Vets' Insurance May Be Renewed

Veterans desiring to reinstate their National Service Life Insurance may still do so, stated Veterans Administration officials.

Some veterans are under the impression they can no longer obtain this government insurance. World War II veterans who can pass a physical examination may reinstate their lapsed insurance at any time.

The deadline for reinstating NSLI without a physical examination was July 31, 1948, Veterans Administration said. Prior to this deadline, a veteran could reinstate lapsed insurance by certifying that his health was as good as it was when the policy lapsed. This deadline confused some veterans who feel that they cannot reinstate lapsed insurance since the deadline is passed. That is not correct, VA said.

Veterans may reinstate their insurance at any time by passing a physical examination. If the policy has lapsed less than three months, it still can be reinstated without taking a physical examination, emphasized Veterans Administration officials.

Students To Be Admitted Free At Fair Friday

Tech day at the Panhandle-South Plains fair will be Friday, Oct. 1, when Tech students will be admitted at the gate upon presentation of their library cards and payment of the federal tax. The fair will open on Sept. 27 and continue through Oct. 2.

It is reported that this year's fair will be the biggest and the best in Panhandle-South Plains history. Featured will be the "Queen for a Day" on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday sponsored by the Lions Clubs of this region and Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus on Wednesday afternoon and night.

Night-time attractions will feature music, stage acts and an array of "aquabells" from the Water Folies of 1948. On the midway every afternoon and night will be Forsythe & Davis rides, shows and concessions. They will present twice daily Sheldon, the Stratosphere Man in the world's highest aerial act.

The fair is being sponsored by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

Intramural Sports To Get Underway

Intramural sports will get underway as soon as athletic facilities are available. George Philbrick, director of intramural sports, announced Wednesday. Those persons interested in participating should follow The Toreador for a release of the beginning dates of each event.

Fall sports will consist of touch football, basketball, and an intramural tennis, fencing, bowling and handball tournament. In the winter, basketball, volleyball and speedball will be on the schedule with softball, golf and an intramural track and field day rounding out the year's program.

All persons are eligible to participate who have not lettered in their particular sport in this college or in any institution as large or larger than this college. Any person eligible and wishing to engage in any of the above sports may contact Philbrick in the college gym.

Professor Warns Of Critical Milk Shortage At Tech, City

"Don't be too hard on your dorm dietitian if you don't get all the milk you want. The milk situation promises to get worse on the campus at Texas Tech, in Lubbock and over the nation generally."

This warning was issued by Dr. J. J. Willingham, professor and acting chairman of dairy manufacturers in answer to urgent requests from consumers and bottlers for "more milk."

Reception Given By Faculty Club For President

Pres. and Mrs. D. M. Wiggins and Mrs. E. N. Jones were honored at 8 p. m. Wednesday with a formal reception given at Drane Hall by the Faculty club. Invitations were extended to officials, the faculty and friends of the college.

The receiving line was composed of President and Mrs. Wiggins, Vice President and Mrs. Jones, S. M. Kennedy, Jr., president of the Faculty club, and William Whitington, vice president of the Faculty club.

The table, which was arranged by Miss Mozelle Craddock, featured a centerpiece of red roses. Those serving punch were Miss Margaret Walker, dean of women; Mesdames R. C. Goodwin, W. L. Stangel, Haskell Taylor, O. V. Adams, W. C. Holden, and J. G. Allen. Miss Kate Rogers presided at the guest books which were presented to Mrs. Wiggins and Mrs. Jones.

Approximately 600 guests attended during the evening.

Knowles Is First Woman E. E. Grad

Irene Knowles, former Tech student from Tulsa, Texas, is the first woman to receive a degree in electrical engineering from Texas Tech. Miss Knowles graduated last June and is now the first woman electrical engineer to be employed by Texas Electric Service company.

"She's a good engineer," O. S. Hockaday, transmission supervisor, said, "and she brightens up the place."

