

Irish Soprano Will Be Presented On Tech Artists Course Tonight

Eileen Farrell, Irish soprano, will be presented at 8 p. m. tonight at the high school auditorium under the auspices of the Texas Tech Artists Course series.

The popular radio singer has appeared as the star on the "Songs of the Centuries" program besides being presented on such radio programs as the "Radio Reader's Digest", the "Coca-Cola Hour", the "Texaco Star Theater", and the "Firestone Hour."

Miss Farrell is the daughter of professional musicians of Irish ancestry. Her mother, Catherine Kennedy, was a soprano and her father, Michael Farrell, a baritone. After the parents gave up vaudeville to raise a family, Miss Farrell's mother began teaching the girl all she knew about music. Being especially adept in singing Irish ballads may be attributed to Miss Farrell's early training.

The soprano studied for two years with Merle Alcock, formerly of the Metropolitan opera. Miss Farrell is very versatile and sings popular songs, folk music, Calypso songs and operatic excerpts. The artist's voice is well known to many radio listeners. After only one radio broadcast, Miss Farrell was given an audition by James Fasset, head of the Columbia Broadcasting system. She was a success and was soon featured on many radio shows.

When the musical star sang the world premiere of "Five Irish Fantasies" by Loeffler, she received an invitation to sing with the Dublin symphony and a cable from her Irish listeners which read, "We're proud of you."

The next step on Eileen Farrell's road to further success is an attempt at opera. This she intends to postpone until she can bring to this field the experience she has gotten in other musical realms.

Miss Farrell is in reality Mrs. Robert Reagan and the mother of a two-year-old son, Robert, Jr. Between concerts and tours she spends her time with her husband, who is safety officer in the New York police force, and her child at their Staten Island home.

Geology Field Trip Planned By Dept.

More than 180 geology students have signed up for the two summer field courses which are required of all geology majors who are planning to graduate in June, 1950, or prior to that date.

The field courses will be held at Camp Luana, a former army camp, about four miles west of Las Vegas, New Mexico. The New Mexico Highland university cafeteria will serve meals to the faculty and students.

Four instructors will accompany the students each term. They will be John P. Brand, Federick G. Warn, William C. Irwin, all geology lecturers at Tech, and William T. Tanner, professor of geology at Oklahoma Baptist university. Tanner will be replaced by J. W. Mallard, Odessa, the second semester.

STUDENTS RECEIVE GRADES

Most of the fall semester grade reports have been called for in the registrar's office, said Miss Evelyn Clewell, assistant registrar.

She added that the grades will be available as long as students wish to call for them.

SUMMER BULLETINS ISSUED

Distribution of summer session bulletins for 1949 began Monday in the registrar's office, said Miss Evelyn Clewell, assistant to the registrar.

The bulletins are being issued early for the convenience of summer school prospects, explained W. P. Clement, registrar.

Tech Students Now In Military Service

To date eight Tech students have joined the armed forces, five have returned to active duty and two have entered military academies during the year 1948-1949, according to statistics in the dean of men's office.

Those who have joined are: David C. Fawcett, (navy), Lubbock; Ernest E. Lillard (navy), Akeley; McAdoo; Eugene Mayfield (navy), Akeley; Richard Mineor (army), Billy Wayne Lumsden (army), Fort Stockton; Billy Wayne Silke (naval air corp), Abernathy; Jack Rogers (army), Levelland and Bill W. Nelson (aviation cadets), Lubbock.

Re-enlistments: John E. Driskill, Coleman; Lemuel Goodwin, Pampa; James L. Leach, Wilson; James F. Stephenson, Nashville, Tenn. and Lloyd M. Tallafarro, Del Rio. Burton Doyle Hanburg, Dalhart, and Robert J. Carrothers, Cisco, are attending military academies.

SENIORS ASKED TO REPORT

Seniors in the arts and sciences division who plan to be graduated this spring are asked to report immediately to Ad-211 to sign diploma cards, the dean's office has announced.

Engineering Show Staff Completed; Many New Exhibits Are Planned

Staff for the Seventeenth Annual Engineering show to be held April 22-23 was completed in the last meeting of the departmental managers with the selection of an assistant manager, Andy Willingham, assistant publicity manager, has announced.

An increased budget for the Seventeenth annual show of $2,200 will make possible many new developments in scientific and engineering fields. Though plans are not completed in all departments, this is expected to be one of the largest and best engineering shows since the first show was held in 1932, Willingham said.

The complete show staff is as follows: general manager, Francis E. Miller; assistant manager, James Stewart; publicity manager, Andrew Willingham; assistant publicity manager, Dick Wolff; advertising manager, Riley Carlton; traffic manager, Alton Kendrick; lighting manager, Bill Wright; electrical engineering, Rex Brown; civil engineering, Bill Millican; industrial

Student Council Refuses Direct Grant To Journalism Congress

Refusal of the Student Council to grant direct financial assistance to the journalism department with which to stage the Southwestern Journalism Congress here April 25-30, highlighted a meeting of the council Monday night.

