Revis Jordan Reigns As '56 Queen

By BEN McCARTY
FOREADOR STAFF WRITER

Revis Jordan is Texas Tech's Homecoming Queen for 1956. She will reign over all activities during the weekend celebration.

Miss Jordan was 1955 South Plains Maid of Cotton and runnerup in the national contest, a La Ventana beauty for two years, Air Force ROTC Sweetheart and freshman cheerleader. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta.

Accompanying the Queen during coronation ceremonies were attendants Lucinda Birtciel, senior from Levelland; Eva Garza, senior from Kermit; Donell Phillips, senior from Plainview and Shirley DuPriest, senior from Waco, runners-up in the queen contest.

Bundles of roses and the corsages for each of the Homecoming Queen candidates were given for the ceremonies by Mac's Flower Shop and the Lub-Tech Floral.

Immediately after the coronation ceremony Queen Revis will light a 12-foot cowboy effigy, representing Oklahoma A&M, and Tech cheerleaders will lead student yells during the pep rally sponsored by the Saddle Tramps.

Class reunions are scheduled at 8:30 tonight, following the coronation, pep rally and burning of the effigy.

Members of the classes of '26-'38 will meet in the Anniversary Room of the Student Union. A. B. "Jelly" Brown of Lubbock is chairman. The classes of '39-'46 will meet in the Student Workroom of Tech Union. Chairmen of these class groups are Roy and Mabel Krebs of Lubbock.

The classes of '47-'51 and '52-'56 will meet in the Rec Hall. Chairmen for these groups, respectively, are Howard Schmidt and Richard Dickey, both of Lubbock.

The giant Homecoming parade gets underway Saturday at 10:30 a.m. Leading the parade will be Prof. D. O. Wiley's "Big Red Band." Merwin Downey, senior from Hawley, is parade chairman for the sponsoring group, Alpha Phi Omega, Tech men's service organization.

Luncheon To Honor Exes

A noon buffet luncheon at Tech Gymnasium will honor ex-students. The luncheon is sponsored by Furr's Super Markets and Texas Oklahoma and New Mexico Coaches Inc. Following the luncheon, at 1 p.m., new officers of the Ex-Students Association will be introduced.

Parade Highlights Saturday Morning Celebration Plans

Colorful floats, seven bands and prancing majorettes will pace Tech's Homecoming parade tomorrow morning at 10:30.

Weeks of work have been spent planning and building gala floats to be presented in honor of the exes. Float plans are closely guarded secrets and will remain so until they are unveiled shortly before the parade. The 26 floats will converge on Main between Ave. N and Ave. Q preceding the parade.

From Main, the procession will go to Texas Ave., turn right to Broadway, then to the Tech campus. It will disband west of the Administration Building, where the floats will be parked.

Fish Discard Caps If Tech Nips A&M

"Off with the slime cap!" This cry will soon ring out over Tech campus, along with victory bells—freshmen are hoping. If the Red Raiders win over Oklahoma A&M tomorrow, fish beanies can be thrown to the winds and for the first time this year all freshmen will be free to appear bare-headed and the green trademark of the neo-Techsan will disappear.

However, if Tech loses the battle tomorrow afternoon the slimes of 1960 will be required to continue wearing beanies until the last football game of the season is played.

Approval Of Amendment Three Will Give Tech Over Two Million Dollars

If Amendment Three, a proposal to the Texas Constitution, is supported strongly enough on Tuesday's state and national election ballot, Tech will receive over two million dollars a year for building and expansion.

At present, Tech and 13 other schools share in the five cent ad valorem state tax program. With the proposed change, only eleven other state supported colleges and Tech will receive the tax on a twenty-year basis. The allocation of the fund, provided to broaden a base of investments in previous university building funds, will be based on enrollment of the schools.

The allocation of money will be reshuffled to benefit all state supported schools without an increase in taxes. It is a part of the movement to forestall the possibility of standing room only at Tech in future years.

FOODS INSTRUCTOR TO ATTEND MEETING

Miss Faye McCarty, instructor in Foods and Nutrition department and faculty advisor to all student nurses, will attend the Texas League of Nursing meeting at the Baker hotel in Dallas, Sunday through Thursday.