Miss Knowles works with R. A. Lerner, meter and relay engineer, in the transmission division of the company's power department.

Evening Classes In Engineering Are Scheduled

Night sections have been opened in civil, mechanical and industrial engineering to relieve some of the pressure occasioned by the shortage of instructors and classrooms.

Dean Adams, head of the Engineering Department said Monday.

Adams expressed the opinion that the situation is not as critical as it might seem in that the engineering department has been fortunate in procuring the services of a number of new part-time teachers to instruct these additional sections. The majority of these newly-acquired staff members served in the Armed Forces, many of them as instructors in engineering, and in this manner gained much self-reliance and experience necessary to the teaching profession.

Crowded conditions due to the influx of veterans following the recent war still prevail in engineering departments, although there was a 15 per cent decrease in freshman engineering enrollments this fall.

Explosive Family Is Portrayed By Tech Students In Theater Play

By JULIA ANN SHORT
Toreador Staff Writer

Exploding firecrackers, an exiled duchess from Russia, a snake collection and a drunken actress all make up the zany life of the Sycamore family whose motto is "live and let live."

If you think your family leads a haphazard life, then take a seat among those who are going to see "You Can't Take It With You," a play presented by the Lubbock Little Theatre at 8 p. m. October 4 in the High school auditorium.

The cast, director, and props men are made up almost entirely of Tech students, grads and teachers, who strangely enough are acting just for the fun of it.

The cast includes an architecture student, Bill Thurman, in the romantic lead of Tony Kirby; Jeanetta Lewis, a speech sophomore, is Alice Sycamore with whom Tony is enamored.

Richard Paul Kelsky, a chemistry junior, is Ed Carmichael, the dean of arts and sciences.

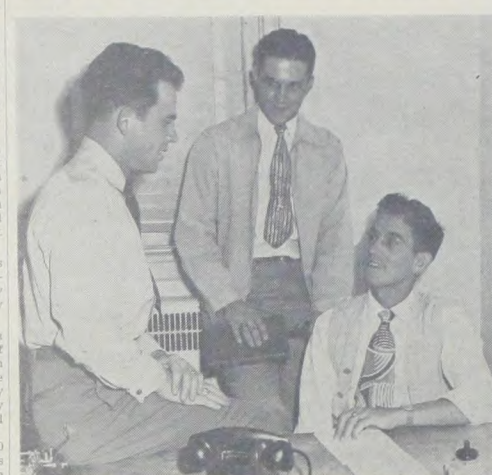

Application form and a bulletin of information, as well as sample questions, are available from the ETS, Box 592, Princeton, N. J.

Chamber Of Commerce Talent Show To Be Biggest Given Yet

Preparations for Tech's annual talent show, to be held Oct. 14th, were made at the first meeting of the Tech chamber of commerce here, Thursday night.

"This year's show should be the biggest and best in Tech's history," stated Oscar Allen, TCC president. Composed of approximately 20 members, the program will include singing, dancing, tumbling and comedy skits. All persons who wish to participate in the show should contact Alice Bell, in the veterans coordinators office. The first rehearsal will be held at 7:30 p. m., Tuesday, Chemistry 101.

Haskell G. Taylor, assistant professor of accounting and finance, was elected TCC sponsor, and President Wiggins will be invited to be honorary sponsor.

The Lion's club minstrel show, "Howdy week", and a TCC membership drive were also planned for what Allen predicted would be the busiest year for the chamber of commerce.

As part of a membership drive to begin Monday, the talent show will be free to all those who join the TCC, and all those who buy tickets for the talent show will be given free membership to the chamber of commerce.

One of the outstanding purposes of the organization this year will be to raise enough money to repay the student council the money which the chamber of commerce used last year to produce the all college technicolor moving picture.

There will be a meeting of representatives from all college clubs with the TCC at 4 p. m., Tuesday in the Recreation hall. Each club on the campus is asked to send one representative to the meeting.

