President Attends Hearing On Purchase Of Pantex

Decision of the War Assets administration on Tech's purchase of the Pantex Ordnance plant at Amarillo will be announced approximately two weeks after the WAA hearing on the sale, Frank Junell, assistant to the president, said Thursday.

The hearing, held yesterday in Washington, was attended by Dr. D. M. Wiggins, Tech president, and Clarence Whiteside, Lubbock businessman representing the local chamber of commerce and the Tech Ex-Students association.

By unanimous vote, the chamber of commerce directors earlier decided not to protest acquisition of the plant after Doctor Wiggins and the college Board of Directors had given assurance that the purchase would in no way interfere with or abridge operations at the "mother plant" in Lubbock. The chamber of commerce action cancelled a protest hearing which had been set for Wednesday by the WAA.

President Wiggins will not return until Jan. 17, Junell said. From Washington he is to proceed to New York, where he will conduct interviews in regard to filling teaching vacancies and making additions to the college staff, said Junell.

College Building Rehearing Motion Will Be Filed

Motion for rehearing of the college building amendment case will be filed with the Supreme Court of Texas within 15 days, James H. Milan, Lubbock attorney, said Thursday. Milan has been working with a group of Lubbock businessmen who have brought suits questioning the validity of the amendment.

The state Supreme Court Wednesday refused to take jurisdiction of the case. Milan said that the 15-day period for filing the rehearing motion would begin as of the date of the Supreme Court's decision.

Opponents of the amendment have previously lost decisions in trial and civil appeals courts. Milan declined to comment on the possibility that the case might be appealed to the United States Supreme Court if the Texas Supreme Court again refuses to take jurisdiction of the case or if it upholds the decisions of lower state courts.

Directors Grant Faculty Leaves

Tech's Board of Directors has granted short leaves of absence for faculty members and approved a change in the college maintenance staff.

"About 50" leaves of a few days' duration each have been granted, Frank Junell, assistant to the president, said Thursday.

Charles F. Libby of Lubbock has assumed the position of supervisory custodian of buildings, replacing J. H. Grimsley, who resigned because of ill health, said Junell. Grimsley is employed as a campus locksmith, he added.

INVITATION SELECTED

Seniors graduating at the end of this semester may select their invitations now at the Tech bookstore, stated W. C. Cole, manager. The invitations will have the same color and design as the ones last year. Students will have a choice of cardstock or leather booklets. They will contain lists of officers, program for commencement week, candidates for degrees and five etchings of the campus.

Pre-Registration Begins Monday; Classes Scheduled For Feb. 4

Pre-registration will begin Monday for students enrolled in school, according to information from the registrar's office.

Form A of pre-registration may be filled out in either the Agriculture, Engineering, Home Economics, Administration or Library buildings. Regardless of the division a student is in, he may fill out this first form in any of these buildings Monday through Saturday.

Registration permits containing information of the day and hour to register will be mailed to the student at the Lubbock address filed on the pre-registration form.

Veterans going to school under the GI bill are asked to go by the Veterans coordination office, room 110 ad building and pick up new requisition books after Monday. New students as well as those not enrolled will fill out all registration cards in the administration building Feb. 3, stated Miss Evelyn Clewell of the registrar's office.

Flying Class Asks For More Students

All students who plan to enroll in Economics 233 flying class for the spring semester should contact H. A. Anderson, Tech veteran's coordinator, L. D. "Andy" Anderson, who is in charge of the flight school, said Thursday. Twenty-five students enrolled for the fall semester have already completed the course and received private licenses.

The three hour credit course consists of 45 flying hours and a semester of ground school. A maximum of 20 hours dual and 25 hours solo are received. Two hours of dual and five hours of solo are cross country flying. Veterans may take the course under the G. I. Bill, Anderson explained.

Flight training is given at West Texas Aircraft at Municipal Airport. Transportation to and from the airport is provided for students, Anderson added.

Journalism Meet To Be April 29, 30

Dates for the Southwestern Journalism congress to be held at Tech have been set for April 29 and 30. Cecil Horne, head of the journalism department, has announced. Colleges and universities in Texas, Oklahoma, and Louisiana will be represented at the congress which is held annually, he said.

