Revival In Progress at Baptist Church -- Crowds Flock to Hear Evangelist Crimm

REV. B. B. CRIMM IS DOING PREACHING

This Baptist Preacher, Who "Is Different" Holds Audiences To Strict Attention

INTEREST INCREASING

Meetings Will Continue Through All Next Week and Perhaps Longer; Singing Featured

The Baptist church of Spearman, which by the way is only the basement of what in time will be a fine church edifice, is not large enough to hold the crowds that go here every night to hear the wonderful preaching of Rev. B. B. Crimm, evangelist, who "is different."

Rev. Crimm came here from Borger, where he held a six-week revival, and began a series of meetings on Friday night of last week. His preaching immediately attracted attention, as did also the wonderful singing of Robt. J. Kennedy, the evangelist's singer, and the splendid choir of the Baptist church, assisted by many singers of other denominations.

The crowd at last Sunday night's service was perhaps the largest that ever attended a church service in Spearman, and the house is crowded at every service. Day services are now being held at 10 o'clock a. m.

The local Baptist pastor announces that the meetings will continue indefinitely or as long as Rev. Crimm can be persuaded to remain with the work here. The evangelist is preaching some very interesting and powerful sermons. He preaches of a real hell and a real punishment for sin. There is no soft-soaping or half-way methods of meeting the issue in this man's theory of life. He attacks sin from every angle and believes in a debt-paying, everyday religion that can be felt and realized in the daily life of the town and community.

The subjects from which Rev. Crimm will preach during the remainder of this week and up until Thursday night of next week are as follows:

- Tonight, Thursday—"The Inevitable Result of Sin."
- Friday night—"God's Remedy for Sin."
- Saturday night—"Excuses."
- Sunday, 11:00 a. m.—"What Men Do to Inherit Eternal Life"
- Sunday, 3:00 p. m.—"Bug Hunting."
- Sunday, 7:30 p. m.—"Am I My Brother's Keeper?"
- Monday night—"Judgment; Why Laws Are Not Enforced."
- Tuesday night—"Easiest Way to Hell Out of Spearman."
- Wednesday night—"Why Be a Christian."
- Thursday night—"Picture Show; Joy Rides, Mixed Swimming Pool and Dances."

C. of C. Issues Bulletin

The first issue of the monthly bulletin, issued by the Spearman chamber of commerce, made its appearance last week. It will be sent monthly to the members of the local chamber of commerce and others who are interested in the progress, growth and development of Spearman and surrounding country. This bulletin contained much information as to the activities of the local chamber of commerce and the value of this organization to the town and community.

Possibly few citizens of the town and community are informed as to the number of callers at the offices of the c. of c., and of the large number of people it is serving daily.

The chamber of commerce offices are headquarters for all activities of any progressive city and community. Our chamber of commerce is doing excellent work, and this is being noticed by the business interests of the town. Without this very active organization many things would be passed by unnoticed which are of vital importance to the growth of the city. Every committee of the chamber of commerce is active and is bringing about accomplishments necessary to the building of a real city.

Farm Board Buying Wheat

Washington, November 17.—Chairman Alexander Legge said today that the stabilization corporation was buying wheat both in cash and futures markets. He said the purchases are being made at current prices.

Prominent Young Farmer Undergoes Operation

Thelmer Thompson, well known young farmer, was operated on for appendicitis at the Mrs. McKay Home Hospital in south Spearman on Monday morning, November 17, and at this writing is getting along nicely. Dr. R. T. Spencer performed the operation, and Dr. J. E. Gower gave the anesthetic. Dr. Spencer and the nurse, Mrs. McKay, state that they expect no trouble whatever at this time and expect Mr. Thompson to be up and about again in a reasonable length of time.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson resided on a farm three miles south of Spearman for several years, but sold out and last year bought the J. H. Harris farm near Gruber, where they now reside. Their many friends will be glad to know that this very serious operation was quite successfully performed here so near their home, where the danger and inconvenience, not to mention the expense, is reduced to the minimum.

Gun Club Will Shoot

The Spearman Gun Club will hold a "shoot" at the usual place north of the Santa Fe tracks, next Tuesday afternoon, November 25, beginning at 1:00 o'clock sharp. All trapshooters are invited to participate. Big fat, juicy Thanksgiving turkeys will be offered as prizes to the best shooters. Or, to be more exact, turkeys will be given as prizes to those making the best scores on this particular occasion. The best shooter does not make the best score on every occasion. There are breaks in trapshooting just the same as there are breaks in football and baseball. However, this will be one of the big shoots of the season and all shooters are notified to be on hand with a piece of artillery of some sort. No one, not even professionals, are barred, and one may use any sort of gun they see fit, provided it is fired from the shoulder or hand. Machine guns are seldom used in trapshooting. Since the close of the war twelve years ago, the only use that has been found for these instruments of destruction is in Chicago gang fights. Don't forget the meeting of the gun club next Tuesday afternoon.

Do You Want to Fly?

Arthur C. Stude, representing the Woodward School of Aeronautics and the Lincoln Aircraft Company, Lincoln, Neb., spent several days in Spearman during the week last passed. Mr. Stude is looking for students of flying and several young men about town are interested. There is a probability that he will come back to Spearman in the near future to begin teaching a class in aeronautics.

Spearman and Vicinity Is Well Advertised

Spearman and the Spearman country are receiving much publicity of late through the efforts of the local chamber of commerce. Another series of publicity articles, some of them showing photos of new buildings, farm scenes, etc., went out this week to several well known publications as well as to travel bureaus. All of this publicity will have a good effect. Secretary Rakein believes in publicity and is not letting an opportunity to tell the world of Spearman and the Spearman country go away.

There are thousands of people—good people—scattered over the United States who are looking for just such opportunities as this town and country offer. These people need to be told of the opportunities that may be had here. Mr. Rakein believes that no single individual or firm can carry on an advertising campaign as effectively as can a chamber of commerce. He also believes that our lands and other property will never increase in value as they should without we have more people in the country to farm the land and build improvements on it. Our greatest resource is agriculture, and every farmer who owns his farm and operates it, is worth at the very least $1,500 per year to the community in which he lives.

Hazel Hurd Players Nearing End of Season

The Hazel Hurd Players will make only one more round of the circuit after the one they are on this week and next, states the manager and owner, Fred J. Twyman. Their play here Monday night, "She Loved the Other Man," was one of the best they ever presented to a Spearman audience, and was greatly enjoyed and appreciated by a large audience.

Mr. Twyman has recently added some new players to his troupe, and they are doing their work in a fine manner. The new piano player, Orion Marr is an artist not only at the piano but as an entertainer as well. He, until recently, was employed with a big radio broadcasting concern with a national hook-up.

The next play of the Hazel Hurd Players is "The Poor Little Rich Girl," which will be presented in Spearman on Monday night, December 1.

Creation is great and can not be understood.—Carlyle.

Former Spearman Girl Married In Amarillo

Announcement of the marriage of Miss Gertrude Kerr to Aubrey Wade Westday was received by Spearman friends on Tuesday of this week. The wedding occurred on Saturday, November 15, in Amarillo, where the Kerr family have resided for the past several years.

