

Annual German Varsity Show To Feature Hit Songs and Play

Tech's German Club will sponsor its annual varsity show, Liederkrantz Melodien, at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Foreign Language Playhouse, Ad217.

Several modern German hit songs will be sung by a group of Tirolean Yodlers. The group is composed of Janis Bulls, Monahans junior; Jim Caley, Snyder sophomore; Hardy McNew, Lamasa freshman; Larry Fordehase, Plainview sophomore, and Foster Cooke, Lubbock sophomore. Among other songs the group will sing "You are the Rose from Wother Lake" in German, and "Mariall."

To Feature Solos

Becky Bentley, singing star of the 1951 show, and Janis Bulls will sing a group of German solos. Miss Bulls, vice-president of the French club, will also sing "La Vieen Rose" in French.

A portion of the program will be devoted to a play in German written by a committee of German students. The play, entitled "Der Morder" is a murder mystery and will star Mack Noble, O'Donnell junior, and Margaret Helen Brown, Lubbock sophomore.

Hit Tunes Slated

Several American hit tunes will be translated into German. Among them are "Down Yonder," "Stormy Weather," and "Tea For Two." Enough English "brides" will be spoken for the non-German linguist to enjoy the show, Theodore Alexander, German club sponsor, said.

Freshman Class Meeting Called to Discuss Dance

A freshman class meeting will be held at 5 p.m. Tuesday in C101, said Elmer Wilson, president. Plans will be made for a freshman class dance.

All class members are urged to attend, Wilson added.

Local Music Sorority Gains National Charter

Mu Phi Epsilon, professional honorary music sorority, will install a chapter, Epsilon Pi, at Tech in ceremonies to be conducted Sunday and Monday, Mary Jeanne van Appledorn, music instructor, announced.

Mrs. Ruth Row Clutcher, Upper Darby, Pa., national president of the sorority, and Mrs. Olive Williams, Lincoln, Neb., west central province governor of Mu Phi, will attend the installation.

Pledge Ceremony

A pledge ceremony, attended by pledges to be approved by Mrs. Clutcher, will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Music building. It will be followed by a private recital at 4 p.m. in the Museum auditorium by members of the newly organized Tech chapter. The guests will be honored at a reception after the program in the Museum, Miss van Appledorn said.

Initiation and installation services for the petitioning group will be held from 6:30 to 10:30 p.m. Monday.

Petitioners

Also Pat Lindsey, Lubbock senior, warden; Beth Kellison, Lockney junior, chaplain; Marjorie Scales, Lubbock sophomore; Marjorie Hendrick, Olden sophomore, treasurer, and Johnnie Evans, Littlefield sophomore, historian.

Epsilon Pi will be the 71st chapter of the national sorority to be created.

"The purpose of the sorority is for the individual to become closely affiliated with students who are training to become professional musicians," Miss van Appledorn continued. "It will afford them contacts with professional musicians throughout the nation."

Outgrowth of Local Club

The Tech chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon has grown out of the Musical Arts club, and organization for women music students on the campus. Membership requirements for the sorority are to be a music major or minor with an 2-point over all grade average.

Projects which the chapter will undertake are the furthering of musical performances on the campus and building a school fund for needy women in music, Miss van Appledorn concluded.

REVERSE PROCEDURE—Maybe the leap-year day of February had something to do with it, but Friday the camera caught J. Russell Heitman, journalism department head, polishing apples for his students. The apples were a B.K. to F.W. gift to the prof from his copyreading class. Feeling his students needed the nourishment, Heitman polished up the fruit for (left to right) Adrian Combs, Delores Ketchersid and John Lee, journalism students. Barron, Dunn Fill Vacant SC Posts

Buddy Barron and Sammy Dunn were final winners in run-off elections held Wednesday to fill two vacant seats on the Student council.

Barron filled the post in Business Administration while Dunn took the one open in Arts and Sciences.

Final returns showed Barron defeated Robert Storey, 76 to 6. Dunn took a 122 to 85 win over Elizabeth McCain.

Tech will be host to a girls basketball tournament Friday and Saturday, March 7 and 8. District winners in Class A and AA will determine a champion to go to the finals in Austin.

Choir Directors Organize Association; Will Hold Annual Choral Clinic at Tech

The Southwestern Choral Festival association, which will promote an annual choral clinic at Tech, was organized at a meeting of high school choir directors held here Saturday.

The first two-day clinic will be held November 24 and 25, Raymond Elliott, associate professor of music, said.

Present plans for the clinic include inviting a well-known clinician to direct attending musical groups and holding a regional choral contest under the Texas Interscholastic league program.

