Coup attempt denied

SAIGON — A coup attempt against President Nguyen Van Thieu's government has been foiled and mass arrests of ranking South Vietnamese officers are expected, a high government source said Wednesday.

An official spokesman for Thieu, however, denied knowledge of any coup attempt, although he admitted the government had placed South Vietnam's armed forces on full alert. The U.S. Embassy also said it had no information about an abortive coup.

THE SOURCE, WHO IS IN a position to know, told The Associated Press several Vietnamese majors and colonels had already been arrested.

"You can expect a lot of people to be arrested in the next few days as a result of the coup attempt that failed," he said.

Apollo 7 readied

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. — The three Apollo 7 astronauts fine-tuned their pilot skills Wednesday while technicians at their launch pad worked smoothly toward an on-time lift-off Friday for an 11-day flight that could set America back on course for the moon.

EVEN AS NAVY CAPT. WALTER M. Schirra Jr., Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and civilian astronaut Walter Cunningham drilled in a computer-driven mock spacecraft, three other spacemen who may fly around the moon at Christmas time saw their huge Saturn 5 rocket rolling to a launch pad seven miles away from that of Apollo 7.

The two events—Apollo 7 preparations and rollout of the 363-foot-tall Saturn 5 vehicle to be launched about Dec. 20—combined to demonstrate that the nation's man to the moon program apparently has recovered from the stunning setback received when three astronauts died in the Apollo 1 fire Jan. 27, 1967.

Thuy challenges LBJ

PARIS — Hanoi's chief envoy to the Paris peace talks, Xuan Thuy, challenged President Johnson Wednesday to halt all U.S. attacks against North Vietnam as a move toward peace while he "still has enough time and power." Thuy offered nothing concrete in return.

U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman told Thuy the United States is willing to move far and fast toward peace the minute "your government gives us reason to believe it is also prepared to act."

TALKING LATER WITH newsmen, Harriman said: "We made no progress at all." The session was the 25th of the peace conference, which opened in mid-May.

While calling for an end to the American bombing and other operations above the border, Thuy offered no assurance that North Vietnam would respond with anything more definite than a discussion of "questions of interest to both parties."

Mulele executed

KINSHASA, Congo — A firing squad has executed Pierre Mulele, who led bloody insurrections in eastern sectors of the Congo in 1961-64, the government announced Wednesday. The guns were reported to have felled him at a secret site about dawn.

Mulele was a 39-year-old Peking-trained leftist who turned against the central government after serving as education minister in the Patrice Lumumba regime, which took control when Belgium granted this African territory independence in 1960.

A SPECIAL MILITARY COURT had sentenced Mulele to death for the 1961-64 rebellion after a 15-hour trial Tuesday, 10 days after he returned from exile in the neighboring Congo Republic Brazzaville under a presumed amnesty.

Debate time cleared

WASHINGTON — The House struggled through a historic and record-setting session Wednesday to pass a bill that could pave the way for television radio debates between the three major presidential candidates.

Immediately after House passage, the Columbia Broadcasting System offered the candidates and their running mates one hour of prime TV and radio time on each of the next four Sundays before the election for a confrontation.

THE NATIONAL BROADCASTING Co. asked the three presidential candidates to arrange for their representatives to meet with network officials to arrange a time and format acceptable to all.

But House action sent the measure back to the Senate where the battle would resume.

U.S. to sell jets

WASHINGTON — President Johnson sold Secretary of State Dean Rusk on Wednesday to start negotiations with Israel on her long-standing bid to buy 50 F4 Phantom jet fighter planes from the United States.

Both Democratic presidential nominee Hubert H. Humphrey and Republican Richard M. Nixon have come out for such action — and so did Congress by voting a special provision into the new foreign aid bill.

JOHNSON MADE NO MENTION of the U.S. political campaign in a statement issued as he signed the aid measure — but he noted the proviso favoring super-sonic jets for Israel if needed for her defense against hostile Arab neighbors.

"In the light of this expression of the sense of the Congress," Johnson said, "I am asking the secretary of state to initiate negotiations with the government of Israel and to report back to me."

SAO nearing completion for convention plan

By GORDON ZEIGLER
Copy editor

Last minute efforts to organize Tech's first All School Convention were continued Wednesday night as the organizational committee met in conjunction with the Student Action Organization, originating body of the event.

Vic Ward, organizational chairman, said he was encouraged with progress being made toward staging the convention Sunday, October 20, ten days away.

Approved Wednesday were recommendations by a subcommittee concerning structure of the convention.

WARD SAID DELEGATES would be sought from all dorms, fraternities and other organizations as well as from the off campus students.

He estimated a maximum of 650 delegates could be secured considering there are about 130 organizations and 22 dorms involved.

The convention will seek to nominate and support a full slate of 19 candidates for the election.

Ward said the election would probably be held by Oct. 22 or 23, because the constitution says elections must be held by Nov. 1.

STRUCTURE OF THE CONVENTION was laid out as follows:

Purpose of the All School convention will be to draft a platform and nominate a slate of candidates who will run on the platform of the convention.

Opportunities of delegates was outlined for three divisions: off-campus, recognized organizations and Tech residence halls.

THE FIRST 220 OFF-CAMPUS students who present to the Credentials Committee petitions each signed by ten other off-campus students will be certified as voting delegates. All 220 off-campus delegates will choose a chairman from their ranks.

Organizations having less than 100 members will have two votes while groups with more than 100 members will receive one vote for each 50 members.

Each dorm will be allotted one vote for each 50 residents. Dorm presidents will be asked to direct the dorm council or its equivalent to provide a delegation chairman and delegates. Delegates are to be either volunteers or representatives elected by the dorm.

