

19 Coeds Tapped In Mortar Board Rites

By WAYNE JAMES
Toreador Editor

The Matador Song rang from the Administration Building tower this morning announcing the tapping of 19 girls for Mortar Board, national senior women's honorary organization.

At the sound of the song, Mortar Board members, dressed in caps and gowns, filed to the class of each new member. While the group sang the "Ode to Mortar Board" one member placed the traditional black collar about the new member's shoulder. Then, each new member-elect joined the procession.

The 19 girls named for membership are: Donna Abraham, Bobbie Blocker, Jackie Brooks, Louise Crook, Maynette Derr, Gretchen E. (Betty) Donovan, Roberta Elliott, Sammie Nell Fowler, Billie Sue Gregory, Sandra Hemmle, Dolores Hutto, Janna Murray, Catherine Nelson, Janice Newsom, Carolyn Reynolds, Sara Sheveland, Beth van Maanen, Grace Wheeler, and Rebecca Wilson.

A banquet honoring new members will be held Friday, April 26, at the Lubbock Women's Club. Immediately following the banquet, an initiation will be conducted at the First Christian Church.

Every junior girl who had a 1.8 grade average was considered for membership. Selection was made after consulting faculty and students and reviewing activities in which the girls have participated. Scholarship, leadership and campus service formed the basis for selection of the new members.

Forum Chapter of Mortar Board was established at Tech in February as the 97th group in the nation. Last fall Tech's Forum chapter was given unanimous approval by the Mortar Board national council to petition for a chapter. Before this, approval had to come from the southwestern chapters of Mortar Board including the two others in Texas, Southern Methodist University and the University of Texas.

Current co-sponsors of Mortar Board are Miss Sue Rainey, associate professor of physical education; Mrs. James B. Whitehead, wife of the assistant dean of student life, and Miss Jacquelyn Sterner, assistant dean of women.

This year's officers include: Mary Randal, president; Joanne Holmes, vice-president; Kay

Robinson, secretary; LuAnne McNeil, treasurer; and Frances Allison, historian.

Membership also includes Sandra Casstevens, Edwina Schovajsa, Barbara Smith, Kathryn Veazy, Alice Wells, Marian Jo Wilson, Marianna Wilson and Beverly Wood.

Supreme Court Rules Committee Decision Valid

By C. J. WREN
Toreador Issue Editor

In a unanimous decision Friday afternoon, Tech's Supreme Court, in the case of Naylor and Johnson vs. the Student Council, ruled the decision of the Elections Committee of the Student Council valid concerning the disqualification of two candidates by the committee, but made recommendations concerning future elections.

The Court proceedings, attended by approximately 200 persons, regarded a petition turned into it by Joe Naylor and Jay Johnson, candidates for cheerleader positions who were disqualified by the committee for turning expense lists in late.

After three hours of court proceedings, keynoted by sharp debate, and one and a half hours deliberation, the court ruled "the penalty imposed was not too harsh because such actions are necessary to control violations of election principles, which is the responsibility of the Student Council" as stated in the Tech Constitution.

But the Court ruled that campaign rules and election laws See COURT DECISION, P. 8

Watkins Elected Board Chairman

Selection of a new chairman and vice-chairman of the board, and initial attendance of three new members marked the Tech Board of Directors' meeting Saturday.

W. D. (Windy) Watkins, Abilene, one of the first students to be officially admitted to Tech when it opened in 1925, was elected chairman of the board.

Jim Lindsey, Midland, was named vice-chairman and J. Roy Wells, administrative assistant to Pres. E. N. Jones, was renamed board secretary.

Floyd Woolridge, Dallas, Harold Hinn, Plainview and C. I. Wall, Amarillo, were the new board members attending. Wall attended in a non-voting capacity as he has not yet appeared before the Texas Senate for confirmation.

After a one and one-half hour closed session at the beginning of the meeting to elect officers, board members adopted resolutions of appreciation and signed certificates of appreciation to be sent to retiring board members Charles C. Thompson, Colorado City; George E. Benson, Lubbock and Tom F. Abbott, Fort Worth.

