MATADORS WIN CLOSING GAME

Tech Athletic Fund Has Big Deficiency

When the final whistle blew Thursday afternoon it signalled the close of Tech's first football season.

With six wins, two ties, and one loss we may all be rightly proud of our first team.

Although from a financial point of view the season was not so successful the spirit of the school is coming to the aid of the Athletic Committee and making up the deficit in most loyal manner.

Of course this, the first year of the whole history of Tech as a school, has been the one year when all teams have to be out-fitted from beginning to end.

This fact is coupled with the fact that local people, unaccustomed to seeing college teams, have hesitated to give the contest the support that they must have in order to be a success financially.

Another year and a great part of the equipment will already be paid for and the town people will be more loyal in their support and Tech can hope for a successful season from every view point.

Just how everyone must pledge himself to help bear the loss incurred in putting out a wonderful team and bringing to our own town some of the best teams throughout this whole section of the state.

The fact that Tech could display the old school spirit in the matter of pep was ably demonstrated at the Thanksgiving game. It was a revelation.

The Picadores resplendent in their new costumes were very greatly responsible for the better quality and quantity of the yelling. Fine indeed was their formation between halves.

The W. T. S. T. C. rooters displayed much enthusiasm for the size of their gathering.

Although the score went against them they never once gave up, in fact the fact that victory was not theirs seemed to cause them to redouble their efforts to make themselves heard.

The Buffaloes were a fighting bunch and it was a real pleasure to beat them.

Even though the season is over with the last game showing Lubbock that the Tech could display pep when absolutely called upon to do so our work a student is not yet done.

That deficit must be met.

The Tech as a whole will do it.

With the aid of all the outside support that it can muster.

It is up to the student body. The Committee appointed at Convocation Wednesday are still functioning. If you have not signed a pledge see a member of this Committee and he will be glad to accommodate you.

It is up to us students. The Matadors did not fail us. We must not fail them.

RATLIFF ELECTED TO TOREADOR STAFF

At the regular meeting of the Press Club Wednesday evening, C. W. Ratliff was elected to The Toreador staff, as sports editor, succeeding Winfield Watkins who recently resigned from this position. Ratliff, who is classified as a senior special, has a good football record to his credit since being in college, and has had considerable experience in sports writing.

During the business session of the meeting, it was decided by a unanimous vote that no new members would be accepted into the club during this term, and that members coming in during the next term will be received by approved application only. It was also brought out in the meeting that the constitution provides for members to be dropped from the roll who have three consecutive absences marked against them, and that this provision would be enforced.

Members of the club present voted to have the club represented in the Tech annual by individual photos arranged on a group page. The extra photos will cost no more than fifty cents each, and those who do not have them made will be represented by the name only on the club roster. John Forkner, Harry Pryor, and Miss Maude Dee Skeen were appointed, as a committee to represent the club in co-operating with the annual staff, as was recommended by the committee on details and nominations, at a recent meeting.

STUDENT DRIVE IS LAUNCHED TO RAISE DEFICIT

STUDENTS RESPONDING LIBERALLY TO CAMPAIGN

That a deficit of approximately $8,000 exists in the athletic fund of the Tech was announced in a student convocation among the students to raise a part of the total debt. The large Tuesday morning, at which time a drive was launched among the students to raise a part of the total debt. The amount of equipment which had to be purchased at the opening of the season, and that the fact that the student activity was unusually low were pointed out as some of the reasons for the deficit.

At a call meeting of the students Wednesday morning in the stock judging pavilion the future life of athletics in the Tech was announced as rather uncertain. The committee has many financial obligations to meet right away and have no funds in the treasury. Mr. Stangel made a short talk and put the proposition before the students. A drive was put on among the students to raise part of this debt. He thought that the students should have first action in matters of this nature because it pertained solely to their welfare. Mr. Jackson also talked to the student body on this drive and R. D. Campbell started the ball rolling. He announced the terms and their captives.

The drive was carried throughout the day and at the big pep meeting Wednesday the results of the first day's work were chalked up on the board in the hall of the main building. The following terms reported a successful day: 1. Brown, $59.2; Biggers, $138; 3. Poage, $219.75; Howard, $61; Harber, $119.50; Terrell, $67; Neil, $67.50; Marshall, $130.00; Nelson, $123; Corley, No report; Burroughs, $94; and Mohoney, $369.50. This totaled $1446.25. About three thousand dollars was expected to be raised among the students and this is only half of the amount. The drive will continue throughout the week until the amount is raised. The town will then be called upon to give their quota to the fund. It is rumored that a large check is waiting in Fort Worth when this amount is raised in Lubbock.

Several donations were received from the people of the town before they have been called upon. Mrs. Jessie Summers, owner of Cheri Casa, gave $60. Dr. Horn also made one of the largest donations, giving $100.00. These show the attitude of people other than students who are vitally interested in the welfare of Texas Tech athletics.

Every student is asked to give all that he feels like that he can. The pledges can be paid in three payments one-third, December 1, one-third, January 1, one-third, February 1. This plan can be easily solved the financial difficulty of the committee.

Dr. Patton Brings Tusks Of Mastadon From Scurry County

Dr. Leroy T. Patton, head of the Department of Geology in the Tech, spent the week-end in Scurry County examining the fossils of ancient mammals, having gone there in response to a report that bones of mastadons had been found in that vicinity. The call was sent to the Tech in the belief that the institution would be interested in the findings, and Dr. Patton was delighted to give the matter his attention.