DECISION WAS MADE TO assess a fee of 50 cents for each delegate with funds collected to be used to defray expenses of the convention and to finance campaigns for the convention's nominees.

The group voted to reserve the ballroom of Tech Union beginning at 2 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 20.

"Past elections have been open scrambles in which very few issues could be adequately debated," said committeeman John Fletcher.

Ward said the convention will hopefully, "get more people interested in the Student Senate and in Texas Tech in general."

IT WILL OFFER PEOPLE a new vehicle by which their ideas can be expressed.

David Sanders, ASC committeeman and current A&S representative on the Student Senate, reflected on past elections and stated his feelings on the potential of the convention.

"In the past, and I know because I have run before, and have been on the Student Senate for two years, senators are largely elected because they are well-known, they get good publicity or they attack (shake hands with) enough students in front of Tech Union.

"Platforms rarely made a difference. "There were so many candidates in the past that you didn't have the time or take the trouble to know about them all."

Sanders said the convention will give students a chance to "see what a certain slate of candidates represents then vote for or against."

Hepatitis cases diagnosed here

No new development of Hepatitis at Tech as of 5:30 p.m. Wednesday since two isolated cases were diagnosed Tuesday, according to Dr. Fred Kallina, Director of the Tech Student Health Center.

Reports on the condition of the two students that contracted the disease are not available as they are being treated in a private Lubbock hospital. Dr. Kallina still assures there is no cause for undue alarm.

sophomore; Tom Burtis, Lubbock graduate student; Cathy Lair of Australia, a sophomore; back row, David Sanders, Lubbock Senior and president of SAO and Janice Sherman, Houston junior. The convention will be the first of its kind to be held at Tech.

AWS puts off motions because of controversy

By JEAN FANNIN
News Editor

Association of Women Students (AWS) members attended a called meeting Wednesday afternoon prepared to stand up for their rights—and the result was the tabling for another week of motions to amend the constitution.

"We didn't expect this much controversy," Susan Morrissey, president, said, "and we only booked this room for an hour." AWS met from 5-6 p.m. in the Mesa Room of the Union.

GRACIE SIGLER, JUNIOR English major from Waco, was elected second vice president to fill the vacancy left when Miss Morrissey stepped up to the presidency following Janice McDuff's resignation due to health.

Miss Sigler and Milanne Bancroft were the only nominees for the position. Qualifications for the office was prior service in AWS and a 2.5 grade point average.

Members spoke up for, against and to amend the amendments presented last week. The proposed amendments merely change the constitution to read "sponsor" wherever the words "Dean of Women" occur. In the past the dean of women has acted as sponsor to the organization, but the abolishment of that post has made amending the constitution necessary.

"WE ARE IN THE PROCESS of revising the constitution and are writing to other schools of comparable size for copies of their AWS constitutions," Miss Morrissey said.

"These amendments are correct procedure until the constitution is revised," she said. "These will safeguard us against criticism we might get for not following our constitution and will give us a little more flexibility in working with the revision."

Miss Sigler, as second vice president, will be in charge of the revision committee.

Cathy Comer, Stangel Hall representative, moved that AWS be given power of veto by 2-3 vote over actions of Women's Residence Council but not have every WRC bill brought before AWS for approval.

"WE ARE REPRESENTING organizations, not dorm residents," Miss Comer said. "I believe that the women in the dorm should be able to make decisions for themselves without having to go through AWS."

She withdrew her motion, asking that it be referred to the revision committee.

Ellen Clower, Sigma Kappa representative, asked to amend the proposed amendment to leave out entirely any reference to approval by the sponsor.

The question was brought up by Betsy Bond, Wall Hall representative, as to who would have approval power if the sponsor did not have it.

"DR. OWEN CASKEY, vice president for student affairs, said he would not interfere and we could do as we please," Miss Morrissey said. "But he did say that someone in the administration would ultimately have to approve or disapprove our actions."

Miss Comer asked if an appeals board and a time limit on approval by the sponsor might not be set up and Miss Morrissey said these suggestions would be referred to the constitutional revision committee.

Snake dance to kick off 'Spirit Stampede'

Snake dances will kick off the "Spirit Stampede" theme for the 7 p.m. pep rally tonight.

Cheerleaders will meet at the Wiggins Complex and Stangel-Murdough halls at 6:30 p.m. and lead snake dances to all dorms on campus with Southwest Conference Circle the final destination.

SNEED HALL, WINNERS OF last week's spirit stick will present the skit and at the end of the pep rally the spirit stick will again be awarded to

Frosh election rally postponed until next week

The elections committee of the Student Senate has announced the postponement of freshman cheerleader elections until Wednesday.

Voting and the election rally, originally scheduled for tonight, conflicted with the pep rally for the A&M game.

THE COMMITTEE HAS also set up rules for conducting the campaigns. They are as follows:

1. All campaigning is to be oral only; no material campaigning will be allowed. This restriction includes wall posters and name tags. Candidates may, however, wear their own name tags during the days prior to election and on the night of the rally.
2. No demonstrations will be allowed on days prior to the election or at the rally itself.
3. There is to be no campaigning inside the Tech Union after 4 p.m. on election day.

VOTING WILL BE conducted at the rally, and only freshmen will be admitted and (or) issued ballots upon presentation of IDs at the door.

All violations of the rules will be handled by the elections committee, and they will have the power to disqualify any candidate for their violation.

The election rally will be held at 5 p.m. in the Coronado Room of the Union.

Joan Moberley and Mrs. Ruth Causey, prospective AWS sponsors, both spoke to the group giving their opinions concerning the role of a sponsor.

