

Committee Plans For Campus Beautification

Members of the Campus Beautification Committee met and discussed steps to be taken towards a unified plan of campus planning that would be the basis of building and beautifying Tech, a plan that would serve the need of the college for the next 20 to 30 years, at a meeting March 4. It was decided that letters should be sent to the five academic deans asking that they discuss with department heads the needs of their areas and courses for the future at the first opportunity, sending suggestions to the beautification committee.

Jim Humphreys, chairman of the committee, pointed out that steps would be taken by the group until an overall picture of the needs of the campus could be visualized. As soon as the requisites are known, it is hoped by the committee that a landscape architect might be hired to draw up a plan, approved by the administrators of the college and followed in all future expansion.

The main issue at the moment, according to Humphreys, is that of parking space both for automobiles on the campus and those that will be here as soon as cars are more plentiful. Also the committee is considering plans for specified locations and time limits on announcement and political posters placed at random on the campus at present, remaining until someone removes them only to put another in its place.

As soon as the deans are contacted and have given the beautification committee an outline of their needs, action will be taken by the committee to get student interest and ideas on the future needs of the college.

Members agreed that no action on their part would be wise until a unified plan is adopted, because should landscaping be done, it might be in the wrong place when a building is to be built. Members planned to force the issue, however, in order that some definite steps towards improving the present appearance of the campus might be started this year.

Block And Bridle To Hold Rodeo

Block and Bridle club, which is composed of junior and senior animal husbandry majors, decided to sponsor an all-college rodeo this spring at a meeting of the club last Monday. Three new members, the first since 1943, at which time the club became inactive, were initiated.

Jason Gordon, county agent for Lubbock county and a Tech alumnus from the Agriculture division, spoke to the club. Ed Dawson, president of the organization, presided.

Plans for the rodeo are tentative pending study of details. According to Dawson, the scheduling of the date on the college calendar is the pressing issue. The group will sponsor the election of Rodeo Queen and the Cowboy Dance the evening after the Rodeo.

Before the war, Block and Bridle put on annual rodeos. The last one was held in 1943, at which time an unpredicted cold spell interfered with the success of the venture, Dawson cited.

Three AHJ majors who became eligible for membership in the organization during its period of inactivity were initiated at a special service. They are Ed Boaz, John White and Bob Boyd. Regular initiation will take place in May.

25 Etchings By Americans On Display March 5

An exhibition of twenty-five original etchings and lithographs created by several noted American artists will open on March 5 in the Architectural and Allied Arts division on the second floor of the Engineering building. The exhibition is a loan collection from the Associated American Artists Galleries of New York.

Many of the works being shown were in the selection made for exhibition in the American Library in Montevideo, Uruguay, at the request of the Department of State. The exhibit has been chosen to give a representation of the fine print-making being done by contemporary American artists living and working in this country.

The artists represented in the collection on exhibition are among the best known in American painting. Many of them hold top awards in national art competitions.

The Associated American Artists of New York, who have lent this exhibition, is the only existing organization in this country offering signed, original prints by noted contemporaries at a single program price of $5 each. All of the works in the exhibition are for sale. This program was begun ten years ago to stimulate national interest in the ownership of contemporary American art.

Among the museums in which works from this program are now permanently owned are the Metropolitan Museum of Art, Whitney Museum of American Art, Art Institute of Chicago, Dallas Museum, Kansas City Art Institute, and many other museum, university and college collections. The Texas Technological College Art Institute has several prints in its permanent collection. These will be placed on exhibit during April.

Veterans Passing In Ag Division

A comparative poll taken in the Agriculture division by H. L. Kipp, veterans coordinator, produced the following results. Veterans falling one or more courses totaled only 34 per cent in comparison to 54 per cent of non-veteran aggies failing one or more courses. Aggie veterans failed work to an extent of 57 credit hours while non-veteran students in that division failed 308 hours.

If there were the same number of veterans enrolled in the Agriculture division as there are non-veterans the average would then be a total of 308 hours failed by non-servicemen in contrast to only 186 which would be average of hours which would be failed by veterans.

The ratio of Aggie non-veterans failing 6 hours to that of veterans failing the same number of hours is 9 to 1.

Greeks Express Thanks For Gifts

Letters from appreciative Greek fraternities, expressing gratitude for boxes mailed them at Christmas time, are being received almost daily by members of Texas Tech's Home Economics club.

The organization sent 50 boxes of food, clothing, books and toys over-seas to refugee families.

One letter, written by a mother of six children whose husband and father were "killed by the Germans a spring day of 1943," is as follows: "This country where we have been born, Europe, the birthplace of civilization, the place which spreads its light to every corner of the world, is nothing else but a continuous river of human blood shed by some ambitious leaders to conquer the world.

