State To Ask Chambers' Death

HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

TWO young women were sent this morning by your columnist to persons having employment for them. One of them was a member of a family of seven adults, six of them able to work, but none employed. The other was a young woman who had been out of employment some time.

We gave the application of a boy, about 14, strong and healthy and anxious to work afternoons after school. We would appreciate anyone in a position to use the boy calling No. 728.

For two positions this morning we had three applications. We again earnestly solicit your cooperation toward finding jobs for local people who really are in need of work.

A West Texas phobe down, having suffered four long months from the heat of that humid, vaporous, low country in the Brazos valley, has burst forth with a veritable spasm of insults to this section of Texas.

He denounces West Texas for seeking drought relief, for criticizing Dan Moody for asking assistance in holding state lands, for going after Texas Technological College for seeking validation of titles to lands held to be property of the state although in possession of individuals for many years, for seeking remunerations for losses incurred because of pink bollworm restrictions, for playing "The Old Gray Mare" at public gatherings and cheering that tune.

He does not say so in so many words but he tells you nevertheless that some folks, even in West Texas, may abhor dividing the state but, as for him, he'd be darned glad if they did lop off this section to get rid of these folks out here who are trying to develop their part of the commonwealth. It has the increased flavors of the Austin lobby and the University of Texas lobby. Which, if you do not know, are the groups that just about run things down there.

One of the few times the Austin lobby took a fine licking was when the Small river bed bill was passed over the governor's veto.

The Austin lobby has thousands of members, most every citizen of the city, in fact. When, under a recent attorney general who decided his department should be robbing the people of the state of the fruits of many years of labor, suits were filed to do just that, those suits (under the law) had to be tried in Austin. "Venue in Travis county" is one of the most frequently found sentences in the statutes, you know.

Yes. Even though practically all of the hundreds of witnesses lived in Gray county or Hutchinson county or some other distant point, and the defendants and the land sought to be grabbed for professional grabbers by the state, also were located far away, venue had to be in Travis county.

Down there the folks understand full well that it is to their benefit to bring as many people and as much new money into town as possible. One way to do this is to bring hundreds of visitors who have to attend these trials. Another is to fix things so that the "grabbers of Austin" may file in property worth millions, and have their lawyer fees paid by the state.

Therefore, folks, when the jury is chosen down there, these "upstarters" have practically no chance to get an unbiased verdict.

Here are two paragraphs from the Waco Times Herald editorial: "Here and there men who found all on what they thought was their land (in West Texas) came to the rest of the state and asked (and were granted) that Texas as a whole validate the wealth which was not theirs."

Woodward Is Recommended For Keynoter

Walters Speaks For Party Nominee In Session Of Committee

GALVESTON, Sept. 8. (AP)—Senator W. C. Woodward of Coleman was recommended by the State Democratic executive committee today as temporary chairman and keynoter of the state convention tomorrow.

He was recommended by acclamation, on the motion of General Jacob F. Walters of Acuston.

General Walters, smiling and buoyant, spoke for Mr. Sterling all during the meeting. The nominee himself had no word to say and sat quietly as a spectator. One of the General's moves was to call for the appointment of assistant secretaries, "real workers," he styled them. Three, W. E. George of Wichita Falls, C. C. Renfro of Dallas, and Charlotte Graves of Galveston, were named immediately and it was planned to appoint others if it were found they were needed.

No Credentials. It developed that more than half the counties in the state had sent in no delegation credentials and a sub-committee of five was appointed to pass on late arrival credentials, either held directly or by proxies. The executive committee which recessed shortly after 11 a. m. will meet again at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

It was decided to have the main convention begin at 11 o'clock in the afternoon.

While the committee was dispatching routine business the Texas Woman's Democratic Association was meeting in a nearby room, putting in motion machinery by which it hopes to help influence the committee to write the strong prohibition plank ever had.

The committee's official runoff vote tabulation gave Sterling 471,382 and M. J. Miriam A. Ferguson 384,402, a majority of 88,980 for Sterling.

Vote Canvassed. The vote in the other races: Lieutenant governor, Witt, 429,122; Sterling Strong, 360,566; Attorney General, Alfred, 464,262; H. Robert, 342,292; Treasurer, Lockhart, 420,007; John E. Davis, 362,480; Agricultural Commissioner, McDonald, 444,864; A. H. King, 312,506; Railroad Commissioner, Neff, 463,751; W. Gregory Hatcher, 338,878.