The purpose of the meeting is to improve the nursing education program. Leading men and women in the field of Nursing Education will be present to discuss and analyze the needs of the student nurse in terms of philosophy, course content, goals, and objectives.

Tech cooperates with Methodist Memorial Hospital in training student nurses.

THE CAMPUS IS YOURS . . .

Pardon me Exes, but your nostalgia is showing . . . Which, may I add, is just the way Texas Techsians all over the campus have planned the occasion to be.

We want to remind you of the days when you attended Tech, doing the same thing that we're doing now.

The floats, the campus decorations, the queen's contest, the receptions and the entire spirit of the 1956 Homecoming has been geared for the single purpose of letting you know that we're glad to have you "back home"—even for this short visit.

Our enthusiasm in welcoming you back has an added spark this year—provided by the fact that it's Tech's first Homecoming as a Southwest Conference school. It's also the very first college Homecoming celebration for a record-breaking freshman enrollment which pushed Tech's headcount well above the 8,000 mark.

"The more the merrier," is the idea behind Tech Homecoming celebrations which promise to reach standing-room-only size in a few years.

In anticipation of the largest crowd of alumni ever to return for a Homecoming at Tech, the Toreador staff wishes to join with other students on campus in saying . . .

"Welcome back, Exes—the campus, and the weekend, is yours."
—Ross Short

the floats will be Tech ROTC units, ROTC band, and high school bands from Tom S. Lubbock and Monterey of Lubbock, Amherst, Whiteface and Denver City.

Best all-around float will receive a 54-inch rotating trophy presented by Lucian Thomas, of Thomas Jewelry. The first and second place winners in each of the three categories will also receive trophies.

Immediately after the parade, the judges will notify L. C. Walker, executive secretary of the Ex-Students Association, of the winners. Winners will be announced immediately thereafter over the loudspeaker system at the Ad Building.

Awards will be made during the halftime activities of the Tech and Oklahoma A&M football game.

Sororities, fraternities and campus organizations make up the three categories in which floats are entered.

Sororities: Sigma Kappa, Zeta Tau Alpha, Delta Delta, Delta Alpha Phi, Pi Beta Phi, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Gamma Phi Beta, Delta Gamma, Alpa, Alpha Chi Omega.

Fraternities: Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Kappa Psi, Kappa Sigma, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Kappa Alpha Theta, Phi Gamma Delta, Sigma Chi, Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Nu, Phi Delta Theta.

Campus organizations: Ag. Engineer, Air Force ROTC, Baptist Student Union, Newman Club, American Chemical Society, Press Club, Major Minor Club.

I put my faith and trust in you.
I thought I could rely.
But now I'm disillusioned,
I wish that I might die.
I made you my ideal, you see,
And so I copied you.
I should have copied someone else.
For now I'm failing too!

From North Texas State College, the Campus Chat states . . .
In Batavia, New York, a drum major flipped his baton into the air during a parade and was startled when it did not come down. He looked up and found that the metal baton was fused to 5000-volt power line suspended across the street. The incident caused a 90-minute power failure.

Club Scarlet Features Handsome Man Contest

Students won't recognize the Tech Union Annex Nov. 17 when members of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism society, convert it into "Club Scarlet," an annual affair which changes the old Rec Hall into a mock night club.

Highlighting "Club Scarlet" will be the selection of Texas Tech's Most Handsome Man. Nominations for the Handsome Man contest are made by any organization on the campus. Deadlines for entering a candidate is Nov. 9 at 5 p.m. Entries must submit their blanks, which have been mailed out to each organization, along with a picture, to Mrs. Margaret Schrader at Tech Press.

Winner of the Handsome Man title will be selected by popular ballot at Club Scarlet after preliminary eliminations by AWS. Everyone attending is eligible to vote on finalists.

Eight skits presented by campus organizations will make up the floor show for the night club parody. Groups selected to give skits will receive five dollars, but participants will not be admitted to the performance free.

Admission to Club Scarlet will be $1 per person.