The festival will give high school choirs the opportunity to sing with experienced groups under the direction of accomplished clinicians, Elliott added.

Prospective experts for the program are George Howerton of Northwestern university; Lara Hoggard, Fred Waring Glee club director; Harry Wilson, Columbia university, and George Lynn, Denver university.

Officers for the new organization are Dick Richards, Lubbock, president; J. T. Hendren, Fort Davis, vice-president, and Imogene Webster, Lubbock, secretary-treasurer.

Pre-Law Club Will Make Plans for Trial at Meeting

Plans for the annual spring mock trial will be made at meeting of the Pre-law club at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Ad321, according to Mary Walters, president.

All members and pre-law students are urged to attend the meeting.

Entries for intramural softball should be turned into Mr. Philbrick's office in the gym starting March 7.

'Kindness' Week Brings Good Will

"Be Kind to Faculty Week" has been proclaimed a success by both students and faculty members.

"There has been a building of good will and a general consciousness of the week," said James G. Allen, dean of student life. "It has caused building of a solid school morale, of which we need more. I hope students do not let this feeling die."

Following the B.K. to F. W. policy of not serving students unless they were accompanied by a faculty member, or vice versa, the Recreation hall served about 300 people Thursday morning.

"This attendance is a little heavier than usual," said Dan Pursel, Rec hall director.

Friday morning statistics were unavailable at press time.

La Ventana Staff Devotes Efforts To Writing Copy

Almost all La Ventana pictures have gone to the engraver and the staff is now devoting most of its efforts to writing copy, announced Dick Brooks, editor.

"We can still use plenty of help," Brooks said.

Students who still haven't bought their annuals should be reminded that prices are going up March 1 to $6.50, Brooks added. The present price is $5.

Miss Doris P. Smith, elementary education graduate of January, is teaching the fourth grade in the McCamey school system.

Court To Be Called Wednesday Evening

Tech's traffic court will meet at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in ad252, according to Lewis Jones, Assistant Dean of Student Life.

Any student may attend sessions of the court, said Jones. Plans for a permanent meeting place are pending. No data is available concerning cases before the court at this time, but Jones said that Tech's traffic problems have decreased since the institution of the court.

Aubrey Phillips, Brian Webster, Marvey Gibner, Jim McGraw and Roy Grimes are now serving as judges for the court which will meet weekly.

Techsans to Cast Penny Votes for Ugly Man Contestants During March Election

The Ugly Man contest, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, national service organization, will run March 10 to 15, Dick Brooks, publicity chairman for the contest, said.

Climaxing the affair will be a dance at the Recreation hall on March 15. The winner will be announced about 11:30 p.m., Brooks continued.

He will be presented a gold key with a likeness of "the ugly man" on it.

Entries will be accepted until the voting begins March 10. Names of applicants should be left at the office of Lewis N. Jones, assistant dean of student life.

Voting booths will be set up in the Engineering building, Administration building and Rec hall, Brooks stated. Votes are one cent each and may be purchased in any quantity. All profit goes to CARE to purchase relief packages.

This is the first year of the Ugly Man contest at Tech. Alpha Phi Omega is planning to make the contest an annual project, Brooks announced.

It is already being sponsored on many campuses by chapters of APO and has been a very popular event.

Brooks added that during the week of the contest it was hoped that candidates would "get into the spirit of things by dressing the part of ugly men."

Applications Due March 10 For Draft Deferment Tests

Male students who have not taken draft deferment tests and are eligible to do so, must make application for the test, before March 10.

Examinations will be given April 24 at a place to be announced later.

Application blanks may be obtained from proper divisional deans and must be sent to local draft boards. Passing score of 70 and rules and regulations covering the exam are the same as the last test, which was given in December.

Dysart Holcomb To Speak

"The Role of the Science Teacher of Today in Teaching the Scientist of Tomorrow" will be the topic of Dysart E. Holcomb, dean of engineering, when he speaks before a group of teachers in San Angelo March 7.

ASME Students To Attend Meeting

Two senior mechanical engineering students will enter competition with students from other senior colleges in this area at the regional meeting of the student chapters of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers to be held at Texas university Friday and Saturday.

The students are Charles Leonard, who present a paper on "The Use of Conduit Systems in Air Conditioning" and Harold K. Wilson, whose paper will be entitled "The Design of Internal Shoe Brakes."

Approximately 15 other upper-classmen, all members of the ASME, and four professors, M. B. McDonald, Floyd Y. Williams, Robert L. Newell, and Robert L. Mason, will also attend the meeting.

The Tech representatives will visit the research project in heating and air conditioning being carried on by the mechanical engineering department at the University.