Inauguration Of Dr. Wiggins On Agenda Of Board

Plans for inauguration of Dr. D. M. Wiggins as the fifth president of Tech is one of the features on the agenda of the Board of Directors as they meet in San Antonio today before the Tech-Texas A&M game. It will be the first session of the Board since Dr. Wiggins became president.

Items for consideration other than the inauguration include approval of numerous faculty appointments including the creation of a new professorship in the Division of Agriculture, and various improvements on the campus suggested by Dr. Wiggins.

Additions Made To Bookstore, Complete Nov. 1

Office and stock room space in the Texas Tech bookstore has been doubled stated W. C. Cole, bookstore manager. The $30,000 enlargement was begun last February and will be completed about Nov. 1. Cole says that the new section was occupied Sept. 1, but all of the new fixtures have not arrived.

According to Cole, Tech will have one of the nicest college bookstores in the country when it is completed. He said that salesmen who call on bookstores of all large colleges have told him that this will be one of the best.

Cole said that he could now get ten clerks behind the counter for text books instead of the usual four. The bookstore now employs 28 people including five Tech students. Before remodeling, there were 21 employees.

Wiggins To Speak At Exes Reunion

A luncheon honoring Dr. D. M. Wiggins, the board of directors of the college and the coaches is to be given at 12:15 p. m. today in the Cascade Terrace of the St. Anthony hotel in San Antonio, according to officials of the Alumni and Ex-Students' association.

The luncheon is a feature of the reunion of ex-students of Tech attending the Tech-A&M football game tonight. After the luncheon, an open house will be held in the Victory room of the Gunter hotel until time for the game.

"Howdy Party" To Be Given By Home Economics Girls

Tech Artist course student tickets for the fall semester are still on sale and may be purchased from 9 to 12 a. m. daily, Monday through Saturday in room 209 of the Press building. R. A. Mills, artist course sponsor, announced Thursday.

Tickets for non-college adults, high school and grade school students will go on sale at the B. E. Adair Music Co., 1012 Main, beginning Sept. 27. Single admission for all non-college customers, both adult and school children will be $1.50. Season tickets for Tech students are $1.80.

Sherrod, Winston, Riley, Oliver Bid For Appointment

Four girls have responded to date to the appeal of the student council for candidates to fill the office of head cheer leader, Clint Formby, student council president, has announced.

Petitions have been taken out by Jan Riley, junior business student from Wichita Falls; Anita Oliver, senior journalism major from Lamesa; Carol Sherrod, senior journalism major from Lubbock; and Glenna Winston, junior journalism student from Brownfield.

Formby urged that each candidate choose an assistant before Monday so that the leaders can begin practice Tuesday for the SMU game.

The council will meet the applicants and choose the winner from those that are eligible, Formby said. His choice will be announced at the governing association's meeting Monday night, he said.

According to the student constitution, the list of applicants must be approved by the Double T association before the council selects the head cheer leader, Formby explained.

The student president emphasized that any girl meeting the requirements of any campus wide selection is eligible for selection. Petitions must be signed by five per cent of the student body and returned to the council office in room 323 by 4 p. m. today, he said.

Formby said that the student council had moved to fill the vacancy in order to save the time required for a student election and to give the new recruits sufficient time for practice with the boy yell leaders.

Andy Willingham of Rotan is head boy cheer leader. He is assisted by Bobby Lewis of Hale Center and Oscar Allen of Lubbock.

Cates Chairman Of Red Cross For Coming Year

Mary Nell Cates, senior arts and sciences student, has been appointed the chairman for the Texas Tech Chapter of the American Red Cross for the coming year. Miss Cates will appoint her unit committee chairman at a meeting to be held Wednesday. The time and place of the meeting has not yet been set.

Red Cross activities planned for Tech this year are participation in the Lubbock County Blood Bank; instructing first aid on the campus and water activities, Mrs. J. H. Stiles, Lubbock County Chairman said Thursday.