Tramp president, Glen Cary, ex-Student Association president, Lewis N. Jones, dean of men, and Arch Lamb, founder of the Tramps, are pictured to the right of Henson.

Tramps Plan Pep-Rally Site

Next year's pep rallies will have an official, specific location—"Saddle Tramp Circle."

A model of the proposed Saddle Tramp Circle is on display in the lobby of the Tech Union Building.

A project of the Saddle Tramps, Tech men's service organization, the circle will cost an estimated $3,500. It will be located southwest of the new gym and will be completed by next fall.

Figurines depicting all Southwest Conference schools will be inlaid around the circle. The figurines will be in the colors of the schools they represent.

The circle will contain a circular pit approximately 20 feet in diameter with a 2 foot retaining wall. The pit will be used for the burning of effigies of opponent teams during pep rallies.

Area around the circle is designed to accommodate 5,000 persons. Four large sidewalks will approach the circle from the north, south, east and west. Flowers, arranged in the form of Double-T's will grow in a dirt area in the center of the walks.

A special committee of Tramp members is currently investigating methods to raise money for the circle's cost. Tramp President Eddie Henson encourages anyone with suggestions to contact him.

Plans were executed by Prof. Elo J. Urbanovsky, head of the horticulture and park management department. Assisting him were Henry Huneke and Dick Reagan.

Tech Schedules 1st Christmas Opera

Tech's first Christmas opera will be presented Dec. 18 and 19 in the Lubbock Little Theater.

The production, "Amahl and the Night Visitor," will cast two girls and four boys in the leads.

Tryouts for the cast are being held today, Monday and Tuesday in room 267 of the Music Building between 5 and 6 p.m. Besides the leads there will be a 16-voice chorus. A student director and accompanist complete the individual parts.

J. O. Foster, director of the production, states that 30 people will be needed for the various committees: Committees needed will be stage crew, art and designs, property, costumes, programs, advertising, ushering and ticket sales.

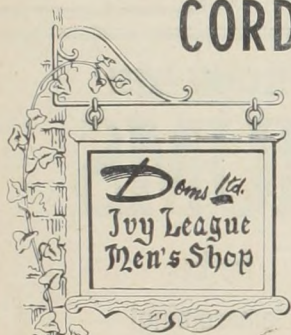

The Music Department is sponsoring the production with Clive K. Genzlinger as director.

Texas Tech, with a record enrollment this fall of 8,055, went ahead of Texas A&M's 7,200 enrollment to become the undisputed second-largest state-supported college in the state.

Tech is second only to Texas University, which has a record 18,156 students this year.

The total enrollment for the 18 fully state-supported colleges and universities reached a record high of 76,954 this fall, 5,651, over last year's total, according to the Texas Higher Education Commission.

Ten of the institutions, including Tech, have the largest enrollment ever, but four are down from last year.

Showing a decrease from last year are: Sul Ross, with 779 as compared to 867; and Texas Western at 3,839, as compared to 3,891 in 1955.

Other institutions with record high enrollments are: Arlington State College, 4,083; Lamar State Tech, 5,302; North Texas State, 6,177; Sam Houston State Teachers, 2,822; Southwest Texas State Teachers, 2,258; Stephen F. Austin, 1,757; Texas A&I 2,669 and West Texas State, 2,968.

Halftime Program Features Flash Cards

Flash card actions during halftime at tomorrow's game will bring section Y of Jones Stadium to life, as the flash card system, used by most SWC schools, goes into practice, sponsored by the Saddle Tramps.

Flash card actions in the order they will appear are "Howdy, Exes," with the band forming "exes" on the field, picture of Oklahoma with A&M in the middle, while the band forms an OAMC on the field, Queen's name, and Double T, with band forming a Double T on the field.

Flash cards will be in section Q of Jones Stadium, 14th row to fourth row from top. Spectators sitting in this section are asked to cooperate by reading the instructions under the seats and by remaining seated directly behind each other during the halftime activities so there will be proper lineage and coordination.

There will be no participation during the game.

"Saddle Tramps are urging everyone in section Q to remain in their seats during halftime so the stunts will be successful. This will be a featured Homecoming activity for the exes, so everyone's cooperation will be appreciated," stated Bill Morrow, Dallas junior on the Flash Card committee.

