The 'Notorious' Dr. Alan Strout 'Murdered' By Enraged Student

By C. J. WREN
Toreador Issue Editor

At exactly 10:15 a.m. Tuesday morning a disgruntled Tech student pumped three "bullets" into Dr. Alan Strout as he came down the stairs in the Tech Union.

The shooting came as the climax of months of preparation, in cooperation with Dr. Strout, by the Pre-Law Club in staging a "mock crime" as an annual tradition.

Also, Life magazine had set up concealed cameras and had a reporter on campus to cover the event, which differed from "mock trials" on other campuses in that a crime was to be committed for the "trial" rather than simply using a case already tried.

However, due to unauthorized interference by a local radio station, coverage in Life has possibly been cancelled, Jim Ray, Pre-Law publicity director said. "Trial" for the "crime" will be 7:30 p.m. Friday in Aggie Auditorium.

Buildup for the crime began at the beginning of this semester when Strout agreed to harass, in his classes, Jerry Fletcher, "the murderer" and his "girl friend," Shirley Hammonds who is in Strout's class the hour following Fletcher's class.

See editorial and letter to the editor on Page 2.

A climax to the "harassment" came Tuesday morning when Fletcher came to class late. Strout told him that there was no need for him to come to class in the future.

The "straw that broke the camel's back" came the hour following when Strout tore up a quiz and threw it in Shirley Hammonds's face.

At 10 a.m. Strout went to the Union for coffee. He went upstairs and left his hat. Then at the cash register, as Strout was paying for his coffee, Fletcher and Miss Hammonds came up and another argument was staged.

As Strout came down the stairs after getting his hat in leaving the Union, Fletcher fired three shots at him. Properly smeared with "blood," Strout tumbled down the stairs.

Fletcher was to make his escape. Strout told him that there was

$25 Tuition Hike Nears Reality

By WAYNE JAMES
Toreador Editor

A raise in tuition for Tech and 17 other state supported colleges and universities came one step closer to reality last week when the Senate state affairs committee voted 10-7 in favor of a bill to double tuitions. The committee approval, along with the bill, will be discussed and voted on by the Senate either this week or next week. The bill, if approved by the Senate, will up tuition from $25 to $50 a semester for resident students and a similar increase for non-resident students. The bill was approved by the House of Representatives on Feb. 20 by a vote of 96 to 45.

President Jones Comments

When asked to comment on the proposed increase Tech President E. N. Jones said: "Our viewpoint has been from the beginning that we favor doubling tuition if it will benefit state-supported colleges and universities directly." In regard to the state-supported schools Dr. Jones stated that "Recent developments seem to raise some question how direct such benefit will be, if the tuition is doubled."

Senator Jarrard Secret of

Temple, Senate sponsor of the measure, told the committee that the measure was the only hope of securing a pay raise for public school and college teachers at this session.

In explaining his bill to the Senate committee, Representative Murray Watson pointed out that the present $25 a semester tuition was levied in depression years of 1933, and that, on present value of money, the proposed increase would be of less actual value than the 1933 fees, Texas, he said, is the lowest of the 46 states which have any tuition charge.

UT Students Oppose Bill

The vote in the Senate committee was taken without debate at the end of a three-hour hearing, when a spokesman for organized labor and 16 University of Texas students appeared against the bill. About 100 University students attended the hearing.

The Austin American pointed out that in lieu of a tax bill Gov. Price Daniel has recommended a raise in college tuition, and the one per cent allocation from the $365 million school fund for current use are necessary if enough money is raised to give the teachers a fair salary boost.

One student who appeared before the committee said that the

Tickets Go On Sale In Union For Prom

This year's goal for Junior-Senior prom ticket sales is set at 633, Richard Ligon, Junior class president, announced today.

Tickets for the event, which is scheduled for Saturday from 8 to 12 p.m. in the Fair Park Coliseum, are now on sale in the Tech Union and at noon this week in all boys' dorms at $3 per couple.

Hal McIntyre, popular saxophonist and bandleader, is booked to play for the dance, with featured vocalists Debbie Brown and the McIntots. McIntyre, who is a "favorite" among college campuses, is an ex-Glen Miller protege with some 20 years as a "top" musician to his credit.

