Popular Pianist Feature Of Next Museum Association's Twilight Hour

George Warner, at one time pianist for the orchestras of Ted Weems and Paul Whiteman, will be the featured performer on the next of the Museum association's Twilight Hour series. The program is to be presented at 4:00 p.m. on Sunday, August 13, in the air conditioned auditorium of the museum.

Familiar with both popular and classical compositions, Warner has considered his music an avocation in spite of his long experience in piano. Chemistry has been his profession and since coming to Lubbock last year, he has been employed in the paint department of the Sansom Paint and Paper Co.

Spending the early part of his life in the east, Warner carried out extensive studies in music in various eastern universities. After graduation from Cornell university, he continued work at New York college of Music and Ithaca college of Music.

For fourteen years connected with the National Broadcasting company in New York, Warner was pianist for the Ted Weems orchestra for two years. He was also for some time connected with the Paul Whiteman orchestra.

During the war, Warner was active in U.S.O. work in Phoenix, Arizona, and in southern California. He entertained hospitalized G.I.s and played for war bond rallies throughout the Los Angeles area. After the war he gave a series of organ concerts for the Fox West Coast theaters.

Numbers to be presented on the program, subject to change, include: Theme for Warsaw Concerto (Addinsell); Witches Dance and Tone Poems, by McDowell; Lento (Cyril Scott); Impromptu (Reinhold); Flashes and In a Mist, both by Bix Beiderbecke; selections of George Gershwin; and Improvisations by Warner.

German Radio Play Stars Pat Fain

The foreign language department of Tech will present a one-act radio play, "Die Unschuldige" at 5:30 p.m. tonight on KSEL.

Miss Patricia Fain, Lubbock graduate chemistry student, will be featured in the role of Gabriele, the young wife, and Graham Bogel of Lubbock will play Doctor Halland, a lawyer. Gabriele's voice of conscience will be played by Miss Fain.

The action of the play takes place in Gabriele's boudoir in Doctor Halland's home. The plot evolves around a conscience-stricken widow, Gabriele, whose husband has been murdered under circumstances which cast suspicion upon her. She is held in prison for a year and finally acquitted through the efforts of Doctor Halland with whom she is secretly in love. The murderer remains unknown.

Gabriele marries Doctor Halland shortly after her acquittal but on the evening of her wedding day the horrors through which she has just passed torture her and she knows she cannot have a happy marriage until she learns the real truth of the murder. In such a state that she hardly knows of her own guilt or innocence, Gabriele accuses her husband of the crime to determine if he would commit murder for the love of her. Doctor Halland, who does not understand her contradictory charges, believes her to be the killer and draws away from her, he repents, however, and they realize that their love can only be a compromise because it is not founded on mutual trust and understanding.

Stangel Honored At 4-H Encampment

Dean W. L. Stangel of Texas Tech was honored in a ceremony Tuesday night at the District 2 boys' 4-H club encampment. The Panhandle-South Plains Fair grounds was the place where he was honored as the outstanding contributor of 4-H work in the district for the past year.

A Plainview club leader, Jack Harris, newly selected president of the district, presented Dr. Stangel with the presentation.

Tuesday, the second day of the encampment, more than 250 South Plains boys took part in swimming, leather work, rifle practice and baseball during the day.

Dean Stangel is well known as a livestock judge of the shows over the South Plains in the Junior livestock shows as well as being known by the adults in his work for a system of grazing livestock and irrigated pasture control.

He is the originator and sponsor of the 4-H Feeders Short course at Texas Tech.

Another highlight of the program Tuesday night was the visit of Wild Bill Elliott, well known western movie star, who was visiting Lubbock in connection with the Post rodeo.

Elliott was presented with a hand tooled billfold made by Rae Walton of Lubbock who conducted the leather work classes for the boys.

Two New Faculty Appointments Made

Two new faculty appointments have been made at Texas Tech for the coming fall semester according to Ed Smith, assistant to the president. W. H. Alexander, Jr. and Mrs. Mary Ella Crozier will be added to the staff.

Alexander will replace Dr. W. I. Robinson in the geology department as a professor. Dr. Robinson will take a leave of absence from the college for one year.

Prof. Alexander is to receive his doctorate from the University of Cincinnati this summer, according to Dr. Sidwell, professor and chairman of the department of geology. Alexander was awarded his master's degree at the University of Cincinnati in 1938. He spent 6 years with the United States geological survey, water division, and was later an assistant professor of geology at Texas A&M.