Three different cards will be passed out before halftime and the Saddle Tramps urge flashers to keep the cards until they are collected. Since the cards cost about three hundred dollars or more, people sitting in section Q are asked not to throw or damage them for they can be used in future years.

Eddie Neal, Fort Worth junior, is chairman of the Flash Card committee which consists of James Babb, Abilene junior, Clarence Caywood, Hereford sophomore and Bill Morrow.

Home Ec Slates Nov. 10 Workshop

LARGEST CROWD SEEN

Texas Tech's largest crowd of the season has already been achieved.

Latest reports from the State Fair of Texas show that 32,500 persons attended the Texas A&M game in the Cotton Bowl Oct. 6.

A writing workshop for home economists will be held Nov. 10 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Home Economics Building. Instructors will be Genevieve Callahan and Lou Richardson, editors of the book, "How to Write for Homemakers".

The six-hour concentrated workshop, arranged by Miss Anna Bines, president of the Texas Home Economics Assn., will cover material concerning publicity releases, booklets, writing magazine articles, setting up arrangements for photographs and planning programs, presentations and demonstrations. Deadline for enrollment is Tuesday.

Invitations have been extended to all area homemaking teachers, dietitians, home demonstration agents, home economists in journalism and others who want to put ideas and information across to the public effectively.

Penny-A-Minute Night Set For Tuesday At Girls Dorms

Staying out past regular dormitory hours will be legal Tuesday night, and the only penalty to be assessed late-comers will be a cent for each minute overtime.

"Penny - a - Minute Night, sponsored by Associated Women Students, is the twice-a-year occasion, when girls are not penalized for late minutes. Another Penny-a-Minute night is planned before dead week.

Freshmen will be allowed to stay out until 10 p.m., sophomores and juniors until 11 p.m. and seniors until midnight. Each girl will be required to pay a penny for each minute past regular dorm hours that she is "late," and all girls must have the correct change.

Only students who have paid 50 cents AWS dues to their Legislators may participate, according to Pat Stookesberry, AWS treasurer.

More Coeds Enter Cotton Maid Race

Only three more entries for the Maid of Cotton Contest were made today. They include Lucinda Birtciel, Levelland; Bobbie Scofield, Dallas; and Sandra Broome, Anton.

Girls have not officially entered the contest until the Chamber of Commerce has the entry blank and a picture at their offices, said Gordon Rose, Publicity Chairman.

All contestants must have their picture taken by the official photographer of the Chamber of Commerce. He will be in Drane Hall lounge next week to take pictures, or girls may go to the Chamber of Commerce offices at 9th and Texas.

Union To Sponsor Quartet Harmony

Tech Union is sponsoring the first Lubbock Quartet Sing, to be held on Sunday, Nov. 11, at 4 p.m. in Union Ballroom.

The program will be on an entertainment basis only—noncompetitive.

All types of quartets—barbershop, spiritual, and popular—with their own accompanist, both on the campus and in the city, are urged to enter and to take part on the program.

In order to arrange the program all entries should be turned in to Betty Eller of the Union Music Committee by Monday.

ALPHA PI MU TAKES FOUR NEW MEMBERS

Alpha Phi Mu, honorary society for industrial engineers, initiated four new members in a ceremony in the Anniversary Room of the Student Union Building last night, according to Bill Taylor, president of the organization.

Initiates were Ross Gwinner, Larry Byrd, Wayne Stagner and Miles Black.

Tech Alpha Phi Omega Sponsors Handicapped Boy Scout Troop 161

By LARRY TODD

Twice a week one of the rooms in Lubbock's School for Exceptional Children hums with a brand of activity dear to the hearts of boys the world over. It's a world of dots and dashes, timber hitches, rock collections and swimming strokes.

Boys at the School, who are full-fledged members of Troop 161, Boy Scouts of America, are instructed by members of Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity of former scouts.

APO members meet with the troop every Tuesday and Friday afternoon and each member works with a particular boy on Scout activities. Many of the boys have earned merit badges for stamp and rock collections, Morse code and basket weaving.