Miss Brown, though fairly new to the profession of "pops" singer, has fast become popular through her Decca records with the McIntyre orchestra.

Theme for the dance will be based on the "Double T" with decorations in red and black, Walter Schuler, publicity chairman, said. Matadors will decorate the stage.

Members of fraternities and their dates will sit at tables designated for them by Greek letters of each campus fraternity.

The semi-formal dance is an all-college occasion with members of the Junior class bearing expenses.

Assisting Schuler with publicity is Dane Lane, co-chairman. Dottie Sue Horsham and Neal Pipkin are in charge of ticket sales.

'Harbinger' Now On Sale In Union

"The Harbinger," campus literary magazine, went on sale today in the lobby of Tech Union.

Five hundred copies of the magazine have been printed for distribution at 25 cents each. Sales will continue for several days.

"The Harbinger" is sponsored by Tech's chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity. Its contents are solely the works of Tech students.

Contributors represent six different majors, including English, education, chemistry, aggie education, Spanish, and psychology. Also there is one non-major. Writer classification ranges from freshman to graduate.

Some of the poems and short stories in the issue are winners in Sigma Tau's creative writing contest earlier in the year. Other contributions were not entered in the contest.

"The Harbinger" also may be purchased in the main English office and in Library 115.

Toreador Launches Readership Survey

Do you read the Toreador? Just how many read the college newspaper and what parts are read most are the objectives of a readership survey currently being conducted by Tech's journalism department.

Under the direction of Wallace E. Garets, journalism department head, members of the news editing class are questioning a representative number of students from each of Tech's schools regarding their interest and readership of the paper.

How many read a paper at all, what headlines are read, how far did each progress in the story and what advertisements are read are among the principal questions being asked.

Tech Faculty Get Association Posts

Three Tech faculty members have been elected to offices in the Southwest Social Science Assn.

In a Dallas meeting during the Easter holidays, Dr. J. William Davis, government department head, was named president of the association. Dr. S. M. Kennedy, assistant dean of Arts and Sciences, was chosen general program chairman and Dr. J. Wayland Bennett, associate professor of agricultural economics, was elected chairman of agricultural economics. All will serve one-year terms.

Miller Is Winner In Election Runoff

Susie Miller defeated Jerri Lewis for cheerleader in the all-campus runoff election Wednesday.

Other victors in the runoffs were Gail Petersen and Richard Estes in Arts and Sciences and Carolyn Williamson in Home Economics.

Those elected in Business Administration are: Jack Boggess, Dub Heffington, Larry Merriman and Liz Wilson. In the School of Engineering, Jay Dunlap, Lynn Elliott and David Pennington were chosen.

Election candidates who turned in pictures for the Toreador election issue may now pick them up in The Toreador office.

In the first election, David Thompson was elected council president; Wick Alexander, vice president; Don Ludwig, business manager; and Pat Rainer, secretary.

Cheerleaders previously chosen were Sharla Pepper, head girl cheerleader; Dick Sewell, head boy cheerleader; Bill Bean and Stan Powers.

Engineering representatives elected the first go-around are Bob Dyer, Don Hay, Eddie Henson and Milton (Rabbit) Vaughn.

Elected in the first election in Arts and Sciences were Wayne Gibbens, Peggy Miller, Gerald Myers, Sandra Shields, David Steinman and Chuck Strehli.

Janet Vines, Home Economics, and Dan Howard, Business Administration, were also elected in the first race.

The School of Agriculture had no runoff candidates as Bob Byrd, Donnell Echols and Jacky McAninch filled the berths.

Lubbock Symphony Plans 'Pops Night'

Techans will participate in audience and cast as the Lubbock Symphony's annual "Pops Night" concert hits the stage at the Municipal Auditorium Monday night.

The 80 member Symphony under the direction of William A. Harrod will strike up the band for two hours of Cole Porter tunes at 8:15 p.m. Tickets are on sale at the Lubbock Symphony business office, 1625 Avenue Y, or reservations may be made by calling POrter 2-4707. Admission ranges from $3 to 75 cents.