MISS MOBERLEY SAID THAT since the sponsor was elected by AWS members that the members would surely have faith in their choice.

Snake dance to kick off 'Spirit Stampede'

The Red Raider football team is scheduled to leave Municipal Airport by chartered plane at 1 p.m. Friday.

They will work out at Kyle Field at 2:30 p.m. and then go on to Huntsville where they are staying.

Saddle Tramps and members of ROTC will be taking chartered buses to College Station, leaving Lubbock at 7 a.m. Saturday. Saddle Tramps will day afternoon in College Station.

A PRE-GAME RECEPTION for all ex-students and friends of Tech will be conducted in Memorial Student Center at A&M from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. Saturday with James Cole, a 1964 graduate and now an A&M faculty member, acting as host.

"Fans from Lubbock and all areas are invited to attend the reception and pick up their Double-T name tags made available by the Ex-Students Association," Wayne James, director, said. He and Tony Gustwick, assistant director, will represent the association.

GUSTWICK SAID ORGANIZED trips by bus to the game have been planned by Houston and Corpus Christi chapters of the Ex-Students Association.

This is Tech's second Southwest Conference game of the season and has been announced as the all-school trip by Mike Riddle, Student Association president.

The ticket office had sold between 5,000 and 6,000 tickets by 5 p.m. Wednesday to students, faculty and the general public.

Kyle Field Stadium seats 48,000 but officials at A&M had said they were not expecting a capacity crowd for the Saturday evening game.

College committee applications ready

Applications are available in room 204 of Tech Union for anyone interested in a position on a college committee or student government special commission. Applications are due 6 p.m. Friday in room 204. Appointments will be made Monday and announced later that week.

So we may promote order

Dr. Grover E. Murray emphasized Tuesday good student-faculty relations. "In many institutions in this country the student has been neglected," he said.

Student-faculty relations at Tech have not been an area of serious concern in the last few years, but student-administration relations have known some tense moments.

The student was neglected at Tech all last year during the housing controversy, and though the situation has temporarily settled and relations are good, an unresolved court fight still looms as a result of last year's actions.

Students were neglected last September when they returned to school, only to find new strictness in the application of parietal rule.

They were neglected last December when renewed efforts were made to fill the dorms and every off campus male resident was told to report to the dean of men's office.

They were being neglected last spring until it got late in the year and Student Association President Max Blakney decided it was time the students knew what the housing regulations would be.

It is often believed that Murray asked Blakney to appoint the student committee on housing policies, but it was Blakney's idea after he went to Murray in late April and found out what the plans were.

With only a month of school left, it is doubtful that the administration would have included voluntarily any students in its policy making.

Then, after the committee worked hard to compile, in Murray's words, "one of the best student reports I have seen," the administration changed Coleman Hall from a women's to a men's dorm and neglected the student report.

The University Daily and student government committed themselves to orderly student action.

Some decisions were made more out of emotional than rational thinking, but student leaders kept the issue out of the street.

The University Daily still holds this philosophy of orderly action. Judging by Student Association President Mike Riddle's state of the student body message, student government does too.

It will be much easier to promote if the period of student neglect is indeed past.

Prayer questioned

Recently I've noticed that several institutions commence their football games with a minute of silence in which each person offers a silent prayer each in his own way.

I've wondered if this might not be more appropriate than the prayer given by a representative of the student body. Frankly some of the prayers have sounded stilted and artificial to me.

I'd like to know what the reaction of some of the other students are to this proposal. Perhaps I'm the only student peculiar enough to react to the opening prayer in this fashion.

T. M. Cannon, Jr.

You are not the only student peculiar enough to react in this fashion. We react the same way.

But would you want to replace the stilted, artificial prayer with an irreverent silence? If there is to be a short period of reverence, you need the noise of the prayer to drown out the clink of bottles and the rustle of last-minute seat-seekers.

The problem is that most of the crowd did not come to the game to hear a prayer and most of the persons who read the prayer did not come to the game to pray.

We do not mean to sound callous or flippant, we are merely calling a fact a fact.

To whom it may concern

After two weeks of searching, I have not found the answer to my question, "Whom may I thank for a most enjoyable Freshmen Orientation Week?"

I have been given the names of two people who worked on all the campus-wide activities of Slime Week, but have obtained no confirmation of these names.

So, as one grateful freshman, I should like to say, "Thank you," to all the anonymous people who spent long, hard hours preparing a delightful reception for us newcomers. Thanks again.

Deborah Baker

Many persons and organizations are responsible for a freshman's orientation. It would be impossible to list all the names of the individuals.

