Talent Show Draws Freshmen To Class Meeting

Freshman class officials have hit upon a method of attracting students to class meetings. A combination talent show and dance brought out approximately 150 persons for a meeting Wednesday night in the Recreation hall. Pictured above are members of the freshman football squad, who depicted various "stances" for the audience. Participating in the act were Ronnie Cordell, James Leach, Ray Howard (captain), Martin Massey, Bob Hunt, Eugene Arreguy, Ken Kummer, Ray Barron and Don Funk (narrator). See story, page 8.

Club Scarlet Patrons Slated To Pick 'Tech's Most Handsome Man' Tonight

Students planning to attend Club Scarlet from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. in the Green room will truly have a full evening's entertainment. They will elect "Tech's Most Handsome Man," dance and view skits prepared by campus organizations.

Club Scarlet is a mock night club presented annually by Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalism fraternity for women.

Two more men have been entered in the "Most Handsome" contest. They are Jim Farrel, Silver Key; and Ted Harrison, Alpha Phi Omega.

Students previously entered were Jim Choate, Tech Military association; John Moughon, Double-T association; Max Roberts, College Club; Fred McMurry, Soci; Bob Poteet, Centaur; Joe Stoltz, Kemas; Monte Wallace, Adelphi; and Paul Griffith, Saddle Tramps.

Prizes To Be Given

Suitable prizes will be awarded the male selected as Tech's "Most Handsome" by Theta Sigma Phi. Last year's winner, Bob Duff, sponsored by Wranglers, was given a toy mirror and a curling iron.

Twelve clubs will sponsor acts on the program. The clubs and their skits are Gargoyle, Four Roses and a Fifth; Silver Key, song; Wranglers, quartet; Centaur, Varga calendar girl; Los Camaradas, quartet; Soci, Gerald Tippitt; College Club, Take Away Your Mink—Tiny; DFD, novelty number; Las Chaparritas, chorus line, Las Vivarachas, Ruth Carpenter song; Sans Souci, Santa Claus skit; and Kemas, undecided.

Tickets On Sale

Tickets were on sale until noon today for $1.50 stag or $2 date. Any tickets left over will be sold at the door.

Cigarettes, potato chips, Fritos, Colas, gum and candy will be sold by Theta Sig Members. A joke box will be played for dancing before and after the program.

Barbara Hazlewood, 1951 graduate of Tech, is now employed as a computer for the Shell Oil company in Midland.

Conover To Pick Top Six Beauties

Pictures of Tech's 15 La Ventana beauties were sent today to Harry Conover, New York model agency head, Dick Brooks, yearbook editor or said.

Conover will choose six women who will be featured as top beauties in the '52 annual.

The original field of 16 women was narrowed to 15 as one woman failed to meet the 1-point average.

If You Want Garber . . . Gather Mistletoe!

Class Mistletoe Hunt Is Open To All; Profit Will Go For Spring Prom Music

Students who plan to attend the mistletoe picnic sponsored by the junior class should meet in front of Women's Dorm III at 7:30 Sunday morning, according to Dick Witte, class president.

Witte also said the picnic is open to all students, and no "classification prejudice" will be shown. Tentative plans are to go to Benjamin, which is about 30 miles west of Seymour.

Car transportation will be furnished for all who make the trip, and two trucks will bring the mistletoe back.

A list has been posted in each dorm to be signed by those who plan to go on the picnic. These lists must be signed by Saturday, according to Witte. A fifty cent charge will be made for each person to provide food which will be prepared by a food committee appointed by the junior class.

The juniors plan to sell the mistletoe to help raise money to procure a name band to play at the junior-senior prom.

Juniors who have not paid their class dues of one dollar are urged to do so soon. These dues are to be paid by juniors only, not by seniors as previously stated. Sixty per cent of the juniors in Men's Dormitory IV have paid their dues, said Witte.

HE-Aggie Christmas Party Voted To Be Annual Affair

Home Economics and Aggie Christmas party was held Tuesday night in the Green room. It was the year's first joint HE-Aggie party.

Those attending the party voted to make it an annual affair.

Opening with square dances and folk dances, the program included a reading "Twas the Night Before Christmas, in Texas, That Is!" by Sue Duggan; and the singing of several popular Christmas songs by Nina Spearman, accompanied by Norma Jean Ellingboe.

Seniors Will Omit Names On Graduation Invitations

The senior class voted to have Commencement invitations printed without a tentative class roll in called meeting Wednesday.

The decision was made following a report given by the invitations committee composed of Roy Grimes, Grace Garrison, Marvin Kitten and Mary Ann Kelley.

The committee was appointed at the last class meeting to study the comparative costs of invitations.

Thirty-four persons attended the afternoon session.