Five soloists and a thirty voice chorus will participate in the performance. Cleve Genzlinger, Tech voice instructor, is featured as one of the soloists. The others, including Tech grad, Alice Ann Yates, are all from the South Plains area. Several other Techans are working with the Symphony and chorus.

A QUESTION OF ETHICS . . .

Tech appreciates cooperation by local news media in its coverage of campus affairs. But when one of the local radio stations overdoes its job, it is hard to feel appreciation for them.

The Pre-Law Club and Life magazine spent considerable time and money in planning the "mock murder" staged Tuesday. All stations and the local newspaper had been notified that the "crime" was to take place and the time. They all agreed not to intervene until after the "crime" in order not to arouse suspicion.

But one station came out ahead of time and proceeded to set up sound equipment after being asked not to. Not only did they set up their equipment, but Dr. Strout, the "victim" was stopped on his way up the stairs in the Tech Union during enactment of the "crime" and asked to wait until the radio equipment was set up!

This upset the precision time schedule of the "crime" which caused the ambulance to arrive almost in time to catch the "victim" as he fell. Also, in trying to make his escape the "criminal," Jerry Fletcher, had to go completely around the Union building to get to his escape car because the radio equipment blocked the back door.

Since Fletcher had to make the round-about escape, he was tackled by a Raider football player and has a nice "knot" on his leg for proof.

But the real damage concerns Life. The magazine had spent three days on campus and spent a reported $800 in preparation for the event which they considered worth coverage.

Present indications are that Life magazine may not give coverage of the "crime." And who will blame them?

The radio station said they were acting in the best interest of Tech as they were trying to prevent any "panic" and any resulting injury to persons present. However, it seems to us, the "crime" was well handled to avoid this. Proper authorities were informed of it from college administration to the Campus Police force. The event was fully approved. In the Union at the time of the "crime" were campus policemen stationed to handle any resulting situations.

We thank KSEL for their consideration, but we feel that it wasn't needed. Much more damage was done because of it than could possibly have resulted without it.

Tech Choir Presents Easter Services On Spring Texas-New Mexico Tour

Recently 50 members of Tech Choir returned from their annual spring tour.

The group, under direction of Dr. Gene Hemmle, music department head, made the first stop in their tour Sunday morning to present Easter sunrise services in the El Paso Stadium, El Paso. Later that morning they sang for two church services in the First Presbyterian Church there.

Monday morning, while still in that city, they presented assembly programs for El Paso and Austin High Schools. The 50 selected Tech voices appeared Monday evening in the Ysleta High School, Ysleta and Tuesday morning found them performing in Hobbs, N. M.

The choir's program featured Richard La Mar, piano instructor, as accompanist. Included in the program were well-known works of Victoria, Palestrina, Brahms, Mendelssohn, Gretchaninoff and many other musical "greats." There were featured arrangements by Tech student, John Gilbert.

Included in the repertoire was a group of early sacred music, a group of later period sacred works, Russian liturgical music, folk songs, and a musical comedy and popular music group.

Nancy Kaisner Named Leading Woman Journalist

Mrs. Nancy Kaisner was named the most outstanding senior woman journalist at Tech, at the annual Matrix Table banquet April 17. The banquet was sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, journalism sorority for women.

Mrs. Kaisner is editor of Tech Talks and The Texas Techsian. She was cited for her high scholastic standing and professional work.

Awards were presented to area weekly newspaper writers for outstanding articles and editorials.

Speaker was Mrs. Margaret Sally Keach of Mission, Kan., author of "White Mother In Africa." Mrs. Keach told of the contrast in conditions in Africa in the 1920s, when she first lived there, and now.

TECHSANS TALK BACK

Dear editor,

I address this letter to every Tech student in the belief they, as well as the general public, should be made aware of the fact that Texas Tech was "knocked out" of a chance to receive national publicity in Life magazine.

The loss of this national publicity is a direct result of a few people of one radio station. Today, the call letters, KSEL, are considered worse than curse words by almost every member of the Pre-Law Club and should be so considered by every student faculty and citizen in the Lubbock-South Plains areas.