Formally approved was a contract with Wyatt C. Hedrick, Fort Worth architect, for drawing plans to enlarge Jones Stadium. The contract calls for preparation of plans and drawings for a brochure to be used in conducting a campaign for financing the renovation through the sale of seat options.

The enlargement proposal calls for moving the east stands back 250 feet and excavation of a bowl, with seats to be constructed on the slopes.

Other board action included the ratification of authorization in connection with the new dormitory construction and modification in an agreement with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce regarding finances for a Bureau of Business Research.

All Tech students are eligible to vote in the cheerleader race, but in the representative's race, one may only vote for candidates

Toastmasters Hear Ogden Nash Tonight

Ogden Nash, famous humorous poet, will be guest speaker tonight at a dinner meeting of the Tech Toastmasters at 6 p.m. in the Ballroom Lounge of the Union. He will speak to students and the public at 8 p.m. in the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium.

Nash, well-known to Americans for his "tortured rhymes" which have appeared in Life Magazine and The New Yorker as well as some dozen books of poetry, is now making a tour of the country with his lectures. He is being brought to Lubbock under the sponsorship of Tech Union.

Nash has written a number of books, co-authored the play, "One Touch of Venus" and is now one of the panel members of a popular TV show, "Masquerade Party."

At the evening lecture Nash will be introduced by James G. Allen, dean of student life, and his talk will be entitled, "An Evening with Ogden Nash."

ATO's Give Union Spring Cleaning

Alpha Tau Omega's spring pledge class had a spring house cleaning in the Tech Union Saturday night. Twenty-four pledges cleaned and washed the floors, vacuumed, cleaned the curtains and washed the windows of the Tech Union. This is one of several ATO projects. Other projects are work sessions to help the American Cancer Society and YWCA.

Tech Musicians In 'Hayride' Debut

"The Plainsmen," a musical group of Tech students, will appear on the Louisiana Hayride Saturday night. This radio program, originating from Shreveport, will be heard on station KWKH 1130.

Comprising the group is Jerry Dreyer, Jimmy Baird, Graham Turnbull and Harold Goodson, featured vocalist.

Graham Turnbull, native 21-year-old Canadian, is song writer and lead guitar player. He attended Debuque University, Dubuque, Iowa. Turnbull was on the British Empire Games Track team in 1952, '53 and '54. He is currently working on his masters degree and is teaching at Tech.

Jerry Dreyer, 23 and a Tech junior, is also a Marine Corps veteran of the Korean War.

Matador Ranch Records Due From Dundee, Scotland

The collection of all existing Matador Ranch records will be completed in The Museum on campus upon arrival of the Dundee, Scotland, home office records this week, according to Roy Sylvan Dunn, associate archivist of the Southwest Collection.

The Matador Ranch was established in 1878 and sold to the Matador Land and Cattle Co., a Scottish syndicate, in 1882. By 1910, the Matador Ranch was operating four ranches in Texas, South Dakota, Montana and Wyoming with a combined average of over one and one-half million acres, 861,000 of which were in Texas. In July of 1951, the Matador Land and Cattle Co. sold out to an American syndicate, the Lazard Brothers.

The American office of the Matador Ranch was located in Denver, Colo. The Denver office's records, received Sept. 1, 1956, include manuscript pieces, record books, and miscellaneous papers and books.

The Alamogitas division's records were obtained March 13, 1956. They include ranch manager's diaries from 1908 to 1949, which contain daily entries of the ranch superintendents regarding weather, condition of the range, location of men and other daily matters regarding the ranch. There are 43 such diaries. The collection also contains special payroll records, summaries of calves branded, cattle records, correspondence of all types from 1900 to 1950, monthly account records, check stubs, miscellaneous accounts and personal papers.

Records from the other ranch divisions include their payroll accounts, check stubs, equipment and improvement records, issue ledgers to camps and range wagons, herd books, ranch manager's diaries from 1848 to 1945 and some land records.