In an earlier meeting the council voted not to appropriate any money to the department until it was ascertained how badly the money is needed and how it will be spent.

A letter from the department which outlined the reasons for wanting the money and requested $150 was read. The letter stated that $1,750 was available through other sources, but that approximately $2,000 will be needed for a successful congress.

The council moved that a letter, requesting the journalism department to submit its request to the Publications committee, be sent to the department. It was also stated that the Student Council members serving on the Publications committee be instructed to support the request when it is presented before the committee.

Chief objections to appropriating the money were the small amount in the council's fund and the fear that such a grant would establish a precedent for other departments staging similar affairs.

NEW MEMBERS INSTALLED

The three new members of the Student Council, Marshall Gettys, Bill Gillespie and Roy Trice took oaths of office in the meeting.

Gettys is a representative of the engineering division, Gillespie represents business administration and Trice is an arts and sciences representative. They were elected in the Student Council run-off election last Thursday.

TROPHY CASE COMMITTEE

Bill M. Keith, chairman, reported that the committee had investigated buying a trophy case with the $600 gift the ex-student's association made to the council.

All campus organizations that have trophies and would like to place them in the case should turn in the number and approximate size of the trophies to the Student Council by next Saturday, Keith said. This will enable the committee to select a case large enough to hold all trophies.

VENDING MACHINES

All organizations sponsoring coke machines met last Thursday

Report On Grades Asked Of Seniors

Seniors deficient in the number of grade points required for their graduation in June are being asked by their deans to sign cards certifying that they understand such a deficiency, unless removed, may prevent their graduating this spring, Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president, said Monday.

The measure, which is not a change in policy but merely a checking procedure, is designed to serve as a warning to those seniors not to purchase invitations or rent a cap and gown except at their own risk, Doctor Jones said.

The council of deans recently approved adoption of the plan as a remedial step. In the past, according to a council bulletin, some seniors lacking the grade points required for their degree have made all arrangements for participation in graduation exercises and have then failed to acquire the needed grade points during their last semester.

Signing of the cards may thus forestall the disappointments caused when the seniors learn at the last moment that their lack of grade points will prevent their graduation, said Doctor Jones.

Prexy's Home To Be Ready For Occupancy In April

Remodeling of the president's home may be completed in time to permit occupancy by early April, Frank Junell, assistant to the president, said Monday that he had been advised by W. R. Hedrick, college architect, that "about a month" has been estimated as necessary for finishing the renovation which began in October, 1948.

Money for the construction and repair work has been authorized by the Board of Directors. A Lubbock contracting firm is handling the remodeling.

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, Tech president, and his wife are residing in an apartment in Women's Dorm IV.

Scholarship Fund Given By Storeys

The David C Storey scholarship fund was recently officially established at Tech.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. D. T. Storey proposed the founding of this benefit to commemorate their son, David, who was killed in World War II and to help some male Techman who best exemplifies scholarship and leadership, "the things for which David stood."

The recipient of this scholarship must have a 2.0 grade average, be a distinguished campus leader and must have lettered in tennis during his junior year at Tech. The amount of the scholarship is to be equivalent to tuition and stated fees or $50 per semester, James G. Allen, dean of men said.

David Storey was a 1942 Tech graduate with a B.S. degree in agricultural education. He was a three-year tennis letterman, president of APO, secretary of the Double T association and a member of the Aggie club and Saddle Tramps. He was killed Feb. 26, 1945 in France.

A scholar will be named in the late spring or summer to receive the award for next fall, Dean Allen stated.

and discussed methods whereby the area around the machines can be maintained in a greater degree of cleanliness, Bill Reid, chairman of the budget committee, reported.

The careful cooperation of students and office personnel will be greatly appreciated by all organizations sponsoring vending machines, Reid said. He stressed the fact that cooperation on this point will help relieve the threat of removal of the machines.

The organizations, particularly asked that office personnel in the various buildings return empty bottles to the racks placed by the machines.

DISCIPLINARY COMMITTEE

George Wilmoth, chairman, reported that he had spoken to Dr. E. N. Jones, vice-president, concerning the possibility of having one or more student representatives on the disciplinary committee and the possibility of securing a "no-test" rule for dead week. Doctor Jones agreed to submit the matter to the Council of Deans.

HANDBOOK COMMITTEE

Clint Formby, president of the council, appointed Marshall Gettys and Elizabeth Craig to serve on a student handbook committee. The handbook is being prepared for all incoming freshmen next fall and anything concerning student activities will be printed in it rather than in the college catalog. The council went on record as not sanctioning any organization on the campus that represents another school. Thus, such organizations would not be recognized in the handbook.

Martha Lewis and Carl Smith were the only members of the council absent from the meeting.

College Graduates May Apply For Regular Army Commissions

College graduates who served as commissioned officers in any of the Armed Forces during World War II, may apply for Regular Army commissions as second lieutenants. Lt. Col. L. C. Adams, head of military science department, announced today.

Seniors who will graduate this spring also are eligible to apply.