Dr. Patton states that he found four collections of these bones, most of which had been unearthed in their brittle state and badly broken to pieces. Many had been carried away by souvenir hunters. These collections were found in sand and gravel beds and, according to Dr. Patton, were probably from 50,000 to 75,000 years old.

FISH ADOPT CAPS IN TECH COLORS

One of the peepiest class meetings held since the opening of the Tech was the Freshman Class Monday evening, at which time a class tradition was instituted by the adoption of a uniform "slime" cap.

They will be made up with school colors scarlet and black alternated in the crown, with a small bill and the year of '29 on it. To signify that they are freshmen it was decided to have a small green button on the top of the cap. The girls will wear a similar cap with a little alternation in the form.

Mr. Ford made a talk and gave several valuable suggestions to the class. He suggested that a record be kept of all meetings and all socials of the class with the names of every member recorded in it. He also suggested that the class set standards for the classes of the future to follow. He outlined the responsibility of the first freshman class of the Texas Tech as they had to set traditions that would govern the actions of all classes that follow.

Mr. Jackson also made an interesting talk and stressed the importance of the class setting the proper standards. The freshmen were urged to have their pictures made for the annual as soon as possible, as the time is limited. Go to Daniels studio any time this week and have that picture made.

NOTE.

All Methodist girls and those inclined to the Methodist Church are cordially invited to attend Mrs. Camp's class at the First Methodist Church Sunday morning, 9:30 a. m.

ANNUAL PHOTOS MUST BE MADE DURING WEEK

Surely every student wants to take advantage of the chance to make himself famous by having his picture in Tech's first Annual. Think what a thrill it will give you to be able to say that you were a member of the first student body of Texas Tech and be able to open the annual and prove it. Go down to Daniels Studios, Ave. "J", between Broadway and 13th streets, any time this next week and get this little matter attended to. If you are pretty (or handsome), it is depriving the rest of the Student Body of a treat; and if you are not, the photographer can work wonders in making you look "what you ain't." Anyway, what do you care. You don't own the camera. So go down at once and have that picture made.

Bonfire Wednesday Night Kindles Enthusiasm Tips Climax Tech Spirit For Last Grid Game

Gripped with the Tech spirit and wild enthusiasm Tech's rooting section hilariously followed yell leader J. D. Carrol and assistant yell leader Lieut. Killin at the game Thursday, in a display of more pep than has ever been shown here.

During the entire game, the pep was kept at high pitch, and at no time during the game, even when things looked rather dark, did the enthusiasm with which the pep squad and all the rest of the people yelled, waver in the slightest degree.

When the first touchdown was made, giving Tech the lead, in the first quarter, the stands were a seething mass of hilarious humanity giving voice to their jubilant spirits by yells, screams, and finally, just noise.

The three bands, combined, made for quite a bit of the enthusiasm, at time and again, when a brilliant play was made, between quarters, and during time-outs, burst forth with music that did credit to Tech. The Lubbock High School band stayed right in there the whole time, and with the Military Band and the Concert Band both represented, gave us the best bunch of music that has been had at first time.

Between halves, though, was when the bunch strutted their stuff. As soon as time came for Tech's display, "Los

VANITY FAIR CONTEST RULES ARE ANNOUNCED

Since the announcement that the Annual was to run a Vanity Fair Contest in order to select the girls whose pictures are to appear in the initial issue of La Ventana, speculation as to the manner of conducting the contest has been rife. The members of the Vanity Fair Contest Managers here maintained a Sphinx like silence. In deed rumor has it that something novel in the manner of conducting this contest is to be advanced at the proper time.

The Toreador has at last been able to fetter this most perplexing mystery. Upon being pinned down and asked for something definite the Staff has had a most annoying manner of shifting the responsibility to someone else. The Toreador always alert for news of interest to the student body has after a great deal of effort and much "gum-shoeing" run this mystery to earth. The plan of conducting the contest was given out as follows:

The girls having the highest number of votes are to have their picture placed in the Vanity Fair Section of La Ventana. This Section is to be a thing of greatest beauty combining the beauties of nature and the wonders of the picture art. The votes are to be given out on two bases.

The purchase price of La Ventana is to be $5.00 and when this full purchase price is paid the person making the reservation is entitled to 300 free votes to be applied to the candidacy of his favorite. The reservation of an annual with a deposit of $9.00 entitles the depositor to 100 free votes to be placed on his candidate.

In order to make the contest more interesting and to allow all candidates an equal chance the Staff has announced that additional votes will be sold for one cent each.

The contest is to begin in the very near future and it is a decided advantage to begin early and work for these votes for what a distinction it will be in later years to think back on the carefree days spent in Texas Tech and to think what a part you played in putting your favorite at the top.

IMPORTANT.

Anyone who has snap-shots for La Ventana is requested either to submit them to the photo editor at the Treasurer's office between 9 and 10 o'clock on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, between 8 and 9 on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, or address to Photo Editor La Ventana, Daniel Studios, Bush Building, Lubbock.

BANQUET AND DANCE AT CHERI CASA OPENING

On Thanksgiving evening, Mrs. Jessie Summers, hostess of Cheri Casa, and the Tech boys residing in Cheri Casa were at home to their special friends in a most gracious manner.

Eighty-three found the spacious and beautiful dining room glowing with the vivid Spanish motif. The Matadors colors of Black and scarlet festooned themselves from the lovely Spanish lights and arches. On tall brass stands were beautiful potted plants. Broad-brimmed sombreros on the walls furnished the atmosphere and had not a number of blond types been in evidence, one might have imagined himself in Old Madrid; so complete was the Spanish atmosphere, so animated and happy was the group, and so many dashing and handsome "caballeros" were there.