Final Script Deadline Set By Varsity Group

Applications are now being taken for the directorship of the Varsity show, for which the script deadline has been extended to Jan. 14, according to Charles Joplin, committee chairman.

Barrels Are Out—What About Gifts?

Response to Tech's "barrel drive" for gifts to needy families has not been good, according to Pat Johnson, publicity director for the program.

The annual campus project, sponsored jointly by the Men's and Women's Inter-Club councils, was inaugurated last Wednesday, when barrels for gifts of food, candy and toys were placed around the Tech traffic Circle.

The barrels will remain until the Christmas caroling program at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday on the Circle. At this time the barrels will be presented to a representative of the Lubock Salvation Army for distribution.

Sam Davis, former business major, who enlisted recently in the navy, is stationed as a naval cadet in pre-flight training at Pensacola, Florida. He is from Lubbock.

The deadline for a letter, stating the qualifications for directorship, has been set for Jan. 7. The letter should be mailed to the Varsity show committee, Student council office.

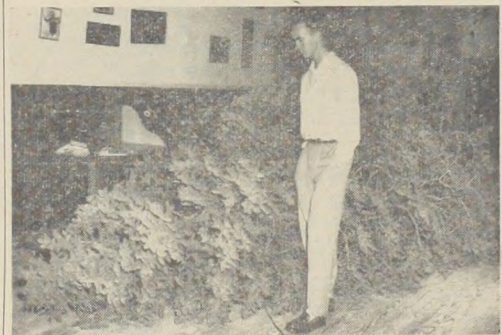

The script deadline has been extended to permit writers to have the holidays to work on them. The director and the committee will work together in selecting the script.

Committee Members

If time permits, writers may read their scripts to the committee to explain production and scenes, Joplin said. Other members of the committee are Rhea Myers, senior from Dallas; Mary B. Turner, senior, Palestine; Harold Brockett, senior, Lubbock; and Harry Clemons, sophomore from Lubbock.

In the past scripts have ranged from outline form, just guiding action in the show, to detailed dialogue. They have contained original songs and dances as well as popular and old favorite music. The show usually lasts for about

Stolen Spruce Becomes Costliest Tree Of Season; Techsans Are Apprehended

Six Tech students in quest of a Christmas tree cut down a 15-foot Colorado blue spruce in the yard of Tom Scarborough, 5104 34th, about 2 a.m. yesterday, according to I. E. Scott, Lubbock police desk sergeant.

Scarborough reportedly saw the boys load the tree into a pickup truck and drive away. He followed the pickup and another car that the boys were in, Scott said. He was able to obtain the license number of the car, Scarborough contacted Highway Patrolman M. B. Norris, who was giving a traffic ticket in the vicinity.

Norris checked the license number and found the name of the car owner. The pickup was later discovered on the Tech campus with a saw and several branches from the spruce in the back of it, the police report said.

Patrolman Sid Smallwood and N. H. Lasater contacted the car owner and apprehended all six of the boys.

The parents of one of the students paid $584 for the tree after the boys were presented a signed bill for that amount by Scarborough. Scarborough had agreed to drop all charges if the amount was paid. He said that he had been offered that amount by a prospective buyer. When contacted, he had no comment.

Deans in the office of Student Life were queried about the incident, but they stated that no sufficient investigation had been made for them to make any statement.

Fourteen Music Students Will Appear In Piano, Voice Program Here Tonight

The Texas Tech department of music will present 14 students in a piano and voice recital at 8 p.m. today in the Museum auditorium. Piano students participating are Beth Kellison, junior from Lock-

Instructors conducting the recital are Herbert Colvin, Mrs. Myrtle Dunn Short, Ira Schantz and Miss Mary Jeanne van Appledorn.

There will be no admission. The public is invited to attend.

AMARILLO MAN IS SPEAKER

Flames Damage Registrar's Vault

Slight damage was caused by a small fire which broke out about 2 p.m. Wednesday in the vault room of the registrar's office, according to W. P. Clement, registrar.

Defective wiring was listed as the cause of the fire, which burned the rubber covering the wires.

Since the building is entirely fireproof, there was never any danger, Clement said. The fire was put out in about ten minutes by an office worker.

No fire extinguishers were available at the time, Clement said he believed some would be brought over to the office shortly.

Nelda Key, 1950 graduate of Tech, is now employed by the Ballinger Public schools as choral director.

Aggies Stage Own Little International

A broader field of competition will highlight the fourth annual "Little International" livestock show, which will be held Saturday in the livestock pavilion. The show will begin at 1:45 p.m. and last until 5 p.m., when the grand champion will be chosen.