The congress will include clinics of interest to journalism students on journalistic specialization and training. Prominent speakers of general interest will speak at the various meetings.

Horne is president of the 1949 congress and Ray Cook, senior journalism student, is president of the student group. The University of Texas was host to the 1948 conference held last March.

'Futures Unlimited' Premiere To Be Staged 8 PM Monday

Trent C. Root Principal Speaker; Tech Band Will Give Program

Trent C. Root, assistant to the president at Southern Methodist university and former assistant to the president at Texas Tech, will be principal speaker at the program to be presented in connection with the Texas Tech movie, "Futures Unlimited", Monday at 8 p.m. in the Lubbock Senior high school auditorium.

Tech band will present a program of music and W. O. Boswell will introduce the students who participated in the making of the film. There will be two showings Tuesday, the first beginning at 7:30 p.m., and immediately followed by the second at 8:15. No preliminary program will be presented Tuesday night.

Tickets, which went on sale Thursday, will be $1.20 general admission and 50 cents student admission for Monday night. Students will be admitted at the same rates Tuesday but general admission will be only 80 cents. Three thousand student tickets are on sale.

This Lubbock showing will be Tech students' only chance to see the movie for almost three months, since it will be on a tour and will not be shown within 100 miles of Lubbock while on tour, stated Bill Jackson, chairman of the movie committee.

Produced for the purpose of advertising Tech throughout the state, the film will be presented to high schools, civic organizations, and ex-student associations. The film now at Lubbock will later go to Houston, the first city on the schedule. Five more reels will be purchased with the proceeds derived from the Lubbock showings. These films will then be sent on the road, Jackson said.

The picture will cover everything from football games to formal dances. The Matador band furnishes background music for the production, and Betty Dennison and Clint Formby are narrators.

"Futures Unlimited" is sponsored by the Tech Chamber of Commerce with the financial assistance of the Student Council. It is student acted, narrated and financed at a cost of approximately $5,000.

Honor Society To Have Service

Dean Lide Spragins, national secretary of Alpha Lambda Delta, national honorary scholastic sorority for women, and dean of women at Southern Methodist university, will arrive this morning to install Tech's new chapter and initiate 34 Freshmen Honor society women as members, Mrs. Margaret W. Walker, dean of women, stated Thursday.

The formal installation and initiation services will begin at 5 p.m. at the Hilton hotel and will be followed by a banquet at 6:30 p.m.

Lou Lawson, junior business administration major, and Thelma Zimmerman, senior home economics major, will also be initiated as senior student advisors for the chapter. Seniority pens will be presented the new members during the initiation service.

TECH ENTERS CATTLE, SHEEP IN STOCK SHOW

Seventeen head of livestock have been entered by Texas Tech in the Southwest Exposition and Fat Stock show to be held in Fort Worth Jan. 28 through Feb. 6.

The college's entries include: five Rambouillet and two Hampshire in the sheep breeding classes; three crossbred lambs; three Herefords and three Aberdeen-Angus in the fat steer, open class department; an Aberdeen-Angus in the breeding classes.

Valuable Equipment Taken From Irrigation Houses

Irrigation equipment valued about $200 was stolen sometime during the holiday period from one of the irrigation houses, Ray C. Mowery, professor and head of the animal husbandry department, said Monday.

Thieves broke in the well house through the window and took spark plugs, batteries, a starter, battery cables, a butane carburetor, condenser, and all wiring.

Roger McCown, irrigation man, discovered the missing parts Saturday.

RESIDENTS HONORED

Prospective residents in the home management house next semester were honored with a game party Thursday night by home management residents.

Sue Buckley was hostess for the party. The guests were acquainted with the house arrangement and the general living procedure there.

Wednesday Is Deadline For Senior Record Cards

Wednesday has been set as the deadline for seniors to fill out records for La Ventura, Bob Williams, editor has announced.

Seniors who fail to do so will have only their names and hometowns printed opposite their pictures in the annual he stated.

Record cards may be obtained in the registrar's office in the administration building.

Bob Hope Wants A Part in Tech's Movies Maybe?