Mr. Edwin Summers as host of the occasion, presented Mr. Eugene Smith president of the club, who gave the welcome address. There followed a Spanish program. Miss Willette Waters gave a charming piano solo. Mrs. R. C. Harrison in the "Clima Poblano" costume of Mexico sang in Spanish "La Maguinita" and "Tina." Mr. Geriva Cummins in Spanish attire sang with much feeling that beautiful old Spanish love song, "Marcheta."

Since a festive scene is never complete without beautiful music, there was an abundance furnished by Tom Donohue and his Collegiate Phymates. Tom Collins, trumpet; Maurice Small, saxophone; Jon Ingles, saxophone; Patterson, drums; Ted Agon, banjo; Tom Donahue, piano.

During intermission refreshments were served as compliments of Cheri Casa. Following the program there was dancing and at midnight a sumptuous banquet consisting of the following was served:

- | | |
|----------------|-----------------|
| Fruit Cocktail | Wafers |
| Nut Salad | Cheery Dressing |
| Roast Turkey | Crabberry Jelly |
| Asparagus Tips | Cheese Cutlets |
| Rolls | Olives |
| Ice Cream | Cake |
| Coffee | |
| Cheating Gum | Cigarettes |
| Cigars | Snuff |

At the table Mr. Eugene Smith, as master of ceremonies, introduced Mr. Harry Montgomery who toasted the guests of the Cheri Casa boys, to which Miss Ruth Pirtle responded with the most fitting and current wish that such a Thanksgiving night come much more frequently than once a year. Mr. Rex Keys was next presented to the group as the "master key" to the heads, hopes, and hearts of the Cheri Casa boys. Lieutenant Killin gave a toast to real men, in which Cheri Casa is not lacking. Finally was drunk a hearty toast to the Volstead cocktail. About this time all of the delicate things had disappeared, and Mrs. Summers and the girls left the boys to a brief "smoker."

Those enjoying the wonderful hospitality of Mrs. Summers and the Cheri Casa boys were: Misses Verna Wilson, Dick Stafford, Willette Waters, Claudine Smalley, Maurine Hughes, Charis Ingram, Ann Chipley, Ruth Pirtle, Margaret Bennett, Pauline Scott, Mary Middleton, Theda Cox, Jane Mast, Georgia Mae Foster, Anna Lee Owens, Almendra Murray, Gladys Murphy, Thelma Hendley, and Marjorie Ainsworth, Messdames Harrison and Wagborne, also Messrs. Red Smith, Rex Keys, Forrest Morley, Lyle Thomas, Jim Flanigan, Ralph Johnson, Windy Watkins, Harry Montgomery, W. P. Hendricks, Geriva Cummins, V. E. Wagborne, John Forkner, Chuck Collins, Lawrence Kendrick, Kendrick Frazer, Joe Johnson, Dan Thompson, Ransom King, Kenneth Hemphill, Jack Bond, Jim Biggers, Jack Howell, Dan Jenkins, Edwin Summers, Maurice Small, Capt. A. B. Brown, Robt. Board, Capt. R. M. Reed, Bruce Wallis, Gordon Corbin, Ogden Horn, and Lieut. Killin.

Home Ec Club Will Visit Post Mills

At a meeting of the Home Economic Club Friday evening it was announced that there will be no meeting on Friday Dec. 4th, regular meeting day, as the Home Economic girls are going to Post to visit the cotton mills. The meeting will be held one week later Dec. 11, and all members are urged to come. At this time the committee will report on a name for the club and other important business will be transacted as well as an interesting program.

DEBATERS FORM INTO TWO GROUPS

More than forty men responded to the call issued for the organization of debaters in the Tech, and under the direction of Messrs. Ford and Gates, the preliminaries of the first organization to promote interest in this phase of public speaking were worked out at the meeting held Monday evening.

After a general discussion of the method of procedure, it was generally agreed that those present at the meeting divide into two groups and organize at once. The division was made by the method of drawing, after which the groups, which will be designated as A and B until names have been adopted, elected officers. Officers of group A were: Harry Montgomery, president; H. C. Cooper, vice-president; Sterling Brown, secretary-treasurer; Of Group B: C. W. Ratliff, president; Clarence Whitfield, vice-president; Kearn Aldrich, Secretary; Grant Bradshaw, reporter and critic; Mr. Martin, sergeant at arms.

Committees were appointed from both groups to draw up constitutions and by-laws. These committees have met together for this purpose, hence the groups will be governed under like principles and regulations. It was announced that called meetings would be held next Monday evening to receive the constitutions. After that time, regular meetings will be held as often as needed.

It was agreed in the body as a whole that the entire time would not be given to debate alone, but that the programs be varied, taking in every phase of public speaking. Program committees have already been appointed to arrange the first programs. The difficulties of keeping such organizations alive in college were pointed out by the faculty members present, but Messrs. Gates and Ford were well impressed with the interest shown, and they expressed the belief that the clubs would be continued with enthusiastic meetings.

NEW MEMBERS LA VENTANA STAFF NAMED

There have been several appointments made on the staff of the Annual the last week. James B. Biggers, editor-in-chief, announces that the following have been appointed to aid him:

Miss Agnes Brown, Art Editor; Mr. C. W. Ratliff, Sports Editor; Miss Anna Belle Collins, Organization Editor; Mr. Edwin Dunlap, Staff Cartoonist; Mr. Otis Koen, Photographic Editor.