Reporter And Governor Of Louisiana Exchange Blows

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 8. (AP)—On the eve of his entrance into the Democratic primary tomorrow as a candidate for the United States senate against Sen. Joseph E. Ransdell, Gov. Huey P. Long was brought into federal court here today and questioned concerning the whereabouts of Samuel Iby and James Terrell, who were seized and secluded as they planned to file suits against the governor in Shreveport.

With Judge Wayne G. Borah presiding and Assistant Attorney General E. R. Schewalter questioning, Governor Long said he did not know where Iby was but understood he was in Jefferson parish, outside of New Orleans. He testified that he had not seen Terrell in over a year and did not know where he was.

Fist Fight. Before going to court in answer to a subpoena, the governor engaged in a fist fight with William G. Wiegand, reporter of the New Orleans Item, who had gone on assignment to cover service of the subpoena by a United States deputy marshal.

In a statement the reporter said he struck the governor in the mouth with his right fist and cracked his knuckle on the governor's teeth after the governor had called him a vile name twice while two bodyguards were holding his arms. He broke the guards hold and struck the governor and the guards grabbed him again. With two armed men on either side of him but with himself free, the reporter said the governor struck him on the cheek. Later each apologized to the other.

Asked about the encounter, Governor Long said, "A man came into my room and impersonated himself as a federal officer and I told him to get out and he wouldn't do it."

"Were there any blows passed?"

FIRST PICTURE OF SANTO DOMINGO AFTER HURRICANE

Here is an aerial view of Santo Domingo showing how the city looked after a tropical hurricane leveled all but a few buildings and took a death toll estimated at 4,000. Practically all of the city was devastated as was the section shown in this Associated Press telephoto, first picture of the city taken after the storm.

Report Breaks Cotton Price

14,340,000 Bales Is Estimated For Entire Country

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 8. (AP)—Prices for cotton on the local exchange dropped approximately $2 a bale following publication of the census bureau's crop figures showing an unexpectedly large crop estimate and earnings. Immediately after resumption of trading following the customary suspension for reception of the figures, October contracts broke from 11.22 cents a pound to 10.80 cents a pound and November contracts from 11.38 to 11.01 or 27 to 43 points down.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8. (AP)—The drought apparently had little effect on the cotton crop, which was indicated today by the department of agriculture from conditions existing Sept. 1 as being 14,340,000 bales, a reduction of 22,000 bales from the production indicated a month ago.

The indicated crop is 488,000 bales smaller than last year's and 688,000 bales less than the average crop of the last five years.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8. (AP)—Cotton production this year as indicated by the condition of the crop September 1 was announced today by the department of agriculture to be 14,340,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight, as compared with 14,362,000 bales indicated a month ago and 14,228,999 bales ginned in the 1929 crop.

The condition of the crop on September 1 is 53.2 per cent of a normal, compared with 62.2 on August 1 this year, 55.4 a year ago and 56.8, the September 1 ten-year average, indicating a yield of 132.2 pounds per acre, compared with 132.5 last year.

FIRST PICTURES OF FINDING OF ANDRÉE EXPEDITION

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 8. (AP)—The frozen northern wastes of White Island, or Hvítvagn, have given up another body, presumably that of the third member of the Andrée balloon expedition of 1897.

First picture showing the discovery of the remains of Andrée expedition after it had been held in the Arctic fastness of White Island for 33 years. Picture shows Dr. Gunnar Horn's party digging for bodies of the explorers and relics of the ill-fated expedition. Picture was taken by a member of Dr. Horn's party. After return of the party's ship Bratvaag to Tromsø the picture was rushed to London and published by radio to New York.

Trial For Murder In Death Of Ray Jones Convened Here With Examining of Jurors

Prosecution Queries Veniremen On Attitude Toward Inflicting Supreme Penalty For Offense

Five men had been chosen to serve on the jury in the C. C. Chambers murder trial at 3 p. m. Twenty-six veniremen had been examined. N. H. Montgomery, Richland, and W. C. Rogers, R-Bar, were the last ones accepted.