Spearman Entertaining Aristocracy

Probably the populace of Spearman is unaware of the fact, but this town is at the present time the host of one of the most prominent offspring of the well-known family of Sweden. Today in north-central Sweden that family name is the by-word of the Swedish aristocracy. "Nick" came to America to learn the construction business and is now employed by the C. C. C. of Kansas City as weld stenciler. This company is engaged in laying the 24 inch gas line from the Hutchinson county fields to Chicago. "Nick" secured his naturalization papers in the windy city, but is not himself "windy." Prince Uncovich welcomes all personal calls, formal or informal. Let's extend to him the well known hospitality of the west, folks, and make his stay in Spearman an eventful and long-to-be-remembered one.—P. D. Q.

Discuss Hog Diseases At Evening School

The farmers Evening School was in session on Thursday evening, November 13, with a good attendance and much interest shown. A free for all discussion of hog diseases and ailments was heard and for all who attended it was a very profitable and interesting exchange of ideas.

Feeding problems for dairy cows were brought before the group and the proper balance of feed mixtures worked out. It was shown that "Bossy" can not do her best unless she is given the proper amount of proteins along with her pasture or roughage.

At the next meeting of the class, on Thursday evening, November 20, there will be rations balanced with the feeds that are commonly grown in this country. It will be shown that it is not necessary to ship in all the feed in order to get a good feed mixture. Every man who feeds any kind of livestock is urged to come out and bring his neighbor along.

These meetings are free to all who wish to attend. The class is conducted by C. A. Robinson of the Spearman high school faculty, under the supervision of the State Vocational Agricultural Department.

"Stop the ad; the cow is found," writes Walter Gillispie from Morse. Walter spent twenty-five cents for a classified ad in the Reporter and found his $100 milk cow that had strayed from home. Advertising is cheaper than riding over the country hunting for a lost animal.

FOREIGN TRADE MAY TURN TIDE OF BUSINESS DEPRESSION

The foreign trade of the United States may offer the key to a solution of the current business depression, according to Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of the Department of Commerce.

Ten per cent of all America's industrial production has been shipped abroad in recent years, he points out in Collier's. "That modest margin may seem insignificant, he says, "yet the last tenth is frequently the tit that saves an industry from insolvency, and this is particularly true when a domestic depression comes upon us as at present, and we turn our faces hopefully toward foreign markets."

The upward path to export prosperity, however, is strewn with more rocks than roses. The obstacles facing American foreign trade at present are: Declining prices of foreign raw materials which impair buying power abroad; Civil disruptions in the two most populous markets; Unstable currencies; Tariff discrimination and similar trade barriers; An unemployment list of 5,000,000 in three of America's major markets. In time all these difficulties can

At the four hard-fought quarters were ended neither team has scored, but the decision was given to the Bucks by virtue of the fact that they had penetrated the Lynx 20-yard line twice while the Lynx were making only one penetration of the Buck 20-yard line.

Nation Wide "Go to Church" Movement Now Under Way

The United "Go to Church" Movement was conceived by a group of public-spirited men, headed by Clyde L. Newnom of Lansing, Michigan, who have given liberally of their time and money to ensure the success of the movement until the time when it is hoped it will be self-supporting.

"The launching of the campaign simultaneously by churches throughout the country," said Mr. Newnom, "is expected to electrify the nation in its suddenness and significance, and effect a dramatic reawakening of the people to the importance of the church in our civilization. For it must be admitted that changes in the manners of living during the last generation have resulted in the church receiving less of the people's time and thought than it has reason to expect."

A generation ago when life was more leisurely, people sought church environments for several reasons: for spiritual advancement; for moral effect; for diversion. Counter influences were negligible. Except for the annual vacation and the occasional excursion, people seldom left their own communities. The church, besides being a place for religious service, was also the social and intellectual center, and the pastor had no difficulty in keeping in constant association with the church members.

Then came the automobile—and the habits of a nation were changed in breath-taking time. The urge to travel developed, inspiring the building of a network of pavements and removing the community isolation hitherto prevailing. Smaller towns automatically became suburbs of larger cities. Mass travel encouraged millions of city men to live in nearby small towns without interference to their businesses; and, by the same agency, the populations of the smaller towns and rural communities were given easy access to the lux of big city recreational facilities. Thus there came an intermingling of peoples and a wholesale fraternizing of widely different personalities. Comparative contentment gave way to a riot of restlessness.

"Ease of transportation gave opportunity for the constant church-goer of the small towns and rural communities to visit friends and relatives in distant cities. It gave the urban population easy access to the great open spaces of the country. It helped develop the golf course as a popular instrument of diversion. Coincident with the motor car came the movie, increasing the number of theater-goers a thousandfold—both daily and Sunday. And more recently has come the radio, which while not taking people away from their homes—is certainly not sending them to church! To the foregoing may be noted the stupendous increase of country club membership, to the increased attendance at dance halls, and to the various social reactions which followed in the wake of the late world war.

"Staccato-like in its tempo, life in general today is diametrically opposed to the well-ordered placidity of church environment. Drastic social upheavals have been so pronounced as to not only change the manner of living but the temperament of a nation. And the pace of change has been so terrific that the church has been unable to keep in step.

"Well established, thoroughly organized and amply financed, those institutions which provide for entertainment compete for that part of a person's time which formerly was given to the church. And the competition is of that character and persistency which the church has not been able to meet. It is conservatively estimated that two billions of dollars are spent annually on organized amusements; and, with such revenue to be earned, it is unthinkable that organized amusements will leave any stones unturned to maintain its position. With but limited time left from their working and sleeping hours, men and women spend it in the manner most actively suggested. The church receives less consideration than it is fundamentally entitled to because it is unable to meet the competition of organized entertainment. This is because intensive advertising has not been considered consistent with religious ethics, also because there has been no organized movement by the religious structure as a whole to promote church attendance. And, most important of all, no financial appropriation! Until this United "Go to Church" Movement was conceived, any promotional activities by the individual church and its denomination relied upon the efforts of its own personnel.

"Lack of religious observance tends to create heedlessness of organized law and order, a condition which directly breeds general tolerance of out-and-out lawlessness. Let the public become more church-conscious and it will become more respectful of the law and more likely to display martial sentiment against the growing wave of crime now sweeping the country.

"Waste to correct any possible inference of pessimism. It is our firm belief that the minds of men and women are just as clean today as a generation ago. It is not lack of reverence that accounts for diminishing church attendance, but heedlessness as to country, but the magnitude of the project has possibly resulted in some unintentional omissions. The sponsors of the Movement are anxious that every church—large or small—be given the opportunity to participate and suggest that pastors who have not yet received advices communicate at once with the United "Go to Church" Movement, Inc., Pudden Bldg., Lansing, Mich., so that the proper material can be sent to them immediately."

You're Not Logical!

We'll admit you're individualistic and that to join a cooperative marketing association might be an abridgement of your personal liberty. But you don't take that attitude toward the public school in your district. You couldn't afford to hire a good teacher, pay him to teach your children alone. How, then, do you educate your children? Don't you throw in with your neighbors and bring educational advantages within reach of all?

You can't afford to hire a minister and build him a church in order that your family may have the privilege of religious worship. How do you manage that? Don't you cooperate with your neighbors in maintaining a religious center in your community? You can't afford to build a paved highway from your farm to the schoolhouse, to the church, to the town, to the county seat, or to the pleasure resort in the mountains. Yet, you travel over good roads to all of these places. How did they come about? Weren't they made possible by cooperation?