The group will return to Lubbock Sunday.

Paul R. Barron, June 1951 graduate of agronomy and farm machinery, is employed at the Amarillo Air Force base as a jet operator instructor.

Tech Education Teachers To Be Honored at Odessa

The 17th annual convention of the West Texas Teachers association will be held in Odessa March 13 and 14, according to Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, education professor.

Dr. John S. Carroll, head of the education and philosophy department, will speak at the House of Delegates banquet March 13 in the Lincoln hotel ball room.

A tribute to the past presidents of WTTA will be given by Dr. E. N. Jones, vice-president of Texas Tech, on March 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the Odessa high school gym. Among the past presidents to be presented at this meeting are Dr. Jackson, 1949, and Dr. R. E. Garlin 1938.

Bob Schmidt, president of Tech Student Council, will address the general assembly of the South Plains Association of Student Councils.

Dean Will Judge Brahams At Cuban Livestock Show

W. L. Stangel, dean of agriculture, is attending the Cuban International Livestock exposition in Havana, Cuba, this week, according to N. C. Fine, assistant dean of agriculture.

Dean Stangel is judging Brahams bulls at the exposition. He has been judging livestock in county, regional and state meets, as well as in shows in other parts of the United States for 30 years, Fine said.

During his stay in Havana he is the guest of Dr. Torriente, national patron of the International Livestock exposition in Havana. He is to return to Lubbock Saturday.

Engineers Plan Inspection Trip

Members of the Tech chapter of the American Institute of Industrial Engineers will make an inspection tour of the Denver, Colo. industrial area March 2 through 5.

They will leave on the annual trip Sunday at 5:30 a.m., according to H. J. MacKenzie, sponsor. The group will visit Shwayer Brothers company, Gates Rubber company, Gardner Denver company, Stearns Roger company and C. A. Norgren company while in Denver. As they return to Tech, they will inspect the Colorado Fuel and Iron company at Pueblo.

Students making the trip the H. D. Boyd, Gene Bunch, W. L. Cannon, Rodger Dods, George Dowdy, R. W. Hairgrove, John G. Hoppe, Dale House, Tom C. Hudgins, H. G. Kerbow, Lewis King, Dick McGuire, Tom Redus, H. B. Spoons and K. Neal Taylor. Prof. Joseph S. Dwyer and H. J. MacKenzie will also make the trip.

Dr. Hemmle Is Conductor At El Paso Choral Chric

Dr. Gene Hemmle, head of the music department, served as guest conductor and clinician at a choral clinic Wednesday and Thursday in El Paso for local high schools and junior high schools.

The clinic was held in the auditorium on the campus of Texas Western university.

Dr. Hemmle will return to Lubbock Friday.

Color Slide Demonstration Given by Kappa Alpha Mu

The Thursday night program of Kappa Alpha Mu, national photography fraternity, featured color slides by Jack Glasco, manager of the photographic department of local Sears Roebuck & company store.

KAM members, the photography class and other prospective pledges attended the meeting in J208 at 7:00 p.m.

Foreign Students Express Interest in Attending Tech

The textile engineering department has received letters from three Greek student who are interested in coming to Tech to study textile engineering, according to L. E. Parsons, head of the department.

Two of the students are now attending textile school in England, but stated they would like to leave because of the wet climate. The youngest of the three is now attending high school in Athens, Greece.

Home Economics Seniors To Attend Four Lectures

Dean Margaret Weeks of the Home Economics division announced that four home economists in business will visit the foods and nutrition department in the near future to give lecture-demonstrations to seniors.

Miss Albertine Berry, representing Mrs. Tucker's products, was on the campus Thursday. Mrs. Helen Moser, representing Proctor and Gamble, will present lecture-demonstrations March 4 and 6.

On Monday, Miss Kathryn Sandmeyer, representing Evaporated Milk association, will present a program for home economics seniors. Miss Neva Skoog representing the National Livestock and Meat board, will lecture March 25.

Freshmen with 2.5 Average Eligible for Honor Societies

Freshmen who believe themselves eligible for Phi Eta Sigma or Alpha Lambda Delta, honorary society for freshmen men and women respectively, are asked to check this week with James G. Allen, dean of student life.

Qualifications are a 2.5 grade average for the first semester or for the entire year. Band and physical education courses are not accepted in this list.

Dean Allen's office is Ad165.

Will 'Guest-Visit' West Point

Bill Powell of Lubbock and Carl Gillham of Fort Worth, both outstanding Tech ROTC Army cadets, have been selected to visit the Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., for a week beginning March 27.