The program calls for appointment of some 400 to 600 second lieutenants in two major increments in March and in August, 1949. Such Regular Army appointments will be in addition to those offered distinguished graduates of senior division ROTC units, successful competitive tour candidates, and critically needed technical specialists.

To be eligible under the new plan Colonel Adams explained, applicants must:

- Have at least one year of honorable, active, commissioned service in any component of the Armed Forces between December 7, 1941, and September 2, 1945.

- Have graduated from an accredited college or university.
- Be between 21 and 27 years of age at the time of appointment. The maximum age limit may in some cases be increased according to the period of commissioned service in the Army subsequent to December 31, 1947.
- Be physically qualified.
- Be of high moral character and have a record free of conviction by military or civil court for other than minor traffic violations.
- Not be a conscientious objector.
- Not be or have been a member of any foreign or domestic organization advocating subversive policy or seeking to alter the form of government of the United States by unconstitutional means.

Colonel Adams explained that if an applicant hasn't been graduated from college, the estimated graduation date will be given on the applications, together with a statement of verification by an appropriate official of the school.

Applicants holding commissions in the Officers' Reserve Corps or National Guard are to submit applications through regular channels to the major commander concerned.

Colonel Adams said that application forms are available at his office. They also may be obtained at all Army installations, including recruiting stations, and from National Guard and Organized Reserve instructors. They must be submitted not later than April 30, 1949.

Applicants will appear before Army Interview Boards. All will be given notice of time and place of their interviews, results of which will be forwarded to The Adjutant General in Washington. The Secretary of the Army's Personnel Board will select the best-qualified applicants.

Applied Arts Workshop Sets New Meeting Dates

The Applied Arts workshop, beginning a program designed to give members the opportunity to work on personal projects as well as group projects, will meet Thursday at 7 p.m. in X-26-A.

Formerly the workshop met only on the first and third Thursdays to work on group projects, stated Miss Startye Poindexter, professor and head of applied arts.

Now the club will meet on the second and fourth Thursdays to work on anything that interests them.

Block printed greeting cards and note paper, childrens books and silk screened posters have been projects undertaken by the group this year. Textile design, sketching, printing and small craft work are all personal projects of the members.

Pledges To Be Received At Wesley Players Meeting

New pledges will be received at the Wesley players meeting at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Methodist student center, Rev. Cecil Matthews, director of the center, said.

The Wesleyan Fellowship council will meet at 5:30 p.m. Monday at the center for a regular business meeting and supper. Nothing definite is scheduled for discussion, Matthews said.

Speech On 'Every Day Profanity' Slated For Rec Hall Tomorrow

Dr. Burges Johnson of Schenectady, N. Y. is to speak at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Recreation hall, Truman W. Camp, English department chairman, has announced.

He is an authority on his subject, "Every Day Profanity"; his latest was published only six months ago. Other books he has written are Book, The Lost Art of Profanity, Professor at Bay, Campus Versus Classroom and Sonnets from the Pelicans.

He is to be the guest of honor at a Rotary luncheon today. Tonight at 7:30 he will speak on "Psychologists, Psychiatrists, Statisticians, Pedagogists and Lower Forms of Life" in the Aggie auditorium. The American Association of University Professors is sponsoring this event and all faculty members are invited.

Tomorrow afternoon, he will speak at a meeting of Sigma Tau Delta and will tell English majors of some of the prominent American authors he has known. Among these are Mark Twain, Mary E.

Wilkins, O'Henry and Theodore Roosevelt. Tomorrow night he will speak in the Recreation hall. All students and their friends are invited. There is no admission charge.

He will speak to members of the District IV English workshop at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Aggie auditorium and will lead a discussion at that meeting to help college and high school English teachers with their problems. Although the meeting is primarily for the benefit of Workshop members, anyone who is interested may attend.

While Doctor Johnson is on the campus he will give informal talks in about six English and Journalism classes. Camp is requesting that all students who would like to talk with Doctor Johnson come by his office to arrange for an interview.

Doctor Johnson has been a newspaperman, an author, college professor and a lecturer in colleges throughout the country. President D. M. Wiggins heard him speak at the Texas College of Mines and has this to say of him: "He has a splendid sense of humor and his wit is sparkling. There is underneath all of his discussions a very fundamental philosophy which is greatly needed on college campuses."

Unveiling Of The Barroom Nude At Gay Nineties Ball

The unveiling of the barroom nude was the highlight of the Gargoyle society's annual Gay Nineties ball Saturday night. The oil painting created by four members of the organization was revealed by F. A. Kleinschmidt, professor and head of the department of architecture.

One of the two entertainment rooms of X2 featured tables topped with checked table cloths and lighted candles in bottles. In one corner was an improvised bar, attended by a bartender. The other room was decorated with different colored crepe paper streamers and was used for dancing.

Those attending wore appropriate costumes reminiscent of the nineties.

Tech Officials Chosen For Lubbock Symphony Posts

Mrs. Margarette W. Walker, dean of women, and Dr. Clifford B. Jones, Tech president emeritus, were elected to the board of directors for the Lubbock Symphony Orchestra Thursday night at the board's annual spring meeting.