Maybe Bob Hope wants in the show too? At any rate, Clint Formby, student body president, was scratching his head Thursday night and wondering if it was just another in a series of recent pranks. Sure enough, he had in hand a telegram from Fort Worth saying simply:

Clint Formby, Student Council, Texas Tech, "Congratulations on the completion of your first student movie and the premiere to be held Monday night, Jan. 10. I am available for bellboy parts. Bob Hope Formby, who has been the victim of practical jokes several times this year, received the wire late Thursday afternoon. A check with associated press revealed that Hope was in Fort Worth Thursday. The student president doesn't know what to think.

"Everybody seems to think that Hope did send the telegram," he said, yesterday morning. Adding to the confusion, however, Formby discovered yesterday that he had been entered in the local golden glove tournament. He was accredited with five wins and eight losses during his mythical ring career.

Ginette Neveu, French Violinist, To Appear on Tech Artist Course

GINETTE NEVEU

Ginette Neveu, young French violinist whose recent appearances with the Boston Symphony and the New York Philharmonic Symphony in the Beethoven and Brahms Concerti won her high praise from top critics, will appear in concert at Lubbock High School auditorium Wednesday under the auspices of Tech Artist Course Series, said Prof. E. A. Mills, artist course sponsor. Curtain time has been set for 8 p.m., and Tech students will be admitted upon presentation of Artist Course tickets.

Miss Neveu came to this country in October, 1947, following a lengthy Latin-American tour. Australia and New Zealand heard her in the summer of 1948. Slim and dark-haired, a handsome and engrossing figure on the stage, Ginette Neveu was born in Paris, studied at the Paris Conservatory and made her first appearance at seven and a half with the Concerts Colonne in the Mendelssohn Concerto.

At fifteen she entered the International Competition in Warsaw and won the Wieniawski Grand Prix. From that time until the entrance of the war she played in 110 cities of Europe and North America.

Miss Neveu's repertoire is a wide one, covering not only the great classics but much modern literature for the violin. The violinist will play her rich-toned fabulous Stradivarius when she plays her Lubbock concert on Wednesday night.

Museum Displays Native Pottery

Pottery made from native West Texas materials will be on display in the museum starting Sunday, Dr. W. C. Holden, curator of the museum, has announced.

This pottery, 17 pieces in all, is the work of Dr. Cyrus N. Ray, osteopathic physician, of Abilene. Doctor Ray had no tools or formal instruction except his own ingenuity, but his work is highly regarded for its native ability, Doctor Holden said. All his ceramic materials, including his colored pigments, are native materials from around Abilene.

Doctor Ray's interest in ceramics grew out of an archeological field trip which he made for this college last summer in Coke county. His report will soon be published in the Texas Archeological bulletin.

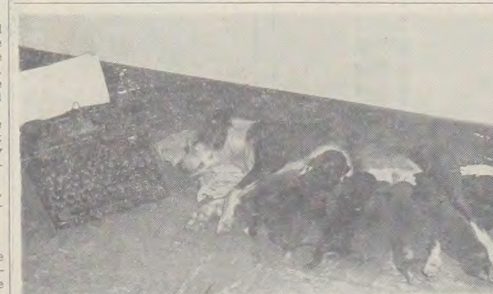

While on the trip Doctor Ray kept a sharp lookout for clays and pigments. He brought in hundreds of specimens and has made various tests of them.

Doctor Holden states that this pottery is significant in that it is a by-product which came out of another research problem. He says Doctor Ray has demonstrated that this country has enough materials for a highly diversified ceramic industry.

Dr. Ray has been president of the Texas Archeological society and was editor of the Texas Archeological bulletin for 18 years.

INFIRMARY CHANGES

Visiting hours at the infirmary have been changed to 10:30-11:30 a.m., 2:30-3:30 p.m., and 7-8 p.m., announces Dr. Embree R. Rose, college physician. Dr. Rose requests that visiting hours be observed.

Needed: 12,000 Watchful Eyes . . .

Time for the long heralded release of the Tech movie is now upon us. Like most other students, we're going to see the picture for the first time Monday night. Just what to expect might be indicated by reviewing the circumstances under which the movie was produced.