Mrs. Crozier will take over her duties on September 1, as an instructor in the child development department of the home economics division. Instructor Crozier will receive her master's degree from the University of Michigan this year.

Mrs. Crozier was with the United States Air Forces from 1942 until 1946 as a civilian employee in San Antonio. From 1946 until 1947 she taught home economics in Cuero high school at Cuero, Texas.

Vocalists Gaines And Goodwin Appear At Rec Hall Program This Evening

Baritone Gordon Gaines and soprano Grace Goodwin will be featured performers on the final arts course program in the recreation hall at 8:30 p.m. tonight.

A graduate of Tech, Gaines recently completed a three-week engagement at the Roxy theater in New York. Previously he had appeared in such Broadway musicals as, "Lady in the Dark," the Milton Berle musical "Spring in Brazil" and Army Air Force show, "Wings of Victory," during its New York run.

While in Lubbock, Gaines studied with Myrtle Dunn Short. Following his graduation from Tech, he received a bachelor of music degree from the Julliard School of Music in New York.

Recently active in television work with CBS station WMET, he has appeared on various concert programs throughout New York State. He was featured soloist with the Chataqua, New York, Opera association and has appeared in concerts at the Brooklyn Academy of Music and the New York State Academy of Music.

Grace Goodwin, who will also appear on the program, began her career in Chicago where she was recipient of a scholarship to continue her music studies and to appear as a soloist on NBC.

During the spring, both Gaines and Mrs. Goodwin were guest artists with the Lubbock Symphony orchestra.

Mrs. Lloyd Croslin, of Lubbock, will provide accompaniment for the program.

Duets to be performed by the two include: La ci darem la mano (Mozart), Para siccome un angelo - "La Traviata" (Verdi), Will You Remember (Romberg), Song of Love (Schubert) and Make Believe (Kern).

Solos by Gaines will be: Matinata (Leoncavallo), J'ai pleure en reve (Hue), Fleur jetea (Faure), O Del Mio Amato Ben (Donaudy), Prologue to Pagliacci (Leoncavallo), Strictly Germ-proof (Sacco) and song of Lonesome People by Ernest Bacon, including, 1. Sourwood Mountain, 2. Sipping Cider, 3. Sinful Shoe.

Masters Degrees Awarded To 128: 422 Receive Bachelor Degrees

Degrees will be awarded to 550 Tech students on August 23, 1950. Master's degrees will be awarded to 128 persons and 422 students will receive their bachelor's degrees.

The education department leads the number of master degrees being awarded with a total of 76. Other master degrees and the department in which they are to be awarded are master of science, 29; master of arts, 19; and master of business administration, 4.

Bids For New Building Before Tech Directors

Bids for the construction of an agriculture engineering building will be the main item of business when the Texas Tech board of directors meets in the president's office at 9:30 Saturday, August 12.

The bids submitted for the agriculture building will be the second set turned in on this particular unit as all of them were rejected at a meeting of the board last May when they were first considered. The reason for their rejection was that they were too high for the amount of money allotted for the building.

Following the morning meeting, the board members and their wives will be guests of President and Mrs. Wiggins for lunch in the president's home.

STANGEL CHAIRMAN

W. L. Stangel, dean of agriculture, will attend a meeting of the Texas Hereford association Saturday in Abilene.

Dean Stangel will serve as chairman of the afternoon program. He will also give a summary of the afternoon's speeches at the close of the meeting.

The arts and sciences division leads the number of bachelor degrees to be awarded with 192. Of these 39 will be bachelor of arts and 66 will be bachelor of science. Also under the arts and sciences division, there will be 87 bachelor of science in education degrees awarded.

The engineering division will have 105 students receiving bachelor degrees. They will be distributed as follows: electrical engineering, 29; petroleum engineering, 24; mechanical engineering, 15; industrial engineering, 13; chemical engineering, 8; civil engineering, 7; textile engineering, 6. Bachelor of arts degrees will be awarded to two persons and one will receive the bachelor of commercial art degree.

Degrees awarded in the home economics division will number 16 and all will be bachelor of science degrees in home economics.

Bachelor of business administration degrees will number 70 while the bachelor of science degree will be awarded to 39 of the aggies in the agriculture division.

The following is a tentative list of the graduates:

"Great Issues" For Tech . . .