This is the second term on the board for Dr. Jones, who is one of the founders of the orchestra.

Queen Chosen At Newman Club Mardi Gras Festival

Mary Ellen Duffy, '48 journalism graduate, was chosen queen of the Newman club Mardi Gras festival, Friday night, in the ball-room of the Hilton hotel. Bill Luke, president of the organization, said. Judges for the contest were: Paul Schaefer, Lubbock business man; Willis Gunn, biology instructor; and William Raffaniello, English instructor.

Ted Craker's band played for the formal dance and Bill Anders, announcer at KFTO, was master of ceremonies, Luke said. Approximately 80 couples attended the dance.

SPORT DANCE

The annual spring sport dance of the Los Camaradas social club from 9 to 12 p.m. Friday at Lubbock hotel will honor new members and pledges, Bill McCasland, club reporter, stated yesterday.

Burl Hubbard and his orchestra will furnish dance music.

Flying T's Elect Officers, Plan Club's Birthday Party

Frank Judin was re-elected president and Wayne Ramsey was re-elected finance officer in the spring election of Flying T's, the club reporter has stated. Other officers elected are Russ Fewsmith vice president and Jack Givens, secretary.

Definite plans have been made for an informal birthday party for the flying club, March 12. The organization is, one year old.

Judin has announced there are openings for new members in the club. Persons interested should contact H. A. Anderson at the VA office.

Engineering society will have its banquet from 7:30 to 12 Saturday night at the Lubbock hotel.

America's Swing To Left Endangers Democracy

Remember back in the 30's when there was occasionally an indignant cotton farmer who refused to comply with government regulations, limit his acreage, shoot his livestock, accept subsidies or sell his products through the government loan? Remember how the depression eventually forced him and most others like him to abandon their individualism. An era had arrived in which many Americans were not able to take care of themselves in the usual way. There came NRA, PWA and WPA. Most self-respecting men avoided "going on relief" or accepting handouts of food and money for clothing.

We remember the small town garage mechanic, always poor, but proud enough to work for only 75 cents per day rather than earn a much greater wage under the New Deal's plan for recovery of an idle and hungry people.

Most of us were very young then, but by rights of our location in rural communities, we watched farmers abandon the practice of plowing straight rows for the more scientific method of contouring. He plowed on contour and got paid. He left stubble in the field and got paid.

In the summer time, school teachers and young college men came to the farm with surveyors' chains and wire stakes with bits of cloth attached. They drove old cars, drank from the farmer's waterbag and drew lines on aerial maps. And if the figures came out right, they shook the farmer's hand and left. Or the farmer plowed up more cotton and the school teacher came back another day with his chain and maps and pencils.

And the farmer went back to milking his cows and selling the cream. And eventually a check came in the mail. The farmer took his cotton to the gin, returned to his cows and chickens and met the mailman at the mailbox every day.

Then came the war. The brides waited at home and the mothers waited at home. And with the letters, there came subsistence checks in the mail. The men won the war and went back to the farm and the factory. Some did not work, and in their idleness there came a government check. Many went back to school and anxiously waited for the first of the month when the checks came in the mail.

At the first of the school year they lined up for books they earned in Europe and the Pacific. And when the end of the semester arrived, they swarmed the bookstore again, getting all the supplies they hadn't needed during the semester. "Sure, get all they'll give you. Vote a bonus, buy this chain letter, join this pyramid club, send three box tops, finish this sentence . . . and win ten thousand dollars."

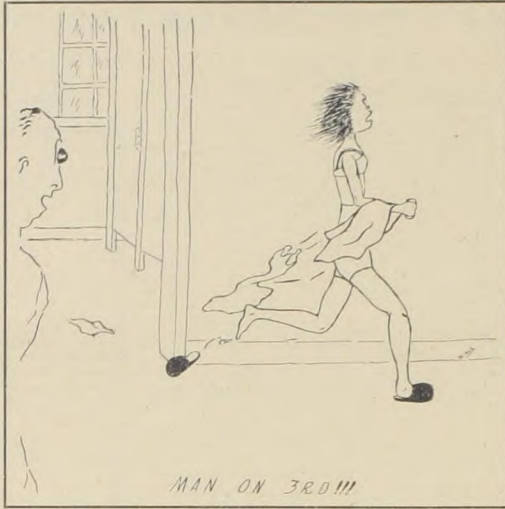

"Mrs. Jones, this is 'Mystery Melody,' and if you can tell me the name of this tune I'll send you twenty thousand dollars and a shiny new automobile."

Sure, we'll take a bonus. We'll support the Marshall plan and ERP. We'll increase miner's salaries and support a first rate Army and Navy and Air Force. We want ceilings on prices and bottoms on wages and high tariffs and low tariffs and unemployment compensation. We want income taxes lowered here and raised there.

It all adds up to shift in American thinking during our short lifetime. The courts are still trying communists in Washington, but the ruler of the ship of state has turned many degrees left in our day. As we see it, this trend toward socialism is contrary to all the principles that made America great.