At a meeting held at the college cafeteria Tuesday Miss Loraine Jacquemin of the St. Louis Midwest area office, and who is in charge of the college activities in the Southwest, was the guest of honor. Others attending the luncheon were: Mrs. Stiles; Floyd Recton; Ed Wilson; James G. Allen, Dean of Men; Lew Jones, assistant Dean of Men; Mrs. Dick Richards, assistant professor of physical education; Bob Edwards; and Miss Cates. Only persons actively engaged in Red Cross activity and ex-board members were at the luncheon.

Jones was selected as the faculty sponsor for the coming year.

Mary Nell Cates attended a National Red Cross aquatic school this summer in Oconomowoc, Wis., and was an instructor in swimming and life saving here earlier this summer.

Get Into The Harness...

An opportunity for the working man who would like to roll up his sleeves and get into the middle of campus affairs is open today in the Tech Chamber of Commerce.

In reality, the Chamber of Commerce, as a potential force for the good of Texas Tech, should receive no more consideration than some of the other organizations that have spent so much time working for the school. These organizations fully deserve our praise and cooperation, but it seems to us that the TCC occupies a position peculiar to most of them. In its campus-wide capacity it gives good men, bypassed or forgotten by other organizations in the onward rush, a chance to find a place to work.

In its ability to absorb school spirited individuals from the whole of the student body lies the strength of the Chamber of Commerce. Given the proper support, it contains unlimited potential for the good of Tech. For the individual who has no organizational home on the campus, it offers a great deal of work and the compensation of self satisfaction in a job well done.

We like the TCC because it stands and works for Texas Tech and Techsians. Like work in other service organizations, a stretch in the harness of the TCC will provide good grooming for leadership in campus affairs. If you have the urge to become a vital part of the life of Texas Tech, the TCC is the place for you. We are not recommending it above the other campus organizations, but it is a good place for the talents of a man who wants to do a job.

Dr. Alan Gunn Is Program Chairman Of English Meeting

Dr. Alan M. F. Gunn, associate professor of English at Tech, will serve as program chairman of the "workshop-conferences" for high school and college English teachers in the South Plains district, scheduled for Oct. 22 and 23 at Lubbock Senior High school.

The "workshops" are designed to integrate teaching of English on high schools and college levels. Plans for the district conferences were completed in a recent state meeting held at Texas A&M, sponsored by Texas State Conference of College Teachers of English and the English section of Texas State Teachers association. Doctor Gunn represented the South Plains district at College Station.

There will be three sessions of the conference: Friday at 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m., Saturday at 9 a.m. Some of the practical problems to be discussed are: Duplication of high school work in college; methods of teaching composition—the assignment, structure, and correction of themes; problems in teaching grammar, spelling, and punctuation; aims and methods in teaching literature; and the improvement of reading comprehension.

A membership fee of $1 will be charged to each member of the conference. Purpose of the workshops is "to promote a better understanding of common problems and a more effective integration of teaching between high schools and colleges," stated Doctor Gunn.

Members of the District IV English committee are: Miss Glenys Honey, Lubbock Senior High school, general chairman; Miss Quannah Lewis, English instructor, Texas Tech, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. J. B. Caldwell, Slaton High school; Mrs. Nils Ackeson, Plainview High school; and Mrs. Vada Bain Hall, Howard County Junior college, Big Spring.

The engagement of Miss Mary Eva Roe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Campbell of Anton, to Mr. Walter Hobgood, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hobgood also of Anton, has been announced.

The couple are students at Tech and have set no definite date for their wedding.

Costa Ricans Find Refuge From Revolution At Tech

By PUNK HORN
 Toreador Staff Writer

Revolutions are complicated affairs. Two Tech students bear out this fact quite well. Tech student Guido Rodriguez fought against the government in the Costa Rica revolt which began March 5. Rodriguez served as a lieutenant. Tech-san Jack Bonillas favored the other side, but was unable to fight for the government because of his service as a United States paratrooper during World War II.