A jury in district court will be asked to mete out the death penalty to C. C. Chambers, Big Spring dirt contractor, for the slaying of Ray Jones, it was indicated this morning when the case went to trial.

Questions asked prospective jurors by District Attorney George Mahon, indicated the extreme penalty would be sought. Jones was shot down as he stood on a downtown sidewalk last May.

The trial of Chambers opened this morning with Judge Fritz R. Smith on the bench. He was absent from court last week due to an injured foot.

A special venire of 80 men reported for the trial. Questioning of veniremen started at 11 o'clock, soon after the state and defense had announced ready for trial.

To Last Several Days. Indications were the trial would consume several days.

The state and defense have summoned dozens of witnesses and it is expected questioning and cross examination will be lengthy.

Sullivan and Sullivan are representing the defendant, Mahon is assisted by James Little, county attorney.

Chambers' wife sat with him during the morning session as veniremen were being questioned.

Defense counsel declared this afternoon a plea of self defense would be entered.

S. H. Millwee of Colorado has been engaged by relatives of Ray as a special prosecutor in the case.

Three jurors had been obtained in the case when court was recessed at noon today. Only 16 veniremen had been questioned.

Those selected follow: J. W. Nix, farmer; R. W. Mahon, farmer; W. A. Reynolds, automobile salesman.

Efforts will be made to obtain the jury this afternoon in order for the trial proper to start Tuesday morning.

Chambers is charged by grand jury indictment with the slaying of Ray Jones May 5, in the business district of Big Spring. Jones was shot several times and died a few hours later after making a statement. Chambers surrendered voluntarily after the shooting.

He was released on bond and his trial continued until the September term of court.

AMERICAN AIRWAYS OFFICIALS STOP HERE

Three officials of American Airways, Inc., of which Southern Air Transport, Inc., is a subsidiary, visited Big Spring Saturday night and Sunday inspecting the local airport and landing field.

The officials of the company are making a tour of the proposed air mail line from Atlanta to Los Angeles.

They were flying in a Fairchild monoplane, piloted by J. P. Farnham, engineer of the company.

C. C. Shingore, head of the radio department, and E. F. Russell, chief meteorologist, were the other two members of the party.

They all are located in the New York office of the airline corporation. They left for El Paso Sunday morning.

PAMPA MAN KILLED. PAMPA, Tex., Sept. 8. (AP)—Charles S. Dooley, 21, was killed instantly near here yesterday when his truck overturned on a winding hill and pinned his body beneath it. Funeral arrangements were awaiting the arrival of his parents and brother from Roscoe, Texas.

Hoover To Confer With ICC on Road

MARSHALL, Texas, Sept. 8. (AP)—President Herbert Hoover will take up with the Interstate Commerce Commission the matter of speeding up action on the Texas and Pacific railroad's application to build a 33-mile extension in West Texas, according to a letter received from the chief executive by the Marshall Chamber of Commerce today.

The idea of consummating preliminary details as speedily as possible was originated by Hon. M. P. Rice, editor of the Marshall Morning News. His plan was to have Texas senators go to Washington in the interest of the project, which had been approved by the Marshall and a number of other chambers of commerce.

Young Texas Farmer Shot To Death Near Georgetown

GEORGETOWN, Sept. 8. (AP)—Believed to have been attacked when he slowed down his automobile preparatory to entering a side road leading to his home, B. W. Miller, 21, farmer of seven miles north of here, was found dead today with two bullet wounds in his head.

The shooting is believed to have occurred between 11:15 and 11:30 last night.

Officers were concentrating their search for the murderer or murderers on slight clues, the main one being a chocolate-colored roadster in which Miller was riding and in which his assailants escaped.

A reward of $250 was posted by Williamson county authorities and possees were combing the roads in the district in an effort to locate the murderers.

Miller was alone when the attack occurred and was returning home from a visit to a girl, who lived a short distance away. He and the girl had spent the evening in temple.

The murderers are believed to have hopped on the running board of the car as he slowed down to enter the side road. He was shot in the right side of the head and tracks of the automobile indicated he was driving the machine when shot.

Officers found two $1 bills in his watch pocket. No other valuables were found, indicating robbery as the motive.

His body was found lying on the right of way where it had been thrown by his attackers.