Powell and Gillham will eat, sleep, and attend classes with West Point cadets and be given a conducted tour of the Military Academy facilities with explanations of the customs and traditions of the Point.

The Department of the Army is sponsoring the trip to acquaint college students with life at West Point. Other senior ROTC colleges will send representatives at the same time.

Mrs. Rebecca Nesmith, who received her M.A. in English in 1950, is teaching in the Lubbock Public schools.

Journalism Topic Of Library Display

A journalism display is currently occupying the bookcase on the second floor of the library, according to Frank Temple, assistant circulation librarian.

The exhibit, which went on display Monday afternoon, includes books about such famous journalists as Joseph Pulitzer, William Randolph Hearst and E. W. Scripps founder of what is now the Scripps-Howard newspaper chain.

Many old issues of the Toreador have been selected to show the past events that have taken place at Tech during the years.

The exhibit will remain in the case through Saturday.

Century-Old Fans Shown in Museum

Eleven fans from the collections of Mrs. K. N. Clapp, 1642 Thirteenth street, and Mrs. J. C. Allensworth, 1906 Sixteenth street, are on display as the "treasure of the month" in the natural history gallery of the Museum, according to Mrs. Jane Moore, assistant preparator.

Five fans are from Mrs. Clapp's collection. One is an exquisite white wedding fan from Mexico with gold inlaid ivory shafts. Another is a black flirtation fan, edged in sequin covered lace with a delicate flower design painted on chiffon, with ebony carved shafts.

Fans from France and China are included in Mrs. Allensworth's collection. One is a sandalwood from China with intricately carved end shafts and solid filigree sticks. A fan from Cannes, France has ivory shafts and a picture of an eighteenth century group of people handpainted on it.

Square Dances at Rec Hall Tuesdays

First in a series of all-college free square dance lessons is scheduled for 7:30 to 9 p.m. Tuesday in the Recreation hall, according to Brian Boyett, square dance publicity chairman.

Sponsored by the office of student life and the Rec hall, the lessons will be open to all students, regardless of previous square dancing experience. Lessons will be given each Tuesday for five weeks, if there is enough student interest, Boyett said.

Caller for the instruction period will be Bill Brewer, who has operated square dance schools and is regular caller for all Rec hall square dances.

"Uncle" Jack Miers, one time champion fiddler of Texas, is scheduled to play for each lesson. The instruction series is designed to revive interest in square dancing on the campus, Boyett stated.

Slow Poke . . .

"I wait and worry but you never seem to hurry, you're a slow poke . . .", goes a popular song.

That would be rather unusual around here. Not that no one is ever late at Tech. Goodness, yes! (Ask when someone is late, it's usually not because they've been slow but because they just got in from a meeting or a class, or a beauty appointment, and just couldn't run any faster.)

Everyone is always in a hurry at Tech—always running away from one meeting to get to another one. We rush to join six or eight clubs, hold office in each of them, accept plenty of outside responsibilities, and carry a full load of classwork. Pretty soon we're spending our days racing from one activity to a dozen others—with never enough time for any of them.

A new semester is here; a chance to start all over again. We're not suggesting that you "learn to be a slow poke, too," as the man in the song does. We're only thinking that you might slow down just a little the next semester—enough to hear the end of the one club meeting, or finish one class assignment instead of skimming it, or really fulfil the duties of that office you were elected to.

It might be worth the effort.

—Pat Edwards

Reconsider . . .

Be Kind to Faculty Week officially ends Friday.

And the gals in Forum hope the faculty and student body have enjoyed the week as much as possible.

Of course, some of the campus sophisticates probably looked down their aristocratic noses at the week of informality and passed it off as "a bunch of bunk."

But it one more person now realizes his instructors are human beings, the week served its purpose.

If you're one of the "worldly-wise" who missed out on the fun of B. K. to F. W., why not extend it a day and take your profs out for coffee and kindness Saturday.

Better still, whether you are one of the scoffing minority or one of the enthusiastic majority, it would be an excellent idea to follow up with unofficial B. K. to F. W.'s the remaining weeks of the semester.

As is has been pointed out before, "Who knows? The faculty might relax and have a 'Be Kind to Student Week' say about final exam time . . . next May."

Reader Gives Campus Politicos "A Key to Election Success"

By PAT JOHNSON
Toreador Associate Editor

We recently received an interesting contribution from one of our readers.

We're sorry the article didn't arrive before the past elections, but perhaps the information can be of use to future political aspirants.

The title of the article was "A Key to Political Success in Student Politics at Texas Tech," and reads as follows:

1. You must be a politician (i. e. no guts):

a. Let nothing you say or do become controversial.

b. Stay in line with accepted policies (i. e. sit down and shut up).