Early in the uprising Rodriguez joined sabotage troops organized to disrupt government transportation and communications. "I was almost captured by the police before I left my hometown of Alajuela," said Rodriguez. "Armed police demanded that I leave my hiding place in a hedgerow, which offered momentary shelter, or be shot. Doubtful about the number of men who might be hiding behind the hedge, the police waited until nightfall, when I escaped in the darkness."

Rodriguez and four of his brothers later fought with organized revolutionary forces. "My people had long hated the government, but Congress' declaration that the election of a month before was a fraud brought the people up in arms against a regime dominated by Communists and corrupted in many ways."

Bonillas, who left the country at his father's request before the actual fighting, which lasted six weeks, stated: "My father resigned his government position long before the revolution broke out because of Communist influences which he resented strongly."

According to Rodriguez, propaganda played a part in the strategy of confusing government forces. "Over the radio we announced attacks on positions which we did not intend to attack. When they rushed to these, our forces struck at another place." Most of the fighting was done at close quarters with small arms and make-shift equipment. "Tanks were handmade with sheet metal and concrete turrets over caterpillar tractors," said Rodriguez. As the fighting progressed, revolutionary forces captured Limon, key seaport, and Cartago. Before they were able to capture San Jose, the capitol, government forces surrendered.

The town of Alajuela gave gold medals to all native sons who participated in the war against the government. Rodriguez and two of his brothers received these medals. Two other brothers, from a different town, were captured and jailed for smuggling arms, and were not released until the close of the uprising.

The revolutionists were warned by their commander, Jose Figueres, against plundering and treating prisoners harshly. Still there was delight when Communists were killed outright in the action. "My family and I are happy that the Communists are unseated, but we deeply regret the tactics employed by the revolutionists, said Bonillas. The old leaders fled by plane to Nicaragua after signing documents or armistice to escape trial for their misdeeds in administration of the Costa Rican government. The newly-elected officials staged ceremonious victory parades. Both Rodriguez and Bonillas, who have been companions for some time, are optimistic about the future of Costa Rica.

Hellzapopin Show Set For Tonight

A Hellzapopin show and dance for freshmen will initiate the Recreation hall's fun night program tonight from 8 to 10 o'clock. Troy A. Enis, recreational director, has announced.

Joe Holmes, Lubbock businessman, will direct the hour program. Mr. Holmes majored in physical education and recreation at Texas university and has had sixteen years experience in the recreation field working with church and school groups. During the war, he was Northern Supervisor for the Training Command of the Air Corp.

Ten group activities, which are to remain secret, will make up the show. A juke box will furnish music for the sport dance which will follow the program. This will be the only scheduled Recreation hall event to which students may be admitted without tickets. Mr. Ennis emphasized.

Stine Is Acting College Librarian

Miss Lulu Stine, assistant librarian, will be acting librarian during the absence of A. S. Gaylord, Gaylord, librarian since 1945, left Tech Sept. 1 for the University of California at Berkeley to do graduate study. President D. M. Wiggins has announced.

Gaylord has been granted ten months leave of absence to work on an M. A. degree in History.

Library Has Wide Variety Of Late Periodicals

Students who think the library houses only dusty volumes of ancient vintage should visit the recreational reading section on the third floor of the library. There one is free to browse about at will and select the book of his choice.

Mrs. Pauline Brittain supervises the recreational reading section. Best sellers, both fiction and non-fiction, can be checked out. Newspapers and periodicals are also supplied for recreational reading and old copies are kept in the room on file.

The department has on its shelves most of the books which make up the recent best-seller list compiled by Publisher's Weekly. Two exceptions are Sexual Behavior in the Human Male by A. C. Kinsey and others and The Naked and the Dead by Norman Mailer. These books have not been ordered.