A miscellaneous collection of other ranch records was in The Museum when the Southwest Collection was formed.

Upon arrival of the Dundee office records, The Museum will have all existing records of the ranch throughout its 70 years of existence. The collection will be suitable for research of master's theses and other projects.

Infirmary Dedicated In Saturday Rites

Len and Harriett McClellan Memorial Infirmary known to students as the Tech Infirmary, was dedicated Saturday in a brief ceremony in front of the building.

The infirmary was opened officially on March 15, of last year. It has 18 beds and nine rooms, all equipped with modern hospital facilities and equipment. It also has a modern kitchen and an elevator.

The invocation was given by Louie R. Cobbs, director of the Baptist Student Union.

The Madrigal Singers, directed by Cleve Gerzlinger, sang two songs.

Dr. E. R. Rose talked on improvements of the student medical service offered to Tech students.

Dr. E. N. Jones expressed his own thanks and the thanks of the college to Len and Harriett McClellan, who donated the property on the corner of 19th and College Ave. to the college and the proceeds from the sale going into the building of the Infirmary.

Wallace Wilson, president of the Student Council, expressed thanks on behalf of students.

Noland E. Barrick, college architect expressed thanks to the people who worked on the building and also on behalf of the College architects.

W. D. Watkins, chairman of the board of directors at Tech, officially accepted the dedication on behalf of the college and also expressed thanks to the McClellans on behalf of the board of directors.

James G. Allen, dean of student life, served as master of ceremonies.

Drane Hall Observes Easter Sunrise Service

Ringed of fire bells awakened Drane Hall women this morning at 6:15 for an Easter sunrise service on the lawn in front of the dorm beginning at 6:30.

The program consisted of Nancy Unger reading a scripture, Edwina Schovajsa, secretary of Student Council, speaking and a trio composed of Mary Alice Hardy, Pat Worlick and Lynne Boylan singing "Christ the Lord is Risen Today."

An Easter breakfast was served in the dining hall immediately following the service.

Students Injured In Campus Mishap

An accident involving three cars occurred on parking lot 10, behind West and Gordon Halls, Friday afternoon.

A car driven by Sandra Oliver was hit by a car driven by Joe W. Wilson at approximately 6:37 p.m. The impact pushed Wilson's car around and into a parked car owned by Bobby Dean Smith.

Ginger Bearden, riding in Miss Oliver's car, suffered a cut on the forehead, the only injury suffered by the victims. All persons involved in the accident were given a medical checkup.

Thirteen cars have been involved in accidents in this area since October. A total of $1,110 in damages has occurred because of the wrecks, excluding Friday's accident.

Dorm To Feature More Storage

By JOAN ABEL
Tuesday Issue Editor

Built-in furniture, added storage space, double-duty beds and modern sliding doors all add up to attractive, comfortable and convenient rooms in Tech's new women's dormitory, scheduled for completion Sept. 1.

Two chests-of-drawers will be built-in in each room of the new dorm. The chests will contain five full-width drawers, three of which are standard depth and two extra deep ones at the bottom. At the top the drawers will be half width, a very deep one on one side and two shallow ones on the opposite side.

A light will hang above mirrors two feet square over each chest. The special-design bed, which will also be built-in, can be made into a couch during the day by pushing it 10 inches under a bolster permanently attached to the wall. The bolster can be used as a shelf. Over each bed is a recessed picture mold. Three big storage drawers are built-in under each bed.

"Although the rooms are about the same size as present dorm rooms, they will seem much bigger because there is a great deal more storage space," said Nolan E. Barrick, Tech supervising architect.

The two closets in each room are the same size as those in present dorms, but the sliding doors of the closets open out into the rooms rather than into the entrance door or the rooms. Over the closets and entrance door, opening into the room, are three storage spaces with sliding doors—approximately 50 cubic feet of added storage space.

Each student will have a separate built-in study desk with built-in bookcases. A double arm study lamp will also be included in the furnishings. A cork tackboard is built above each desk.