Don't say that socialism can't happen here. Look to Britain. More conservative than we shall ever be, she has turned to the left and embraced what she found there.

The same trend started in this country when a man with braces on his feet took the office of a helpless man with a slide rule in his hand. We wonder about the end, for today there are no more proud mechanics and indignant farmers. The only hope for escape lies with the choice of the generation now in the colleges and universities.

HE NEEDS HIS FOR WHISKEY

Letters To The Editor

Read your article on the proposed veterans' bonus and I might add it ranked among the worst damned articles I've ever read.

You asked the question: "But do we owe them (the veterans) so great a debt of gratitude that several generations would be required to pay the bill?" We sure as hell do and I'm all for seeing that the veteran gets all that he deserves. Are we to let the next generations grow up in ignorance, believing that they have the privilege of living in a great country like ours merely as a result of common heritage? Are they to believe that this country has always been free, that our independence and very existence has not been threatened?

The best way to make this a great and ever-lasting country is to impress upon the minds of the succeeding generations that lives and blood have bought the very freedom which they enjoy. But will the next generations really be impressed and thankful for the other heroic deeds? No, the American is that type of person who is impressed and thankful if the other man's bloodshed and suffering only as long as the danger is present. The best way to impress the average Americans is to hit at his pocket-book. The pocket-book is the most sensitive means to the most justifiable of all ends.

I agree that every level of government need not grant the veterans a bonus, but there should be at least one and possibly two, namely the state and federal governments. I feel that I personally am not due much, if any, hand-out via the greenback route. However, I am not so blind as to think that there are not several thousands of boys whom we can never repay and who would greatly appreciate and need financial aid.

Texas' best bet is to send you, Mr. Jester, and several more away so that you wouldn't be bothered with those "un-Texan" citizens who advocate a bonus. Then Texas would do well to fall in line with some of her more progressive sister states and grant a bonus.

Yours for a helluva big bonus,
M. S.

P.S. In case we do get a bonus I intend to go to Amarillo and invest mine in whiskey before the bonus is revoked by our most "thoughtful and appreciative" citizens.

El Toro Grande

Any blank spaces or discrepancies in Toreador editorials this week we must blame on the Varsity show's dancing girls. You see, they've been practicing nights in the hallway right outside the office. They put on such a show that we just couldn't keep the mind on our work.

All of which reminds us of our nomination for the most expressive phrase of the week. Appearing in the Saturday Evening Post and applying quite well to the dancing girls, it read: "Mr. Winkle and Harc watched Miss Harrigan undulate down the path."

There's one in every crowd. We mean, of course, a professor who delights in alternately sneering and cheering the "younger generation now in college."

According to the Daily Reveille, one such professor was leaning over his rostrum delivering a dissertation on the mode of speech sported by the younger among us.

"Now what's that silly saying the girls on the campus are in the habit of saying?" he mused to the discomfiture of the coeds in the class.

"No!" shouted a male from the recesses at the back of the room.

Summer session bulletins have just been printed by the Tech press. We were glad to note that beside the name and number of each course was listed the name of the Teacher scheduled to instruct it.

Regardless of how impractical certain faculty members we've discussed the problem with say such a practice would be in the regular semester, we remain a doubting Thomas.

Names of teachers, printed beside the hour and course number each semester would add very few pages to the Class Schedules. Besides being a great asset to the student, it might even aid the teacher. At least it would limit the number of last minute class shuffles; force the department heads to plan well in advance.

Congratulations to the dormitory system on the excellent food it has managed to turn out during a long succession of week-ends. We could ask for nothing better than the steaks served in Men's Dorm III Sunday.

Every day, we see indications that Tech could wish for no better president than Dr. D. M. Wiggins. His request last week for funds to bring outstanding professors to Tech is only one of many moves he has made recently to put Texas Tech on the map.

When it comes to housing, however, it seems that the Tech prexy is having as much trouble as Harry Truman. Starting on his second semester here, he has not yet been able to move into the campus "white house."

Hard Work Is Keynote In Life Of Athletic Director Jennings

By HILERY MATHER
Toreador Staff Writer

College activities at Tech's stadium begin at 7 a.m. every day. That's the time Morley Jennings, director of athletics, comes to work, and by the time many other college officials have arrived, much has already been accomplished at the gym.

Jennings arises well before 6 a. m. every day. When the ABC rodeo was held in Jones stadium last summer, he was at the stadium with a crew of workers at 6 a. m. daily, covering the turf with layers of topsoil so the surface would not be too damaged for grid activities.

Hard work is the keynote in the life of Morley Jennings. That may be one of the reasons the athletic department is in excellent financial condition. When Jennings came to Tech in 1941, the department was well over $25,000 in the red. Now it is well in the black, and Tech boasts a greater athletic department than ever before.

Back in 1912, Jennings was going to Mississippi state as a top-notch baseball player. After graduation, he took a coaching job at Ouchitza college in Arkadelphia, Arkansas. During the summers, he played short stop for the Minneapolis Millers, a professional team in the American association. He was voted the most valuable player in the league and received several offers to play for larger teams, but he turned them all down to continue coaching at Ouchitza.