Common sense tells us we cannot expect a production with the finish or finesse of Hollywood. "Futures Unlimited" is a student production even down to the narration of the story. This story is not one with plot, but relates, on a rather formal plane, the story of the school and its great potentialities. It covers everything from football games to formal dances with background music played by the Matador band.

Thirty-two minutes of Texas Tech presented in color and with a view of selling the school to the whole Southwest is what students will see in "Futures Unlimited" at the Monday night premiere. All too few of the students will be able to see themselves in action due to limitations in film length, but most will probably see many of their friends.

No one of the six thousand students at Tech should miss the movie. There is reason beyond the personal enjoyment he is sure to get if he attends. The small entrance fee charged will make possible the purchase of additional pictures for distribution throughout the state and assure the success of the program. An effort has been made to schedule sufficient showings so that every student can see the picture at a convenient time. Now an effort to attend, on the part of each individual, is in order.

One point to remember: Your future, to a large extent depends on the reputation of the school from which you graduate. Effective publicity for Tech, such as this picture offers, is a big step toward making both the future of the Tech graduate and the school . . . Unlimited.

The Lazy Man Wins . . . ?

A Chicago doctor, according to a recent news dispatch, says it pays to be lazy if you can control yourself. The whole difference, he believes, lies in the distinction between laziness and shiftlessness, and he lists five rules for this "productive laziness."

1. The productively lazy man is at all times sensibly realistic. He accepts the rules of the game and makes use of them; he doesn't butt his head against a stone wall.
2. He discards the word 'hurry' and substitutes 'dispatch'.
3. The productively lazy man is a fact-finder; he thinks before he acts.
4. He avoids repeating errors.
5. He analyzes the importance of his personal relationships.

After Jan. 27, the idea may seem appealing to many Tech students who have always classified themselves more as energy-savers than as lazy. But right now, with only 14 days remaining until final examinations there is no time for classification. What reports and reviews you have neglected thus far can be blamed to whatever is handy. The important thing is not to wait until a day or two before exams to begin work on them. While we don't advocate cramming, if you feel that it is necessary, now is the time to begin.

(Editor's note: BOB WILLIAMS, hard-working editor of La Ventana, took time out from meeting deadlines to write today's guest column.)

The recent holidays apparently took a heavy toll on the La Ventana staff members if their actions as they came back to school Monday is indicative of the amount of work I can expect to get out of them. Jayne Thompson (assistant editor in theory; hard-working "number one" slave, in practice) came floating in the office the other day with her head still in the clouds over her trip to El Paso as a Sun Carnival princess. "The trip was just marvelous," she reported. "The weather was marvelous; the parade was just marvelous and they treated us just marvelously!" She drifted out on that esthetic but questionable adverbial phrase and I haven't seen her nor hair of her since.

Potpourri

Dear Pot,
You kissed and told,
But that's all right;
The one you told,
Called up last night.
Ann

Did you hear about the student who wrote, "Virgin Wool comes from sheep that can run the fastest?"

Dear Pot,
Just walk the straight and narrow path,
And pass up each temptation,
Don't ever smoke or take a drink,
Avoid each celebration,
So don't do nothin' wrong.
Remember, fun is evil stuff
And you will live forever,
Or it will seem that long.

Adam and Eve had a pretty hard time naming the animals. "Well, Eve," said Adam, "let's call this one a hippopotamus." "But darling, why call it a hippopotamus?" "Well, hell, it looks like a hippopotamus, doesn't it?"

Fashion note: They are wearing the same thing in brassieres this year.

Jayne Thompson (assistant editor in theory; hard-working "number one" slave, in practice) came floating in the office the other day with her head still in the clouds over her trip to El Paso as a Sun Carnival princess. "The trip was just marvelous," she reported. "The weather was marvelous; the parade was just marvelous and they treated us just marvelously!" She drifted out on that esthetic but questionable adverbial phrase and I haven't seen her nor hair of her since.

Soon after Jayne left, Anita Oliver came in the door. "Third finger left hand forward", sporting a ring that threw light reflections all over our cluttered office walls. "When did that happen?", I asked. "Christmas Eve!" she sighed, admiring the huge bauble at arms length in the manner of a football player about to brush off a tackle. "Isn't it beautiful?" she said and followed her outstretched hand through the door and down the hall. That makes her practically worthless as Senior class editor for the rest of the semester.