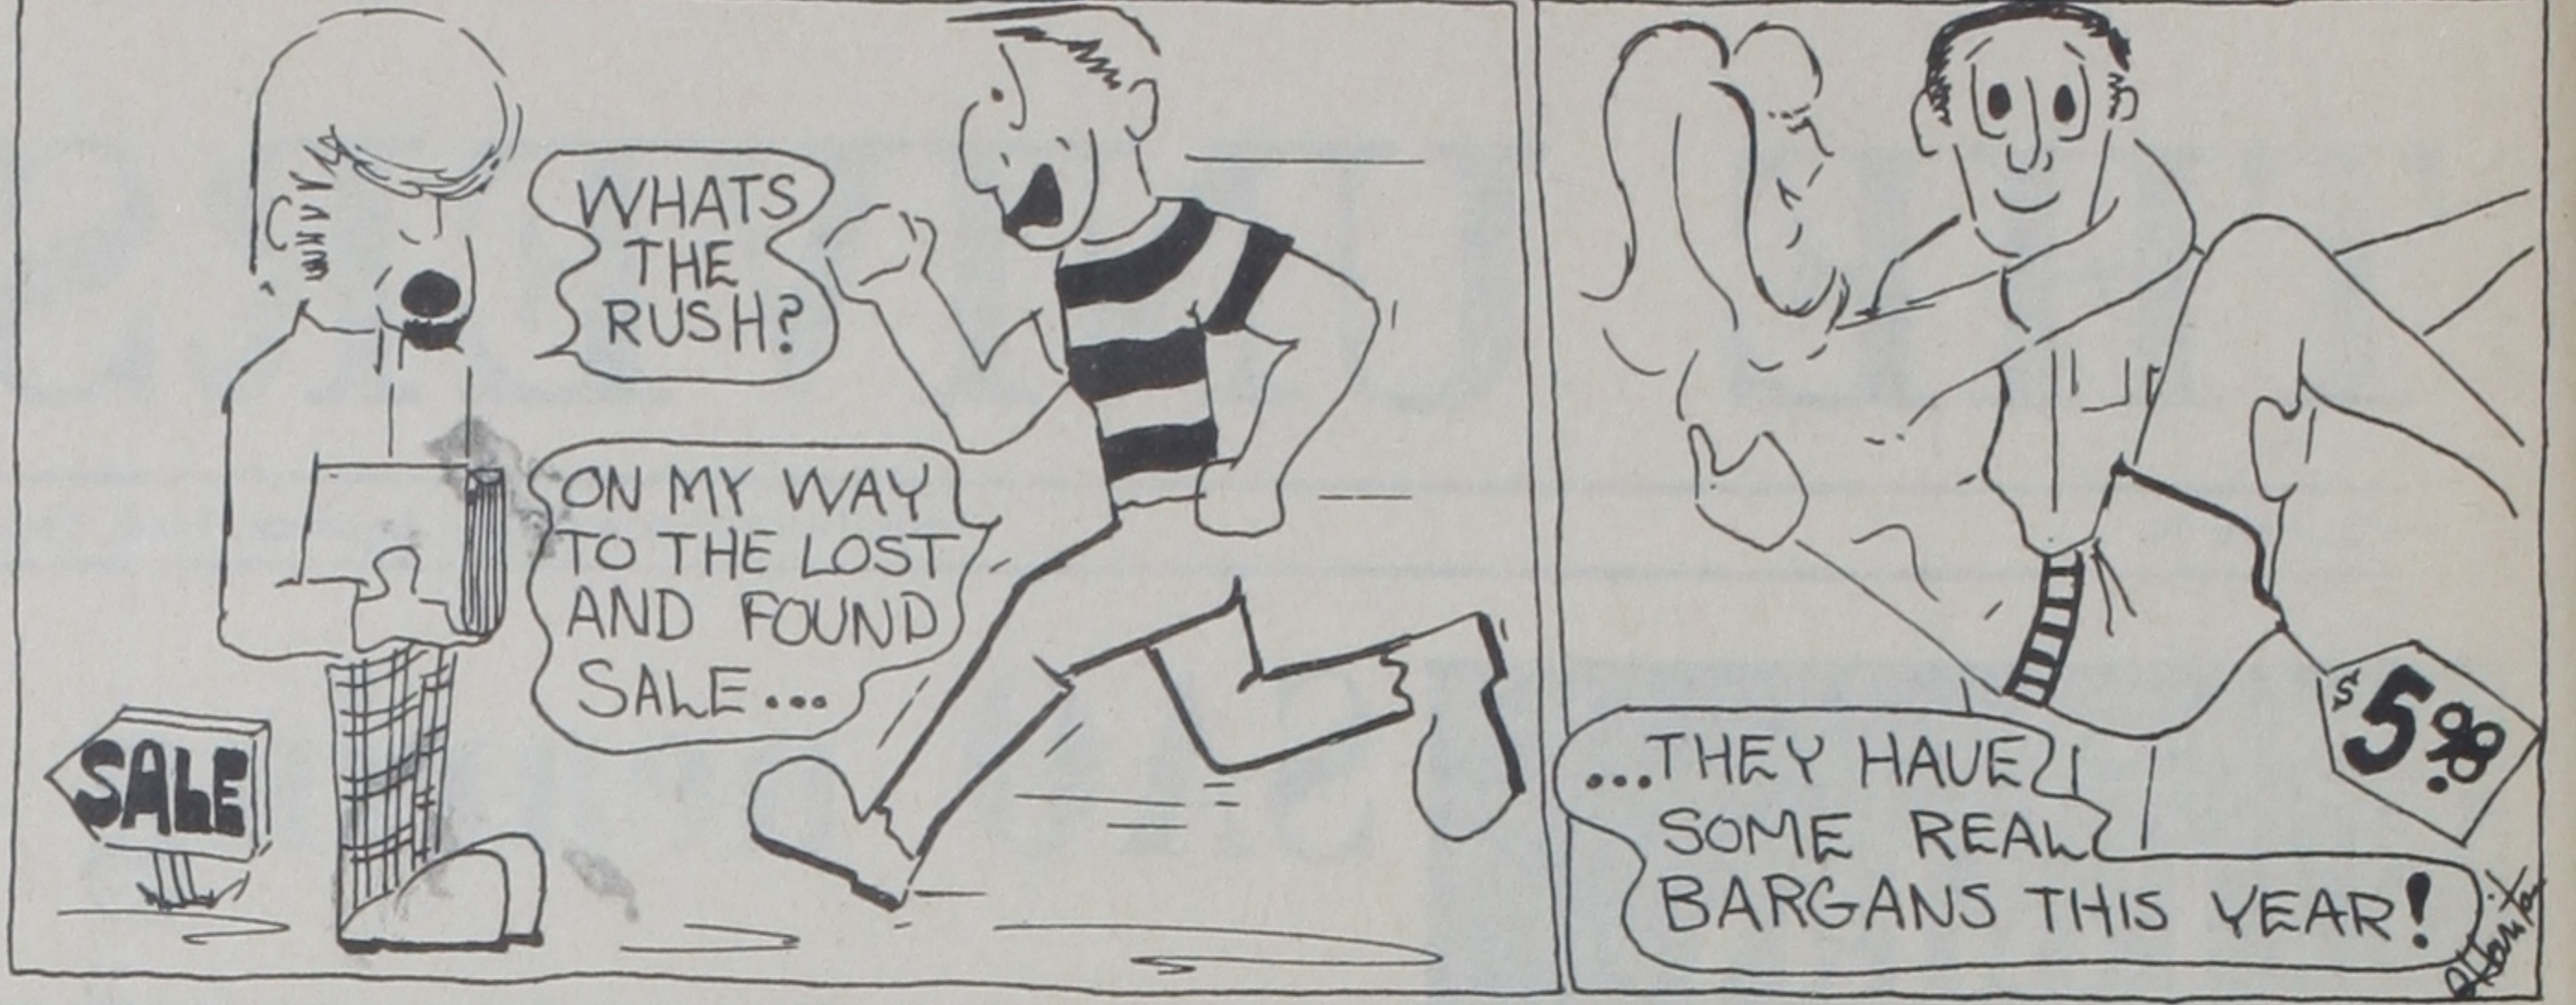

The Association of Women Students deserves much of your thanks, for providing big sisters and "howdy" parties. Saddle Tramps did most of the coordinating for dorm programs, with the cooperation of dorm officers and student government.

The counseling and entertainment programs for freshmen during the summer pre-registration periods was provided by the Union Leadership Board and student government.

THE CONTINUING STORY OF TECHSAN PLACE BY WALLY CHARLTON

In name change negotiations

Exes want faculty to have voice

Tech exes in Washington, D.C. voted Sept. 21 to recommend that the Tech faculty be consulted when name change decisions are made and that the Double T be retained regardless of the name decided on.

A two-page position statement of the Metropolitan Washington D.C., area alumni and Ex-Students of Texas Technological College exes' was sent to the Tech Board of Directors, the Ex-Students Association and Tech faculty members.

The statement said "the institution should be named for what it actually is: first, a comprehensive university; and second, more than a technological college or university."

The exes recommended no name, stipulating only that it have "dignity" and reflect the "true status" of the university.

"While we have a sentimental interest in the name as it now is, we nevertheless want to call the university what it is, with regard to university status and to scope of offerings. We do not believe it should be named any less than it is, and we trust that the Legislature and others concerned will make a choice that will be pleasing and true," the statement said.

The statement took "strong objection" to the formal use of "the beloved nickname 'Tech'" in any name for the school. "We take exception to the proposal in the Ex Students Association publications that the word 'Tech' be used in the university name."

The Washington exes admitted their strong sentimental attachment to the present name, but admitted that as they got farther from Texas in pursuit of their careers, fewer persons understood the scope of the school and took it for what its name says it is.

"In any event, at home or abroad, we believe the university should be called what it is now and what it will be—rather than what it once was."

In its appeal for the Double T, the statement said its recommendation was of secondary importance compared to the need for a representative name. It recommended that the Double T be retained as a symbol regardless of how many T's the new name might have.

The statement said about 65 exes attended the meeting, with about three fourths approving the recommendations in a voice vote.

Texas campuses sprout programs