"Little International," whose purpose is to acquaint students majoring in animal husbandry with the methods and techniques of fitting and showing livestock, is sponsored by the Tech chapter of National Block and Bridge.

This year, for the first time, competition is open to lower classmen. Previously, only senior students were allowed to enter.

There will be two classes of sheep, two of dairy cattle, four of swine and four of beef cattle. The show is judged solely on how well the exhibitor has fitted and trained his entry and how well the animal is shown.

No admission will be charged for the show.

Student, Faculty Dramatists Will Have Christmas Dinner

Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatics fraternity, will celebrate Christmas with a dinner Sunday at 8 p.m. in the home of Miss Cecilia Thompson, 2012 Broadway.

The dinner is for student and faculty members of the organization, Jo Simmons, cast director, said.

Punch and cookies for all students and visitors to the Speech building will be furnished December 20 and 21st by the speech department, announced Dr. P. Merville Larson, head of the department.

FORUM PLANS LUNCHEON

Forum, senior women's honorary organization, will celebrate the Christmas season with a luncheon at 12:30 p.m. Sunday in the Colonial room at the Hilton hotel. A regular business meeting will follow the luncheon.

Students Build Sets
Stage sets for the production will be built by students also, and should not require overly expensive materials. The script should use as large a cast as possible, the plot not too serious nor too involved.

Last year's script, "Rec Hall Echoes," was written by Harry Parker, junior from Tulia. The show was directed by John McAleer, senior from Galveston.

Gene G. Conley, 1951 Tech graduate in finance and marketing, is now employed by the Federal Reserve Bank in Dallas.

Don R. Hammons, 1951 graduate in industrial engineering, is working for the Texas Electrical Service company in Fort Worth.

Rodney U. Goebel is employed by the Advertising Art company in Abernathy. He is a 1951 graduate in commercial art.

Majors Wanted
Students with the following majors should apply if interested: chemistry, physics and chemical, civil, industrial, mechanical and petroleum engineering.

Wendell R. Horsley, director of placement at Texas A&M college, will interview students Wednesday for a special agency connected with the National Security Council. Openings are for men between the ages of 22 and 30, who are physically and mentally vigorous and willing to serve overseas if necessary.

Experience Desirable
The agency is particularly interested in men who had war-time experience with the Office of Strategic Services or in communications. This service has a higher priority than the military.

Positions to be filled include librarians, geographers, design engineers, communications engi-

'Mr. Texas,' Story Of Billy Graham Will Be Shown By Baptist Sunday

A technicolor movie, "Mr. Texas," will be shown at the College Avenue Baptist church Sunday at 6:45 and 9 p.m., according to George Worrell, youth director.

The picture depicts the story of Billy Graham and his Fort Worth revival. It stars Cindy Walker and Redd Harper and is produced by Great Commission Film producers. It is the first Christian western picture produced.

Appearing in the picture are the Sons of the Pioneers and World Championship rodeo riders from the Texas Panhandle. It features the songs of Beverly Shea and Cliff Barrows and a 1,000-voice choir.

The public is invited to see this film.

JUNIOR COUNCIL HOLDS INITIATION AT MEETING

Dolores Howell, elementary education major, was initiated into Junior council, honorary service organization for junior girls, at the regular monthly meeting at 6 p.m. yesterday, according to Patsie Seales, president.

Other new members recently initiated are Sally Radebaugh, Lubbock; Lee Sneathen, Tulia; Marvel Gibner, Spearman; Joyce Sprague, Lubbock, and Sue Burks, Lubbock.

Baptist, Presbyterian Groups Plan Caroling Parties For Sunday Night

Two churches are planning caroling parties for Sunday night following the regular church services.

Presbyterian students will carol to invalid persons beginning at 8:30 p.m. The students are fixing a box to collect food for a needy family.

College Avenue Baptist young people will also have a caroling party after church Sunday night.

Watch for good "buys" in the TOREADOR advertising.

Language Clubs Plan Joint Party

Singing of Christmas carols in the various languages taught at Tech, including Latin, will highlight the Christmas party held for all foreign language clubs next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Scotti Mae Tucker, 3014 24th street.

Students of Sigma Delta Pi, Capa y Espada, Liederkrantz and Cercle Francais will be served refreshments typical of Christmas celebrations in foreign nations.

Colored slides taken last year in Europe by Dr. C. B. Qualla, head of the foreign language department will be shown as part of the program.

At 9 p.m. the students will listen to the German Christmas program broadcast by Liederkrantz over radio station KSEL, according to Dr. Qualla. The broadcast will feature the singing of Silent Night. Recordings made by Bavarian students who attended Tech last year will be used along with work by present Tech students.

Members of foreign language clubs who plan to attend the party are asked to give their names to their foreign language instructor, Dr. Qualla said.