Fortunately, far away from us lies America, the country which looks with sympathy at the position of the Europeans. The United States will not delay and will ring all over the world the Hymn of Freedom. That is the best," she concluded.

Rifle Team Wins Ninth Match

The rifle team of Texas Technological college won its ninth match at the state level last week against Alabama University. They won from John Tarleton, Henderson State Teachers college, North Texas Agricultural college, Rice institute, University of Oklahoma, two from the University of Arkansas and the University of Alabama. They also won the William Randolph Hearst Trophy match. The team forfeited a match against Oklahoma A and M. because of a misunderstanding as to how many men should fire in the match.

Those firing in the match against the University of Alabama last week were Audie R. Lee, Joe O. Arrington, Donald E. Black, William C. Brook, and W. K. Willingham. The score was 953 to 866 out of a possible 1000.

Tryouts Held Sunday For Varsity Show

Acting, Singing, Dancing Parts For 1946 Show To Be Announced Monday

Try-outs for acting, singing and dancing parts in 1946 Varsity Show were held last Sunday. Selection of the cast will be announced Monday. More than sixty singers and dancers performed Sunday afternoon. Betty Bob Diltz, Francis Clominger and Joann Hale conducted the dancing try-outs which were held in the basement of the Press building. Panze Butler, Jamie Trainer and John James Haynie were in charge of the singing and piano solo try-outs, which were held in Annex C of the Home Economics building.

At a meeting of the production staff last Monday evening, Louise Ince was appointed director in charge of acting. She scheduled try-outs for casting last evening in the basement of the press building, headed by Haynie. All the music used in the show will be the original compositions of Tech students.

Script Is Selected

The script submitted by Joe Meador and Bea Green was selected for the production. It is a three act musical with its setting on Tech campus, the theme of which is a political campaign.

Original songs are being submitted by members of the music staff, headed by Haynie. All the music used in the show will be the original compositions of Tech students.

"There is still a need for more dancers," says Diltz. "Anyone interested in trying out for a part in the dance chorus, who was unable to attend try-outs Sunday, may still do so, by contacting one of the three dance directors."

Sprinkler System To Be Ready Soon

According to George B. Long, superintendent of grounds, the water system being constructed in the Tech campus circles should be finished in two weeks. When connected with the main water line, this system will water the circle and the boulevard to College avenue with out an inch of water hose, making lawns possible even though labor is scarce.

The small fence in front of the Administration building are there for the protection of the daisies which were planted last summer. Less recent additions to the beautification campaign are the "Keep Off-The-Grass" signs which were made by Alpha Phi Omega, a service club.

Annual Fashion Show Is Set For March 11

"Spring Song of Fashion," Tech's annual spring fashion show, will be sponsored by the Home Economics club and presented March 11 in the Aggie auditorium.

Miss Olive Berry, a representative of the Simplicity Pattern company, will bring to the campus 18 college-girl outfits that will be modeled by members of the Home Economics division in the show.

Miss Berry will also speak in the Home Ec building at 11 a.m. March 11, on the following topics: opportunity for the textile and clothing student; helpful hints on looking for a job; dressing and grooming for the interview; and how simplicity patterns are made. Anyone interested is welcome to attend the lectures.

Making arrangements for the fashion show Miss Mabel D. Erwin, head of the department of clothing and textiles, Mrs. Lucy R. Bibb, assistant professor of clothing and textiles, and Kathryn Millsap, senior clothing major.

Stangel And Fine Attend Amarillo Fat Stock Show

Dean W. L. Stangel and N. Casey Fine attended the Amarillo Fat Stock show Tuesday where Mr. Fine helped judge the show.

R. C. Mowery, professor of Animal Husbandry, was in Abilene Tuesday attending and judging the Abilene Junior Livestock show.

Spring Is Here At Last

By MILDRED YOUNG
Toreador Staff Writer

What did you dream about in class today? Here's hoping you haven't been dreaming those dull drab winter dreams because if you have you're slightly out of date. Spring is here! You must know March is here, to say the least, after chasing your wig across the campus through that not-at-all-unusual West Texas rain storm.

Why even the professors know spring is here. A certain staff member has given his class their annual walk and entertained that unasked-for spring visitor—snow. Now the wind may be shaking the so-called class rooms with all its fury but nevertheless spring is here to stay until "the good ole summertime" turns our fancy from thoughts of love to that summer tan at the beach. There are some green leaves on the trees, the A. P. O. grass is beginning to acquire that certain shade of green, and if one looks far enough one might even see some purty little flowers.