Mrs. Brittain states that the following books of current interest have recently been ordered and should soon be available for students:

The Heart of the Matter, by Graham Greene.
 Melissa, by Taylor Caldwell.
 Tomorrow Will Be Better, by Betty Smith.
 Malabar Farm, by Louis Bromfield.

Dairy Mfg. Club Elects Sponsor

Dr. J. H. Willingham, professor and chairman of dairy manufacturing, was elected sponsor of the departmental club at the first meeting held Monday night. Joe T. Cardwell, instructor, was elected co-sponsor.

The meeting, called to order by Henry Sprouls, new president, discussed homecoming plans, and appointed the following committees: membership: Fred Potts, Jim Reeves, and Harvey T. Smith; social committee: Royce Jackson, Dean Gardner and Milton Peoples; homecoming breakfast committee: Jim Dixon, J. D. Hall and J. E. Caudle; homecoming float: Joe Cardwell, W. H. Plummer, Cloy Weems, and James A. Carver.

New members will be initiated at the next regular meeting.

Like To Dance? Boys, Here Is Your Chance

Are you a good dancer? If you are, the women's P. E. department is not hunting you, but an urgent call has been sent out by Mrs. Margaret Manor Richards for at least 32 boys to take Physical Education 2116. This course is a class in social dancing, and meets twice a week on Wednesday and Friday afternoons at 1 o'clock.

Men students will get credit for this course as they would for taking an ordinary men's physical education course.

So if you can't dance or if you need to improve your dancing, see Mrs. Richards, and change your P. E. course in order to learn all of the dance steps that you and the rest of the class will be able to master.

Red Raiders Take On Favored Aggies In Grid Battle Tonight

Heavy Ag Backs, Massive Line, Will Face The Raiders

Texas Tech's Red Raiders open their grid schedule against Southwest Conference foes tonight at 8 o'clock when they take on the Aggies from A&M in San Antonio at the Alamo Stadium.

The favored Aggies are big and plenty tough. They took on Villanova, one of the strongest teams in the east, last week and held them to a 7-7 tie for the first half of the game. The big eastern team's reserve strength gained them a 31-14 victory in the end. The Farmers possibly gained more experience in their first game than the Raiders. They are going to be hunting their first win of the season and will be laying for the team from the South Plains school.

Coach Polk Robison and Coach Tipp Mooney both were in the stands at Philadelphia last week. They report that the Raiders will be facing a line that will weigh from 190 to 225 pounds. Nor will the Aggie backs be light. Quarter back James Cashion, veteran Aggie and the key man in Coach Harry Stittler's "T" formation, is the lightest man in the starting lineup at 175. At left end will be Wray Whittaker who intercepted an early pass in last week's game and ran it back for a touchdown to give the Aggies a temporary lead. Two other linemen who will give the Red and Black trouble are Odell Statzenberger, right guard who is also known as the "San Antonio Wrecking Company Inc." and big Jim Winkler, left tackle, brother of Bernie Winkler, co-captain of Tech's team last year. Bob Goode, who does the Cadets kicking chores after Stan Hollmig turned professional this summer, will also get the call to action tonight. Goode was the high scorer on the Aggie team last year with 42 points on seven touchdowns.

Coach Robison expressed optimism about the swift backs on the Raider eleven, however. All is far from black and after a week of work like the Raiders have just finished anything could and probably will happen. Tech gained valuable experience last Saturday night in their game with West Texas. The coaches have spent a busy week ironing out the few rough spots that came to their attention in the Buff game. The varsity has really had a rough week of scrimmage. They have worked against the frosh who have been running Aggie plays. Several combinations have been used on offense, one of which had as its backfield Milton Rathbone, transfer from San Angelo, Charlie Reynolds, Zac Henderson and J. W. Thompson. Another Raider who has looked particularly well back the line during the week is Keith Butler from Rising Star.