What gave your farm its value? What brought the railroad to your town? What was it that made possible the growth of your community from an untamed wilderness to a garden spot? Wasn't it cooperation? You are a cooperater in a thousand worth-while enterprises, and you boast of it, but in marketing you're still an individualist, but you shouldn't boast about it. You ought to be ashamed of it.

You'll admit you can't afford to go it alone in community enterprises; but, staying out of the wheat pool, you are saying in effect you can afford to be an individualist in marketing when the world with which you do business is effectively organized. Is your reasoning logical? Is your position tenable? Why not cooperate 100 per cent for better rural conditions?—The Wheat Growers Journal.

Burning the Wheat Stubble

The life and fertility of a soil is determined to a large extent by the amount of humus or vegetable matter it contains, therefore any attempt to destroy stubble or straw by burning is usually wasteful and expensive. Much of our Southwestern wheat land is already deficient in humus and every pound of stubble that is destroyed by fire makes this condition just that much worse. In addition, careful estimates indicate that the fertility represented in returning the straw to the land is worth approximately $1.00 per acre.

Of course there are cases when a limited amount of stubble burning is justified, especially when the crop is harvested with a combine and the growth has been rank and heavy, also in such fields as already have an abundant supply of organic matter. It is true that a slight increase in yield often follows burning but this only a temporary result and will not continue, it will cause a decrease in yield if the burning is continued for more than one year. Under no circumstances is it advisable to burn the stubble oftener than once in three or four years. When burning is practiced, best results will be secured by not burning more area than can be tilled immediately following, each day.

To burn stubble will not only cut down on the supply of organic matter and decrease the soil fertility and its water carrying capacity, but it also increases the danger of soil blowing, puddling, cracking and baking. Soils most likely to blow are those that are loose and have insufficient organic matter to bind the particles together. Plenty of organic matter improves the physical condition of the soil and makes it easier to cultivate. Organic matter also stimulates the formation of nitrogen by controlling the soil yielding capacity. A live soil always contains plenty of organic matter, but a dead soil is usually deficient in it.

SINGLE GIRLS WIN IN FIGHT FOR JOBS

Complete displacement of married women in jobs with big business firms is forecast in a survey by Mrs. Anna Steese Richardson noted club woman.

Summing up the results in an article in Women's Home Companion, Mrs. Richardson says that out of seven of the most representative firms in New York, only one expressed an open preference for married women. This was a food concern. A bank replied that married women are too likely to leave if their husbands become prosperous. Officials of a utility company said that marriage automatically means the end of a job. A big publishing company declares that a married woman's interests are divided, as they should be, and that single women are greatly preferred. "Any woman who would neglect her family to work away from home is the type of employee we don't want," another firm replied. Still another company employs married women, but puts them into positions where they can be readily replaced.

"An industrial and banking loan company," says Mrs. Richardson, "reports that 75 per cent of working mothers applying for loans, admit that the family is no better off than before they went to work. The added income is wasted on incompetent help, through the unwise purchase of clothing and by the general feeling in the family that because Mother is earning good money, they should live on a better scale."

CANDY AND NICOTINE HARMLESS TO TEETH

Charges that human teeth are injured by such supposed enemies as candy and tobacco have been disproved by a committee of the Chicago Dental Society.

The committee reports that candy never yet hurt a tooth and that while nicotine may stain the teeth it does not harm them.

According to the report, published in Collier's, "modern teeth need exercise: in primitive times they served as everything from food grinders to flint choppers. Much the same effect can be attained, dentists say, with vigorous brushing, and it is not improbable that recent intensive instruction in dental hygiene will yield a generation as well-toothed as any. According to the dentists, teeth are as good as their caretaker and the person who blames dental misfortunes on his teeth might as reasonably blame a horse for not keeping itself inflated.

BIGGER AND BETTER

PRESENTING

THE NEW CHEVROLET SIX

Today the Chevrolet Motor Company presents the Bigger and Better Chevrolet Six, a new model of the six-cylinder car which has enjoyed such wide popularity.

In both the chassis and body of this new six-cylinder Chevrolet you will find expressed, as never before, Chevrolet's well-known policy of progress through constant improvement.

For—without departing from the basic features which have won the enthusiastic approval of over 2,000,000 buyers—Chevrolet has produced a six-cylinder car which represents an entirely new standard of quality, value and refinement in the low-price field.

Your first impression of the new Chevrolet will be one of striking fleetness, grace and beauty. The car is longer, lower and modernly smart. The radiator has been deepened and its appearance enhanced by a curving tie-bar and chrome-plated parabolic headlamps. The long hood lines sweep back unbroken to blend gracefully into the new Fisher bodies. And never was Fisher's fine craftsmanship more evident than in the bodies of the new Chevrolet Six!

Not only are the bodies roomier and more comfortable, but as you study them you will discover many gratifying new features and pleasing refinements—many examples of that painstaking attention to detail which is the basis of true quality.

Mechanically, too, the new Chevrolet Six is a better automobile. The wheelbase is longer. The frame is stronger. The steering is easier. The clutch is more durable. There is a smoother, quieter, easier shifting transmission. In fact, wherever finer materials and more advanced design could add to Chevrolet quality or increase Chevrolet's traditional economy of ownership—improvement has been made. See the new Chevrolet Six—and you will agree that here is the Great American Value!

Wheat Damaging Worms Studied by Entomologist

S. E. Jones, entomologist of the Texas Experiment Station, was in Randall county several days of last week, making an extensive study of the damage to the wheat crop by the wire worm and other insects. Although he is studying all of the worms which are causing damage to the wheat of the Panhandle, Mr. Jones is giving particular attention to the wire worm. It is hoped that he will be able to work out a successful control for the worms which are causing much damage over the entire Panhandle.

W. H. Upchurch, county agent, who accompanied Mr. Jones in his visit to Randall county wheat farms, declares that they found a heavy infestation of the wheat straw worm which has not heretofore been found in this section.

From just an observation of the damage of the wire worm, Mr. Jones stated that he found them to be more plentiful and the damage more extensive on land where wheat had followed wheat and other small grain than on land where wheat had followed other crops.

An interesting discovery made by Mr. Jones, in a few simple experiments, was that the use of common treatments used for killing worms affecting wheat apparently had no effect upon the damage done by the wire worms. The wire worms were found to be eating both the seed and the growing stalk of wheat. Some of the fields in this county have become so badly infested with the worms that it has been necessary to replant the fields already.

Mr. Jones carried away with him a very large collection of all kinds of worms found in this section, especially those in the wheat fields. He hopes to be able to reveal some important facts to be used in combating the worms. Mr. Upchurch states that at this time an appropriation is badly needed for use in the study of worms causing damage to the wheat fields of the Panhandle. He states that Mr. Jones began his study of the wire worm regarding its activity in the cotton fields of central Texas but soon discovered that it was primarily a wheat damaging insect.—Canyon News.

He's His Own Boss, Says Aide of Prince

The Prince of Wales is always "his own boss," according to one of his most intimate aides in a statement made to Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, former commander of the air forces of the A. E. F., at Coblenz.

"It was during his tour of occupied territory," says Gen. Mitchell, in Woman's Home Companion, "that he insisted upon flying over the castle country along the Rhine with me. It occurred to me that it might be too hazardous for the Prince. I consulted Capt. Claude Hamilton.