Each room will have two windows. All furniture is of white oak wood. Plaster walls will be painted in various colors similar to the color schemes in the present dorms. A lavatory is built in each room to the left of the door before actually entering the main part of the room. Floors are of asphalt tile.

Magazine On Sale After Holidays

"The Harbinger," campus literary magazine, will be ready for sale shortly after the Easter holidays.

The publication is sponsored by Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English society. The society meets the third Thursday of each month at 8 p.m. in the Tech Union.

MIDC

Men's Inter-Dorm Council was granted full standing as a recognized Tech organization by the Board of Student Organizations last week.

MIDC is composed of three representatives from each men's dormitory. It sponsors such inter-dormitory activities as intramural sports tournaments and presents a traveling trophy for first place to the winning dormitory in each intramural sport.

The spring bowling tournament is sponsored by MIDC also. It awards the winning dormitory and high individual bowler with a trophy.

In general, the Council organizes ideas and problems of the men's dormitories and works out feasible answers to them, according to Jack Burgess, MIDC president.

SKI CLUB

The Tech Ski Club meets tonight in the Aggie Engineering Auditorium at 7 p.m.

Discussion will be centered around approval of a club constitution and official campus recognition.

A short film taken at Santa Fe recently will be shown.

EASTER BUNNY HOP

An Easter Bunny Hop sponsored by the Tuesday Night Dance Committee will be held tonight in the Snack Bar Area of the Union from 7 to 9 p.m.

Records for all types of dancing will be available or students may bring their own. The dance is free to Tech students.

Tech Senior Named Ambassador

Another Techsan has joined the ranks of students going abroad to act as community ambassador to a foreign country.

La Verne Dierschke, business administration major from San Angelo, will serve as San Angelo's Ambassador to Germany for two months this summer. She was chosen Friday night by the San Angelo Inter-Civic Council over 10 other applicants.

Miss Dierschke, who will be a June graduate, has received several scholastic honors on Tech campus. Her interests include travel and writing. These hobbies, along with her ability to speak German will add to the enjoyment of her two-month trip which includes a month's residence with a German family.

Kappa Alpha Theta Entertains Tri Delt

Kappa Alpha Theta sorority will entertain Delta Delta Delta sorority with a coke party tomorrow night 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.

The party will take place at Theta's recently acquired off-campus meeting place at 2316 Broadway.

According to Arlette Arnett, Theta's social chairman, the coke party is a result of a scholarship challenge which ended as a tie.

Pi Beta Phi ranks first in sorority scholarship on the campus with Kappa Alpha Theta and Delta Delta Delta tied for second place.

Men's Dormitories Elect Fall Officers

Two men's dormitories will elect officers for next fall after the Easter holidays, and two will elect officers at the beginning of the semester. Sneed Hall recently elected officers for fall.

Officers elected in Sneed are Jack Burgess, president; Charles Terrell, vice president; Billy Bob Park, secretary; Enoch Dawkins, athletic director; and Rayford Stainback, social chairman.

Doak Hall will elect officers for next semester in approximately three weeks.

Officers will be elected in Bledsoe Hall for next semester after the Easter holidays, says Tom Hamilton, dorm president.

John Robert Powers Instructor Conducts Charm School at Tech

Tomorrow is the last day to sign up for the charm school sponsored by Tech's Home Economics Club and Phi Upsilon Omicron, according to Barbara Smith, co-chairman for the school.

Mrs. Bess Rothman, former teacher for John Robert Powers Modeling School will teach the five-day school April 29-May 3. Group and individual instructions will be given on correct accessories, posture, costume selection and color.

Girls interested in the school should register at booths in the Home Economics Building and in Tech Union. Cost of the course is $15.

Classes will be taught every day during the week at two two-hour periods, so that the girls who sign up will be able to come to one of the two times, making a total of 10 hours. The two daily classes will be taught 3-5 and 7-9 p.m.

Miss Smith and Carolyn Reynolds are co-chairmen for the course.