2. You must be a joiner:

a. Join a social club (there are right ones and wrong ones—see who's in power).

b. Join departmental clubs and everything else possible (there are a few votes in each).

c. Join the ROTC (you'll be stuck after graduation, but isn't it success in college that you want? (Women may omit c).

d. Become semi-active around one of the many chuc student centers (on the whole you'll find they'll vote for you if they are so much as acquainted with you. They pretend to care what candidates stand for, but actually have little interest).

3. Start off with a bang (i. e. you must impress administrators that you are a LEADER from the start).

a. Run for an office in your freshman class.

b. Get in all the beauty and football contests possible.

4. Take part in some intramural sport with your club or clubs.

5. You can't be a pusher, but see that your name gets in the school paper and local paper as often as possible.

6. You can go too far to meet student approval, but if you wish to stay in favor with officials, make reasonably good grades.

7. Resolve to adjust yourself to this "cruel" world AFTER graduation.

If the majority of Techsians are as disillusioned about campus politics as the writer of the above letter, fuel is added to our long-standing contention that what this campus needs is—political parties.

Political parties would solidify issues in elections; would pick good candidates, and would arouse student body interest in college events.

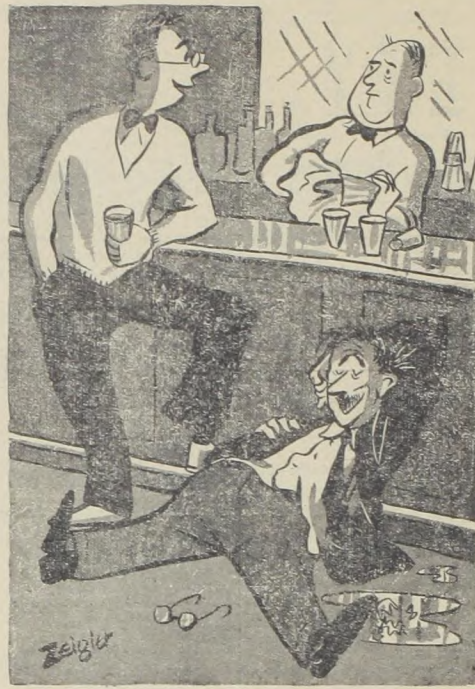

And last by no means least, political parties would raise campus politics from the realm of the present popularity race into an era of specific political issues.

Have you ever opened up a paper to find something torn out?

And didn't it always make you curious?

The same thing has been happening in the journalism building. The daily edition of one Texas newspaper comes up with a hole at the top of the funny paper page.

Finally the culprits were found. A group of "Pogo" fans. It seems the admirers of the comic strip 'possum are going to make a scrapbook for the strips for future reference.

Take Your Professor For Coffee This Week

By JOHN NORCROSS
Toreador Editor

If you haven't already been participating in B.K. to F.W., now is the time to get started. There are many ways in which you can practice kindness to your profs this week. Here are a few suggestions:

★ ★ ★ ★

With The Colors

New mail orderly for the 1st Floating Bridge company at Camp Pendleton, Oceanside, Calif., is James W. Norcross. He is now a corporal.

Former Tech student H. B. O'Neill, Jr., was in Lubbock last week on a seven-day pass. O'Neill is a hospitalman in the navy, stationed at Camp Lejeune, N. C. He was a pre-med major before he left Tech in February, 1951, to enter the navy.

Majorie (Tisdale) Roberts, sociology major and a Tech graduate of 1948, is with the Child Welfare department, Houston.

Robert Millard, petrological geology major and a 1951 Tech graduate, is with the Sinclair Oil company, Houston.

Cpl. John M. Jones, former journalism major, is now home on a 10-day leave. He has been serving with the air force in Louisiana.

Former Las Cams president Joe Overton is now stationed at Scott air force base in Illinois.

1. Invite your professor out to coffee. Remember, you won't be served coffee in the Rec hall through Friday, unless you have a faculty member with you.

2. Have a friendly greeting for all faculty members you meet on the campus. You can recognize them by the red and black ribbons they're wearing this week.

3. Make classes on time and participate in class discussions.

4. Pamper your prof's ego by asking questions which will give him a chance to expound on his subject.

Of course you could send flowers to your women professors, but cheerful countenance will be just as appreciated. The best compliment you can pay a teacher is letting them know you enjoy their classes.

B.K. to F.W. is mainly on the humorous side, of course, but you might be surprised what you can gain by being "kind" to faculty members—maybe even a talk.