BODY FOUND IN RIVER

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 8. (AP)—The body of William Foster Wheatley, 40, World War veteran of Dallas was found in the south Sulphur River near Cooper yesterday, it was learned here today. The man's automobile was found on a levee and his clothes were hanging from a tree near the place where the body was found.

Adult Womens S. S. Classes Offered Prize For Largest Cooking School Enrollment

1,617 Women Attended The Herald Forum Last Year; Classes To Be Held In The High School Auditorium For Four Days

To the adult women's Sunday School class securing the most registrations for the Herald Cooking School, beginning next Tuesday, September 16, the Big Spring Herald offers a prize of $10.

The nationally famous expert on home economics and domestic science, Leona Rusk Ihrig, will conduct the school for four days at the High School auditorium.

Last year 1,617 women attended the meetings and a most active interest was evidenced in every lecture.

The school is being sponsored by the Big Spring Herald and certain local merchants as well as manufacturers of certain brands of nationally known food products.

The culinary arts are the oldest with which modern man has acquaintance. The intriguing dignity of cookery has lived through the ages. In the kingdom of pots and pans, there exists an aristocracy as unchallenged as any listening of the peerage.

With the passing of centuries this early dignity has never lessened. In no other line of catering does the leader rank so high as in the culinary arts.

Women's Work In past years, one had no right to be hasty in their judgment of feminine indifference to the possibilities of health, growth and happiness that lay in the culinary arts.

More than any other factor influencing the changing of this condition, the cooking schools under the administration of skilled home economists, have aroused American women to a fuller consciousness of the fascination of cookery.

Heiress Heads Women's Polo Team

Headed by Cornelia Vanderbilt Cecil (below) two polo teams have been organized by society women in Asheville, N. C. An exciting moment during a match (top) came when Betty Martin of Washington, drove the ball away from her goal.

ASHEVILLE, N. C. Sept. 8. (AP)—Society women have turned to polo in southern resort cities.

Two regularly organized teams, headed by Mrs. Cornelia Vanderbilt Cecil, have been formed, said by the United States Polo association to be the only teams of their kind.

Fully equipped with brightly colored uniforms, the teams have played regular weekend matches during the summer, with practice games in between.

Mrs. Cecil, only child of the late George W. Vanderbilt, is now in Europe, but plans to return early this fall to devote much time to organizing society women for polo in southern resort cities.

A new field is to be built in Asheville, since the polo enthusiasts plan to make the game a permanent form of recreation here. The only available field is now on Biltmore estate, home of Mrs. Cecil.

In addition to Mrs. Cecil, the Asheville teams contain the names of Betty Marin, of Washington, Barbara Leovy, Betty Williams and Pamela Robinson, of New Orleans; Anne Brook, New York City; Anne Longhurst, Hanover, N. H.; Lucile Yancey, Memphis, Tenn.; Peggy Morgan, Jane Raoul and Eliza Cox, of Asheville.

Capital and Geography San Angelo Standard

Partisan supporters of the Santa Fe lines read of the South Plains plans of the Texas and Pacific lines and then immediately branded the latter as an effort to bait the Santa Fe's project from either Seagraves into the Andrews oil belt and perhaps on to Sterling.

Santa Fe supporters point out, and with more or less logic, that the Texas and Pacific Northern route from Big Spring to Lubbock, Lamesa, Brownfield, Vega, Hereford and Amarillo, hasn't a great deal of chance to receive the ICC's approval.

There is not a newspaper in West Texas more friendly to that piece of the rails, John Santa Fe, than The Morning Avalanche. When the Santa Fe based the iron trail into this section it did more than any other one agency to settle this section.

People of this section have long wished for a direct connection to El Paso and El Pasoans have likewise longed for a link to the Plains.

The proposed Texas and Pacific Northern route offers that El Paso connection so long hoped for and sought.

The Avalanche is glad to hear of the T.P.'s plans, not only because they may mean the start of what eventually will give this section another railroad but because they may spur the Santa-Fe to action on its Seagraves-Hobbs branch and its long discussed line to Ft. Worth.

Competition in railroads won't react to the disadvantage of this city or section. Instead, it may help us get more than we otherwise might have received.

The forest resources of the East African territory of Tanganyika are estimated at nearly 2,000,000 acres.