Home Ec Open House Committee Decides To Feature New Building

Members of the Home Ec open house committee have decided to emphasize their new building in the annual affair April 18-19, according to Jane Foster, co-chairman of the committee.

In a meeting with the department heads of the division, the budget and plans for the annual open house were made. In past years the division has tried to show work done by students in the department.

"But, we want to show off the building this year," Miss Foster said. The new wings of the building were occupied in October. Co-chairman with Miss Foster is Mary Ruth Sims.

The annual Home Ec open house is held each spring in conjunction with the Engineering show.

An American Symbol . . .

Each week-day evening at five the stirring bugle notes of retreat roll across our campus. The flag is slowly lowered, to the cadence of the bugle call, by an army sergeant. Beside him, in rigid salute, stands an air force sergeant awaiting the flag. And with the final note of the bugle, the flag flutters into the sergeant's outstretched hands.

This simple, patriotic ceremony has been largely ignored by the student body since it was initiated by the military science department a few weeks ago. Proper respect should be shown to this ceremony: drivers should stop their cars, get out and, with pedestrians, face toward the music or the flag until the bugle has stopped blowing.

The reason retreat has been ignored is that most students consider it a militaristic tradition with no significance to themselves. It is a military tradition, but the qualities that it stands for—pride of country and of the individual—are significant to us all.

In the old tradition of the military service, retreat signifies the end of the day's activities. In the new traditions of Tech, it signifies a moment for silent tribute to the flag; a brief pause to re-emphasize our patriotic heritages.

Every student should feel a thrill of pride when retreat is sounded on the campus. Tomorrow, when the bugle begins to blow, don't ignore it. Stand up, face the flag and be proud!—Ervin Recer

Which Clock Is Right . . .

Promptness is a virtue—or so we are led to believe from childhood onward. In view of this principle, clocks play an important part in everyone's life, and more particularly in a student's life.

Techsians, being no exception, depend on the school clocks to aid them in reaching their classes on time. However, since few clocks on the campus register identical minutes or seconds, and since classes are conducted according to the clock in each individual building, a series of rather imposing problems confront tomorrow's pace-setters.

One of these problems is, how to reach a class in the Journalism building at five minutes past the hour when the last class in the Aggie building adjourned at two or three minutes after the hour. In some cases, the difference in time between two buildings is as much as ten minutes, thus adding unnecessarily to the natural state of confusion arising from the assumption and dismissal of classes.

This problem becomes increasingly irritating to both students and faculty as the same faces wander in late everyday. The synchronizing of the campus clocks would aid a great deal in maintaining pleasant relationships, as well as in aiding the practice of an appreciated virtue.—Nancy Browder

Pat's Patter

Class Meetings Stir Interest, Apathy In Freshmen, Seniors

Another gem of Techsian's apathy was noted at the senior class meeting Wednesday.

Thirty-four persons out of an upperclassmen population of 1044 turned out in force to decide upon invitations for commencement services.

Student Council SPEAKS

W.S.S.F., to most people means four letters of the alphabet, but to the students of foreign countries it means much more. The World Student Service fund is just what it says it is. It is a fund taken up in American colleges and universities for the purpose of serving world students.

The representative group heard a carefully compiled report from the invitations committee, discussed the question carefully and voted to leave the class roll out of end-of-the-year invitations.

Each year on our campus a drive is carried on by the Student Council to raise money for this fund. It is climaxed by a variety (talent) show held in the Recreational hall. This variety show is a relatively new thing on our campus; it has only been done two years now.

The decision was made on the comparative costs and values of the two types of announcements, one with and one without the class roll.

However, during the past two years the show has been a great success and around $170 has been collected each year. It is the opinion of the council that this is a very worthy cause and the spirit has been excellent for the past two years.

The decision was made by the minority—the interested class members.

With the help of the student body, this show, (and drive) can become one of the outstanding functions of our campus life.

Yet, we're waiting for howls next spring when other prospective graduates begin ordering commencement notices.

In contrast, students should take a look at the freshmen class meeting Wednesday night.

Although set at a time not conducive to good attendance, the enthusiastic younger Techsians pulled about 100 persons to their meeting.

Perhaps the upperclassmen are getting too old to attend such trivial things as class meetings.

Ohhh... Santa, Pleaseee Give Little Old Me A FUR COAT.

Gifts To Be Donated To Needy Children

By JOHN NORCROSS
Toreador Editor

Noticed the big green barrels in the center of the Circle? Probably you've passed by them a couple of times already without noticing much more than that they are all practically empty.

These barrels were placed in the Circle by the MCCC and WCCC in an all-campus drive to get gifts of candy, food and toys for needy Lubbock families.