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT AUSTIN

Approximately 1,550 students registered this semester for courses in UT's initial pass-fall program.

Student teaching is being handled entirely on a pass-fall basis, accounting for 550 of the total enrollment in the program.

The total has not been broken down into departments or colleges.

In the pass-fall program, undergraduates can take up to five semester courses in elective subjects outside their major without receiving a grade other than pass or fail.

The hours passed count toward graduation. Each department may offer two courses in its major entirely pass-fall.

SMU

If the administration approves, a pilot "Free Unver-tion between Thanksgiving and final exams to measure student interest in the program.

Two to five courses will be offered without quizzes or grades. Professors will participate as discussion leaders rather than as teachers. Students are asked what they want to study rather than told what to study.

NORTH TEXAS STATE UNIVERSITY

The Board of Regents approved the installation of a center telephone system, although the contract allows three years to put the system into operation.

When the system is completed, there will be a phone in each dorm room. General Telephone Co., which will handle the system, will have to erect a new building to accommodate the equipment.

Lab theater to play, tour 'Silly Ladies'

By CASEY CHARNES
Fine Arts Editor

When the Lab Theater opens its season with "The Silly Young Ladies" by Moliere, that first production will be serving a unique dual purpose.

First, the comedy, to be presented at the little theater in the Speech Building on Oct. 25, will serve as this semester's only Lab Theater production. But ten days after the play closes, the company will hit the road for a tour of local schools under the sponsorship of the National Endowment for the Arts, an organization formed to help promote all forms of art, including music, dance, art exhibits, and drama.

THIS TOUR will last from Nov. 7 to Feb. 24, 1969, and will visit all Lubbock high schools and junior highs, as well as making a side trip to Meadow for a performance there.

The play is being presented as the premiere of a new version of the French farce which was written in 1659, written then for a purely Parisian audience.

It is built on the theme of two provincial girls anxious at all costs to be in the fashion of Paris as established by the haute couture models. They are exposed by simple valets masquerading as their masters.

AT THE TIME, the satire afforded by the dialogues and situations was so personal that the play closed after two weeks. What we see now is a revised and generalized version.