The following have been appointed on the business end of the Staff: Mr. Rex Keys, to assist in Vanity Fair Contest; Miss Mayme Alexander and Miss Eula Howard to assist in the Circulation Department.

Sponsors Are Selected For Cadet Corps

The selection of sponsors for the Cadet Corps has been made this week, and they are announced as follows: Sponsor for Company A, Miss Agnes Brown; ranking sponsors: Tech Military Band, Miss Maurine Hughes; 1st Platoon, Company A, Miss Mildred Traylor; 2nd Platoon, Company A, Miss Arton Glickerson; 3rd Platoon, Company A, Miss Dennis Cobb.

The duties of the sponsors are many and varied, the most important of which is the designing of appropriate dresses. In arranging these dresses they will use the college colors. Their other duties may be summed up in the statement, "they keep up the spirit-de-corp."

TECH SQUAD WINS FROM TEACHERS IN FINAL GAME

ATTENDANCE AT GAME ESTABLISHED RECORD FOR PLAINS

The Tech Matadors closed a most successful season Thanksgiving Day, when they defeated by close margin of one point, the Buffaloes of W. T. S. T. C. acquiring for the Tech championship of the Plains in college football. The game was nobody's until the final whistle but the football tactics of the Matadors won out in the struggle, as has been the case in every game this season with the exception of the one with Howard Payne, an enviable record for the first season.

More than 4500 people witnessed the battle which was one of the greatest games of the season. This was the largest crowd that ever witnessed a game in this section of the state. The game was one of intense interest and at no time was there lack of thrills for the fans.

The day was a perfect one for the sport and the stands were filled to the brims with a howling mass of enthusiastic fans. The Canyon boons were here strong for their team and supported them to the final whistle. They are to be admired for their gameness. They gave a stunt between halves spelling out WTSTC with human forms. This drew a cheer from the stands. The Tech rooters were in their prime Thursday and kept that "Fight Tech Fight" in the air all the time. Los Picadores appeared for the first time on the local field and honored the season with a fitting climax. The Students of Physical Training led by Lt. Killin gave a snake dance that was one of the best of the season.

Both teams presented a great defense in the battle and a fairly good offense. Time and again the Matadors held the visitors for downs only to be treated likewise by the Teachers. Seven of the Teachers played their last game with the Buffaloes and they went down fighting. Those who sang their swan song in West Texas football were: Captain Herm, Virgil Santy, Ray Bivins, Nay Hale and two injured members who did not get in the game, Davis, Hill and Finis Vaughn. Crump, Keith, Gamel and Herm were stars for the visitors. The wily toe of Gamel was hard to conquer but the Matadors finally blocked his attempts at field goals.

For the Matadors the whole team deserve much credit. The line functioned exceedingly well from end to end except for the fact that they were up against another machine. This baffled them at times. Red Smith was the star tackler of the day. At end Gilbert White was easily a star smearing plays here and there and snatching several passes. He was relieved later in the game by Bill Daily who made one of the greatest tackles of the year. Crump having received a forty yard pass and was gone for a touchdown. Daily catching him on the ten yard line. Miller was a bear on the offense and stopped many Buffalo gains. Woolridge's ability in handling punts was not true to form, he fumbled a few in bad positions, but on the other hand his returns were great and flashy bringing the fans to their feet many times during the game. At half Ernie Wilson was easily the star of

CLUBS SHOULD ARRANGE FOR ANNUAL SPACE

All Clubs and Organizations desiring space in the Annual should see Anna Belle Collins or James Biggers at once and reserve space in the club section. This section is going to be laid out by Dec. 15, and all organizations are required to reserve space by that time. The officials of all clubs and organizations should attend to this matter at once, as it is important, and if neglected, may mean that your club will not be represented in the Annual.

"COME WEST, YOUNG LADY"

"Horce Greely said, 'Go West, young man, go west.'"
In this manner, many discourses have been begun. Some interesting and practical, some long and boring; but all attempting to paraphrase an interpret the meaning of the expression.

The Texas Tech has made it possible to produce a parody of even this worthy advise, and the cry that is going out from the institution at this particular time is, "Come west, young lady, come west."

When provision was made for the establishment of the Texas Technological college, and even until the institution was formally opened, the idea was prevalent that the school of technology was for men only. It was due to this fact that the college opened its doors with the unusually large enrollment comprised largely of boys. And it is said that the boys are responsible for this entreaty addressed to the young women of the country, but however true it may be, they are meeting with the co-operation of the institution as a whole. Directly after the opening of the Tech, an article was sent out by the College of Home Economics to some of the state publications, setting forth the preparation that had been made for the teaching of home arts, and the encouragement the young women were receiving to enroll in this school. The College of Home Economics has recently organized a club with this matter of greater advertising the inducements offered to women as one of its chief objectives. It is now evident that the earnest petition this department is offering will bring more women to the Tech. This will be true even in the second term.

WHAT A MAN LOSES IN GOING TO COLLEGE

There has been so much said about the advantages of College Education that it is very seldom that one says anything about the disadvantages of College life. Some years ago Floyd Davenport one of America's greatest feature writers wrote on What A Man Loses in Going to College. This article was a revelation to many people.

According to Davenport a man lost four years of business associations; during these four years he usually busied himself with an artificial life losing sight of the fact that he was going to college in order to become a more useful citizen. The four years were usually spent in very little study, almost no outside reading and no regard for the current happenings of the world about him. Davenport had it that the person out of college must of necessity take note of these happenings in order to get a living. Whether this view is true or not is of course up to the individual student.