Here's hoping the barrels will be full before the Christmas holidays. All gifts will be turned over to the Lubbock Salvation Army for distribution.

A program of Christmas carols and a campus sing-song will be conducted on the Circle at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in an effort to raise funds for the project.

While you rush about your Christmas shopping this year, don't forget to think of Lubbock's needy. Every gift placed in the barrels will help some child Christmas a happy one. Let's fill those barrels brimming full this year.

Most of us, whether we admit it or not, are fond of jumping to conclusions.

Last week when a news bulletin by the Associated Press was issued concerning Tech's meeting certain "standards" of the Southern Association of Colleges, students over the campus began asking, "Will my credits from Tech be good?" and "Why isn't Tech meeting the standards set by an accrediting board?"

The truth was that the college had received no word whatsoever from the Southern Association. To question Tech's standards in the undergraduate field would be as absurd as questioning those of Harvard or Yale. Since Tech has only recently expanded into the graduate, doctoral field, chances are the association feels that a thorough check should be made and will probably send a committee to the campus for that purpose.

Still, the president has had no word from officials of the association and nothing definite is known as yet.

BACKTALK

Dear Editor:
Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week the Avalanche-Journal carried articles concerning the lack of recognition of Tech by The Southern Association of Colleges. Just what part of Tech not recognized is not made clear; nor were any reasons given for the action.

To date, I have not seen any mention of this in the Toreador. It seems that the official attitude is "Just ignore it; maybe it will go away." For a school in which "There are no secrets . . ." etc., this action seems to me to be a bit unusual, to say the least.

Why is this? Does The Toreador not believe in justifying its existence by printing news when it occurs? Or is this just another example of the "unsecretive administration?"

Yours truly,
Stewart Phillips
The news story carried in the Avalanche - Journal Thursday (Dec. 6) was a release by the Associated Press. The Toreador does not have wire facilities and did not story in time for Friday issue. A front page article appeared in the Tuesday edition, however, with statements from college officials explaining that the Southern Association of Colleges, as yet, has not communicated with Tech's administrators. Just what "standards" the AP report was referring to is still a mystery.—The Editor

About The Campuses

A business major at Auburn concealed a wire recorder and a microphone in the ladies lounge during a fraternity party. Of eight hours of talk, six hours and 40 minutes were devoted to the Human Male in general, the "survey" revealed. Girls who had just left the room were talked about for three hours and 15 minutes.

A columnist in the Missouri Miner says if you wish to be investigated just carry a copy of Das Capitak at all times. You don't have to read it; just be sure that everybody sees you with it. You might try getting it in the original language.

Students at the University of Rhode Island gave the following answer when asked "What do you think of studying in the library?"

"I go there because I like to meet people, and you never can tell who you will find underneath the tables."

"The heavy reference books make good pants pressers."

"After studying for fifteen years it is too hard to concentrate with no noise."

From the Austin Pioneer comes this classification:

- Senior girls have glamour,
- Junior girls have bait,
- Sophomore girls have well-known lines,
- But freshmen girls have dates.

University of Arkansas students eventually lost their school spirit in the mud at Little Rock last week while their team rolled over Tulsa. One mud splattered cheerleader tried to carry on the work usually performed by eight while "at least one other cheerleader sat through the game in the stands," according to the Arkansas Traveler. The Razorback band, which only the week-end before had followed the team to Dallas, was unable to make it to Little Rock for lack of funds.

Flashcards are quite the thing in college cheering sections these days. At Georgia Tech, where they've been flashing cards for three years, a red feather was shown to support the Community chest drive.

Tech Raiders Down Wolfpack

Tech's Red Raiders continue their eastern swing by playing St. Joseph's college in Philadelphia tomorrow night.

Last night the Raiders defeated North Carolina State in Raleigh, N.C., 63 to 62.

The Raiders broke up a Wolfpack minute-and-one-half freeze and Paul Nolen sank a field goal to give the Raiders the victory. As the game ended North Carolina State was in possession of the ball, but a long shot by Bobby Goff bounced off the backboard and Tech won by the small margin.

The Raiders had fought back from a 10-point halftime deficit. The Wolfpack began yielding to the Techs in the third period as the Raiders pushed from the small end of a 43 to 33 score to a tie of 54-all at the end of the period.

The fourth period was close all the way, NCS taking a one point lead with two minutes to go and trying to freeze the ball to keep that lead.

NCS was rated tenth in the Associated Press poll this week.

The Raiders opponent of tomorrow is rated one of the outstanding teams among the independent schools of the east.