The cast includes the following Tech players: Howard Parsons as DuCroisy; Kenneth McCasland as LaGrance; Claude Perilli as Georgibus; Trudie Marchbanks as Marotte; Doriss Horton as Magdalon; Cheri Brownlee as Cathy; Jack Tucker as Mascarille; Robert Thrift as Jodelet; and as servants, porters, and musicians through the play, Randy Cole and Randy Carmon.

Miss Brownlee also serves as the supervisor of the Lab Theater.

Speech professor Larry Randolph is directing the play. His assistant is Sherry Horton and the technical director is Billy Huddleston.

The costumes and scenery are now being designed by Charles Kerr.

LAW SCHOOL RISES - The foundation is now being poured for Tech's $2 million Law School at its 19th Street and Indiana Avenue site. The new building, scheduled to open in September, 1969, was designed by the Dallas architectural firm of Harrell and Hamilton. The three-story structure will accommodate a projected enrollment of 600 students and can be increased to serve more than 1,000. (Staff photo by Milton Adams)

Three profs honored

Three Tech professors representing the disciplines of history, English and mechanical engineering have been named recipients of the University's Distinguished Teaching Award for 1968.

Cited for professional excellence in their respective fields are Dr. Timothy P. Donovan, professor of history; Dr. Mary Louise Brewer, associate professor of English, and Mechanical Engineering Department Chairman Louis John Powers.

Each will receive a $1,000 award from the Standard Oil Foundation of Indiana.

"The recipients are dedicated teachers who are to be congratulated for their contributions to the quality and scope of Tech's academic program," said President Grover E. Murray. Selection was made by a campus-wide committee composed of faculty members and students.

Dr. Donovan, whose specialty is American history, taught at the Oklahoma Military Academy prior to joining the Tech faculty in 1960. A native of Claremore, Okla., he holds bachelor's, master's and PhD degrees from the University of Oklahoma. He is the author of "Henry Adams and Brooks Adams: the Education of Two American Historians" and of articles for professional journals.

Dr. Brewer, who first taught at Tech in 1941 and 1942, re-joined the faculty in 1962. A specialist in the field of Italian and English Renaissance Literature, she earned her undergraduate degree at Oklahoma College for Women, a master's in Latin and Greek at the University of Illinois, a PhD in English language and literature at the University of California and has done special studies at the University of Harvard. She has lectured and written widely on literary and travel subjects.

Powers, who joined the Tech faculty as associate professor of thermodynamics in 1942, has taught mechanical design, aerodynamics, metallurgy and experimental stress analysis. A native of St. Louis, he holds a B.S. degree from Tech, an MA in engineering mechanics from the University of Texas.

Film festival to feature four famed Fields flicks

By CASEY CHARNESS
Fine Arts Editor

A W. C. Fields film festival, featuring four of the famed irascible old comic's best movies, will be presented by the Ideas and Issues Committee of the Tech Union starting Monday and ending Thursday in the Coronado Room of the Union.

"Mrs. Wiggs of the Cotton Patch" will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Monday, "The Big Broadcast of 1938" will be shown Tuesday, "You Can't Cheat an Honest Man" is scheduled for Wednesday, "Mississippi" closes the festival on Thursday.

The thirties in Hollywood were characterized by a number of type pictures, including the DeMille epic, the Busby Berkeley musical, and the slapstick comedy.

IN THE thirties the film industry in America finally came to maturity. It was neither as unformed as earlier nor as unsettled as later. During the Depression the industry did not suffer as severely as other industries, for the one escape from the difficulties of daily life was the local movie theater.

When the country started to regain its financial stability, films were able to reflect the new optimism that resulted.

Part of that optimism is still evident in the 30-year-old slapstick films that the great comic artists like the Marx Brothers and Laurel and Hardy made famous.

TV role goes to Susan Logan

Susan Kay Logan, a former Texas Tech student and the 1966 Miss Texas candidate for the crown of Miss America, will be seen in a small supporting role on the television series "Hawaii Five-O" today at 6:30 p.m. on Channel 13.

Miss Logan, who has made a variety of commercials in New York City, is now on location in the Carolinas for another television role.

BUT FOREMOST among the individual comedians was the perfect sound comedian W. C. Fields, who moved around slowly, almost lazily, and when he spoke he was antagonistic, sarcastic, and braggardly.

He was also funny. With this seeming bumbling manner, his bulbous nose and his constantly outraged dignity, he always managed to come out on top, ending the movie with a funnier-than-hell performance.

Years as a circus and vaudeville juggler had perfected Fields' timing and physical control. His films, such as "You're Telling Me," "It's a Gift," and "Mississippi" had a strong improvisational feeling and often seemed like a hodgepodge of jokes and plot.

LATER HE wrote and starred in films with Mae West, who was an ideal partner. Their most famous film together was "My Little Chickadee," a 1940 satire on the old West.

Fields made his last film, "Never Give a Sucker an Even Break," in 1940. He died six years later.

Water board funds study Union features 'jazz-in' sessions

A Texas Tech study to determine the concentration of nitrates and phosphates in play lakes has been funded for $4,764 by the Texas Water Quality Board, it was announced Tuesday by Director Dan M. Wells of the university's Water Resources Center.

Working on the project with Dr. Wells, a professor of civil engineering, will be Chemistry Prof. Robert G. Rekers and Entomology Prof. Ellis W. Huddleston.

Ragtime at Union Morath revives era

"The champagne fizz of sophistication, with chasers of sentimentality" is the way one critic described Max Morath, a pianist, singer and raconteur into the music and modes of the time will be on display in the Union Ballroom Oct. 18 at 8 p.m. This is a return engagement at Tech for the performer and admission will be free to Tech students with IDs, and $1 to the staff, faculty, and general public.