Paula Fix came in right on schedule ready to do some layouts but her heart wasn't in it. It seems that old Santa brought here everything but the desire to return to school and she can hardly be blamed for that.

Both annual photographers dragged themselves to work Monday wearing large hangovers according to a ring on their finger.

male element in particular. The election results were fine, as four very deserving young ladies were selected, but it is the method that I question.

At the freshman class meeting there were approximately 150 students present as against 1,618 registered in the college. Out of this number present, only about twelve were men. All nominations were made by girls and, naturally, their votes were the ones which elected the favorite. Now maybe there is nothing wrong with this method, but it seems to me that if a girl is put up for nomination, the boys ought to be right in there plugging for the woman of their choice.

Freshman Cagers To Play West Texas

When the Texas Tech freshmen cagers take to the floor against the West Texas State "fish" Monday night, the starting lineup will be made up of five lads who were all-district in high school.

Starters for Tech will be Irl Brown, Kathonah, N. Y., at center; Jack Alderson, Lubbock, and Jimmy Eddins, Sudan, at forwards; and Jim Sharp, Amarillo, and Ted O'Neil, Wellington, at guards.

Three men on the starting team for the "fish" are above six feet. Brown measures a lofty six feet six inches and both Alderson and Eddins stand at six feet two inches.

Reserves who are certain to see action will include Don Bagwell, all-regional guard from Claude; Glen Lucas, six-foot-four-inch all-district center from Whiteface; and Monte Roy, Hobbs, N. M., who was all-district in 1946.

The squad of 70 freshmen who reported for practice a month ago has been cut to a 15-man squad who will use the same style of play as the varsity, a fast break, mixed with set plays on offense and a man-to-man defense.

Other members of the squad who will be ready for action Monday night are Royce Crowell and Charlie Orren, Paschal high, Fort Worth; Sonny Stanford, Eldorado; Doral Sandlin, Lubbock; Charles Campbell, Monument, N. M.; Carter Page Ralls; and Archie Campbell, Garland.

The second of the 12-game schedule laid out for the Tech freshmen will be against the Odessa Junior college in Odessa Thursday night.

Raiders Take One, Drop Two In Oklahoma Tournament

By JERRY HALL
Toreador Sports Writer

During the holidays the Red Raiders journeyed to Oklahoma City where they participated in the annual All-College Basketball tournament. The Techsans won one and lost two games.

In the first game Tech was matched against the powerful Oklahoma Aggies and Henry Iba's crew proved to be too tough for the Raiders. The final score was 47-26 in favor of the Aggies.

In one of the best games of the whole tournament, the Raiders met SMU for a crack at the consolation title. It was the third meeting of the two teams this season and each had won one game.

Coach Robison's charges took the rubber game with the Mustangs by a 55-52 score. Whistle Banks and Don Grove led the Raiders to victory. They did it the hard way. With less than ten minutes to play the Red and Black Techsans held a ten point lead only to let it slip through their fingers. With one minute and 50 seconds left to play, Grove and Banks came roaring back with a pair of field goals to give the Raiders a three point lead. Grove lead in scoring for the Raiders with 15 points. Zatopek paced the losers with 19 points.

The win advanced Tech to the consolation finals where it met Colorado A&M.

In that game the Aggies led nearly all the way. In the last eight minutes the Raiders surged forward with Gene Gibson, Grove and Banks showing the way. It was a thrilling game but the Raiders were edged by a final score of 59-58. Gibson grabbed scoring honors in that game with a grand total of 20 points. Don Grove made 17 points and William of the Aggies was high for the winners with 19. That gave Colorado A&M the consolation championship. The Oklahoma Aggies won the championship for the fifth straight year.

Teams competing in the meet were Alabama, Auburn, Baylor, Oklahoma A&M, SMU, Texas, Colorado A&M and Tech.

again he led by big Don Grove who is currently leading the Raiders in scoring. The lengthy center has scored a total of 144 points up to the time of the current road trip into New Mexico. Jiggs Jackson is in second spot with 85 points. Whistle Banks third with 86, Gene Gibson fourth with 82 and Ardis Barton fifth with 79.