"Go on. Take him up," said Hamilton. "He's his own boss and what he says goes."

Gen. Mitchell soared aloft with his royal guest, who stood up in the plane and enjoyed immensely the sight of cattle nesting on the heights along the Rhine, as well as the old Roman ruins dotting the valleys along the upper Moselle. Gen. Mitchell crossed the Rhine just over the famous Lorelei rock, so fraught with fabulous tales of sirens. "There's the Lorelei," shouted the pilot to the Prince. Wales peered over the edge of the cockpit at the great rock.

"I think I've heard," he replied. Gen. Mitchell thought he had a difficult task when he was asked to receive the Prince at his home. "Two days afterwards," he says, "a Rolls-Royce stopped in front of my door. It was driven by a young man in the uniform of a British captain and an old sergeant. The driver was the Prince of Wales and his companion was Capt. Hamilton.

"That afternoon my aide Lieut. Hazlett, and the Prince raced their automobiles up the hill behind the city. Hazlett won the race with the American car, so afterwards they swapped cars and the Prince drove the borrowed car during his stay with us.

Nor did the Prince confine himself to strict military inspection activities, according to Gen. Mitchell.

"The Prince was fond of dancing," the General continues, "and one of the young ladies attached to the aviation was able to teach a great deal in that direction."

"KONJOLA DID WONDERS FOR ME" SAYS THIS LADY

Stomach Trouble And Headaches Banished When New Medicine Is Put To Test

MRS. AVEY KESWSKI

"Konjola did wonders for me," said Mrs. Avey Keswski, Box 205 A, Rout No. 1, Galveston. "For several years I suffered dreadfully with stomach trouble. I had a severe and sickening headache almost constantly. Gas accumulated in my stomach after every meal and I had the cramping pains of indigestion. My nerves were so weak that I could not rest or sleep at all at night.

"I am now on my fourth bottle of Konjola and I feel better than I have in five years. Pains and headaches have been banished and I have had an attack of indigestion since I began taking Konjola. My nerves have quieted and I enjoy sound, restful sleep at night. My entire system has taken on new life and I will always praise Konjola for the good it did me."

Taken regularly after meals over a six or eight week period, this most effective medicine for ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness has done as much for thousands as it did for Mrs. Keswski.

Konjola is sold in Spearman at Hastings Pharmacy and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Holds Many Jobs But Pay Is Light

How would you like to have thirteen separate and distinct jobs?

That's the unique position occupied by Mr. M. A. Turner of Dumas, who among other things, is the city secretary.

If you have anything to do in the way of a secretarial job, we would suggest that you see Mr. Turner and he might be persuaded to tackle your problem.

Mr. Turner calls the city secretary's job his biggest business, though it must be remembered that he is also secretary of the Moore County Chamber of Commerce.

In January he will take up his court duties as Justice of the Peace, precinct one. He is already the recorder of the corporation court.

And, of course, there are the city tax rolls that have to be looked after, and after the assessing is done there is the collecting of these taxes. That is two jobs, isn't it?

And we almost forgot that he is also assessor for the Dumas Independent School District, which includes some 301 square miles of territory.

And, of course, every city must have its official inspectors. Dumas goes its neighbors one better, however, by having just ONE inspector.

Here are a few more of Mr. Turner's official titles: Building Inspector, Plumbing Inspector, Electrical Inspector.

And going back to the secretaryships, M. A. is secretary of the T. O. C. Highway body, and secretary-treasurer of the Dumas Golf Club.

For these many labors, Mr. Turner's remuneration—well, we wouldn't like to embarrass him—but, to say the least, it isn't anything to write home about.

During his leisure time, Turner plays golf, chess, checkers and reads lengthy novels.

Now, you tell one.—Moore County News.

Mortgage of Twenty Million

Register of Deeds H. C. Brisendine has received two of the largest documents here for recording, being a mortgage indenture from the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company to the City Bank Farmers Trust Company of New York. The one document involves $20,000,000, covers 195 printed pages and is the pipe line property in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas. The other which has 95 pages, is a million dollar mortgage on the leases in those states which the company holds in those states. It will require some time to record the two documents.—Liberal News.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

The State of Texas, To the Sheriff of any Constable of Hansford County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon N. H. Read and John P. Holman by making publication of this Citation one in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the 84th Judicial District; but if there be no newspaper published in said Judicial District, then in a newspaper published in the nearest District to appear at the next regular term of the 84th Judicial District of Hansford County, to be held at the Court House thereof, in Spearman, on the First Monday in February, A. D. 1931, the same being the 2nd day of February A. D. 1931, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 30th day of June A. D. 1930 in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 80, wherein H. C. Coffee is plaintiff, and G. C. Bryan, N. H. Read and John P. Holman are defendants, and said petition alleging being a suit brought by H. C. Coffee, alleging that on or about the 16th day of July 1929, the defendant N. H. Read, as party of the first part entered into a contract in writing with G. C. Bryan, party of the second part, whereby the said Read for and in consideration of the sum of $19,200.00 to be paid to said Read by the said Bryan agreed to convey to the said Bryan the following described real estate situated in Moore County, Texas, to-wit: All of section No. 141, Block 3-T, T. & N. O. R. R. Co., containing 640 acres according to the records of Moore County, more or less, said contract together with the sum of $1000.00 of earnest money paid by the said Bryan, being put in escrow in the Fidelity Bank of Commerce of Spearman, Texas, until the deal as provided by said contract was closed, the said Bank to deliver to said Bryan a warranty deed to the above described property executed by Read upon Bryan's paying the sum of $4800 and five certain Vendor's Lien notes, and deed of trust as provided in said contract, that Bryan fully performed all of the terms and conditions of that certain contract as to him, and was entitled to receive the said warranty deed from the said Read, but that Read was in default and failed to perform the terms of the contract as to him, and failed to deposit the stipulated warranty deed to the above described lands, and an abstract of title thereto in said escrow bank, in compliance with the obligations of said contract, that the said Bryan having in all things fully performed the terms and conditions of said contract as to him, and being entitled to said warranty deed, from the said Read covering the above described land, did about the 13th day of March 1930 assign all of the right, title and interest of him the said Bryan, by contract in writing to the plaintiff H. C. Coffee, for a valuable consideration, whereby the plaintiff Coffee is entitled to the said warranty deed from the defendant Read, that with full knowledge of the Plaintiff's right to receive from said Read the said warranty deed, the said Read did fraudulently conspire with the defendant Holman, if the defendant Holman is not a fictitious person, for the purpose of avoiding specific performance of the said warranty deed to plaintiff, and did fraudulently convey for such purposes the said property to the said Holman, and praying for specific performance from Read under the terms and conditions of the Bryan-Read Contract, by conveyance from

Read covering said section Block 3-T, in Moore County, Texas, and that the defendant Bryan be decreed to have right, title or interest therein that the purported deed from Read to Holman be cancelled, held for naught, and that plaintiff as to said land be in him as to all of the defendant and in the event that specific performance could not be obtained that plaintiff recover his damages from said Read in the sum of $1000.00, for costs of suit and general relief.

Herein fail not but have said Court, at its aforesaid term, this writ with you turn thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at Spearman, Texas, on this day of November A. D. 1930. (Seal) J. E. WOMBLE, Clerk, District Court, Hansford County, Texas 4974.