When the troop was organized in 1953 there was much fear of doing or saying the wrong thing. The APO's soon worked out a pattern for the handicapped Scouts that they are still following:

1. Give the handicapped boys everything they are physically capable of handling.
 2. Make sure they are able to explain thoroughly all the Scout requirements they are not physically capable of demonstrating.
 3. Work out replacements for requirements the retarded or handicapped boys can't meet.
- The most important rule in regard to the handicapped scouts, is that he is not to be "treated like a baby."

APO members have taken the Scouts on several outings to the South Plains Scout camp near Post. They believe that these outings will help the boys advance socially and overcome many of their handicaps.

Should hydrogen bombing be continued or discontinued?

This is the question Oxford debaters will discuss at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Rec Hall.

Because the subject arose out of debate on elections last week, it was decided the audience should have the privilege of asking more questions. Length of speeches will be shortened for a greater audience participation, says Joe Hudgens.

The debate is the first in a series sponsored by the Tech Forensics Union. Subsequent debates will include cross-examination and panel discussion techniques.

Tech Seeks 2nd Win

By BILLY ELLIS
Toreador Sports Editor

Having ruined Arizona's homecoming last week by taking their first win of the season, 21-7, Texas Tech's Red Raiders will be out to protect their own homecoming record, which stands at 17 wins and nine losses, in tomorrow's game. The Raiders meet the Oklahoma A&M Cowboys at 2 p.m. in Jones Stadium.

The Raiders, who showed a bit of the form and poise missing in earlier games, last week completely thrashed Arizona, being in complete command after sophomore quarterback John Riddle had led Tech to its tying touchdown late in the first period.

Williams Leads Win

Captain Don Williams was the main gun for the Raiders, scoring a touchdown and booting an extra point. The Graham quarterback had a 57-yard punt return for what would have been a Raider TD called back for a clipping penalty.

From all appearances, the victory last week did much to up the spirits on the Big Red squad. After four straight defeats, confidence was growing low on the team, but last week's showing should be like a shot of vitamins to the Raiders, who have shown spirit and hustle all year, despite their losses.

A victory in tomorrow's game is of prime importance, since the Raiders will need to be in top shape both mentally and physically for Texas Christian, who comes to town next week. The Frogs have been having their knocks recently, losing their last two games. They play rugged Baylor tomorrow in an important Southwest Conference game.

Breaks Hit Aggies

The Cowboys of Oklahoma A&M have had their share of the bad breaks this season. Coach Cliff Speegle's crew brings a 2-3-1 record into tomorrow's game. The Aggies hold wins over Kansas State and Wichita. Losses have been to Arkansas, Houston and Kansas. The tie was a 14-14 deadlock with Tulsa, whom the Raiders meet in their eighth game this year.

Like Tech, the Cowpokes sport a sophomore team. Among the 52 Aggies are 27 second-year men. Also, Oklahoma A&M has had serious injuries, a la Texas Tech. Halfback Joel Favara and end Jack Motley are out of action, their services lost for the season.

The series record between the two teams shows Tech ahead, having won seven, lost four and tied two in the 13 previous meetings. The Raiders won last year's game in Stillwater, 24-26, with halfbacks Ronnie Herr and M. C. Northam scoring touchdowns.

Last meeting of the two teams in Lubbock, 1954, produced the exciting 13-13 tie called by some writers as "the game neither team deserved to lose."

Hill Still Out

Buddy Hill, leading passer and punter for the Raiders, will probably see little or no action in tomorrow's game. Hill, who is being plagued by an injured knee stemming from an operation last spring, was held out of action last week in Tucson. Milton "Rabbit"

Vaughn, a starter last week, will be out with a sprained ankle.

Probable starting lineup for the Red Raiders reads: LE Ken Vaker, LT Charlie Moore, LG Hall Broz-foot, C Jack Henry, RG Flo Hood, RT Doug Campbell, LB Pat Hartsfield, QB Don Williams, LH Ronnie Herr, RH Hugh Few and FB Doug Duncan.