Wimpy Hill has contributed 49 points. Wayne Bowles, 39, Charles Pinnell, 9; Bill Eddins, 4; C. W. Duke, 4; and Durward Patterson, 2.

The Raiders have scored a total of 593 points to their opponents 542. They have played eleven games and have some out on the large end of the scoring eight times. They have hit an average of 34.6 per cent of their shots from the field and 64.2 per cent from he free throw line.

Among those returning are Santos Perez, pin-sized set shot artist; Bert Williams, six-foot-two forward and Earl Richards, the "tall man" of the team at six-foot-four. Dale Waters who took over the coaching duties at Mines this year has ditched the fast-breaking offense used for the past two years for a more deliberate type of play. Coach Robison's charges will

Green Bay Drafts Three Men In Red

The Green Bay Packers of the National Professional football league have announced the drafting of three Red Raiders for professional service next year. They are Bill Kelley, Glenn Lewis and Bobby Williams.

Williams, a center, is from Phillips, where he played high school ball. He was a co-captain of the Raider eleven during the past season. Under Border conference ruling Williams has another year of eligibility and he plans to return to Tech next year.

Lewis, a back, played six-man football at Quitaque before he came to Tech in 1944. He lettered here in 1944, 1946, 1947, and 1948. During the 1945 season he was a star back for the San Diego Naval base. Lewis was a co-captain of the Raiders in 1947.

Kelley played end and was chosen best defensive end in the Border conference during the past year by the coaches of the conference. He was placed on the first string All-Border eleven this season and also received honorable mention for the Associated Press All-American team. Kelley is one of the seven athletes who have become a three letter man in Tech's history. He lettered in football for the past four seasons, in track two years. Kelley is from Idalou.

Morgan Is Chosen Border Conference Coach Of The Year

Coach Dell Morgan of Texas Tech has been chosen Coach of the Year in the Border conference by the Texas Sports Writers association in its annual meeting held at Dallas.

The Raider mentor who led his team to its second straight undefeated year in conference play was picked by unanimous vote. He became head coach at Tech in 1941 and since that time he has won two football crowns. Before that he had been assistant coach at Tulane and Rice. He was also line coach at Tech under Pete Cawthon until his appointment as head coach. Morgan is a graduate of Austin college where he lettered as a guard and fullback.

The Sports Writers also chose Gil Johnson of SMU as the player who has done most for football in the Southwest during the past year. Bob Woodruff, head coach at Baylor, was picked as the coach of the year in the Southwest conference.

SPORTS GRAPEVINE

Many of the high school grid stars this year are graduating and most of them are going to college some where or other. Tech stands to draw some of the better known boys this season and the rumors are flying thick and fast. One of the lads who seem to be favoring Tech right now is Bob Rooker from Lubbock who was a stand-out at end for the Westerners this year. Junior Malouf, a hard running back from Post, is another prospect that looks good. James (Sonny) Mobley of Odessa's Bronchos has been reported in favor of this institution. None of them have made an official statement yet but one thing is for sure and that is that Tech would be happy to see these men in a Raider uniform.

Intramurals Open Basketball Season

Play got underway in the Independent league of the Intramural basketball season Tuesday night when two games were unrolled at the Tech gym.

In the first game, the 5th Street Ramblers defeated the Anonymous Quintet by the score of 19 to 18. Ivers, center of the Ramblers, was high man with 11 points to his credit. John Murphy, a guard, was high for the losers with eight points.

In the second game the Wesleyan Wildcats bowed to the pelicans by the score of 23 to 20. J. Christian, guard, was high for the Wildcats with seven points, but Ed Wilson, center, was high man for the game with an eight point total.

Due to the number of teams entered in each league the gym cannot be used for practice games. There are eight teams entered in the Independent league, 10 teams entered in the Dorm league, and seven teams entered in the social club league.

Games scheduled for Jan. 9 in the Independent league finds the P. E. & G. S. five meeting the Thomas Teetotalers at 2 p.m. At 3 p.m. the 5th Street Ramblers meet the Wesleyan Wildcats, and at 4 p.m. the Dusters take on the Anonymous Quintet.