It cannot find words to express my contempt for such a news agency which operates in such an unethical manner. Life sent a crew of photographers to Lubbock last Thursday. They spent three days and over $800 setting up concealed cameras and setting up this timing of the mock murder staged in the Union Tuesday morning. The local news services were notified that the mock murder was to be staged, but, in order to be as realistic as possible, they were asked not to appear on the scene until after the murder.

All stations assured us they would cooperate fully and all did but one, that exception being none other than KSEL. They had been called twice Tuesday morning, the second time to remind them not to show up in advance. However, they proceeded to send their on-the-spot reporter out to set up in advance. Once again he was told to get out and that he positively could not set up before the mock murder.

Once again they turned their hearing aid off and hold up the plot until they could get set up. To no one's fault but KSEL the ambulance arrived before the "shooting" and KSEL was trying to interview the victim and murderer during the affray. Because of this, few persons in the immediate area were deceived into believing it was real, therefore Life said they probably would be unable to use any of their pictures. They said they got some excellent pictures of the KSEL newsmen and his equipment.

I can't emphasize enough what this has cost Texas Tech and this area. Because of a few egotistical, uncooperative news hounds, Tech may not receive national publicity in Life.

James R. Ray
Director of Publicity and Arrangement Co-ordinator for Pre-Law Mock Trial

Editors Note: It is not definite that Life will not run coverage on the "crime," but present indications are that they probably will not.—Editor.

TUITION

University Student Association had gone on record for the measure on condition that the increase be applied to tuition scholarships and pay raises for college teachers, as provided in the bill.

Labor Favors Students
Student opponents to the tuition raise were aided by Fred Schmidt, executive secretary of the Texas CIO Council, who also spoke for the Texas State Federation of Labor. He said "this is the only tax bill of the session—one levied on those least able to meet it." He insisted that admission to colleges should be on "academic, not economic" grounds.

Two students who spoke to the committee urged that the Legislature submit a constitutional amendment to permit current use of the $615 million public school and University permanent funds for present educational needs.

Raymond Brooks and Sam Wood, columnists for the Austin American, pointed out that the bill had not passed the Senate and might possibly be defeated. They said that "it would take 21 votes in the Senate to whittle the tuition bill through to final passage. Eleven opposition votes can kill the measure. It came out of committee by the narrow margin of 10 to 7. With seven votes against it in committee, the opponents need to pick up only four more tallies from the floor."

CAMPUS NEWS BRIEFS

City Police Nab Two Techsians

Two 18-year-old Tech students were arrested early Wednesday morning in connection with several reported thefts of hubcaps and fender skirts on the north dorm parking lot.

The students were released to Tech officials following their arrests, and no charges were filed pending further investigation, police said.

Milliken Slates Trip

Jacob H. Millikin, head of the extension division, leaves tonight for Athens, Ga., to attend the National University Extension Association.

Millikin will serve on the working committee of correspondence and the auditing committee while attending the association. He will return to Tech May 3.

Over 80 colleges including SMU and Texas are expected to attend.

Toreador Jobs Are Open

Several positions will be open for next year's Toreador.

Positions are as follows: managing editor, news editor, three sports editors, three society editors, and three copy editors.

Interested persons should contact either C. J. Wren or Mr. Wallace Garets of the Journalism department. Consideration will be given to everyone applying.

Wallace Keynote Speaker

Dr. Morris S. Wallace, education department head, will be keynote speaker at the opening session of the 22nd annual meeting of the Texas Society of College Teachers of Education today through Saturday in San Marcos.

Annual Proofs Ready

Barbara Pearce, La Ventura editor, Janet Moore, associate editor, and Jean Elliott, assistant editor are in Iowa City, Iowa, reading proofs of the annual. Miss Pearce says she hopes the publication will be ready for distribution in May.

Parks Conducts Clinic

Mildred Parks, music education specialist, was on Tech campus conducting special sessions in music education Tuesday.

Raymond Elliott, Tech music professor, acted as host for Miss Parks as she worked with students enrolled in music methods, and with teachers from schools in the surrounding area under the sponsorship of the Texas Tech Music department.