During the last month or so various college officials have bewailed the fact that students are mostly in school because they are assured a good time. The athletic side of college is overstressed and very little notice given to the academic phrase of college life.

Dr. Howell the President of Harvard regrets that so many students regard their school work as a chore to be done as quickly as possible, after which the frolic comes.

We as students of the Texas Tech, a new school without hide bound precedents, must place importance on the cultural side of our college life for after all it is for that, that we are here.

STUDENT CHARACTER

"He tried each art, reproved each dull delay, Allured to brighter worlds and led the way."
It has been pointed out by men not in sympathy with college training on almost every possible occasion that college work is not profitable to the state, that the state is not justified in appropriating large sums of money to carry on this kind of work. Some of these men are sincere in their belief, but they have been unable to calculate college benefits except in terms of dollars and cents.

Character and leadership, but especially character, are the things most valuable to the state. If a college is composed of students who are unable to forego their own pleasures, their own likes or dislikes for the good of the college as a whole, who are unable to cooperate with those in authority; that college is unprofitable to the state for it's students have not the most essential thing—character. They cannot allure to brighter worlds and lead the way. They do not know that there are brighter worlds.

"Nothing worth having normally comes unless there is willingness to pay for it; and perhaps the highest good that comes from training of the kind which you get in school or college is not merely training of the body, not merely training of the mind, but the training of what counts far more than body, more than mind—the training of character, especially in the two ways of giving you the proper perspective (so that you may see what are the important and what the unimportant things), and of giving you the type of soul which will make you willing to strive, and to pay the necessary penalty for achieving the things that are really worth while."—Theodore Roosevelt.

Tech Will Have Winning Stock Judging Teams

Mr. Stangel is planning to send a livestock judging team from the Tech to the Fort Worth Livestock Show next Spring. It is said, The Department of Animal Husbandry of the Tech has been somewhat handicapped thus far in having no stock of its own and has had to carry classes out into the country for that purpose. However, as soon as the college stock is purchased real work in judging will begin.

Mr. Stangel, before coming to the Tech was connected with the A & M College. The livestock judging team which he was largely responsible in forming has recently taken some high honors.

The team which consists of S. A. Debnam of Lamesa, J. G. Gillaspie, Coleman; Jack Idol, Coleman; W. M. Pinson, Korney; D. G. Talbert, Fort Worth; and Jeff Turner, Hillsboro, represented the A & M College at the American Royal Livestock Show at Kansas City on Nov. 14 and won first place after competing with eleven other states. It represented the A & M College at the Fort Worth Livestock Show and at Oklahoma City in March 1925 and carried first place at both contests. The same team will meet twenty other state teams in the International Livestock Show at Chicago November 28. Mr. Stangel is making plans to attend this show.

Prof. Stangel will make an effort to produce a team of this standing from the students in the department of Animal Husbandry in the Tech.

The whole game. He gained on nearly every play and showed superiority in handling passes. He stopped the Buffs in their tracks many times with a "Bliff" which sent a few of them to the sidelines. He returned one kick-off for a good gain and would have been gone for a touchdown had he not had interference. Gene Alford outdistanced his man on punts getting several well over fifty yards. He was also on the starting end of some good passes, either Bill or White receiving. The entire team covered themselves with glory and have accomplished much on their first season at Texas Tech. Coaches Freeland and Higginbotham are two of the best coaches in the State of Texas and great things are expected of them in the future. (From one of the Resents.)

The score shows a tight game but Canyon got several good breaks of the game and took advantage of them readily. The first quarter the Matadors outplayed the Buffaloes making the first score in less than ten minutes. The Teachers came back fighting and scored from the field and the quarter ended Tech 6, Canyon 3. In the second period punts were exchanged readily and the Tech gained on these until they got in scoring distance of the goal. Woodbridge on an off-tackle play was neatly downed by a Buff but slipped through his arms and scrambled through the entire team for a touchdown. Gene kicked goal. Score Tech 13, Canyon 9.

During the halves the students of both schools put on clever stunts and the bull mascot was brought out for a Canyon student to ride. No attempt was made and he was carried back to his stall to wait another year. He will be much harder next year as Matadors and bulls do grow.

The third quarter opened with a bang and the Tech started down the field once more, Bernie returning the kick-off for 40 yards. They got in scoring distance and tried a field goal but failed. Canyon then punted out of danger. Tech pass was intercepted by Canyon and another field goal was kicked by Gamel. Score 13, Canyon 12. The last quarter was a battle from start to finish with Canyon having the edge. Passes were attempted by both teams but none were completed for any long gains. The game ended with the score, Tech 13, Canyon 12.

Cadet's Commissions Will Be Approved

Lieut. Killin announces that the Cadet Commissions and warrants are being planned, and that they will be submitted to the President's office for approval about the first of January. With the election of sponsors this week the organization of the Tech corps is practically complete and the work is progressing nicely. Announcements have been made of the regulation of uniforms.

NOT DUMB BUT DUMBER

Shortly after the gum-bound train had gathered its many passengers into its fold it proceeded on its way, Frank, thankful that there were no more trains to save that day wended, his weary way cityward. Upon approaching the harness menders he was astounded to find that the price for having the strap mended had already been paid by one of the grateful passengers; so being a truly virtuous lad he repaired the rear of Kelly's Pool room, for all this did not happen in Texas and Pool rooms were considered quite the thing. No Kelly had plenty of money he did not have to get Frank to fix it up for him. What's that? Oh! I said that Frank repaired to this holy spot—not that he repaired it. Well anyway that is where Frank went and as was his wont he began to shoot craps. Of course my children I don't want you to ever shoot the little craps for they have as much right to live as any of you.