Shirley Sears, director of the 1952 Varsity show, is soliciting talent for the production. She also needs students to work on music lighting, stage sets, costuming and dancing. Whether you've had any previous stage experience or not, you can help with this year's show.

There will be plenty of experienced hands around to show you how things are done. Producing a varsity show is hard work, but it's lots of fun. Production is scheduled to start immediately, so place your applications in the Student council office, Ad161, or give it to Miss Sears personally.

Thanks to the work of La Ventana staff and a number of volunteer helpers, the 1952 yearbook is rapidly being finished, but Editor Dick Brooks says he can still use help in completing the book.

Any student who has as much as an hour to spare can be useful can be of use in the office, Brooks says. Another two weeks should see the yearbook completed. Annuals will likely be available before

About The Campuses

Students on the campus of the University of Arkansas were able to collect the total of $2,174.85 recently for their Campus Chest. Various methods of collection were used including stopping motorists, presenting programs and casinos, sending women around on horseback and conducting an Ugly Man contest. The campus presented $238 to the local polio campaign and the rest of the money will be spent on campus organizations.

An asylum patient, who had been certified cured, was saying goodbye to the director of the institution. "And what are you going to do when you get out into the world?" asked the director.

"Well," said the patient, "I have passed my bar examinations, so I may practice law. I have also had quite a bit of experience in college dramatics, so I might try acting." He paused a moment, deep in thought. "Then, on the other hand," he continued, "I may be a teakettle." —"Missouri Miner."

Margaret Faulk, playing the part of an elderly woman in the current TCU Little Theater production, "The Curious Savage," had dyed her hair battleship blue for the sake of realism in the play.

Sul Ross college held a backward Valentine dance this year. The girls asked the boys and also bought the tickets. Most popular feature of the dance, however, was the "Kissing Arch." The boys got to kiss their dates, or anyone else's date, when they danced through the arch.

Free phones in the boy's dorm at Texas A&I college have been replaced by pay phones and the enraged students are engaging in a "sitdown strike." Seems whoever answers a ringing phone has to track down the person the call is for. No one has time for this so the phones are left unanswered—and the dormitory residents are attending to their business face-to-face.

at the end of the semester. Techsians who have not purchased a yearbook and wish to do so, will be able to buy one for $5 until March 1. On that date, the price of the book will be raised to $6.50.

Seed Growers to Meet on Tech Campus To Consider New Production Methods

Texas certified seed growers will meet in Aggie Memorial auditorium at 9:30 a.m. March 8, to learn up-to-date methods and information in the growing of better seed, announced Dr. A. W. Young, head of the departments of agronomy and agriculture engineering at Tech.

Anyone interested in production and use of better seeds is invited. Dr. Young said. Topics slated for discussion are "Sorghum and Cotton Varieties and Production," "Soil Fertility," "Chemical Weed Control," and "The Use of Fertilizers in Production."

Speakers for the all-day program will be R. V. Miller, chief of the state department of agriculture, seed division; M. D. Lacy, chief inspector of the state's certified seed program; Dr. E. P. Humbert, secretary-treasurer of the Texas Certified Seed Breeders association; C. B. Godbey, member of the Texas Seed and Plant board; C. E. Fisher, superintendent Spur Experiment station; Dr. Dick Kramer, Elmer Hudspheth and Lavon Ray, all of the Lubbock Experiment station; Cecil Ayers and Dr. Young, both of Texas Tech.

Mosley, Powell Honored As Best Member, Pledge

Hugh Mosley and Eldon Powell were recognized as the best members and pledge respectively of the Los Camaradas club for the fall semester during a breakfast honoring new members held Sunday.

New members honored were Powell, Hereford; Milton Newel, Hereford; Buddy Lowe, Gruver; Glen Whitmire, Snyder and Harold Wells, Friona. Mosley is a senior agriculture student from Friona.

Tech Will Be 'First Timer' At Bibliographical Meeting

Tech librarians will participate for the first time in the annual meeting of the Denver Bibliographical Center for Research Saturday through Monday in Denver, Colo.

The Library recently became a member of the Research center. R. C. Janeway, head librarian, and Mrs. Sibye Morrison, reference librarian, will attend the meeting as Tech representatives.

John Tom Baker, physical education graduate in June, 1951, is a Youth Center director in Midland.

E. Y. Freeland, who was athletic director for Tech from 1925 until 1929, is coaching at Zephyr High school in Brownwood.

KTTC Expands; New Studios Open

KTTC, Tech's radio station, is expanding and needs more announcers, according to Jess McIlvain, program director. He may be contacted in Gordon hall.

A new line from present studios to the Speech department has just been completed enabling it to broadcast interviews and dramas. The first program on this series will be Thursday night from 8 to 9 p.m.