TREES SHOULD BE WATERED

The 500 or more shade trees ordered through the chamber of commerce and set in along the streets of Spearman during the last season made a remarkable growth. Practically every one of them stood the long dry, hot summer well, and by the end of the season will be fine, nice looking trees.

EXPLOITING THE HOME MARKET

Garet Garrett says that one of the secrets of American prosperity is that this nation was the first to exploit the consuming power of its own citizens.

What has been happening in the United States becomes clear if we study our methods of increasing trade in contrast with the English method.

England was the first great industrial country. Since she had engaged in overseas trade, even before the industrial revolution, English manufacturers immediately looked upon the Chinese, Indians, South Americans, and Africans as the best prospects for the products of their factories.

Since the war the foreign trade of the United States has been vastly extended, but the bulk of our enormous output of goods is sold to our own people.

Twenty million automobiles are owned and operated in the United States because we have devised a credit system which serves our citizens in exactly the same way that the English banking system serves the Chinese and Indians.

In a word, the installment plan of selling is our device for exploiting the purchasing and consuming power at home.

"A British exporter," says Mr. Garrett, "having sold a bill of goods abroad even to some unheard-of place could get his transaction financed at a London bank. But one who sold, let's say, laundry machinery to the laundrymen of London on the instalment plan, and went to a London bank to discount the purchase-money contracts, would very likely be told that was a kind of business they knew nothing about."

Of all that has been said for and against installment selling, this observation seems to strike closest to the kernel of the subject.

If it pays to finance the desires and needs of people in foreign parts, why is it not even more logical to finance the wants of those at home? Our home market, if ingeniously cultivated, still remains the richest merchandising field on this planet.

CHILLY BIRDS TO HAVE CHRISTMAS TREES, TOO

Shivering birds who brave the northern winters, are to have Christmas trees, too, according to many letters received by Elizabeth King, editor of the children's page in Woman's Home Companion.

Without previous suggestion, heads of children's clubs throughout the country have submitted plans for entertaining birds on front lawns during the holiday. The best plan received is as follows:

Select an evergreen tree, or erect one, on the front lawn. Decorate it with festoons of red cranberries, strung with needle and thread. Carve carrots into little orange baskets and fill them with suet, cut into tiny pieces. Pop corn and string it into festoons. Cut stale bread into cubes an inch square, and hang them to the branches with bright colored yarn.

Another child suggested red apples cut in half horizontally, cores dug out and the center filled with kernels of corn, tied on the tree so they will not upset. Sprigs of edible red berries, wherever colorable, are to be affixed with colored string. Ground corn will be sprinkled all around the tree, says the youthful correspondent, for the chickadees and other birds that feed when the larger birds are not feasting.

My First Airplane Ride

Everybody, almost, has been "up," as it is called. That is, almost everybody has taken a ride in an airplane. Also, everyone has discovered that the first ride is the most thrilling of all.

"If ever there lived a Yankee lad, Wise or otherwise, good or bad, Who seeing the birds fly, didn't jump With flapping arms from stake to stump, Or, spreading the tail of his coat for a sail, Take a soaring leap from post or rail, And wonder why—he couldn't fly, And flap and flutter and wish and try."

After Darius Green had got his flying machine made he took it up into the hay mow and jumped from a high window expecting to fly over the fields and meadows. Instead of flying he came down to earth with a dull, sickening thud and—

"Slowly, ruefully where he lay, Darius just turned and looked that way, As he stanch'd his sorrowful nose with the cuff."

"Wal, I like lyn' well enough", He said, "but he ain't sich a thunderin' sight, O' fun in 't when ye come to light!"

This story of Darius Green had made an impression on me and I have always been afraid to take an airplane ride on account of the lightning.

I have ridden a steer calf down hill at top speed. I have sat astride bucking bronchos without falling off, have taken long journeys in covered prairie schooners behind slow going oxen or horses, have taken rides in slow moving branch freight trains in the Ozarks of Arkansas. I have been aboard lake steamers on choppy waters, on ocean liners on a rough sea, on fast limited passenger trains on main line railroads, but never until yesterday did I ride an airplane.

When I went out to the airport yesterday for a news story, Mr. Kenyon, the owner of the big plane, invited me to take a ride with him as his guest. I thanked him very kindly for the invitation, but told him I was entirely satisfied to stick around on terra firma. Of course he laughed at me and so did Harlow Emery and other bystanders. Finally Mr. Kenyon said he would send his wife up with me and if I got frightened she could hold my hand and otherwise calm my fears. This was too much and further resistance seemed useless, so I climbed in the plane, accompanied by Mrs. Kenyon, who was to soothe my frightened feelings if it became necessary.

We bumped along the wheat field until we got spaced enough to take off. Now of course I can not speak for others, I want to state that right at that one half moment I had a creepy, crawling sensation that I never had experienced before, as we began to rise, and I began to realize that we were leaving this mundane sphere that we call earth, where I have spent my time and attention for over a half century, and had never been off of it for a single minute. I think my heart was working overtime, and I think that it would not have taken much more of a thrill for almost anything to have happened to me. In fact, as we began to ascend toward the azure dome in those mysterious realms above, I had such a funny feeling that I asked my traveling companion and fair protector if there was any danger of getting seasick. She assured me there was not any danger and pointing to a door behind us said, "this ship is equipped with all the modern conveniences, there is the bath room." The bath room was there all right and it was equipped with everything but the bath tub and the wash bowl. I kept my eye on that door until the first shock was over.

On and upward we went sailing along without a bump or a jar at the rate of over one hundred miles an hour. Oh, boy, there was a panoramic view that could never be seen except from that height. Far down below was a sight never to be forgotten. There was mother earth like a chess checker board with the wheat fields in squares of green and the pastures in squares of brown. Farm homes looked like toys and the highways like narrow ribbons of gray, the lines of demarcation between the green and brown squares. Automobiles had the appearance of fat little bugs crawling along and darting around each other on the highway.

I have seen pictures labeled "birds eye view" but this was the real thing. As we flew over the city, Liberal looked like a lot of little toy block houses, Parkview with its angling and circular drives was a beautiful sight indeed. It was a real bird's eye view.

The farther we went the more my confidence in men and things returned. It was not necessary for any fair lady to hold my hand to otherwise attract my attention or to keep my heart from going on double time. Two or three times on the return trip to the airport, Thunder Johnson, the pilot, gave us a thrill by dipping down. In these dips it appeared as if our chairs were dropping out from under us, but we really went down with the seats. When we started to descend it looked and felt like the ground was rising to meet us. The landing was a trifle rougher than the start. The first time up in

Guymon Loses to Spearman

Guymon and Spearman clashed in battle Friday, Spearman emerging from the fray the winner. The game was well played throughout.

Guymon badly outplayed them during the first half. They made seven first downs to their opponents two. However, the half ended 8-0 in favor of Spearman.

The local team continued to outplay them on through the third quarter. During the last half the Spearman eleven scored most of their touchdowns. Finally, the game ended 26-0 in favor of Spearman. All touchdowns were made on forward passes.

Coach Grimley played every man going out for football, twenty-three in all. It gave them good practice.

The Spearman field was unmarked. The game also started thirty minutes late. Furthermore, Spearman had hired no officials for the game, merely picking local fellows after a few arrived that had gotten wind of the game. There was also no advertisement, and the crowd was scant—Guymon Herald.