Once safely in the rear of the Pool room Frank speedily lost his money for he was something of a socialist and did not believe in anyone keeping anything that they did not earn with their own hands. Noble lad, Frank.

Just about this time a stranger approached Frank an amiable overtures to him. Frank resented this as he never let anyone not even I make ugly faces at him so he promptly bit the stranger. You must remember what I told you about Frank's teeth for they came in handy as teeth often do. After wrenching himself loose, Not Frank, the stranger, he presented our hero with a card which ran like this: No I don't mean the strange ran I mean that the card read like this
J. Doleful Mortician

Frank shot the stranger a questioning glance. But such was the icyness of that shot that the stranger recovered, saying:

"My lad—You did noble work today and to show my appreciation I shall be delighted to do any work in your life at wholesale rates."

"Thanks" quickly replied our noble hero, but that is the last thing I will do around here, give you a job, Faugh Man Faugh."

I never quite understood that speech but if Frank said it it must have been alright. The strap secured the gentle reader will be relieved to learn that our pleasant hero began his journey home, but thinking that the Saloon was near the Post Office, he might as well kill a bird in the bush and keep the blood off of his hand so he proceeded to the government building. You know the one; it always has three balls over the door.

While on his way to visit the Irishman who ran the store he encountered the Village bully, one, Clifford Ambright who was bright with a vivid necktie even more vivid than one he wore the last time I saw him. Clifford sneered in that particularly pleasing way that all villains sneer and slapped our trusty youth down. Nothing daunted Frank. He immediately got up and smote the wicked Clifford a stunning blow on the wrist with the stirring battle cry:

"I'll harm you Sir, I'll harm you." And who of the patient readers will be dismayed to learn that harm he did, for that was his way.

I would like to tell you more of our hero but it would be difficult to do so for he is now busy trouncing the disdainful Clifford and has no time to give details, so I guess I will have to wait until next time.

GOING! GOING! GONE!

The next morning, The King asked about Lord Herpicide. "Your Majesty," replied the Royal Stable Master, "he is still in the lions den, but he had a package of Chesterfields with him and they satisfy the lions, and he has so far escaped unhurt."

"Bring him before me again," roared the King. And Lord Herpicide was again brought before the King. "What Ho" said the King. "Bung Hole," again replied the Lord. "Let us talk upon other subjects," said the King.

"Upon what subject?" asked Lord Herpicide.

"Let us talk of wild, wild women!" said the King.

"How is your royal wife, The Queen this morning?" asked Lord Herpicide.

"Ah, she is in the royal conservatory," replied the King.

"And has she plenty of music," asked the King.

"Yea, verily," answered the King. "Ten thousand of the finest symphonies in the Kingdom."

"This well," replied Lord Herpicide. "I would never do for the fairest voice in merry old England to warble a bar-room ballad."

This pleased the King very much. So descending from his throne, he ordered his attendants to bring Lord Herpicide a drink of the finest Cardui in the land. But Lord Herpicide refused it.

"What?" roared the King. "You refuse to drink with the king of all Hallitosis."

"Most mighty King," replied Lord Herpicide, "I promised the president of my school I would never touch liquids in any form."

"Throw him into the royal dungeon!" roared the King.

"But Your Most Royal Honor" whispered one of the privy councillors.

"Hallitosis will revolt if you do this!"

"To with Hallitosis!" roared the King; and all Hallitosis went home to change shirts, it being very bad manner to go to ----- with a dirty shirt on, in those days.

At this moment there came a diversion. Lady Dandeline who had silently been polishing her false teeth and behaving like a perfect lady, leaped to her feet. Waving her wooden leg, baring her glass eye, wiggling her finger, wrinkling her paraffine nose, and throwing out her cedar chest, she strode up to the King. Looking him straight in the eye, she said slowly and distinctly:

"Aw, go stare at a Star-fish."

The silence that followed was oppressive. No one dared breathe. It was all so surprising. What could it all mean?

SPANISH CLUB SELECTS NAME

At a regular meeting of the Spanish Club Tuesday afternoon, the name "LaCapey Espada" was selected as the most suitable name for club composed entirely of students interested in Spanish. "The Cape and the Sword" signifies a kind of dress formerly worn in Spain and is almost typical of Spanish chivalry.

The club voted to have a full page in the college year book and every member was urged to have his or her picture made as soon as possible. The following new members were admitted: Edna Younge, Mildred Johnson, Viola Morgan, Mrs. Buckner, Irene McFarland and Reva Newsoce.

The next meeting which will be held in the home of the President Horn on Friday evening, Dec. 4, will be the first real study meeting of the club. A very interesting Spanish program is planned and all conversation and the program will be in Spanish. Dr. Horn and several other members of the faculty have manifested unusual interest in the club and under their sponsorship the members hope to make this club not only the most popular but also the most instructive in the college.

Dr. Horn addressed the teachers of the Public Schools of Lubbock Tuesday at the High School building. He spoke on "The Making of a Teacher" which was much enjoyed by all present.

tain, and this social gathering was greatly appreciated. Just at the close someone's curiosity got the better of him, and the envelope given them earlier in the evening was found to contain merely a card on which was written: "Curiosity killed a cat."

Dr. Pfeleger Is Host At Unusual Entertainment

On last Thursday evening, Dr. Pfeleger was host to a small number of the faculty members and a few students of his classes, at the Benson home, where Dr. Pfeleger resides.