Questions often brought up in campus bull sessions and class digressions will have an official place in Texas university beginning this fall. A "Great Issues" course will be instituted at TU, similar to courses now being offered at A&M, Oklahoma U and several other schools in the Southwest. This is the way it is being set up at Texas:

Eight topics of general interest have been decided upon. Three outstanding authorities and two local or faculty authorities have been invited for each topic. From these, one outside and one local speaker will be chosen. A prepared paper by the principal speaker will be given the students participating a week before the talk. This will enable them to study the paper and be ready to ask questions when the talk is presented.

It has taken all summer to decide upon the topics for discussion, but the result is well worth the effort. "Is democracy falling?"; "What road to world peace?"; "Man and money"; "Science and religion"; "Ethics and/or the status quo"; "The failings or strengths of the institution of education"; "What happiness is, and how to reach it"; "American Minorities"—these are the topics chosen for the first course.

Men like Dwight Eisenhower, Arthur Compton, Trygve Lie, Paul Douglas, Ralph Bunche, Hodding Carter and Reinhold Niebuhr are being approached as possible speakers.

As it is now set up at TU, the course will run for eight weeks, two hours per week. Graduates and seniors are allowed to register for the sessions, which at present are non-credit. When the plan was first submitted, the Board of Regents said it would take at least $20,000 to make the course an actuality, but interested students revised the original idea and cut the cost to $3,000 for the first year. It is estimated that it will take less than that to keep the course operating after the initial sessions.

A similar course might well be offered at Tech. It has taken three years to secure approval from the time of its instigation on the Texas campus and it would probably take that long to do the same thing at Tech, but the effort would be worthwhile in the future. It would give the students a better perspective of life and would contribute materially to the educational standing of Texas Tech.

Emphasis In Wrong Place . . .

Cheating is one of the ever-present problems in colleges. Many solutions are given and criticisms offered of the policing methods instructors use to curb this dishonest behavior.

We believe that much cheating is caused by too much emphasis being placed on grades. For that reason, cheating cannot be stopped at the college level alone. Emphasis on marks often begins in the early grades and is as much a fault of the parents as of the schools. People will have to be re-educated to place less importance on the grade itself. Many elementary schools use the system whereby the students' work is judged as satisfactory or unsatisfactory. If this system were extended to all elementary schools and on through high school and college, we feel that cheating would be lessened.

While this plan might remove some of the challenge that is offered by the competition for good grades, we believe that the better students would still do superior work. The only difference would be that the student would be working for knowledge obtained rather than for a high grade.

This suggestion probably would not do away with all cheating, because there are always a few individuals who will attempt to get by without working.

However, many students seem to cheat because of parental pressure placed on them to make the all-important A. The emphasis should be placed on how much the student learns, not what grade he is able to garner from a course. We believe that this change of emphasis would alleviate the problem of cheating although it would take many years. Until such time as it comes about, we will have to put up with policing on the part of the teacher.—J.D.S.

Out of The Hat

By H. A. TUCK

John McAleer, copy reader and headline writer for The Toreador, frequently sounds off. Partially in self-defense and partially because we thought you might like a change, John will be our guest columnist for this week.

The most prominent news today is the news of our offensive drives in Korea. After retreating for weeks our battered troops began to fight the traditional American way, forward. With fresh reinforcements from the states, the 2nd Marine and 2nd Inf. Divisions, we are finally making our presence felt by pushing them awhile. Let's hope we can keep on pushing till we reach the 38th parallel. From there who knows. . . .

Here at home the Congress met the "stand or die" order given our troops by bickering over total or "creeping" mobilization. The rest of the nation seems to be ahead of the congressmen in an appreciation of the crisis and a willingness to accept mobilization, whichever form is chosen. . . .

Jim Holleman really hollers this week about the brief, but critical, report given Tech in Sports football issue. Jim seems hurt at Tech's being placed in fifth place in the conference standings. Tech is rated as eighth elsewhere in the magazine and this standing included the whole southwest. . . .

Jeanine Ballew, Tech's beauty, married Vic Childers last week. This should be enough evidence to you girls seeking husbands. All you have to do is be elected the prettiest girl on the campus and boom . . . a husband. Lots of luck and happiness, kids. . . .

Preparations are in full swing for Tech's silver anniversary celebration this fall. Sounds like it's going to be the biggest thing ever to hit here. . . .