It was in one of his math classes at this college that he met the girl he later married.

During World War I, in the army, he was stationed at Fort Sheridan, Illinois, and became a close friend of Knute Rockne, who made Notre Dame a national gridiron power.

In 1926, Jennings went to Baylor as head football and baseball coach. During his 15-year stay at Baylor, he was honored by being chosen to represent the Southwest conference in the National Football Rules committee. When he left Baylor in 1941, he had served more time as a coach in the SWC than any other coach—15 years—and was presented with a plaque in honor of his service to the conference.

Morley Jennings has been at Tech for eight years now, and it's due to him, and such characteristics of his as hard work, that Tech has a well-rounded athletic program that is unequalled at many larger colleges.

Lighting Expert To Check Classroom Illumination

With an eye to improving campus illumination, a lighting expert is to conduct a college-wide check of classrooms, laboratories and halls and make recommendations. Frank Junell, assistant to the president, said Monday.

Date of the inspection, although uncertain, "will be right away," he said. The library is the first campus building slated for checking, he said.

The expert, who was not named by Junell, is expected to recommend the installation of fluorescent lights where needed and the retention or installation of incandescent lighting where it is considered desirable.

Personal History Fits Qualia's Job

By DAINA McILROY
Toreador Staff Writer

Born in Del Rio, Texas, of Italian descent, reared in a border town, and married to a native of France certainly provides a background for the profession which Dr. C. B. Qualia, head of the foreign language department, has chosen.

Dr. Qualia, who has been with Tech since its opening, does extracurricular work on committees, primarily the library committee. He received his BA, MA, PhD degrees at the University of Texas where he taught five years before coming to Tech. Attending two universities in France, the University of Lyon and the University of Paris, doing research work in libraries of Paris, Madrid and other places in Spain has given Dr. Qualia a deep understanding of foreign lands and languages.

Dr. Qualia was one of the founders of the oldest departmental club on the campus, the Spanish club, "Café y Espada." He accredits Tech as being among the first schools in 1935 to sponsor group study courses in Mexico.

"We study constantly new methods that come out for the teaching of foreign languages and apply these methods as seen best in this school," says Dr. Qualia. "German and Spanish laboratory methods are now in use and the French soon as it is available in which talking machines and records repeat the text of the lesson to students."

Because Dr. Qualia personally is inspired by teaching young peo-

Modern Dance Instructor Here Combines Job With Family Life

By RICKEY ARCHER
Toreador Staff Writer

It is small wonder that Bob, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Richards, is mad about music and plays records of everything from symphonies to Spike Jones incessantly. His intense appreciation of music might be considered unusual in anyone else that young but the talents and interests of his parents account for it in him.

Mrs. Richards, associate professor in the women's physical education department, is very interested in modern dance and is teaching Tech's first course in it this semester. After attending high school in San Angelo, her hometown, and graduating from Texas State College for Women, Mrs. Richards received her master's degree from Columbia. There she studied modern dance under Martha Graham and did studio work under Hanya Holm. She attended master classes under Doris Humphrey and Charles Weidman, conducted in towns where they gave recitals and a series of lessons. At the University of Maryland all four teachers instructed at the session Mrs. Richards attended. As an advanced student she participated in many dance recitals.

Richard Richards comes from an entirely musical family and his father was head of the music department at Oklahoma university. Although his wife thought he was a football coach until the third date, the still looks like young one), Richards, too, leads a musical life. At Oklahoma A&M, where Mrs. Richards taught, his choral group did accompaniment for a dance recital she directed. At present he is the director of the Tech Glee club, a member of SPEBSQSA, barber shop quartet organization, active in the Lion's club minstrel shows, and one of the Four Xs, a radio show quartet.

Besides activity in music and dancing, Mrs. Richards teaches and manages Bob and his little sister Susan, while Richards runs his Vent-o-lite Venetian Blind company. For recreation, as you might guess, they like to dance. They also play bridge, read and attend football and basketball games faithfully, and Richards finds time to be a golf fiend.

ple, the foreign language department at Tech is based on high standards and fairness to its students.

Nora Faye Long and Catherine McDonough, former Tech students, visited friends here over the weekend. They are working in Midland.

'Novice' Techsan Skiers Win Five Places At Meet

Novice Texans must rate higher in New Mexico.

At least nine Tech students believe so. They attended the Ski Carnival at Tres Ritos, N. M., last Saturday and Sunday with the intention of being spectators. Persuaded to enter by officers of Agua Piedra Ski club, of Taos, the organization sponsoring the carnival, the Techsians won five medals out of a possible nine.

On Saturday La Roe, Louis, Smith and Schmidt entered the Class D mens Slalom while Miss Matthews entered the womens Class D Slalom. Louis and Smith won first and second, respectively, in the mens event and Miss Matthews won first in the womens division.