Guests were presented, when they arrived with a small envelope bearing the inscription "Do not open until requested," and the guests made some very amusing attempts to ascertain what the object might be.

When the assembly was complete, Dr. Pfeleger started the fun by announcing a game which was well received and hugely enjoyed.

After the merriment had subsided, special features of the program, consisting of talks about different countries, were presented. Miss Horn gave a short but interesting discourse about Paris, where she has spent some time.

Mrs. Gates gave a historical resume of Brazil; and Dr. Pfeleger entertained the assembled guests with an illustrated talk about Germany, in which country he spent several years.

Copies of French and German songs were distributed and the more serious nature of the entertainment was turned into a lighter vein when the songs were sung, or rather attempted.

Refreshments were served, after partners had been chosen in a novel manner, after which an interesting informal inspection of several works of art possessed by Dr. Pfeleger was made. The entertainment of the evening came to a close at a late hour, and each of the twenty people present declared the evening a success.

Dr. Pfeleger is an excellent entertainer.

Mrs. Granbery Speaks To History Class Thursday

Mrs. Granbery entertained delightfully the History Class of Miss Boone's and an English class during the ten o'clock hour Friday morning.

Her lecture was about present day Greece; but she touched several times on the relationships between older times and the present day. Having been actively engaged in Y. M. C. A. work during the war, with Dr. Granbury, and having gained first hand knowledge of customs and practices of the country, her talk was accurate, her descriptions excellent, and the whole story of real interest.

A number of pictures of points of interest in Greece, especially in Athens, were passed for inspection, and helped to convey, in a measure, the real beauty of the country as described by Mrs. Granbury. Mrs. Dehoney wore, during the lecture, a dress of the style worn by Grecian ladies of the present day; and Mrs. Granbury has several other interesting exhibits for the class.

Members of both classes expressed their appreciation of the lecture, and thank Mrs. Granbury for her courtesy.

FIRST PAYMENT OF PLEDGES IS DUE NEXT WEEK

Many inquiries have been made concerning the payment and the place of payment of the pledges to the Athletic Fund, in response to which the managers of the campaign have given out the information that all payments will be made to the office of the business manager, R. M. Chittwood. Those who made their pledges due the first of December are urged to make the payments some time next week, as the committee is in need of funds to buy basket ball equipment. The co-operation of the students in this matter will be highly appreciated.

Chairman Prison Survey Committee Addresses Class

The Sociology class was favored with a most appropriate talk last Tuesday by Mrs. Elizabeth Speer, the Chairman of the Texas Prison Survey Committee. This Committee has taken upon itself the physical and mental examination of all the inmates of the state Prisons. Mrs. Speer informed the class that there was no segregation of sick and well prisoners; nor were the mentally incapable given any treatment whatsoever. The Committee has been instrumental in placing before the public a wealth of information as to just how badly the state penitentiaries are run. It is to be hoped that the Legislature will deem it advisable to follow all suggestions made by the Committee and re-locate the prison camps for as Mrs. Speer said there cannot be anything save the present slanted system remains a social and economic loss as long as in force.

During the afternoon Mrs. Speer addressed a body of select and representative voters at the Chamber of Commerce rooms and aroused them over the utterly intolerable conditions existing.

Mrs. Spears, Secretary of the State Prison Reform Commission spoke to members of Dr. Granbery's classes on Tuesday. Her talk was concerned principally with conditions in Texas Prisons.

Prof. Chas. B. Mahoney and wife have moved to the home of Dr. J. G. Granbery.

Dean Gordon and family spent the Thanksgiving holidays in Albany visiting with his brother.

Miss Horn Tells English Class of Travels Abroad

Friday, November 15, one of the Sophomore English Classes, section 231-2 had the pleasure of being entertained by a talk given by Miss Ruth Horn on the foreign countries in which she visited the past summer.

After hearing this talk, one would certainly feel that he had spent a pleasant visit in London and Paris. One could not have listened to her talk without having a great desire to see London, with all its inexpressible beauties and interests.

A visit to foreign countries would certainly be valuable and worthwhile for every one, if we were the "keen" observer that Miss Horn is, and would bring back the same knowledge for those that are unable to go.

Interest Is Shown In "Y" Work; Joint Meeting Sunday

The first regular meeting of the recently organized Y. M. C. A. was held last Sunday afternoon in 305, with some forty young men present.

The meeting was opened with a prayer by Dr. Read, after which Eugene Jordan, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Y, called the business session to order, with Ned Camp acting secretary. Business or preliminary organization was called for, and the matter of dues, entrance fees, and other finance was discussed, pro and con. It was decided, by unanimous vote, that no fees would be required for membership, and no set dues would be charged for membership. Assessments called by the chair will be made from time to time as occasions arise.

Sunday afternoons, in the Room 305, at 3 P. M. The first exception to this ruling, however, will be in the form of a special meeting next Sunday, (tomorrow afternoon), when a joint meeting of the Y. M. and the Y. W. will be held, commemorating Thanksgiving.

Mr. Calvert reported for the committee on finance, in regard to the possibility of getting a regular paid secretary for Tech. This will cost approximately twenty-five hundred dollars a year, but taking into consideration the resources from which the organization might draw, this sum is not quite so large as at first seems.

Richard Cavett gave a short talk on the aims of our Y, and pointed out several features of the work which we might do well to accomplish.

A program committee was appointed by the chair to see about the program for tomorrow's meeting, and from reports prevalent now, it seems that the committee has functioned very well, and a mighty interesting, appropriate service has been prepared.