Raiders Sweep Twin-Bill From Buffs

Texas Tech's Red Raiders took a double-header from West Texas yesterday the hard way — waiting almost two weeks to take the opener 10-1 and riding home in the night-cap 3-0 on Wick Alexander's fine three hitter.

The first game was begun on April 6 but was postponed due to high winds with Tech leading 4-0 in the top of the fifth with one out, the bases loaded and Dave Potter at bat. The game was continued from that point and the Raiders went on to score three runs in the inning.

Houston Powell, who had a no-hitter going in the earlier game, lost it but still held the Buffs in check with only three safeties.

Norm Huggins led the hit parade for Tech with a lead-off home run and a single.

He was aided by Darrell Summers and B. A. Donelson, each with two singles.

The second game was a tight pitching duel between Alexander and West Texas Lindley Davis. The Raiders scored on in the first on two walks and a double by Monroe Henderson and one in the second on Dave Allen's double and an error. The final run was added in the sixth on two errors, a walk and Potter's sacrifice.

Henderson led Raider hitters in the game with the double and a single.

Alexander was brilliant in limiting the West Texas crew to three hits. It was the best game the handsome left-hander had yet to pitch.

The Raiders gave Powell and Alexander perfect support in both games committing no errors.

Cullen Hunt, Raider catcher, was injured in the sixth inning of the seven-inning finale when a foul tip caught him on the arm. His condition was reported as satisfactory.

Santa Clara Signed

Coach Polk Robison announced Saturday the signing of the Santa Clara Bronchos for a Dec. 20 engagement with the Red Raider basketballers in Municipal Coliseum. The two teams have met on one other occasion, with Coach Bob Feerick's Bronchos downing the Raiders, 73-64 in the 1954 NCAA playoffs at Corvallis, Ore.

The remainder of Tech's 1957-58 schedule has not been completed as yet, although the Raiders are scheduled to meet a complete Southwest Conference slate, besides participating in the Conference pre-Christmas tournament at Houston.

How to make the most of your engineering career

go where engineers are free to do creative work

One of the things that irks engineers most, surveys show, is getting burdened with dull, routine chores. This takes the fun out of engineering, and slows you down.

You'll be ahead, therefore, if you select a company that helps you avoid this kind of career impediment.

Take Boeing, for instance. Boeing frees engineers for creative assignments by hiring engineering aides and draftsmen to handle routine jobs. Boeing engineers concentrate on engineering.

Another point: you'll find excitement aplenty at Boeing, working with men who are literally writing the book in the field of long-range jet-powered aircraft. You'll work on such projects as advanced civil and military jet airplanes, the supersonic BOMARC guided missile weapon system, and top-secret research programs.

Boeing's rapid, steady growth assures constant opportunities for advancement—and career stability. You'll enjoy a high starting salary, and benefits that include retirement plans and a company-paid graduate study program. There are long-range Boeing openings for engineers and scientists of ALL types, and for mathematicians and physicists. It'll pay you to look into these opportunities now!

NOW is the time to start planning ahead. Consult your Placement Office, or write:

Griffin Paces Tech Fencing Team To Tourney Sweep

Frank Griffin, with two first places, paced the Tech fencers in their sweep of the fencing tourney Saturday at the Dallas YMCA.

Griffin also passed Frank French in the race for the most first places on the Tech team. His two firsts brought his total to seven for the year. French has six. Freshman fencers Delano McLane and Royce Bruce also participated in the tourney. They fenced against the Tech Varsity, Fort Worth YMCA and Dallas YMCA and failed to place. Results were as follows:

Intermediate Foil

1—Griffin; 2—French; 3—Bill

Towery (Dallas).

Senior Epee

1—Griffin; 2—Dick Alsughter (Fort Worth); 3—French.

Intermediate Saber

1—Ken Gullett (Tech); 2—Griffin; 3—French.

Division finals will be at Dallas April 27. Tech has qualified for each of the 15 events.