Oklahoma A&M is expected to counter with: LE Mc Odel, LT J. Hold, LG Vandiver Childs, C F. Latham, RG Howard Keys, QB Dwaine Underwood, RE Jim Wood, QB Johnny Allen, LH Duane Wood, RH Forrest Campbell, and FB Larry Rundle.

This will be the first appearance for the Oklaggics at a Tech Homecoming. Last year's game was a 27-7 triumph for the Red over Arizona, and in 1954 the Raiders swamped Tulsa, 55-17.

A Homecoming crowd of about 17,000 is expected.

Dairy Industrials Set Short Course

Tech's Dairy Industry department will conduct a Dairy Industry Short Course in the Agriculture Building Nov. 14-16. The lectures and demonstrations are open to all Tech students and interested people.

Dairy products workers from Texas and New Mexico will hear Dr. C. A. Iverson of Iowa State College, Dr. D. V. Josephson of Pennsylvania State University, and other industry men speak on important dairy advances and problems such as making butter, milk, salesmanship, dairy product nutrition, dairy plant sanitation, ice cream flavors and cheese making.

Those interested may obtain a program in the Dairy Industry office. Highlight of the course for industry members will be a meeting of the Texas-New Mexico Dairy Technology Society at the Caprock Hotel at 7 p.m., Nov. 14.

FOREIGN STUDENTS MAY OBTAIN PINS

Foreign students pins are now available at the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce office, according to Gordon Rose, publicity chairman. The students were awarded certificates at a Chamber banquet recently, entitling them to the specially-designed pins, set by Rose. The Chamber of Commerce office is at 9th and Texas.

Cornell U. Awards Doctorate To Levy

Lester S. Levy, Tech assistant professor of economics, has been granted his doctoral degree in economics from Cornell University.

Dr. Levy made a 13-year study of union-management problems in the automotive industry during his period of research. This led to his doctoral dissertation entitled, "Union-Management Conflict in the Automobile Industry, 1937-1950."

Dr. Levy did his undergraduate work at Rutgers University in New Jersey. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree in economics from that institution in 1949. His Master of Arts degree was granted from Cornell University in the summer of 1952.

Prior to coming to Tech in the fall of 1955 as assistant professor of economics, Dr. Levy taught at Lehigh University in Bethlehem, Pa., for two years.

He was also a part-time instructor in economics at Cornell while doing graduate work at the New York school.

Both Dr. Levy and his wife, Marilyn, are natives of Newark, N. J. They now make their home at 4211-B 35th in Lubbock.

Men Journalists To Plan Fraternity

The Tech Men's Journalism Society is petitioning to the national organization of Sigma Delta Chi for a chapter on the Tech campus.

Sigma Delta Chi is the national men's journalism fraternity for juniors and seniors. Sophomores may also pledge the fraternity.

The Tech Men's Journalism Society is newly-organized on the campus and is following the national rules of Sigma Delta Chi in preparation to meet its standards. Ross Short is president of the organization. Harold Creswell is serving as vice president and Wayne James is secretary-treasurer.

Blindness Is No Handicap To "All-A" History Student

Charles Isbell, a senior history major, claims the school is a "snap"—and pretty well proves his point by maintaining a perfect 3-point grade average with his eyes shut.

Charles is blind, but other than keeping up an "A" average, he finds time to delve into a deep theological study in his spare hours, carry on a short radio program over a local station and keep an active membership in Alpha Phi Omega, a service fraternity for ex-Boy Scouts.

He insists that his blindness is no handicap.

"My only handicap is the attitude that people who can see have toward persons who are not sighted," he declares.

Asked how he studies, and how he manages to make near perfect marks on Tech quizzes, Charles replied:

"All I have to do is memorize the textbooks that the professors name for the class and feed the material back to them on test day."

His study consists of listening to someone read orally or reading Braille textbooks. Though all books required are not published in Braille, he claims that books are available on almost any subject and that he can learn what is necessary from available Braille editions.

"Concentration is a natural gift of the blind person," Charles pointed out in an interview, adding that he has absolutely no distraction when studying. "It's perfect concentration whether I like it or not," he said; "that's just the way it is."

With ambitions that far exceed graduation from Tech, Charles has always wanted to attend one of the really "great" institutions of higher learning in the United States.