Three To Attend Festival

Three Techsians will leave tomorrow to participate in Abilene Christian College's Spring Interpretation Festival in Abilene on Saturday.

Dale Karte, Patsy Mullins and Marsha Riley will give interpretive readings that will be criticized. There will be no judging and no winner will be named. Miss Annah Joe Pendleton will accompany the group.

cape through the rear door of the Union, but it was blocked by radio equipment brought in without permission, and he had to go around the building to get to his "escape car" which was parked behind the Union.

He was stopped and arrested at 14th St. and College Ave. by police.

Strout was loaded into a Rix ambulance and taken off.

Campus police rounded up eyewitnesses and took them into the Union Director's Office for questioning, and the "crime" was completed.

However, the radio station threw the timing of the events off by stopping Strout momentarily on his way up the stairs to get his hat and the ambulance arrived early, Ray stated.

Also, the station's equipment spoiled most of Life's photographs, which were taken by concealed cameras located in such places as loud speaker boxes in the Union, Ray said.

German Plan Presented In Houston

Twelve students from Tech German Club journeyed this week to Houston where they will present productions of "Der Liederkranz Theater, 1957" for the annual meeting of the Texas Association of German students.

The German Club will present their part of the program at the University of Houston Saturday. It will include a puppet play, a serious drama and musical selections, all in German.

The University of Houston and Rice Institute are acting as hosts for the meeting which is held annually to promote interest in German culture and to provide an opportunity for extra-curricular association among the students and teachers of German in the various schools in Texas.

Students making the trip are Martha Mack, director; Lamar Strandmann, Bill Lofgren, John McGraw, Nancy Nelson, Bruce Sinnacher, Lowell Gregg, Harold Rogers, Janet Jones, Gabriel Garcia, Sam Shaw and Rudolph Brenn.

Others making the trip include Alvin Gregg, graduate student and state president of the Texas Association of German Students; Theodor W. Alexander, assistant professor of German; Elaine E. Boney and Alexander P. Hull, instructors.

Panhellenic Council Plans Workshop

"Standards for Sorority Women" will be the theme of the annual Panhellenic Workshop to open Saturday noon with a luncheon in the Student Union Ballroom.

Miss Betty Cosby, dean of women at Texas Western College, will be the principal speaker.

All sorority women may come to the luncheon, but only the major officers will participate in the workshop discussions. Tickets for the luncheon are $1.40 and may be obtained through the sororities.

Following the luncheon, the group will divide into eight buzz sessions to discuss sorority problems.

Sandra Cooper will be chairman of a group discussing problems of the president. Averil Brinkman will lead discussion on the pledge trainer's problems; Rita Morton on the social chairman; Fran Allison on standards; Ann Russell, on rush; Catherine Nelson on scholarship; Ardith Campbell on Panhellenic; and Martha Cordell on activities.

Travel Information

A "Travel Bureau" will be set up in the Program Council office of the Tech Union today and today to assist Tech students and faculty in their summer travel plans.

The Bureau, sponsored by the Union's World Traveler Committee, will feature information and illustrations of vacation spots in the United States and foreign countries. The information is available free of charge.

Delta Sigs Attend Retreat At Austin

Delta Sigma Pi, professional business fraternity will attend the annual professional-social retreat this weekend at Austin.