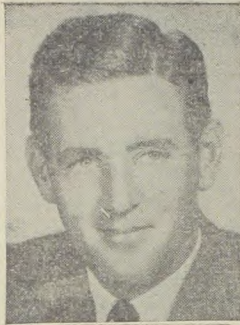

Returning from Philadelphia next week the Raiders stop in Nashville, Tenn., to play Vanderbilt university, winner last year of the Southeast conference, and picked to finish second in that loop this year.

Vanderbilt is rated behind Kentucky in SEC. Kentucky is presently rated the number one team in the nation, Vanderbilt is rated eighteenth.

Vanderbilt Commodores have been victorious in their first four starts this season. In their season curtain-raiser the Commodores downed Bradley university 55 to 51. They then set back Middle Tennessee 80 to 49 and Lipscomb 78 to 63. Last Saturday they downed Sewanee 86 to 63 to carry their winning streak to nine straight games.

The Raiders will have the height advantage, since the Commodores have only three players as tall as six feet, four inches. Only one, Al Weiss, is a starter. Weiss averaged 13.6 points per game last season. Average height of the first string for the Commodores is six feet, one and one-half inches.

COACH POLK ROBISON . . . most successful year?

Sun Bowl Ticket Sales Boom As Raiders Ready For COP

While Tech's Red Raiders were beginning preparations for their Jan. 1 meeting with College of the Pacific, tickets for the annual Sun Bowl classic were booming in El Paso.

The largest crowd in the history of the Sun Bowl is expected to view the game between the Raiders and the Tigers from Stockton, Calif. Some 16,000 can be accommodated at Kidd Field where the game will be played.

Both teams enter the Sun Bowl clash with six-four records for the season. While Tech won over five Border conference opponents and Texas Christian university, COP was winning over such teams as Clemson, Oregon and Marquette.

The Tigers were also victors over Loyola, Hardin-Simmons university and their final three games of the season against Denver university, San Francisco and San Jose. They defeated H-SU 33 to 7.

Coach DeWitt Weaver will continue workouts for the Raiders through next Thursday afternoon. The team will have six days for Christmas, returning to practice Dec. 26.

BALL-pointed pennings . . .

By Jimmie Henley

Tech appears headed toward its most successful year in sports. After taking the Border conference football crown, the basketball crown seems not an unlikely reward for the Raiders who are now on their eastern swing.

The victory last night over North Carolina State proves much about the Raiders—that they were not overrated in preseason predictions. It may possibly point out that the Raiders were underrated.

Defeat of Look Magazine's eighth picked team and the Associated Press poll's tenth team by the Raiders, offers hope for victories over the other foes on the eastern tour, none of whom were ranked as high as the North Carolina State quints.

Arizona is Tech's foremost opponent, it appears at this time.

ASCE, Dairymen Win In League I

Harold Deteau sparked the American Society of Civil Engineers to a 25 to 14 win over the Baptist Student Union Bums Wednesday night as the ASCE opened its schedule.

Deteau scored 12 points for the victors, Dennis Schultz led the scoring for the Bums with six points.

In another Independent League I game Wednesday Dairy club downed the Disciple Student Fellowship 17 to 12. Jim Cansler led DSF scoring and Deaton Rigby was the scoring standout for the DM.

In other intramural games this week West hall continued at the top of the Dorm league by socking Sneed Roughhouse 36 to 15. Carl Williams led the West attack with 11 points, followed closely by Johnny McBroom with 10. Leading the scoring for the Roughhouse gang were Bobby Waddle with six and Jack Harris with five.

Sneed Gymnasters won 26 to 20 over Sneed Demon Dozen in another Dorm league game Tuesday. Spencer Norwood scored 10 points for the winning Gymnasters. Robert Weisz scored seven for the other Sneed quintet.

which is theoretically used to inflict a wound. The blade has a blunt end and a guard which protects the hand. To win a match with a foil a fencer must make five touches in the valid target area.

The epee, dueling sword, is the modern modern version of the rapier used in the 18th Century. It is similar to the foil, but has a larger hand guard. Three sharp points, about 1-16 of an inch long, are connected to the tip of the blade. A fencer may win a match with an epee by making three touches. Any part of the body is valid target area.

The sabre, the third weapon used in fencing, is used for cutting as well as thrusting. Touches may be scored on any part of the body above the hips. In case you're one of those persons who thought a sword was a sword, the sabre is the weapon which Errol Flynn uses in his swashbuckling dramas.

In matches involving any of the three weapons the fencer's body is protected by heavy trousers and jacket, which are usually made of canvas. A mask is used to protect the head and eyes.

Here at Tech we have our own Errol Flynn in the form of Bill Spinks, senior fencing letterman and team coach. Spinks was Southwest Sabre champion last year and won the annual trophy awarded to the outstanding fencer of the year.

