange text Sunday morning. You are invited to hear the sermon.

Sunday Night
CHRISTIAN! Did God the Father, God the Son, or God the Holy Spirit ever call anybody Christian? Chapter and verse for it? Acts 11:8; Acts 6:8; 1 Pet. 4:16; Who spoke in these passages? Did God? Did Jesus? Did the Holy Spirit?
1. To whom was the FAITH delivered? Saints or Christians?
2. In whom will Christ be glorified, Saints or Christians?
3. Who has an inheritance laid up for them in heaven, the Saints or the Christians?
4. Who are built upon the foundation of the Apostles, Saints or Christians?
5. What did Paul call himself, Saint or Christian?
6. Were we called to be Saints or Christians? For whom is Jesus and the Holy Spirit praying for in heaven, Saints or Christians?
7. When the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with His mighty angels, in whom shall He be glorified, Saints or Christians?

All the above questions will be answered Sunday night by giving the chapter and the verse of Scripture in answer to each question. You will want to hear these scriptures read. Be there Sunday night at eight o'clock to hear the message.

A goodly increase in Sunday School attendance was noticed last Lord's Day. Interest is growing also in the Training Service. "Come thou with us and we will do thee good."