Miss Matthews, Louis and Smith entered the Trail Touring Race Sunday. Louis won first, Smith third and Miss Matthews fifth in this event.

The girls had taken parkas to the races and they happened to have Texas Tech on the back of them. This led them to enter the Ski Carnival as representatives of Tech.

The University of New Mexico, as well as some of the neighboring towns, had four-man teams to represent them at the carnival. A number of experienced skiers who had never before entered a ski contest and who were considered novices participated in the novice competition.

Three Teams Tied In Dorm League Play As Dusters Maintain Independent Lead

Dusters still lead the Independent intramural basketball league after defeating the Wesleyan Wildcats 29-17 Sunday. It was the sixth straight victory for the Dusters and the seventh defeat for the Wildcats.

Tech Women's Annual Play Day Scheduled April 30

The nineteenth annual play day, sponsored by the Women's Recreational association, will be held April 30, announced Betty Jay, WRA reporter, yesterday. Activities will continue to 4 p.m., and all women students wishing to participate will have excused absences from classes.

Registration will begin the day's program, followed by a general assembly. Sports offered will include: basketball, volleyball, softball, badminton, darts, horseshoes, washers, tennis, table tennis, relays. A definite program will be announced later.

Revised WRA Constitution To Begin With Fall Term

A new constitution is being written for the Women's Recreational association and will go into effect next fall. The constitution, to be finished in March, tends to do away with the point system and to include all women students in the WRA recreational activities. The organizational plan will be similar to the one at Texas State College for Women, Denton, which has one of the best in the state, said Jo Verden, chairman of the committee to write the constitution.

Committee members are Marty Bonds, Nina Starkey, Margaret Brown, Lee Doris Spector, and Pat Flanigan.

Donald Bradley was high-point man for the Dusters with 13 points, and B. Cooper, Dave Christian, and J. Southwell tied for high place on the Wildcat team with five points each.

Pelicans, PE and GS, Elks, and AS and GS are tied for second place in the league.

Elks came from third to second place when they eased past the Fifth Street Ramblers 31-29. M. Williams made 14 points for the Elks, and Ike Iverson dropped 15 for the Ramblers.

AS and GE came up from fourth place when they defeated the Anonymous Quintuplets 19 to 17. C. Wood led the AS and GE scoring with nine points, and S. Anderson was top man on the quint team with six points.

Thomas T. Totlers earned third place for themselves when they dropped the Pelicans 36-19. Don Cowan made 19 points for the T

Totlers, and Harvey high-pointed for the Pelicans with six points.

Wesleyan got hotter than a fire-cracker Thursday when it dropped the Anonymous Quintuplets 16 to 14. It was the first victory in six starts for the Wildcats, and the seventh straight loss for the Anonymous Quints. Pete Wheeler and Bill Ujijusa scored six points each for the Wildcats, and J. Jordan made six markers for the Quints.

AS and GE downed PE and CE 24 to 18, Wednesday. M. J. Crow dropped 10 points for the Pags and J. Hensley made eight for the AS and CE team.

In the Dorm League, Termites jumped to tie West Eagles and Green Hornets for first place when they dropped the Rebels, 24 to 16. L. Tonroy was top Termite with eight points, and W. Watson was high Rebel with four markers. Filthy Five downed the Hawks, 31 to 14. L. Rinn, dropped six Filthy points, and R. Collins made seven for the Hawks.

Raiders Cinch Second In Cage Play

H-SU's 65-60 Win Blasts Raiders' Chances At Title

Hardin-Simmons' 65-60 win over the Raiders Saturday night marked the end of Tech's basketball season and placed the Red Raiders second in Border conference play for the second straight year.

The Raiders had hoped for a first-place tie with Arizona, but the Cowboys put an end to their last hope as they kept the game just out of reach of the Raiders until the final whistle. Tech edged the Cowboys 42-40 here earlier in the season but the Cowboys were out for blood Saturday as Preston, Burroughs and Stagner kept the scoring margin as wide as possible.

Don Grove, who netted 17 points, the same number as Slats Stagner had for the Cowboys, opened the game with a hook shot. Wayne Preston, who took scoring honors with 18 points, tied the game immediately and Wayne Bowles sent the Raiders ahead 3-2 with a free throw. Preston hit again to give the Cowboys a 4-3 edge, but Bowles came back with a two-pointer for the Raiders' final lead of the night.

After that the Cowboys potted the hoops to keep the game just out of reach of the Raiders. At one time late in the first half, the Cowboys had a 31-21 lead, but Grove, Whistle Banks and Gene Gibson cut it down to 35-31.

A faster second half found the Raiders cutting into the Hardin-Simmons lead until, with nine minutes gone, they were trailing only 52-49. Grove missed a pair of free throws minutes later which would have tied the game for the moment.

The game was never far out of reach of the Raiders, who suffered their fifth conference loss compared to 11 victories. Greater accuracy on the part of the Raiders at the free-throw line might have changed the course of the contest at times and might have affected the final score.