His supporting cast includes Don Olsen, who aided Tech last year in defeating Rice 5 to 0; Max Preston, outstanding in the Border conference invitational; Roddy Holson, transfer student with two years experience, and 25 eager new fencers.

This group will attempt to keep the perfect record which Tech began last year. Although the team will participate in the Dallas invitational this weekend, their first actual match will be with Texas A&M college. A definite date for this match has not yet been set. It will be a good curtain raiser, for the Aggies are rated one of the top fencing teams this year.

The Aggies should take heed, however, for Tech will not only be saying "en guard," but they'll also be saying their share of "touche."

MICC Ends Play In Games Sunday

Men's Inter-Club Council football league winds up play Sunday afternoon, with all eight teams in action.

Silver Keys are featured to win the league, having come through the season undefeated. However, a loss Sunday would lose the league championship to Socii, once defeated.

Socii's Sammy Hale is the threat to the Silver Keys Sunday. Hale has sparked the Socii by passing for five victories this year.

Socii's only loss was to College Club.

Silver Keys will be without their number one passer in the Socii tilt Sunday. Jack Alderson, guard on Red Raider basketball team, is with the team now on its annual eastern tour.

Other games to be played Sunday are between Kemas and College Club, Wranglers and Centaur and Los Camaradas and Adephi.

Fencing Team Schedules Initial Match In Dallas Open Invitational

By THELMADEANE HUTCHINS
Toreador Staff Writer

"En garde" will be the word during the coming weeks when Tech's fencing team engages in one of the world's oldest sports. Fencing, which was first taught the gladiators in Rome, has attracted 29 would-be swordsmen here at Tech.

This little-publicized branch of Tech's athletic endeavor has made a name for itself in the fencing world. The local fencers have won the Border Conference Invitational for the past three years, and last year were undefeated in the Southwest.

The first match for the Tech fencing team will be held at Dallas Saturday and Sunday in an open individual invitational meet sponsored by the Dallas YMCA.

Members of the team making the trip are Bill Spinks, captain and coach of the squad, lettermen Roddy Hobson, Don Olson and Max Preston and Bryan Close, Johnny Winston, Edwin Sims, Marvin Tommie, Robert Keesecker, Eddi Caldwell and Edward Lewis.

Fencing, which is considered a semi-major sport, involves the use of three weapons, the foil, the epee and the sabre. The foil is the basic weapon used in the sport. It is a thrusting weapon

First Sunbowl Game Was Close Battle

Raiders Play In Sun Bowl In 1938; Maxine Fry Is Queen Candidate

By JOHN TOLER
Toreador Staff Writer

A capacity crowd of 13,000 fans stood on its feet in the Sun Bowl and cheered as they watched Tech's Red Raiders push to pay dirt. But the University of West Virginia's Mountaineer line squashed Raider Tom Neely's kick and left the score: Mountaineers 7, Raiders 6.

Fry Is Queen

Hey! What's this? That game's three weeks off yet, and besides

No. That game was 13 years ago. It was Tech's first Sun Bowl game, played in 1938.

In spite of Cawthon's sensational coaching, and a fighting team led by Captain Ren Ramsey, Halfback Elmer Tarbox, and passing artist Bubbles Barnett, Tech experienced its only defeat of the season on New Year's Day in the Sun Bowl. The University of West Virginia's Kelly Moan, their alleged "Merchant of Menace," and Halfback Harry Clark were key figures in the slight loss.

Special Train Run

In that early year a special train was taken from Lubbock to the game, charging students $8.40 for the round trip.

According to The Toreador, the Student council "violated Tech's constitutional rights" in 1937 by allowing the Sun Bowl queen to be chosen by the football squad instead of the student body as the constitution required then. This action brought forth front page editorials and a bloody fight from The Toreador staff. The council refused to admit its mistake and it was finally decided to allow Miss Fry to represent Tech.

Raiders Overpowered

The game went well, and the Raiders fought hard, but the Mountaineers proved a little too much for them.

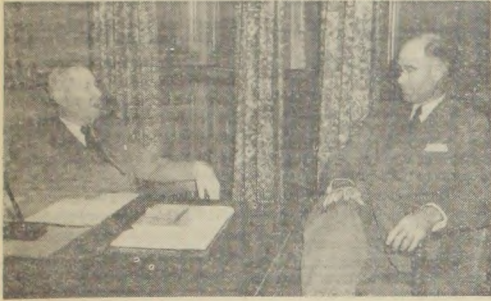

Besides the first game, Tech has played in the Sun Bowl two other times, losing to Tulsa in 1942 and to Miami in 1948. Raiders and the Association of Texas Colleges, has also traveled in every state in the union and Canada, since traveling is his favorite pastime.

ers of the past have also made the Cotton Bowl, in 1939, and the Raisin Bowl in 1950.