The squad left yesterday morning by bus for San Antonio. If spirit and determination to win have anything to do with it the Raiders will be hard to beat. They are happy about their victory over HEADACHE—Dan Pursel, 190 pound stalwart in the Red Raider forward line, if his performance against West Texas is any indication, will prove to be a big headache for opposing Aggie forces tonight.

Frosh Football Prospects Good

Prospects for a topnotch football team at Texas Tech for the next few years looked bright as 60 frosh hopefuls were on hand Monday to begin workouts for the 1948 campaign.

Heading the list are: centers, Pat Crawford, Eastland; and Clint Gregory, Bowie; guards, Don Anthony, Amarillo; Rex Pinson, Pal-

West Texas last week and there are no serious injuries reported. The Aggies on the other hand had a rough game last week. There were injuries with back Preston Smith heading the list of doubtful starters. KFYO will carry the game tonight.

SPORTS GRAPEVINE

By The Sports Staff

Certain local sportswriters scored Tech's victory over West Texas State as being unimpressive, and giving no indication that the Raiders will better their last year's record against Southwest conference foes.

It should be noted however, that any team's first game is hardly ever too impressive, especially when it is not fully extended by its opponent. West Texas can be listed among the weakest teams that the Raiders will meet this season. That is not saying the Buffaloes were not a good team, it is saying that Tech has a very rough schedule. Because scouts of future opponents were in the press box Saturday night, Tech used a minimum of plays against West Texas. We might well ask why show off plays that will aid in counters against rougher teams when the game can be won with a few simple ones.

Individually the Raiders looked good to us. Dan Pursel was all over the field offensively and defensively and was the sparkplug of the line while John Andrews showed up well defensively as was indicated by the kick he blocked, scoring a safety for the Raiders. The whole line was good in our opinion with Milburn Haydon, Marshall Gettys and Bobby Williams allowing the Buff ground plays very little yardage. The ends seem to be the weakest part of the line. Kelly and Thompson played hustling ball, however, and were not given a chance to show up on pass snagging since few

Student Tickets For SMU Game Have Been Sold

There are no tickets available at the present time for the S.M.U.-Tech game of October 2, stated Morley Jennings, Athletic Director, late Wednesday afternoon. The quota for this college was from 500 to 600 student tickets and from 500 to 600 non-student tickets. All have been sold.

Southern Methodist will complete their registration September 30, Mr. Jennings said, and if the estimated number of registrants falls short, the remaining tickets may be sent to Tech. If this happens an attempt will be made to inform Tech students if possible, and each student will be allowed to purchase one ticket by showing his activity ticket at the ticket office window on the east side of pass plays were used. Conley, Stevenson, Lewis and Thompson outplayed the West Texas backs while Hawkins called a good game with the limited amount of plays he was allowed to use. The quick kick he generated did more to break the morale of the Buffs possibly than any other thing in the game. Zac Henderson and Charley Reynolds were impressive with their punting and place kicking.

The Raiders showed great promise to us whether or not they looked impressive to others. They definitely were hustling and had good team spirit. The real test, of course, will come tonight.

Jones Stadium, Jennings said. Activity will also have to be shown before an individual will be permitted to enter the Ownby Stadium on a student ticket.

Bowden Expresses Thanks To Tech Student Body

In a letter to The Toreador Thursday, John E. Bowden, school auditor, expressed his thanks to the student body for its cooperation during registration. He said that he especially would like to thank those students who helped with registration work.

Boys wearing top coats, shower cloths or fireman's hats are not an unusual sight on the campus now.

Constructive duties for the Wrangler pledges include cleaning up the love seat at the entrance to the college, guarding football signs against raiding Aggies, polishing the Double T bench and making a poster announcing Tech's presence, which will hang from a window of the Adolphus at the SMU game.

Los Camaradas pledges have been seen attending class with towels draped over their shoulders, carrying soap and wearing shower clogs.

Wrangler pledges, robed in top coats, hats, glove and egg in hand, have walked backwards between classes, gathering in the center of the circle, at hour intervals, to sing.