A survey will be made within the next two weeks to determine the size of the listening audience and the types of music preferred.

An hour test period was planned for Thursday night. It was to include a fifteen minute interview by M. D. Stevens with the Tech traffic court, a fifteen minute tape recording of the one-act play, "The Minuet," fifteen minutes of music, and a fifteen minute transcribed show.

Jackson added that more definite program plans will be made after he has conferred with Jess McIlvain, program director for KTTC.

Wiggins To Speak Tuesday At North Texas Ceremony

Dr. D. M. Wiggins will speak at a recognition luncheon to be held on the North Texas State college campus, Denton, Tuesday as a part of the installation services for Dr. J. C. Matthews, new president of NTSC.

The luncheon is being held in honor of Dr. W. Joseph McConnell, retiring president who has served since 1934.

In addition to the luncheon, Dr. Wiggins will attend the installation ceremony at 10 a.m. and a dedication ceremony at 2 p.m. He will be accompanied by J. Roy Wells, his assistant and Mrs. Wells.

Elizabeth Carter, sociology graduate in May, 1951, is a field worker for the state department of public welfare at Amarillo.

Shakespeare To Be Cut By Speech Department

Script for Shakespeare's "As You Like It," spring production of the speech department is in the process of being cut and revised for production, according to Miss Cecilia Thompson, director.

Miss Thompson urged all students interested in reading for the play to watch the Toreador for announcement of try-out dates. All students having a one-point grade average are eligible to try out.

Class Watches Chickens Hatch

Members of poultry husbandry lab 231 took a field trip Wednesday and Thursday afternoons to the Vance Hatcheries in Shallowater to observe methods in hatching chickens, according to Mrs. Peggy Chappelle, department secretary.

Kirk B. Turner, assistant professor of animal husbandry, sponsored the trip.

Five Counties To Be Represented At Home Economics Meet Here

Twenty-five home demonstration women from five counties will participate in the district extension service meeting to be held Monday in the Home Economics building, according to Dean Margaret W. Weeks of home economics.

Helen Moser, home economist for Proctor and Gamble company, will give a lecture demonstration on foods and cookery.

Mina W. Lamb, associate professor of foods and nutrition, will supervise the program and arrangements.

Miss Whittenburg Gets Model Offer

Miss De Rose Wittenburg, Tech senior who was selected South Plains Maid of Cotton last December, received an offer Tuesday from Candy Jones, famed New York model, to come to New York and model during the summer months.

While Miss Wittenburg was attending the Maid of Cotton contest in Memphis, Tenn., last January she was asked to model for a longer period. She plans to accept the latter offer because it calls for her appearance only during the summer.

Miss Jones is the wife of Harry Conover, owner of the Conover model agency. The New York man was the final judge of the beauties for 1952 La Ventana.

Miss Wittenburg is one of the 15 Tech beauties.

Tech Tramples H-SU 72 to 58 To Secure Third Place in BC

Nolen, Turner Lead Scoring

Tech's Red Raiders cinched third place in the Border conference race with a 72 to 58 victory over the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys Tuesday night in Tech gym.

The excellent backboard work of Verdell Turner and Paul Nolen, and the good defensive play of the entire Raider squad made the difference.

Nolen took scoring honors for the night with 24 points and was followed by Turner with 16, Hank Green and Bill Preston leading the Cowboy's scoring attack, with 14 points each.

Although the Techsians held a 17-point bulge at the half, H-SU cut the lead to nine points midway in the third quarter. The Cowboys' hopes were shortlived however, when the Raiders began pulling buckets by Jim Eddins and Turner.

The Raiders never had a chance to relax during the threat in the third quarter. But they built their lead back to 14 points by the end of the quarter. Making the score 63 to 49. The Cowboys outscored the Raiders in the final canto, although neither team hit consistently.

The Raiders squeezed out a 35 percentage to Hardin-Simmons' 34 percentage in their field goal attempts. But the Raiders made 32 of 91 shots to 25 of 72 for Hardin-Simmons.

The victory over Hardin-Simmons gained for the Raiders a better won-lost average than they had last year. Their seasonal record now stands at 13 wins and 10 losses while last year they finished with 14 wins and 14 losses. Their only remaining game, except for possible post-season play, is against West Texas here Monday night.

MICC basketball will begin next Tuesday March 4. It is the last of the intramural basketball leagues to get started.

Paul Nolen Goes for Two Points

Region One Hi School Basketball Meet Gets Underway in Raider Gymnasium

The Region I University Interscholastic league basketball tournament got underway today, with first-round games reeled off in the Texas Tech gym.