Mr. Jordan explained the action which had been taken in regard to officers for the organization. At the suggestion of Dr. Read, no definite steps have been taken toward electing permanent officers, but this will be done at the beginning of the next term. From the committee which first met some weeks ago for the very first "beginning" of the organization, Dr. Read selected Mr. Jordan, Ned Camp, and Richard Cavett to act as the executive committee until the time when officers should be elected.

More than one branch of the Y work has already been started, and the basket-ball squad of the chapter is already working out. The whole bunch is a live one, full of pep, and going to put the Y. M. C. A. on the map of the Texas Tech in a way which will make it really worth while to be connected with.

COLLEGE INN COL YUM

The Los Picadores royally entertained the College Inn belles with an informal party Saturday evening, Nov. 21, at Cheri Casa. The rooms were beautifully decorated in red and black and with cut flowers. Games of various kinds were enjoyed throughout the evening. In progressive bunco Miss Hene McFarlane and Mr. Ransome King won high, receiving a box of "candy" and Miss Alene Bartley and Mr. Jack Bond low, being consoled with a bar of soap.

During the evening the party was favored with music, furnished by "Don Blue and Collins" orchestra. Delicious refreshments, with which the color scheme was tactfully carried out, concluded the pleasure of the evening.

The College Inn girls departed declaring the Cheri Casa boys royal hosts and hope they will express their hospitality again soon.

We intend expressing our appreciation by entertaining the Los Picadores at College Inn some time in the future.

College Inn celebrated Thanksgiving with a one o'clock dinner. Mrs. Stude-man acted as toast master and toasts were made by Mrs. Mary Doak, dean of women, Brother Doak, pastor of the Methodist Church, Misses Lucile Loyd and Ruth Pirtle, who were guests of honor. The party had a Thanksgiving spirit, each one expressing many things which they are thankful for. Especially are we thankful to be students of "Tech", to be associated with such a wonderful bunch of fellow class mates and for our kind and motherly dean and matron.

The following girls spent Thanksgiving at home, Edna Yonge, Sweetwater; Lara Wasson, Snyder; Ruth Officer, Turkey; Margaret Hiner, Farwell; Hene McFarlane, Friona; Inez Medlock, Wolfert.

Among a shower of tears and broken hearts College Inn girls watched their Cheri Casa brothers stress "the hit of the season" by opening Cheri Casa in royal manner, Thanksgiving evening. It was not date night for the C. I. C. girls and there was nothing to do but watch, wait, weep and wail.

Oh! where, Oh! where Oh! where, Oh! where; OH! Where have our serenaders gone. It has been more than a week since we have heard the familiar strum of the uke and wail of the clarinet and the melodious sound of masculine voices. Won't you come back and favor us again.

He (trying to pick her up): That fellow bet me a dollar that I didn't have the nerve to speak to you. You don't mind, do you?

Francis: Not at all. Run along and get your dollar.

Dennis: "What did Longfellow mean when he wrote, 'Tell me not in mournful numbers'?"

Edith: "He must have been riding in a taxi."

Porter: "This train goes to Snyder and points east."

Punk: "I don't care. I want a train for Snyder and don't care which way it points."

Dr. Pfeleger Will Direct Play For Sock And Buskin

The regular meeting of the Sock and Buskin Club was held Tuesday evening for both business and recreation. Meeting was opened by roll call, after which the question was brought up by the President as to whether or not membership in the Club should remain closed, even with the dropping from the roll of several members. By vote, it was decided to allow enough members to come in to keep the membership up.

"Barbara, the play of the evening, was under the direction of Audrey Phillips. The cast was as follows: "Barbara," Fern Ramp; "Cecil Norton," C. A. Holcomb; "Dr. Finnickum," Gervin Cummins; and "Lily," Audrey Phillips.

The play was well presented, before a comparatively large percentage of members of the club.

Miss Ramp played excellently in the star role, and gave to the play quite a bit of its success. In fact, each one of the quartette did quite well. The action, especially at first, was

WHAT DOES HE EAT?

When asked, on his death bed, to forgive his enemies, a Spanish despot of the Middle Ages replied, "I have no enemies. I have killed them all."

And now in a supposedly more enlightened age Premier Mussolini, dictator of all Italy, boasts, "Today, Fascismo is the only live force in Italy." Is the world to infer that Mussolini and the Fascist have killed all other forces in Italy?

Evidently the "only live force" is hungry for new walls upon which to test its strength. But in its thirst for more powers it betrays its fear of political rivalry. From the present Roman parliament Mussolini asks that he be made responsible to the king only, instead of to king and parliament as at present, and that the authority be vested in him to expatriate and confiscate the property of those who criticize the Italian government, whether the criticism be made on Italian soil or less blessed ground.

Main Street in the U. S. A. is to be gagged with Via Garibaldi, Rome. If the wishes of the Italian dictator are carried out by his "putty parliament" citizens of Italy living in this country will be placed in the paradoxical position of being deprived, by their mother country, of that freedom of speech given them by their foster country.

In one sentence Italy's premier speaks contemptuously of the "half dozen fools" who have rebelled against his dictatorship, and grandiloquently boasts that "this century must be, as we have always termed it, the century of Italian power."

Must Mussolini learn by actual experience, as the last of the German emperors did, that worlds are no longer conquerable by the methods of Caesar and Napoleon?

Those high school girls that were starving themselves to death to get stylish figures evidently had not learned that reasonable plumpness will again be admitted to the best circles. —Indianapolis Star.