THE ODD JOBS MAN by OSCAR HITT

BUSINESS STILL BEING A LITTLE QUIET, CHRIS CONTINUES TO PROVE HIMSELF THE BEST "CALL SHOT ARTIST" IN TWO COUNTIES.

Great Britain Rights Reserved

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

BY ROBBIN COON. HOLLYWOOD — That greatly overworked playlet, the screen musical, may yet come into its own...

That hope is inspired by a preview of "Sweet Kitty Bellairs," a color-talkie presentation of the old Belasco production...

Players do not burst into song accompanied by invisible orchestra which suddenly break into the refrain...

Much discussed, desired and planned, but seldom noted, the use of music as an integral part of the screen play appears most successfully...

Solo, even incidental songs and choruses, all further the plot, heighten characterization, or enhance atmosphere.

For the sixteenth time in a hour J. Arnold Winslow completed his tramp around Dupont Circle and sat heavily down on a bench...

He talked unceasingly of her perfections, her illness, the tragedy of her helpless condition, and so worked on my wife's and my sympathy that we sent for Elsa.

"What then?" "She and her nurse came three months ago to our summer home on Cape Cod, and we brought them to Washington with us."

"Elsa is undeniably beautiful, undeniably pathetic in her helplessness—but John shan't marry her; no, by God, he shan't!"

"I don't believe in invalids marrying," he said. "But that's not the only reason. You can learn nothing about the girl, her origin, past life, past associations."

"What then?" "The woman left at eight o'clock and Elsa explained that she had stopped to inquire her way to a convent which is about a mile beyond my house."

"You say that type of woman?" "I asked Thorne mildly. "No, but I've seen her since. Once trying to speak to Elsa in my car on Pennsylvania avenue, and last week we came face to face outside my gate, but again she got away before I could leave my guests and interview her."

"You've got eyes; you don't have to be told where she belongs." "Well, see here," Thorne spoke with some roughness. "Has it ever occurred to you that this unknown woman might be an acquaintance of your son's?"

"Stop right there," Winslow's fist struck the desk heavily. "She isn't! From his pocket he drew out a leather wallet and extracted three pieces of paper. "That woman gave the first one of the to my gardener for me; the others came by mail."

"The detective spread each paper on his desk and scanned the fashionable writing on them. "If you would learn what you should know, come to Dupont circle on Monday at 5 p. m."

"The second read: "Why did you not keep your appointment?" And the third: "Your last chance—at five—Dupont circle—Monday."

"Thorne sprang a drawer and took out a small but heavy glass bottle. "The woman in blue sat on the same bench with me one day last week," he explained. "She made off in a hurry to catch a bus well off her lap on the turf. It's half full of perfume, as you see."

"It's the same!" exclaimed Winslow triumphantly. The same perfume and the same woman. "Possibly," admitted Thorne. "This perfume is called Heavensent. Now, Mr. Winslow, exactly what do you wish me to do?"

"Find out the connection between this woman and Elsa Chase," promptly. "Also why the former made appointments with me at 5 o'clock and left before the hour set."

"One thing at a time," broke in Thorne. "Answer truthfully—what do you really want?" "Information that will make any marriage between Jack and Elsa impossible."

"Very well," Thorne's voice sounded oddly in the prolonged silence. He pointed to the three squares of paper. "Let me keep these and, if anything turns up, you will hear from me."

"You will hear from me," Winslow paused on his way out. "I pardon the question, Thorne, but are you a foreigner?" observing the latter's foreigner's skin and light cheek bones.

"No, Mr. Winslow. My ancestors were of the shores of Plymouth met yours when they landed from the Mayflower." A queer gleam lit the detective's black eyes. "I am an American Indian."

"The girl in the wheel chair, mysterious and a beautiful cripple, appears in tomorrow's chapter."

Methodists Opening Revival At Ackerly SPARENSBERG, Sept. 8.—The area-wide Baker revival began Friday evening in the school auditorium at Ackerly with the pastor of the Methodist church doing the preaching. Rev. J. Berry Baker, evangelist, with his evangelistic party, will arrive Monday (September 8) to conduct the meeting to its

"It Is the Best Medicine in the World," He Says

"I Suffered 12 Years' But Argotane Has Given Me Health," Says Lubbock Man

"At last I am on the road to perfect health again, after I have spent lots of money trying to get relief from my troubles," said T. J. Teal of Lubbock, Texas, who is in the poultry business here, and has been a resident of this city for a number of years.