Musical needs male dancers

Mrs. Suzanne Aker, director of choreography, needs male dancers for Brigadoon. All interested persons should come to the Women's Gym, 7:30 p.m. today.

COLORADO - BORN, Morath worked as an announcer, actor, pianist, singer and writer before becoming enamored with ragtime and the years that spawned it.

His syncopated career then led him from the honky-tonks of the fabled western mining towns to the more sophisticated nightclubs of New York and Las Vegas, and to college campuses all over America.

He first gained national attention several years ago with two award-winning series which he wrote and performed for television, "The Ragtime Era" and "Turn of the Century." He's now a frequent guest on Arthur Godfrey's CBS radio show, and his recent TV credits include the "Bell Telephone Hour," "Mike Douglas Show," "Kraft Music Hall," and many others.

Picadors, Shoats to meet in Little Rock showdown

by David Holland
Sports Staff

Tech's freshman footballers travel to Little Rock tonight for the season's opening clash against the Arkansas Shoats. Tech Coach Berl Huffman boasts a team of 60 players, including five quarterbacks and numerous prospects at each position.

"THIS YEAR'S plan is no different from any other year, we try to give each boy a chance to play in every game in order to prepare them for varsity competition," Huffman said.

Huffman hopes to field a team that will have a balanced attack, with equal emphasis on passing and running.

As to the question of eventually filling the shoes of Tech kickers, Jerry Don Sanders and Kenny Vinyard, Huffman replied that you'd have to find the two best high school kickers in the nation.

HUFFMAN believes that the Picadors' kicking game will be in good shape. Dale Rebold, a left footer from state champion Austin Reagan and Tommy McIntyre of San Antonio Alamo Heights will handle the punting, Clifton Curtis, a tackle from Selsbee, will perform the place-kicking duties.

"We'll be ready to play. These boys haven't let down. They're here to play and they shape up as the best group we've had at Tech. Our success with the freshman team is due mainly to the superior recruiting job Coach J T King has done since he came here," said Huffman.

Huffman said that each year 50 freshman gridgers are eligible for scholarships under Southwest Conference rules, however, opportunity is given any student to come out for the team on his own initiative.

Offensive linemen are Gary Schuler, 212 pound center from San Antonio Sam Houston; Steve Butler, 200 pound guard from Waggoner, Oklahoma; and Tim Brown, 215 pound guard from San Antonio Lee.

Thomas Finley, 200 pound tackle from Andrews; Robert Browning, 225 tackle from Ft. Worth Paschal; Kenneth Perkins, 180 pound end from Lubbock Coronado; and James Denton, 200 pound end from Amarillo Tascosa.

LAST WEEK the Arkansas Shoats knocked off the Southern Methodist frosh, 22-14.

Future games on the Picador schedule are: Oklahoma, Oct. 21 in Lubbock; University of Texas at Arlington, Oct. 28 at Arlington; and the Khiva Shrine Bowl game against Texas A&M, Nov. 7 in Lubbock.

The game will be broadcast by KSEL-AM at 7:30 p.m.

IOC argues over prexy

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A calm Mexico City, heavily patrolled by police and soldiers, awaited the opening of the Olympics Saturday as new controversy swirled around the Games.

The International Olympic Committee was locked in argument over whether to re-elect as President Avery Brundage, the rich 81-year-old Chicagoan, who has headed the Olympics since 1952. The communist countries oppose him.

The IOC's medical commission is in a dispute with the International Swimming Association over girl swimmers taking the sex test. Berge Phillips, the Australian president of the association, says the tests are degrading and shocking and opposes them.

However some girl swimmers have volunteered to take the tests. So far more than 500 girls out of the 962 competing here have passed the tests. There have been no rejections. The tests were instituted after manish appearing girls won medals in past Games.

Tigers smash Cardinals, 13-1

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The aroused Detroit Tigers clobbered St. Louis pitching for a record-tying 10 runs in the third inning Wednesday and squared the World Series at three games each with a 13-1 victory behind Denny McLain, a two-time loser.

Jim Northrup's grand slam homer off relief pitcher Larry Jaster was the big blow in the third when the Tigers sent 15 men to the plate against loser Ray Washburn and three others.

inning since Hack Wilson misjudged a fly ball at Philadelphia in 1929 and opened the gates for 10 runs by the Philadelphia A's against the Chicago Cubs. The A's, trailing 8-0 at the time, also sent 15 men to bat.

Julian Javier's single with two out and two on in the ninth saved the Cards from suffering the most lopsided shutout in Series history.

The Tigers' victory once again puts it squarely up to Bob Gibson, the Cards' strikeout ace, in a seventh game duel Thursday with left-handed Mickey Lolich, also a two-time Series winner.

THE SERIES thus followed the same pattern as 1967 when the Cards opened up a 3-1 edge on Boston only to drop two in a row before Gibson bested Jim Lonborg in the final. The only teams to come back from 3-1 deficits were the Boston Red Sox in a best-of-9 set in 1903, the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1925 and the New York Yankees in 1958.

ICASALS program develops

Murray names seven directors

Dr. Grover E. Murray, Tech president, has named seven deputy directors to the International Center for Arid and Semi-Arid Land Studies (ICASALS).

At the same time he emphasized to faculty and staff that in the International Center "we have in our grasp a program in which all disciplines can have a part and can make a contribution. Through ICASALS we can reach heights to which most of us have never dreamed."

Dr. Idris Traylor Jr., was named deputy director for arts and humanities and he will serve as chairman of the board of deputies. Dr. Traylor is professor of history.