The last Artists Course program is slated for tonight. The attendance at these affairs is not at all indicative of the hard work that has been put into getting these stars to come to Tech. Troy Ennis tells us we shall have Charles Laughton and Polgar this fall. Maybe these two can drag the students out of their holes. The townspeople are begging for tickets. This week's artist will be Gordon Gaines, well known ex-Techian. Let's get over to the Rec Hall and hear some good music. . . .

Do you think the new regulations are just and should be carried even though closing the circle?

Willie Faria sends me some liberal than regulations to have the traffic way and I think improve the locks ways to restrict traffic.

Billie Bates, Big Springs, thinks that we should I think that we should have the traffic regulations to have the traffic way and I think improve the locks ways to restrict traffic.

Frances Adkins, Phillipsburg, I like the regulations they are now. Double the parking spaces and I think that the present regulations are just and adequate to drive in to school. I think they should be able to close the circle to traffic.

Glenna Lee, Lubbock, I think the regulations are a good idea to have people. People have to have a license to drive and a lot of people would be unable to drive.

James Perkins, Plainview, I think the circle should be closed to traffic as soon as possible. The present regulations are just fine for enough. There is no traffic on the campus during school hours.

Ray Ferguson, Phillipsburg, The present traffic regulations are just because they are closing the circle to traffic and slowing down the traffic. I don't think the circle should be closed to traffic and slowing down the traffic. I don't think the circle should be closed to traffic and slowing down the traffic.

Tom Lloyd, Plainview, The new traffic regulations are just. They were necessary because the traffic was so bad. I don't think the circle should be closed to traffic and slowing down the traffic. I don't think the circle should be closed to traffic and slowing down the traffic.

Bill DeFries, Garland, The new regulations will improve the traffic situation. I don't think we need to close the circle to traffic.

Tech Talks

By EDITH WILLIAMS

Do you think the new traffic regulations are just and that they could be carried even farther, closing the circle to all traffic?

Willis Faris, senior, Lubbock: "Texas Tech parking regulations are more liberal than many other schools anyway and I think it could improve the looks of the campus to restrict traffic even more."

Billie Bates, Big Spring graduate: "I think that we should have certain regulations to make it possible to have the traffic and still be safe. It will require the cooperation of all of the students and the faculty, but I don't think the circle should be closed to traffic."

Douglas Adkins, Phillips graduate: "I like the regulations they are now. Double parking is bad to pen you in but now that it has been eliminated as well as some of the other problems, I don't believe that it will be necessary to close the circle to traffic."

Teresa Revel, Lubbock senior: "I think that the present regulations are just and adequate. I don't think they should close the circle to traffic."

Glenna Lee, Lubbock senior: "I think the regulations are just but it is not a good idea to close the circle. People have to have somewhere to drive and a lot of visitors would be unable to see the campus."

James Perkins, Plainview senior: "I think the circle should be closed to traffic as soon as possible. The present regulations have done a lot for the campus during school hours."

Roy Ferguson, Phillips graduate: "The present traffic regulations are just because there are enough parking places without closing the street and slowing traffic. I don't think the circle needs to be closed to traffic because you could never get around. It could be a bad situation."

Tom Lloyd, Plainview graduate: "Yes, the new traffic regulations are just. They were needed because the traffic was so bad you were afraid to cross the street. We had already had one accident due to the congestion between classes. However, I don't think the circle should be closed to the traffic."

Bill DeFrees, Garland senior: "The new regulations have improved the traffic situation, but I don't think we need to close the circle to the traffic."

Holleman Hollers

By JIM HOLLEMAN

"Texas Tech Raiders' 3-Year Reign due for Last Roundup." That's the headline Street and Smith's annual Sports football issue strung over their recent predictions concerning the Border conference. The publication goes on to list the order of finish in the circuit. Hardin-Simmons will be first (according to Abe Channin who wrote the thing), Arizona State of Tempe, second; West Texas State college, third; Texas Western, fourth; and in fifth place he inserts the Texas Tech Red Raiders! Just how Abe figures we're going to be beaten by all those teams we don't know.

Maybe we could offer the kid a point if he set us even with or slightly behind the Hardin-Simmons crew. But Tempe, Texas Western and West Texas State! Sure Tech has a team composed principally of sophomores and we lost some good men by graduation. But we're getting some good men off the frosh team of last year. And we've got some toughies left over from last year's squad in spite of the diploma toll. There are fast backs aplenty in Hatch, Stuver and Ramsey. And Jerrell Price, Doug McSwane and Bobby Garner are linemen who won't back down from anybody. Especially from Texas Western, Tempe and West Texas.