Three games in each division will be run off Saturday, including the final game in each division.

Overwhelming favorites to win the Class A title are the Dimmitt Bobcats, who have breezed through their season without a loss. The Bobcats represent District 2-A.

Closer competition is expected in Class AA, where the possible favorite, Levelland, has been weakened by the loss of a key player. Canyon, having Levelland to three and two-point margins in non-conference games, looks dangerous.

Dimmitt boasts the best record of any of the 16 teams participating. J. W. Blaine's Bobcats have won all 29 games played. Billy Gregory and Marvin Axe are all-district 2-A performers in Dimmitt's lineup.

This is the seventh consecutive district title for Dimmitt, being mentioned for the state honors. Abernathy could be the other finalist.

Tech, West Texas to Tangle In Final Border Loop Game

Texas Tech's Red Raiders can spoil West Texas State's Border conference finish in a basketball game here Monday night.

If West Texas State wins, the Buffaloes will complete their season in undisputed possession of first place. But a Tech victory would push the Buffs into a tie with New Mexico A&M and force a playoff with the Aggies to determine the NCAA representative for the conference.

West Texas State has a 12-1 record in league play. Tech, 8-5 in conference competition, has third place clinched, regardless of the outcome of the finale.

Gus Miller's Buffaloes, 26th in the nation on defense, will throw a well-balanced attack at the Red Raiders. Five Bubbs have scored more than 200 points. Bill Price of Brisco, with 269, and Dwaine Stewart of Canyon, with 244, pace West Texas. For Tech, center Paul Nolen has amassed 355 points, guard Jack Alderson of Lubbock, with 249, and forward Virgil Johnson of Lubbock, with 243, are the others over 200.

West Texas is currently hitting 39.2 per cent of its shots as compared with Texas Tech's 34.5.

Three Tech starters will close out their careers as the Red Raiders seek revenge for a 66-57 defeat handed them in Canyon earlier. They are forward Verdell Turner of Lubbock, Guard Jim Eddins of Sudan and Alderson.

Company Representatives to Interview May and August Graduates Next Week

August and May graduates in architecture, engineering and petroleum geology, and women graduates in business education and secretarial administration, business administration, commercial art, chemistry and mathematics, are to be interviewed regarding jobs Monday through Wednesday.

Representatives of North American Aviation Inc. will interview students in architecture, civil engineering, electrical engineering and mechanical engineering Monday.

Electrical engineering and petroleum geology majors will be interviewed Wednesday by representatives of the Schlumberger Well Surveying corporation of Houston.

Representatives of the Texas company of Port Neches will interview students with majors in civil engineering Wednesday.

Electrical engineering and industrial engineering majors will be interviewed Wednesday by representatives of the Public Service company of Colorado.

Women students with majors in business education and secretarial administration, business administration, commercial art, chemistry and mathematics will be interviewed Tuesday by representatives of the Humble Oil and Refining company of Houston.

Students who are interested should report to the placement office immediately to schedule interviews, according to Mrs. Jenkins, director.

Jones To Attend Civil Defense Meet

Vice-president E. N. Jones will go to Austin March 6 to attend a meeting on civil defense called by Gov. Allen Shivers.

While in Austin, Dr. Jones and R. C. Goodwin, dean of arts and sciences, will meet with the committee on standards of the Association of Texas Colleges. They will present for evaluation the field courses being offered by the department of education at Tech.

Dr. Jones will also meet during the week with Col. Harlan Hodges of Lubbock, commanding officer of the 91-72nd group of the Veterans Air Reserve training, and Col. Edgar E. Glenn of Austin, commanding officer of the 3rd Air District.

They will discuss the possibility of offering courses for air force reservists in Lubbock and the surrounding area on Tech's evening program.

Instruction in Bridge Playing Planned For Mondays, Thursdays in Rec Hall

Instruction in bridge playing will be given from 7 to 8 p.m. each Monday and Thursday in the Recreation hall through March 13, announced Dan Pursel, director.

Bridge experts will be on hand at each session, he said. The classes will be open to all students.

Entries in the national bridge tournament now in progress have been mailed to the national headquarters in Chicago. Students competing in the round robin tournament are Sid Burleson, Cotton Faris, Leon Smith, Bobby Brewer, Clarence Barton, Barbara Martin, Jane Hyer and Betty Slough.

Winners in the national contest, to be announced around March 15, will get an all-expense paid trip to Chicago April 18 and 19 for competition in the international tournament.

Pursel also announced that instruction classes in manners and chess will be held in the Rec hall March 17 through 27 and April 21 through May 1, respectively.