"I got to the place where I nearly had to live on nothing, for I couldn't eat anything but what would disagree with me, and cause me to suffer terribly. All of the food I ate, would cause gas to form on my stomach, until at times I would feel so puffed up, and have such a bloated feeling I thought I would burst. No matter what I tried in the way of medicine nothing helped me a bit and it seemed as if there were no relief for me."

"My kidneys were in a very bad condition and I would have intense, sharp shooting pains in my back and sides. I had a bad case of constipation and was very nervous and couldn't sleep at night. I was extremely restless at night and would roll and toss and couldn't get enough sleep, always felt tired and worn out."

"When a man has been in the shape I have, it sure seems wonderful to be able to eat anything he wants and have no trouble from it, that's just what I can do since taking Argotane. I began to pick up in a hurry after I started using it and have been getting better ever since. I am now a well man and am feeling stronger every day. All of my troubles are gone, and I eat things now I haven't for years. I sleep fine at night and all the pains in my back and sides have disappeared."

"I'm sure glad I got hold of Argotane when I did and there's nothing I could say for it that would be too much. I hope my case will be the cause of others who have the same trouble finding the same relief as I have. I sincerely think it is the best medicine in the world."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Big Spring at the Collins Bros. Drug Co. adv.

close, sometime about September 19.

Due to falling weather plans for a large improvised tabernacle on the "public square" were abandoned and the Ackerly public-school auditorium, ordinarily seating 350 but supplemented by a seating accommodation of 400 persons, utilized.

Services are held daily at 10:30 a. m. and 8 p. m. L. A. Crass, Ackerly, is directing the choir.

Hundreds of visitors from Knott, Vealmoor, Flower Grove, Loyola, Sparenberg, Shoensack, Midway, Key, Mount Olive, Patricia and other points in Borden, Dawson, Martin and Howard counties are expected to attend this big ecclesiastical function.

Baker conducted a Spring meeting in this place this year with 88 conversions and 55 additions to the church. Upon the insistence of Sparenberg and Ackerly people his services were protracted for a great area-wide revival.

Baker has been engaged almost all summer in revivals. His residence is Tuscola, Taylor County.

HOUSEHOLD ANTIDOTES: For arsenic and arsenic-containing poisons, such as Fowler's solution, give an emetic of mustard and salt to a teaspoonful of each in a pint of lukewarm water. Follow this with sweet oil, molten butter, or milk. For sulphuric acid, nitric acid, muriatic acid, and bicarbonate of potash, give magnesium or soap dissolved in water for two minutes. For oxalic acid, give lime water or chalk. Wall plaster dissolved in water may be used to make these up in an emergency. For caustic soda, caustic potash or volatile alkali, give a mixture of vinegar and water in large quantities. For carbolic acid, give a mixture of flour and water, and alcohol. For iodine, or iodine-containing compounds, give a mixture of starch and water, or flour and water, and induce vomiting. In morphine or opium poisoning, induce vomiting, give strong coffee, and keep the patient in motion.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parker Cadman

Questions from readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parker Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

Why is the word "love" so commonly used to describe the worst as well as the best feelings we experience?

Because, notwithstanding its usage and flexibility, the English language is constricted in this connection. The Greek had two words for love. He differentiated between the natural impulses of affection and its more lofty employment. The difference is vividly portrayed

In Titian's masterpiece, "Sacred and Profane Love."

The object on which love is fixed and the service that object demands create the gulf between the lust, greed and selfishness falsely called love and the sacrifice, generosity and protection which characterize genuine affection.

You may always know the quality of professed love by one simple test: Does it seek the highest of what or whom it loves? Apply that test to the most ardent declarations of the grand passion, and man or maiden may steer a safe course.

When I was younger I prayed, felt God's help, and wanted my family to join me. Then the Divine Presence departed, and the ensuing sense of failure has never left me. Years passed during which evil thoughts assailed me. I fought them off but they returned. I never fell into open sin but I fear my temptations injured other lives. The struggle is wearing me out. I wanted a home of my own. Yet this mental outlook stands in the way. Can you help me?