In a curtain-raiser the Cowboy freshmen defeated the Raider yearlings 54-46. The Cowboys held a 26-22 lead at the half and the game was close all the way. Virgil Johnson and Jimmy Eddins each had 11 points for Tech, while John McMillan scored 22 for Hardin-Simmons.

Henderson Takes TKO Over Galvan

Bill Henderson, 132-pound lightweight Texan, gained his second professional victory over Sammy Galvan of El Paso by a tenth-round technical knockout in their bout Monday night in Tucson, Ariz.

The TKO ending the dull fight came when Henderson threw a right to the midsection. Galvan, who weighed in at 130, claimed a low blow and refused to get to his feet in the tenth round. Referee Sonny Valdez then awarded the bout to Henderson.

2 Tech Bowlers Tied For Honors With 207 Average

By BILLIE CREAUGH
Toreador Staff Writer

Because of modesty, the story of two outstanding bowlers has gone unnoticed.

At present, Jay O'Keefe, junior arts and science student at Tech, and Ben Brown, Tech junior engineering student, are tied for top honors among Lubbock bowlers with an average of 207.

Last Feb. 5, O'Keefe entered the Diamond Sweepstakes tournament held at Amarillo and won sixth place in singles competition, and first, second, third, and eighth place in a "Ragtime" Doubles tournament.

O'Keefe has competed in the last three national championship tournaments at the American Bowling congress held in Atlantic City, N. J., annually. He is planning to enter the 1949 national contest March 31 for another chance at the coveted title.

O'Keefe and Brown are flying to Dallas to participate in the Southwest Bowling tournament to be held there March 5 and 6. They will compete as members of a five-man team in team play, then team together for doubles competition. Each will enter for individual honors in singles competition.

"I think that O'Keefe and Brown are among the top bowlers of the state," says E. A. Christensen, manager of the Lubbock Bowling club.

O'Keefe drives and flies to tournaments all over the country. Last year he entered 18 tourneys, which netted him a clear profit of $1,000.

Role Of 'Jane Eyre' Comes To Life In English Instructor's Portrayal

BY JULIA SHORT
Toreador Staff Writer

Charlotte Bronte's "Jane Eyre" came to life Monday night, as Mrs. Charles Cobb, Tech English instructor, gave a vivid portrayal in the Lubbock Little Theatre's presentation of the play.

Colorful costumes of the period contrasted with the gloomy ornate set lent an added touch of drama to an already tense situation of mystery and romance introduced by Carl O. Garner, whose portrayal of Rochester was that of a fine leading man.

Since the play was heavy English drama, it necessitated some good acting by the supporting cast. This was given by Mrs. F. A. Kleinschmidt, Weldon George, Roberta McGinnis, director of the play who acted as a substitute for Lovette Thompson who became ill at the last minute.

The scene is Thornfield, home of Squire Rochester, where Jane Eyre is employed as governess for his ward Adele Varens, Sharon McGinnis. For a child, Sharon McGinnis was as uninhibited as many an adult.

The plot develops with the entrance of Dick Mason an old friend of Rochester's, and thickens with the appearance of Blanche Ingram, a neighbor of Rochester's. Blanche, who has designs of marriage upon Rochester makes them well known to Lady Ingram, Billie Hutchings, Tech Speech student, in an after dinner conversation. The day is saved by Rochester who appears as a gypsy disguised, when he tells Blanche that Mr. Rochester isn't as wealthy as she has supposed.

Later that night, after Jane has saved him from being burned to death, he proposes. The wedding is stopped by Dick Mason who exposes Rochester as already being married. His wife, who has been shut up on the third floor of Thornfield, is crazy.

The play reaches its climax two years later. In the meantime Thornfield has burned and Bertha Jane returns taunting Rochester for leading her on. Rochester is almost blind. All ends happily as they are reconciled.

The set which looked so authentically Victorian was constructed by members of the little theatre, among whom was Bill Thurmond, Tech architect student. J. L. Upshaw, Tech speech lecturer assisted with the lighting, and Richard Kelisky, a Chemistry major played the piano off stage.

Goethe Birthday Celebration Set By Language Dept.

By JANET SWINDLER
Toreador Staff Writer

Members of the foreign language department are planning a first semester and a second semester summer program to celebrate Goethe Bicentennial, T. W. Alexander, geology and language instructor, announced Monday.

The 200th anniversary of the birth of Johann Wolfgang von Goethe will be celebrated by colleges and universities all over America, Alexander said. SMU will honor Goethe the week of March 13. Goethe created such simple beauty and deep feeling in his poetry that it is cherished wherever it is read. His greatest dramatic creation is "Faust," and as a novelist, his best work was probably done in "Werther." His other great works lie in the field of science and statesmanship.

The program for the first semester will feature a guest speaker who will be invited by the foreign language department later. Professor D. O. Wiley's summer school orchestra will play the prelude to "Faust" by Gounod and the entire music to the fifth act of the opera.

The second term program will consist of a play by Goethe, "Die Wette," a comedy in which several members of Goethe Bicentennial committee will star. "Since this will be the first time the play has been presented on an Ameri-