COURT DECISION...

should be clarified in future elections, and specific reference to a letter accompanying this year's campaign rules that was changed by the counsel for Naylor and Johnson as "ambiguously" worded.

A further point raised by Naylor and Johnson was that the committee was "illegally constituted" because Dick Sewell, also a cheerleader candidate, was on the board and could therefore, be "prejudiced."

However, the counsel for the Student Council in its case pointed out that the disqualified candidates were judged by "blanks," and no member of the committee knew the names of the candidates they were disqualifying.

On this, the Court ruled that Sewell's membership was "irrelevant due to the fact that he was appointed to the committee a month prior to the announcement of candidacy" but recommended "that in the future members of the Elections Committee be ineligible for election while serving on the committee."

The Court decision further stated that it did not think Naylor and Johnson were "disqualified arbitrarily" because campaign rules specifically state that candidates turning in their expenditures list late will be disqualified.

Proceedings got under way speedily when the defense (Student Council) handed the Court a request that any Court members who might have formed an opinion on the case disqualify themselves as having possible prejudices, which is standard procedure in all courts.

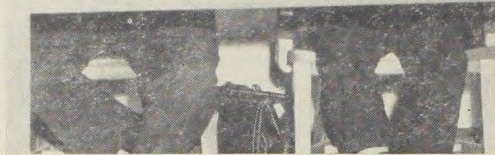

The Court after a short deliberation declared the request "out of order."

In their opening statement Naylor and Johnson said they did not want another election but only wanted to "clear up" the situation.

They said the committee was in violation of the constitution because disqualification was a penalty and penalties, according to the constitution, were supposed to be administered only by the Court.

Naylor and Johnson further said they were disqualified before they had an opportunity to explain why their expense list was late, which denied their right to "trial by jury."

In summation the counsel for Naylor and Johnson said they were denied "due process of law," which treated "unequally" and the penalty was "unduly harsh."

The defense denied these charges and held that the Elections Committee was constitutional and that its actions were constitutional, which the Court upheld.

Representing the Student Council were Ronnie Avery, graduate student and government instructor; Wallace Wilson, Student Council president; and Thomas Jones, government instructor.

Representing Naylor and Johnson were Joe Ben Hudgens and Willis Taylor.

Chief Justice of the Court is Oral Parks. Other Justices are: Larry Byrd, Engineering; Harry Scaling, Business Administration; Don Brothers, Agriculture; Barbara Smith, Home Economics; and Richard Styles, Arts and Sciences.

Who rates what for performance and smoother riding in the low-priced three? Chevrolet has laid the answer and the proof on the line!

First, Chevrolet won the Auto Decathlon over every car in its field, and over the higher priced cars that were tested, too. This rugged ten-way test (right, below) showed Chevrolet was the champ in handling ease, braking, acceleration, passing ability, smoothness of ride and other driving qualities you want in a car.

Then, Chevy won the Pure Oil Performance Trophy at Daytona (left, below) as "best performing U. S. automobile."

It's quite a feeling to know that you are driving a car that performs so well, responds so beautifully and is so finely built. You feel proud, of course. But you also enjoy a surer, smoother, steadier way of going, a keen cat-quick response of power, and the easiest handling you've ever experienced behind a wheel. Just try this Chevrolet (V8 or Six) and see!

Chevy showed it's still the champ... at Daytona... and in the Decathlon!

Questions Answered For BSO Members

Five statements about Board of Student Organizations, in answer to major questions raised at the BSO Leadership Retreat, have recently been sent to BSO members.

Contents of the statements, in essence, are as follows:

BSO is directly responsible to the Student Council. President of the Student Association is a member and can check actions of the Board.

President or elected representatives of each organization form BSO, which is a group of, by and for organizations.

BSO offers all organizations equal voice in actions which affect every organization on the campus. It serves as a meeting ground with present and future leaders of the various organizations.

Organizations may become active members of BSO by presenting the name of the president or representative to the Executive Chairman of the Board and by paying $1 dues per semester to the treasurer.