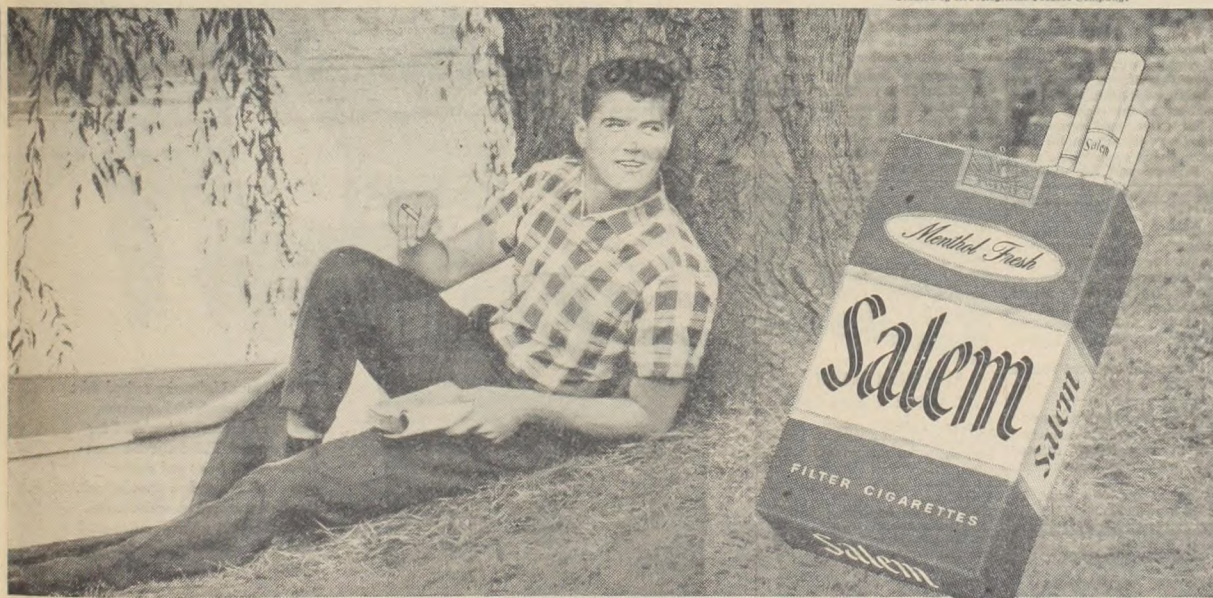

Members of the fraternity will tour the state capitol, state legislature, office of state comptroller and state treasurer and other state business and accounting agencies. They will also tour an outdoor advertising company, Duplex Advertising Company, and will visit with Lubbock's Sen. Preston Smith.

Entertainment for the retreat will be swimming, boating and fishing on Lake Travis and the members will attend the annual Delta Sig Goodby April-Hello May dance on Lake Austin.

San Angelo Coach Disputes Decision In Regional Meet

Delmar Brown, Tech track coach and director of the past Region I Track and Field Meet, received a letter recently from San Angelo track coach Bill Purser.

The disqualification of San Angelo's crack 440-yd. relay team in regional was the topic of the letter.

San Angelo's relay team was disqualified on the last baton exchange for passing the baton out of zone.

Purser protested the use of "Boys doing a man's job in judging handoffs."

"The judge who detected the infraction is not just a boy. He is 28 years old, a family man and a veteran of four year's military service," Brown asserts.

Not Enough Judges

Brown, whose frosh 440-yd. relay team was disqualified at the Texas Relays, says that there were four judges at the relay exchange point in regional, whereas there were only two at the Texas Relays.

"Even though you would like to see the best team win, you just can't overrule your judges for following the rules," says Brown. After measuring the disputed passing lane, San Angelo also declared the lane was 9 inches shorter than the required 60 feet.

The NCAA Track and Field Guide reads: "For all distances run in lanes which extend around one or more curves, each course shall be measured so that the distance to be run shall be 8 inches from the nearer edge of the lane line . . ."

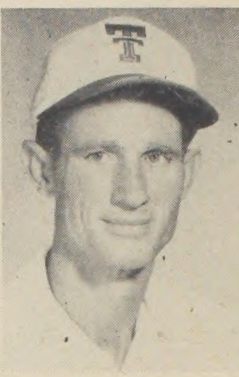

Delmer Brown remeasured the lane after the meet and found the lane to be exactly 60 feet.

Lanes Set By Engineers

Lanes were laid out by the Tech engineering department and tape-measured by himself before any races were run, asserts Brown.

Judges also said that San Angelo was more than 9 inches out of the passing lane. Brown states that they were out of zone by 33 inches.

San Angelo's 440-yd. relay team was considered one of the best in the state, being matched in time only by Travis High of Austin's relay team, which was also disqualified in its regional for passing out of zone.

Champs Named, Slate Released

Doak cinched the dorm league softball crown in Tuesday play as softball season moves into its next to last week, and Edsel Buchanan, intramural director, has released today and tomorrow's schedule.