OTHER DEPUTIES and the areas they will represent are: Dr. Gerald Thomas, Dean of the School of Agriculture, for agricultural sciences and home economics; Dr. John Gilliam, professor of business education, for the business sciences; Dr. Thomas B. Livingston, professor of education, for education; Dr. Magne Kristiansen, professor of electrical engineering, for engineering; Dr. Justin Smith, professor of law, for law and social sciences; and Dr. F. Alton Wade, professor of geosciences, for the natural sciences.

Dr. J. Wilkes Berry, professor of English, was named manuscript editor for the International Center.

"Just two and a half years ago the Texas Tech Board of Directors adopted the idea of the establishment of the International Center," Dr. Murray said, "with all its broad aspects from art to zoology and everything in between."

"The International Center will help the university to achieve an international reputation. . . in fact it already had, as evidenced by the visit to Tech and Lubbock last weekend by the president of the Republic of Chad.

"AND THROUGH ICASALS Texas Tech can make a contribution to humanity throughout the world."

Dr. Thadis W. Box, director at large, before his departure for Australia in September had conferred with Murray concerning administrative changes in ICASALS and these appointments and said he looked forward to working with these deputies in furthering the work of the International Center.

"It has been evident for some time that the continuing growth of ICASALS required a broader administrative base," Traylor said. "The deputy directors appointed by Murray constitute a distinguished group of extremely able and respected scholars and administrators, who broadly speaking, represent all disciplines at the university."

"Their addition to the staff of the International Center will assure that ICASALS' activities in every area of teaching, research and public service will be greatly expanded. I personally am looking forward to cooperating and working with these gentlemen."

to 1964 and has remained as a professor of geosciences since 1964. He has made several trips in the interest of the geology and glaciology of Antarctica and Greenland.

Gilliam returned to Tech and the School of Business Administration after spending the 1966-67 academic year in Beit Hanina, Jordan, a suburb of Jerusalem, to assist in establishing a junior college of business administration.

Fellowships in grad work now available

Fellowships for graduate work in public administration are now available through the Universities of Alabama, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Students wishing to apply must be American Citizens and must have a bachelor's degree by June, 1969.

Fellowships for single students total $4,455 per student. Each fellowship for married students has a total value of $4,855.

Students receiving fellowships are required to serve a three month internship with either a department of the state government in Alabama, Kentucky, or Tennessee or with a federal agency in the South such as the Tennessee Valley Authority. This will begin in June, 1969.

For information and application write Coleman B. Ransome, Educational Director, Southern Regional Training Program in Public Administration, Drawer 1, University, Alabama 35486. Deadline for applications is March 1, 1969.

NO DOG'S A MATCH FOR OUR HORSE! — Charcoal Cody, shown here with Douglas (Nubin) Hollar, is ready to match spirits with the A&M Mascot, a bulldog named Reveille. The undefeated Raiders and Cody will make the trek to College Station in search of revenge for last year's last second loss to the Aggies, 17-13.

Cartoonist gives memoirs, papers

Jack D. Tippit, nationally recognized cartoonist, has announced that he will give a portion of his memoirs and personal papers to the Southwest Collection at Texas Tech.

The gifts, to be donated over a period of years, are to begin arriving in the spring of 1969.

TIPPIT, A REGULAR contributor to such national magazine as Life, Look and the Saturday Evening Post, attended Texas Tech but received his degree from Syracuse University. Syracuse will also receive some of Tippit's papers.

The creator of the comic strip "Amy," Tippit enrolled in Texas Tech in 1941, but left in 1942 to serve in the Army Air Corps during World War II.

He returned to Tech in 1946 and transferred to Syracuse in 1947 because Tech did not offer an accredited degree in fine arts in advertising design.

THE CARTOONIST WAS contacted concerning his memoirs by Syracuse University as part of that school's effort to obtain donations from contemporary writers and artists. Tippit agreed to make a donation to Syracuse, but expressed a desire to Texas Tech to donate some of his works to the Southwest Collection because "I got my start at Texas Tech."

Sylvan Dunn, director of the Southwest Collection, expressed great pleasure at the donation. "We're hoping to get material which will reflect upon the total man—biographical information and items reflecting the development of his career, rather than showing just one facet of it," Dunn said.

A resident of Westport, Conn., Tippit was honored in 1967 as a Distinguished Alumnus of Texas Tech. He was named Magazine Cartoonist of the Year in 1967.

TIPPIT, WHOSE CARTOONS ARE characterized by a distinctive style of art, is perhaps best known for the comic strip "Amy" which portrays a six year old child and her lazy setter dog. The "Amy" comic has been a regular feature of the Register and Tribune Syndicate since 1963.

Tippit at one time drew a syndicated comic strip featuring "Dr. Bill," named for Dr. Bill Gordon, a Lubbock physician and longtime friend of Tippit's.

SINCE BOX'S departure for a year of study and work in Australia, Traylor has served as the chief executive officer.

He was appointed deputy director in September, 1967. He received his PhD in history and international relations from Duke in 1965, and his master's and bachelor's degrees from the University of Texas. He also studied in Paris and Vienna.

Traylor went to Mexico last summer in connection with the International Center's Focus on the Arts to be observed during the second semester of the academic year and the World Affairs Conference on Latin America to be held at Tech in the spring sponsored by ICASALS and the Student Union.

Thomas, who became dean of the School of Agricultural Sciences at Tech in 1958, has been active in the academic and administrative side of the institution since that time. Only recently he returned from travels in North Africa and Turkey in behalf of the International Center for Arid and Semi-Arid Land Studies.