The egotistical ass who reported this game to the sports editor of the staid old Guymon Herald should not be allowed to attend high school football games in the future. He should stick around his natural habitat and invidious—the pool hall or speakeasy. Spearman has one of the fastest, best kept gridirons in all the north plains country, and some of the greatest games played during this season have been played on the local grounds. Only a week before the Spearman-Guymon game, the Lynx, Spearman high school team, played the Rangers, Perryton high school team, on this "unmarked" gridiron, and three thousand fans were entertained with one of the greatest exhibitions of this great sport that was ever held in this section.

The Guymon team never played the Lynx. They played a team of the Kittens who are growing and training and trying to make football players of themselves, that they might "make the team," next year or the following year. Also, Guymon is sending out one of the slowest teams in the country this year. This team has been defeated in practically every game played this season. Dalhart recently took them to a 37 to 0 cleaning. Spearman fans have had the privilege of seeing the great Perryton Rangers, the powerful Berger Bulldogs, the mighty White Deer Bucks and other great squads in action this season, and it is any wonder that the announcement that a very second rate team was coming to town to play a Lynx second string, failed to attract a huge crowd.

The game was advertised in the usual manner, but Guymon failed to attract.

SEEK ACHIEVEMENT, NOT SUCCESS, PROF. URGES

Success and achievement are such entirely different matters, according to Prof. Walter B. Pitkin, of Columbia University, that success, in its actual sense, is not worth gaining. Achievement, on the other hand, declares Prof. Pitkin, contributor to The American Magazine, in his latest book, is an outcome of a careful study of one's own mind, energies and physical capacities. Success, he points out, is merely attaining a temporary goal, such as re-ouping one's salary lost at cards or getting a coveted job. Achievement entails surpassing the normal and the position thus gained. Neither success nor achievement can be measured in terms of wealth, Prof. Pitkin continues.

In his latest book, "The Psychology of Achievement," Pitkin places before the reading public the science of psychology and biology as related to human endeavor in a manner that will clear up all of the mysteries of the subjects for laymen. At the same time his new work is so forceful that it is being rapidly adopted as a text book for students who heretofore have struggled with incomprehensible tomes, filled with scientific terms seldom found in the family dictionary.

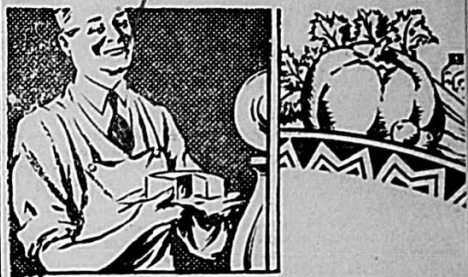

Kern Sale Was A Great Success

The sale of dairy cattle and a few farming implements held by R. P. Kern on his farm one-half mile west of Spearman on Thursday, November 6, was one of the very best sales ever held in this section of the country. The Kern cattle were as good as could be found, and were in fine shape. This helped out with the sale. Also, there is a demand the year round for milk stock of the better sort. Registered Holstein and Jersey cattle always demand a good price and find a ready sale. Mr. Kern spent over ten years in building up the fine herd which he sold last week, and he was not a new hand at the business when he established himself in the business at his present

Mr. Kern has been following dairy business, together with breeding of fine milk stock, past thirty-seven years. His third big sale, and one of the very best he ever held, is retiring from the business awhile and to look after lines of endeavor.

The Kern dairy cattle all parts of the county went as far away as Enigma. Most of the herd, was bought by north plains buyers, several of the best cow out to dairy farms near and Dalhart.

Rancher Slaying Trial Set for November 24

PAMPA, Nov. 10.—The trial of Carl Hefner and Emmett Thompson, under murder charges in connection with the death of Homer Crabtree, ranchman, last Wednesday, was set for November 24 by District Judge W. R. Ewing Monday, when the defendants were arraigned.

Attorney for the defense objected to the setting and asked for more time to prepare their cases.

Both men pleaded not guilty and no bond was asked and none set.

A special venire of 200 men was ordered for the trial. State Senator Clint C. Small of Wellington was present at the arraignment. He has been retained as special prosecutor by Mrs. W. R. Orrof, Wellington, sister of Crabtree.

Crabtree died shortly after he was found brutally beaten on his ranch near LeFors.

1931 Chevrolet Has Many New and Attractive Features

1931 Chevrolet's new car for 1931, substantially below current prices, went on display throughout the United States last Saturday. The new car boasts a 20% increase in wheelbase, and more roomier bodies for both touring and roadster models. The new car is a far lower figure than any Chevrolet, four or six cylinder, ever sold.

Throughout the United States, the new models on exhibition for the first time, in two months in advance of the annual new car show, are being shown. This is in advancing the announcement date, it was felt by Chevrolet officials, would render a direct contribution to the cause of the business revival by insuring extraordinary activity during the normally dull business months of the year. The new Chevrolet is the most popular of all cars in the United States who depend directly on the Chevrolet for their livelihood.

The nineteen domestic production plants of the Chevrolet organization are now in full swing on the new model, according to W. K. Anderson, president, and shipping is going out to dealers to insure immediate delivery of all models.

Essentially the new model features the same basic features as the Chevrolet Six, enabled it to be a popularity exceeding that of the former four cylinder and four times as great as other six cylinder cars. How scores of improvements and changes have been made this year—every change designed to increase the smartness, performance, safety or durability of this General Motors model.

Among the improvements are a new insulated front compartment, more durable steering, smoother and quieter transmission, and liberal use of chrome plating on exposed parts. Four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers, and fully weatherproof fender-mounted brakes continue as standard equipment.

The line of nine body types—three open models—the roadster, phaeton and sport roadster, six closed models—the coach, sedan, special sedan, the three-window coupe, the five-window coupe, and the sport coupe.

All sport models come equipped with the new and popular chrome-plated radiator grille. All models sport new tires, as standard equipment. Hubs are very large, the concealed bolt type, with caps of gleaming chromium set off by a black ring carrying the Chevrolet emblem in the center. Wheel finishes harmonize with the wide variety of body combinations.

Head lamps and tail lamps are chrome plated in the new car. Chrome plated parking lamps attached to the cowl are standard equipment with all sport models. The special sedan has front fenders with well for the two wheels. The models equipped with one extra wheel carry spare in the rear.

Safety factors stressed in the new car include a frame increased 7 per cent in torsional strength, continuance of the gasoline tank in the rear away from the engine, and inclusion of flame arrester in the air clean-

The two-inch increase in wheelbase has been utilized throughout the line to increase the roominess and comfort of the new bodies. Smart new Dual Color combinations, the addition of decorative body features and a head-on appearance extensively changed from the 1930 car combine to make the 1931 model decidedly finer in appearance than any of its predecessors.

The radiator has a larger cooling capacity this year, and is improved in both efficiency and appearance. A new treatment of the shell makes it appear much higher and the sides appear to have more curvature. At the bottom the shell is a black enameled beaded panel surrounding the starting crank hole, which enters through the radiator instead of the splash pan as formerly.