In today's action at 5 p.m. PiKA plays Phi Gamma Delta on field 5, Kappa Sigma meets Sigma Nu on field 6, Phi Delta Theta takes on Tau Delta Tau and Phi Kappa Psi meets SAE. Doak ended its softball season with a 4-0 record, while Sneed and Bledsoe had 2-2 records. Gordon and West had 1-3 records.

Tomorrow there will be two 5 p.m. games and one 8 p.m. game. Geology plays Roman Rushers on field 4 and Sluggers meet Delta Sigma Pi at 5 p.m. and the 8 p.m. game has Block & Bridle facing Athletes.

Tuesday Sneed defeated West 7-5 and Doak downed Gordon 11-4.

Raider Relays Slated Saturday

Some of the state's outstanding schoolboy track and field performers will be on Tech campus Saturday, for the running of the third annual Red Raider Relays.

Meet director Everett Peel of the Lubbock Amateur Athletic Association expects record-breaking marks in most of the events, given a break by the weatherman.

Early yesterday, Peel had received entries from 55 Texas and New Mexico high schools, and expected more before preliminaries begin at 10 a.m. Saturday on the Tech track.

As a special attraction, Delmer Brown plans to have an exhibition race for his hurdlers, and other featuring Tech's relay team.

Houston Powell Will Seek Third Win In Sheppard AF Tilt Tomorrow

Houston Powell will be on the mound seeking his third straight win tomorrow when Tech's baseballers entertain Sheppard Air Force Base at 3 p.m. on Tech's diamond.

Ace righthander Leo Chase, troubled by a pulled arm muscle, has been given an extra day before making a bid for his fourth win of the season. The two teams meet again Saturday afternoon.

Powell, a 180-pound righthander, turned in the first nine-inning shutout for a Tech chunker since baseball was resumed here in 1954. The Lubbock sophomore threw the five-hit whitewash job at West Texas State in the Raider's last start, an 18-0 win. He has now given up only eight hits and one run in his last two games, both of which saw him go the distance.

The former game was the interrupted contest with West Texas which saw Powell hang a no-hitter in the balance for 10 days. He lost his no-hitter in the eighth inning when the game was completed, and ended up with a three-hit performance, giving up a lone run.

The Raiders will be seeking their seventh win of the season. They now stand at 6-3, having beaten WT four times and Hardin-Simmons twice. Losses have been Texas Christian, a pair, and H-SU, once. After this weekend, only two games are left, with Sheppard in Wichita Falls next weekend.

Leading Tech batters are Darrell Summers (11 for 32)—344, Monroe Henderson (10 for 30)—333 and Norman Huggins (12 for 40)—300. Actually, Sonny Donelson has the best average (.400), but has been at bat only 15 times, collecting six hits.

Other leaders are Huggins in home runs, with two; injured Cullen Hunt in triples, a pair; and David Potter in runs-batted-in with 10. Hunt, usual first-string catcher, suffered a broken finger in a game with West Texas, and may miss the rest of the season.

Tomorrow's lineup will read: C—John Henry "Buzz" Bates, 1B—Walter Bingham, 2B—Donelson or Dave Allen, 3B—Potter, SS—Henderson, LF—Huggins, CF Garrison, RF—Summers, and Powell on the hill.

Gymnasts Compete

Jay Johnson and Joe Naylor will compete in the trampoline division of the SWC Gymnastics Meet at Baylor next Saturday.

Recently Jay Johnson placed first in the novice division of the Southwestern AAU Gymnastics Meet, with Joe Naylor placing second.

Jay Johnson also placed second in the junior division.

'Mural Golf Meet Opens

First round play of intramural golf match competition started Tuesday, with finals slated for May 19.

First round matches must be completed by Sunday.

Last season's hit is back—bigger than ever!

This Arrow University oxford shirt was such a smash hit last season, you asked for an encore. And for good reason! The collar is button-down—both front and center back. Full length box pleat in back. Pencil-line stripes on white backgrounds—plus white and five solid colors. Arrow University, $5.00 up. Shantung stripe ties, $2.50.