Honest Abe, who writes for the Arizona Daily Star, may hold some faint hopes and violent frustrations after Tech's 31 to 0 stomping of his Arizona Wildcats last autumn. He may think it's undemocratic of Tech to win the Border crown from its little playmates every year. He may think that now we're in what might appear to be a hole he can give us a little rub-down, but Abe might best think again.

Tech has won the conference championship for three straight years with teams sometimes considered too weak to do the job. The Raiders aren't about to lie down and play dead for anybody this season. Certainly not West Texas State, Tempe and Texas Western.

In that same Sports football issue, somebody with a camera borrowed three white horses and took pictures of the Hardin-Simmons cowboys riding full tilt. Now, the boys look pretty impressive up there and can no doubt cover a good deal of ground on their fancy chargers. But, due to an old ruling horses will not be allowed to compete in the Border conference this year. The Cowboys must doff chaps and spurs and play their games with both feet on the ground just like their opponents.

Cowboys, horses and Abe Channin to the contrary, the Raiders can still hold their own. It will be a blue cold day in August when Tech is shoved out of the top rank in the league by such teams as Tempe, West Texas State and Texas Western.

Busy Week For Wiggins: Leaves For South Texas

President D. M. Wiggins is scheduled to attend three meetings in South Texas next week. On Tuesday, August 15, he is to attend a meeting of the Cotton Research committee at College Station, consisting of representatives from Texas university, Texas A&M, and Tech.

On Wednesday morning, Wiggins will meet with the State Board of Control at Austin. That afternoon he will confer with the Legislature's Budget board relative to the budget of the college for the biennium 1951-53. Accompanying Wiggins on the trip will be M. L. Pennington, college comptroller, and L. E. Smith, assistant to the president.

The Tech Library has over 75,000 cataloged volumes and over 230,000 government publications.

R. W. Kirellis, Tech's new head of department of physical education, has begun an ambitious policy of expansion in the P.E. department. A large number of new classes will be offered to students during the coming fall.

Swimming 012 for beginners, 013 for advanced students and 014, a life saving course, will be available during the next semester. All classes will be held at the boy's club indoor pool and, according to Kirellis, can be offered only during the mornings.

A fee of $10 will be charged for the 30 class hour course. Money collected will be used to pay rent on the pool. There will be no prerequisites for the beginning course.

Any course numbered 011, 013, etc. will be available to all students of any classification, whether or not they have had four semesters of P.E.

Classes in Bowling will be offered under the new system. A fee of $7.50 will entitle a student to 30 hours of pin-knocking. That's about 25 cents per hour and darned cheap at the price.

Other courses to be offered include golf, track and field, hand ball, touch football, tennis, basketball, softball, fencing and weight lifting. Students are allowed to sign for only one of the courses and follow it through for the full semester. No changes from one course to another during the semester will be permitted.

German

The play is based on a true occurrence in which a doctor was murdered and his daughter was accused of the crime. It was written by Heinrich Mann and will be presented in German with an English synopsis.

Bogel is recording director and Theodor W. Alexander, German instructor, with the help of Patricia Fain, adapted and directed the play for radio.

Business Freshmen Start In Own Division This Fall

Freshman students planning to major in a field of business administration will register this fall in that division. Since 1947 business freshmen have begun their college work in the arts and sciences division.

"We believe that for a student in business administration, his early contact with the business faculty should help him in deciding upon his career," says George Heather, dean of the business school.

An important part of the freshman year will be a required course, careers in business, which covers an introduction to all major fields of preparations normally offered by collegiate schools of business. Aptitude tests in the various fields of business will be a major phase of this guidance course. Tests results will be used in counselling the student and his parents will be sent a copy of these results.

In general, the freshman business administration student will take a standard first-year course.

Lubbock's transportation facilities were recently boosted by the opening of a new terminal building at the municipal airport.

Chesterfield advertisement featuring a woman holding a pack of cigarettes. Text includes: 'Always Buy CHESTERFIELD', 'THE CIGARETTE THAT PUTS THE PROOF OF MILDNESS SQUARELY UP TO YOU...', 'BE YOUR OWN CIGARETTE EXPERT', 'YOU buy a pack of Chesterfields and you open it up.', 'YOU smell that milder Chesterfield aroma. No other cigarette has it. Make your own comparison.', 'YOU smoke Chesterfields and prove what every tobacco man knows - Tobacco that smells Milder... smoke Milder.'