A chrome-plate tie-bar arches from fender to fender across the front of the radiator, and holds in position the parabolic chrome-plated head lamps as well as the new and popular high-frequency vibrator horn, which is mounted this year just beneath the left head lamp. The splash guard which formerly extended horizontally from the bottom of the radiator now drops away vertically in the conventional manner. Front fender have been raised slightly at the forward end to achieve a lighter and finer appearance, and the sweep of the rear fenders has been made more pronounced.

The hood is longer, with a higher crown in the upper panels. The side hood hinges have been raised to coincide with the body moldings, and this molding is continued on through the hood at the hinge line, the holding being so designed that it conceals the hinges. There are more hood louvers this year, grouped on raised panel toward the rear of the hood.

The new Fisher bodies all have a raised belt to emphasize the low appearance of the car achieved by deeper side body panels, with their slight outward bulge. Roof lines are improved by streamlining and by an increase in crown at the front.

An outstanding feature of the new bodies is the better vision made possible from the driver's seat by slightly lowering the seat and raising the header bar which runs across the top of the windshield. A further aid to clear vision for the driver is the new narrow stamped pillar at the ends of the windshield, which augments the safety provisions of the car.

All body moldings are pressed integral with the body panels, thus eliminating all separately applied moldings with their consequent difficulties. The drip molding also is pressed integral with the roof panels. This method of construction eliminates the inevitable rust streaks which result when the molding is separately applied because the paint chips off at the connecting line.

The running board is longer, and narrower at the front end. The running board aprons follow the contour of the body and appear to be a continuation of it. Corrugated rubber molded in position and extended over the rounded outside edges covers all exposed edges.

An improved rear end appearance is achieved by a newly designed panel concealed in the rear cross member and the gas tank. The black enameled panel is set off by a large chrome plated filler cap on the tank. The combination rear lamp-and-stop-light is mounted on the left fender instead of the tire carrier as formerly, and the license plate is attached to a cross bar mounted just below the lamp bracket.

The interiors of all bodies have been redesigned to take full advantage of the extra roominess provided by the two-inch increase in wheelbase. The result is a "big car" effect in the interior, just as the added sweep of the exterior body lines creates the impression of a considerably larger car than last year.

Such fine car features as assist cords, ash receivers, arm rests and silk roller curtains harmonizing with the interior trimmings may be found in various models in the line. All sport models have a larger rear deck to add to the comfort of the rumble seat passengers. All closed models have the slanted non-grease windshield, the adjustable driver's seat and other features which have made the Body by Fisher the hallmark of quality in the fine car field. Mohair or broadcloth trimming is optional with all closed models.

All body hardware is newly designed, narrower and neater in appearance. Chrome plate finishes the exterior hardware and nickel plate the interior. All rear doors and the left front door are locked this year simply by slightly lifting the door handle instead of by snapping a separate lever.

The driver's compartment offers extensive changes from last year's car. Instruments are symmetrically grouped on a panel set off by a raised head. Control buttons are black with white letters and a white line rim on their faces. The steering wheel is three-spoke instead of four, affording better vision of the instrument panel, and the wheel is made of hard rubber molded on a strong steel frame in the manner of the costliest cars. The satin-black finish of the wheel lends a rich appearance to the front compartment.

The new steering mechanism is of the worm and sector type, with a reduction ratio of 12:1 instead of 9.5:1 as formerly, assuring easier and surer control because of the increased ratio and new high grade anti-friction bearings.

All open and closed bodies have automatic windshield wipers this year, the mechanism so arranged that when the power is shut off the blade returns to the extreme position.

The now famous fifty horse power valve-in-head six cylinder engine which Chevrolet introduced in 1928 is retained in the new car in all its fundamentals, although it has been refined for greater rigidity, smoothness and durability. Ribs added to the cylinder block achieve a 40 per cent increase in rigidity with only a one and one-half per cent increase in weight.

The strength of the crankshaft has been increased by the addition of ribs in the short arms, which result in greater engine smoothness. The harmonic balancer, introduced during the 1930 season, has been simplified in design for more effective dampening out of vibration at the critical speed of the crankshaft.

During the 1930 season a ring gear of high carbon steel for the first time was securely welded to the flywheel. This method of construction is continued in the new car, and minimizes the possibility of broken flywheel teeth and means better and easier engagement of the starter pinion.

Other improvements in the engine include a redesigned clutch housing with the closure at the bottom effected through three separately removable pieces instead of one for easier access for adjustment or inspection; cooler running and longer lived spark plugs; a new rubber boot over the carburetor accelerator pump to exclude water from the pump cylinder and prevent freezing in cold weather; a new tank-proof valve rocker cover for the top of the engine; greater pressure of piston rings against the cylinder walls to assure more effective sealing against leaks; redesigned valve push rods with the spherical socket made integral with the rod to eliminate the extra joint with its consequent possibility of wear and noise; an improved water pump for greater durability; valve springs of variable pitch, assuring tight closure of valves and elimination of spring vibration; a copper mesh air cleaner and flame arrester instead of a centrifugal cleaner; and a new type crankcase ventilator, combined with the oil filter and provided with an oil separator, which drains off engine fumes through the underpan in steam of through the carburetor as formerly.

Refinements in design contribute materially to smoother operation and longer life of the clutch. Molded clutch facings replace the doven type; the clutch pilot bearing is now ball bearing instead of bronze lushing, and a spherical pivot replaces the yoke bracket and pin at the clutch mounting.

The transmission case has been changed to secure greater rigidity and to permit access without removal of the clutch housing. The use of nickel-molybdenum alloy steel in the second speed countershaft and sliding gears, carbonized to produce a very hard surface assures maximum life and minimizes wear and breakage possibilities.

With the lengthening of the wheelbase to 109 inches, more than two inches longer than last year, the frame has been redesigned, with increased metal applied at advantageous points to effect great safety and rigidity.

Side rails of the frame have been increased in section. Front and rear cross members and the rear engine support all have been changed to reduce stress and provide greater rigidity and safety. A sturdy stamped bracket extends outward from the frame to support the body more effectively, and reduce frame stresses and body deflections.

Other changes extend to the step hanger tie bar, the exhaust system, improved spring construction both front and rear, improved and redesigned self-adjusting spring shackles, a strengthened front axle and a lengthened third member of the rear axle to complement the increase in wheelbase, and redesigned rear spring seats with the "U" bolts reversed so that the bolts straddle the spring and set parallel to the axle housing. This last-mentioned change eliminates rattles due to excessive wear. A new method of lubricating the spring seats also retards wear and prevents rattles.

The cumulative effect of the improvements in the new model, which extend to every fundamental part of the chassis or body, mean a safer, longer lasting, better performing, and very much smarter appearing car. This factor, coupled with the reduced prices, represents a product which promises to prove one of the most popular cars in the history of the company.

Every change and new feature has met and survived innumerable tests before being incorporated in the 1931 car. Consistent with the established policy of "working two years ahead," the Chevrolet engineering department was at work on this new car before the public showing of last year's model. Each one of the twenty major engineers has been at work on various units, oftentimes two or more engineers working independently on the same unit.

Entirely apart from Chevrolet's own engineers and designers there were further facilities for the development of the car in the General Motors Research Laboratories, the most extensive project of its kind in the industry, and in the large corps of craftsmen of the Fisher Body organization. The combined talents of these vast organizations has been brought to bear on the new 1931 Chevrolet that it might measure up to its slogan of "The Great American Value."

The latest government bulletin recommends dressing little children in bright colored clothes so that they may be better seen by motorists.—Woman's Home Companion.