This year is another great year for Tech. Coach DeWitt Weaver's 1951 Raiders, with an excellent record, are going to hit the Sun Bowl again. This time, it is hoped, we are going to bring away their first Bowl win.

ADMINISTRATIVE TEAM—President D. M. Wiggins, left, and Vice-President E. N. Jones, right, were both outdoorsmen before they began their careers as educators. Both came to Tech in 1948.

Officials Enjoy Outdoor Life Despite Careers In Education

By NANCY BROWDER
Toreador Staff Writer

From the ruggedness of an early life on a Texas ranch to the presidency of Texas Technological college—that in a nutshell is the history of Dr. D. M. Wiggins.

After attending Goodnight Junior college, Dr. Wiggins went to Hardin-Simmons and studied social sciences, planning to continue his study of law. In 1919 he received his bachelor of arts degree after spending some time in the army.

Coached In Texas

Coaching then claimed his attention and he followed this career at Vernon and several other Texas towns, later becoming superintendent of schools at Canadian.

In 1942 he entered Yale and received his master's degree in administration. Following this he attended Chicago university for two years and became dean of students at Hardin-Simmons.

Receives Doctor's Degree

Returning to school in 1929, he received his Ph.D. from Yale in 1930. Teaching again beckoned and he went first to Texas university and later to Mississippi university as a pedagogue.

In 1935 he became president of the Texas School of Mines, now Texas Western, at El Paso. He held this position until 1948 when he came to Tech.

Three Accomplishments

Since his arrival here three major accomplishments stand out in Dr. Wiggins' mind. They are the advancement of the five million dollar building program, the inauguration of the distinguished professorship and the establishment of doctorate degrees in five fields, English, history, geology, education and chemistry.

Faces Unusual Decision

"The choice between a career in ranger work at Yellowstone National park or a career in the education field was a very difficult one to make, although I've never regretted my decision."

The man who was faced with this unusual choice was Dr. E. N. Jones, vice-president of Texas Tech. His interest in ranger work came some years after he had completed his education at Ottawa, Kan., with a major in biology and graduate work in botany at Iowa university.

The summers of 1928, 1929 and 1930 found Dr. Jones doing ranger work at Yellowstone while serving as head of the department of biology at Baylor during the regular terms. In 1930 he made the decision to stay with education and Baylor, for the time being.

Is Named Dean

Appointed dean of the college in 1935 and dean of the university in 1939, Dr. Jones stayed on until 1942. At this time he accepted the presidency of Texas College of Arts and Industries at Kingsville where he remained until 1948 when he came to Tech.

Old Toys Receive New Life At Christmas Fix-it Party

Painting and repairing toys will feature a Fix-it party given by students of Westminster Fellowship in the Presbyterian student center, at 7:30 tonight, according to Rev. W. F. Rogan.

The toys will be given to the Salvation army and Milam's Orphan Home to be distributed among underprivileged children.

Council Luncheon Is Held Tuesday

Discussion of the financing of the moving of the chimes and the possibility of Tech not getting the recognition of the Southern Association of Colleges and Universities was on the agenda of the monthly dutch luncheon of the Student council, Tuesday noon at Drane Hall.

In connection with moving the chimes Dr. Wiggins said that the administration would pay up to $150 to have the chimes moved. He recommended, however, that the actual maintenance of the chimes be left in the hands of the students.

Talent Show, Dance Held At Frosh Meet

Approximately 150 members of the freshman class met Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the Recreation Hall for a general class meeting, according to Elmer Wilson, class president.

Dues of 25 cents per person were collected and the class was urged to contribute toys, food and candy to the MICC Salvation Army barrels located in the center of the traffic circle.

After the business session, a talent show was presented. Skits included "White Christmas," sung by Dean White, Lubbock freshman and Bill Derrick, Bovina freshman. J. O. E. Osorne, Levelland sophomore, presented the second number, "Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer."

Patricia Holley and Phyllis Martin, Lamesa freshmen, gave a rendition of the "Charleston," and the freshmen football players gave a review of the different football stances.

Following the program, the class sang Christmas carols and danced.

Qualification Test Is Given 36 Men

Thirty-six Tech students took the selective service qualification test yesterday as part of the college deferment plan, according to Dr. Ernest Wallace, assistant dean of Arts and Sciences.

Although this was to be the fifth such test to be given in the nation, it was only the fourth of its kind on the Tech campus.

The tested students brought the overall number of tests given on the campus to about 800.

The test, which was held from 9 to 12 noon, yesterday morning, by no means assures the students of deferment, Dr. Wallace said. A score of 70 or more is required. This sum is subject to change.

Once the student receives his score, he must still notify his draft board and make known his request for deferment.