The information contained in your letter is too fragmentary for any diagnosis which will really help you. But I urge you to seek a thoroughly competent physician and be guided by what he advises. The Divine Presence never departs from a tender and trusting heart. Your awareness of that Presence may have faded out because you were guided by your emotions rather than by your convictions. Do not allow your natural timidity to rob you of the truth and joy of a genuine religious experience. Nor should you relate anything occurring when you were much younger to your later ineffectiveness in life. You need to banish this festering memory from your soul. It creates the pain and hesitation you mention.

I admire your splendid courage in the fight you have put up. Why then should you deprive yourself of the strength which constant communion with God and Christ bestows on you? It can make you more than conqueror. Have done forever with the doubtful suggestions you have fostered. Take a sane, steady view of the future, resume your life of prayer, depend utterly upon all its gracious realities and seek the fellowship of religious people. May God enable you to thus triumph over things which are purely imaginary but which at present seem very real to you.

Why do you not vigorously advocate the freeing of India from British rule?

I favor liberalizing measures for India or any other part of the world. But we should be sure that the medicine proposed is not worse than the disease it is intended to cure. The difficulty is that India is neither a political nor a social entity. It includes 400,000,000 souls comprising a mosaic of races and religions, only 5 per cent of which can read or write, and 90 per cent of whom are illiterate engaged in tilling the soil.

The Moslem princes ruled India from 1250 to 1750. The history of their sovereignty is well known and demonstrates that they could not unite the diversified groups of the great peninsula. On the other hand, the British administration ended a prolonged period of oppression and internal strife, and has maintained law and order, defended India from Russian invasion and protected the respective rights of numerous and antagonistic tribes speaking different languages and deeply attached to their respective and several beliefs.

British statesmen believe that sooner or later India must have self-government and they are pledged to give a dominion status to her conflicting classes. But I have not found a definition of the nature and scope of that status. Nor does it seem possible, according to all one can learn from Hindu themselves, that they can as yet agree upon the extent of self-government which should be granted and which many prominent native leaders demand. What can Great Britain do except wait on circumstances and adapt her policies to their needs?

In Egypt, which is definitely a nation, the present British government has sanctioned a Nationalist Parliament led by Nahas Pasha, a pronounced Egyptian, and that Parliament has approved the general principles of a proposed treaty between the two countries. The benefits British rule has conferred upon India and Egypt are obvious and widespread. During the last decade the democratization of the entire British Empire has proceeded rapidly and promises to make further headway in the near future.

In the case of India her lack of capacity for self-government is one of the great obstacles which postpone, for the time being at least, the granting by Great Britain of her complete independence.

Oil Operators Attracted To Cooke Strike

Jacobs No. 2 Southeast Of Gainesville Causes Trading

GAINESVILLE, Texas, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Operators from all over Texas continued to arrive here today and excitement was at a high pitch as acreage and drilling sites were in demand in the vicinity of the No. 2 Jacobs, completed by the Lloyd Oil corporation of Fort Worth, 19 miles southeast of Gainesville.

More than $100,000 changed hands Saturday for sales of acreage and royalties. The Danziger Oil company, Simms Oil company, M. Stanforth and several Wichita Falls operators were among the buyers.

Several new wells will be started in this field within 30 days and the Sinclair Oil company was expected to extend a pipe line to the field within a few days.

THIS IS A GOOD YEAR TO BUILD ECONOMICALLY. Before. After. Save Money By Remodeling That Old Building Now!

Many old homes, stores and offices are as sound today as when first built, but they look out-of-date and, therefore, rent low. It's a real investment to remodel these buildings. Their rental and selling value immediately increase.

Many old houses have spacious and beautiful interiors. From the outside, however, they seem shabby, old-fashioned, run-down. A few changes will both improve the looks and increase the value of such homes.

Ask your building material dealer, architect or contractor to make some suggestions for remodeling. You will be happily surprised to find out how easily and economically it can be done now.

Universal Atlas Cement is made at Waco—by Texas workers—of Texas materials. Along with other economical quality products, your building material dealer can quickly furnish you either Atlas portland cement (gray) or non-staining Atlas White portland cement. Ask for Atlas cements.