BANK CREDIT AND BANK BALANCES

The balance you carry in your checking account has a good deal to do with the amount of credit extended at your bank. When one man wonders why he can't borrow as readily as his neighbor, granting all other factors equal, the reason is probably found in steady, substantial average balance as against a small, fluctuating account.

It is good business from every standpoint to build up your bank balance. You build credit for the future, a bulwark against emergencies, ready capital for business opportunities.

Twentieth Century Club

The Twentieth Century Club met with Mrs. P. A. Lyon on Thursday afternoon, November 13. Mrs. E. C. Womble read a very interesting paper on the life and character of Washington, Jefferson and Hamilton, as citizens and statesmen. Mrs. Womble, as leader, called on each member to discuss some act in the life of these great men that proved them to be our greatest leaders.

After a general, and quite lively discussion of the lesson, delicious refreshments were served.

Bridge-Dinner

One of the loveliest affairs of the season was a bridge-dinner given Friday evening November fourteenth by Misses Beatrice Gibner and Vera Campbell at the home of Dr. and Mrs. G. P. Gibner.

The entertaining suite was artistically decorated with a profusion of chrysanthemums. The color scheme of yellow and green was used through the evening.

Guests arrived at 7:30 o'clock, and after finding their place cards were seated at tables lighted by green and yellow candles with low center pieces of chrysanthemums, and set with silver and green crystals.

A three course dinner consisting of fruit cocktail, turkey dressing, baked potatoes, peas, cranberry jelly, lime and carrot salad, parker house rolls, pumpkin pie with whip cream and coffee, was served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. G. P. Gibner and Mrs. Fred J. Hoskins.

After dinner was served six games of bridge were played with high score going to Miss Olivette Hancock.

Guests of the evening were Misses Bernice Burran, Lorene Morton, Christine Balentine, Evelyn Murphy, Evelyn Roach, Olivette Hancock, Lois Bailey, Jannita Wilmet, Mary McMurry, Mesdames Lynn Paek, Warren G. McNabb, J. B. Cooke, G. Pope Gibner, Bob Taylor, G. P. Gibner, Fred J. Hoskins, and the hostesses.

Parent-Teachers Association Held Business Meeting

The business meeting of the Spearman Parent-Teachers Association held on Thursday afternoon of last week was featured by pep and enthusiasm of those present. All business was disposed of on short order. The buying committee has ordered charts and maps for the history and geography classes of the sixth and seventh grades.

We are very glad to have Mrs. H. A. Nichols represent us at the state convention at San Angelo, and we are so proud of our float in the Armistice Day parade. The float committee, Mrs. Noe, Mrs. Holton and Mrs. Finley, surely worked, but they feel repaid already, by the many compliments received on the appearance of the float.

Friday is "Parent's Visiting Day" and we sincerely hope to see every parent in the district there during the day. This day is observed in our schools throughout the entire county. Parents visiting the Spearman schools may visit the Home Ec. rooms for refreshments.

Be sure to see the Negro Minstrels on November 25.

The subjects for the sermons next Lords' Day are: Morning, "Soldiers of the Cross." Evening, "Faith."

Presbyterian Church

The Sunday school is the training school of the church. Let everyone make an effort to attend next Sunday. Many have an idea that the Sunday school is merely for the children and that the church service is for the adults. Both services are for both classes. Let us have a good crowd at both services. Sunday school at 10 a. m. and preaching at 11 a. m. We are planning our Thanksgiving service for Sunday morning.

Crismon Gets The Rebekah Quilt

The drawing for the Rebekah quilt took place Saturday, November 8, at five o'clock, and W. A. Crismon was the lucky man. Odd Fellowship means much to Mr. Crismon and everyone feels that the quilt could scarcely have been given to a more appreciated patron.—Texhoma Times.

Mr. Crismon is father of Mrs. D. W. Hazlewood of this city. He and Mrs. Crismon were guests in the home of their daughter during the week last passed, returning to their home in Texhoma on Tuesday.

P. T. A. Announce Hit "Dixie Blackbird Revue"

The Parent-Teachers Association has launched an effort to assist in some outstanding project this year, and has selected various needs of the new school building as one most worthy its support.

The club is sponsoring the riotous "Dixie Blackbird Minstrels," which will be given in the high school auditorium November 25. The cast includes some very prominent business men, some popular talented ladies and a chorus of sixteen of Spearman's most beautiful girls. With an excellent cast "Dixie Blackbirds" has all the earmarks of being one of the best hits staged here in some time.

The revue opens with an opening ensemble of some of the best voices in Spearman. Circle member Raine Tompkins, P. A. Lyon, F. M. Lyon, Charles Darnell, R. H. Prewitt, Bill McClellan, Leo Phelps, and S. J. Powell. Elmer Gunn as interloper handles the role of middle-man with the ability and poise of which he is capable. The four little end men represent the juvenile minstrel and are done by Oran Ross Kelly, Charles Reaves, A. J. Curtis and Dick Vernon. The Juvenile Minstrel closes with song hit by the little pickaninnies. The parts of Pete and Repeat, two page announcers are played by Bernice Vernon and Vivian Close.

The four adult end men with their jokes, singing and dancing are a Wow! They are: Red Black, Happy McMurry, F. Shive, and E. L. Schneider.

"The Dark Triangle" a black-face skit, is a scream with Billie Jarvis as "Attorney Alexander Butler," a pompous cullud lawyer; Mrs. G. P. Gibner as "Mandy" a syncopating siren getting a divorce; and P. Shive as "Clemson" the hen pecked husband.

"Dark Town Wedding Day" is one of the big hits and seeing Judge Wolfe as the nigger preacher is worth the price of admission. Don't fail to hear him preach the old time nigger doctrine. Happy McMurry takes the role of "Yancy Blakey," a wanky coon and Mrs. Dawson Nichols as "Clemson" a high stepping yaller gal.

"Uncle Minnie's Kimona" a whiteface one-act comedy is indeed a laugh. He sure and see Mrs. John Hays as the ruler of home and Legislature; Pope Gibner as "Uncle Minnie" who stays home with the baby. Another high spot is Arnold Wilbanks as "David Smith," a sweet, sissy boy; "Franski" played by Wilma Pearson who aspires to political office. Evelyn Roach as "Julia Jones" does the part of the woman in the case.

"The Womanless Fashion Show" will be the scream of the evening. Don't miss the fun! See your fellow citizens attired in the latest feminine parisian styles. Bathing beauties, stylish stouts, lingerie evening clothes. If it hurts you to laugh don't see this.

Sixteen chorus girls beautifully costumed will sing and dance through the entire show. Make your plans to see it now. Tickets on sale at Hastings Pharmacy, Thomason Bros., Russell Store, and Stone-Merritt & Co.

Watch for a parade in costume Saturday afternoon at 3:30. Specialties between acts done by Katherine Lyon and Alice Hazelwood.

Fashion show models—Stylish Stouts, V. O. Davis, R. H. Prewitt; Debutantes, F. M. Lyon, Chas. Darnell Flappers, Bob Clogston, Fred Hoskins, V. R. Green, W. E. Bates; Bathing Beauties, Arnold Wilbanks, Bill McClellan.

Miss Tapas Elliott, the talented and efficient accompanist does much to make the play a success.