One thing the Techsan sees for

Second Concert To Be Played Here Sunday

The second in a series of six band concerts will be presented Sunday, March 10 at 3 p. m. in the Tech Gymnasium. The band will be presented at the first of the concert, followed by the concert band. This will be the first time during a long session that Tech has ever used two bands in a public concert.

The guest director will be Doris Ragand, senior band major and the B band will be directed by Joe L. Haddon. The B band will present March-St. Julien by A. W. Hughes; Overture — Mantilla by Paul Yoder; Hymnus by Fellitz; and March-Men of Ohio by Henry Fillmore.

The concert band will present a complete Tschakowsky program, excepting a cornet solo. The solo, Grand Russian Fantasy will be given by John James Haynie.

Track Team Leaves For Olympics At Laredo

The track team left this morning for Laredo to enter the Border Olympics, which are to last today and tomorrow. The names of the ten men making the trip were not early but early indications were that Charles Reynolds, Hewitt Allison, George Brewer, and James Hollingsworth would participate in the sprint event and quarter-mile relay team; Buck Terrell and Walter Schlinkman in decur; Milton Butler and James Crusier in the mile and one-half run and Maxey McKnight and Buck Terrell in hurdles.

Spring fever is a serious illness, very serious. Yes, this is March and spring is here! Precautions are too late. Spring fever has struck! Now is the time for all great men and women to come to the aid of their "larning" institution. Now and now only is the time to buy last year's notes and test papers from Susie, to take those eighteen wonderful cuts sipping a coke in your favorite hangout or just staying home sleeping, to change those beautiful friendships into these things called romances.

This is a serious situation to have such an epidemic on the Tech campus at such a time as this. But loyal little Techsans, all 3,000 of them, will take this critical happening in their stride. Students of Tech shall look at the circumstances sensibly. No Techsan will be conquered. Every last man and woman on the campus will take up their books and march to their classrooms determined to sleep in those uncomfortable classroom chairs with as much ease as their instructors' monotone will allow them. And so on to sleep, fellow Techsans!

Louis Jones Presents Museum With Arrowheads

Several hundred flints collected by Louis Jones of Mount Pleasant presented to the West Texas Museum on the Texas Technological college campus, according to Dr. W. C. Holden, curator.

The collection includes arrow points, lance points, scrapers, knives, chisels and war club spikes, all collected near Mt. Pleasant in Titus county.

Jones also presented a pair of old spectacles, made of wire, which were worn by an old Negro slave about a 100 years ago.

Tech Directors To Have Special Meeting March 30

Proposals For Building Of Dormitories To Be Opened In Ft. Worth

Tech board of directors will hold a special meeting in Fort Worth on Saturday, March 30, when proposals for the construction of four new dormitories will be opened. W. T. Gaston, Tech business manager, said he had been asked to call the meeting by Charles C. Thompson, of Colorado City, chairman of the directors.

The meeting will open at 10 a.m. and will be held in the offices of the college architect, Wyatt C. Hedrick.

Tentative plans for location of the two unit dorms are to build the mens dorm just north of Sneed hall facing College avenue; the girls dorm, south of Craddock hall also facing College. With only a few minor changes the boys and girls dorms will be built identical.

Two unit wing formation buildings have been planned. Wings of the dorms will extend forward from the building entrances which will eliminate inside rooms. Each unit will contain 164 rooms making each of the two new dorms have 328 rooms. Separate dining halls for each unit will be served from a connecting kitchen. It was at one time thought that the second floor above the dining room-kitchen section would be utilized as a ballroom in the girls dormitory, but that has been eliminated. The kitchen will extend to the second floor with the space above the dining halls arranged in four suites which will contain a bedroom, living room and bath. Third floor will be entirely divided into two-person rooms.

Triangular space adjoining the turn of the wings of each unit will be utilized as special rooms such as laundry, concession room, candy kitchens, and beauty bars. Adequate lounge space has been designed with twin lounges opening off the main lobby.

20 Per Cent Vote In Publications Elections Feb. 28

Approximately 20 per cent of Tech student body voted in the publications' election on Thursday, Feb. 28, in which Alice Meadling and Robert Erdudis were elected editor and business manager of La Ventana; student from Stanton, editor and Barbara Green and Burton Crossen were elected editor and business manager of the Toreador.

Pardue, freshman arts and sciences student from Lubbock, was opposed by Dorothy Cantror, student from Stanton, and journalism student from Lubbock, candidate for reelection. Barbara's opponent was W. O. Rucker, junior arts and sciences student from Lubbock. The other candidates, Alice Meadling, sophomore journalism student from Stanton, and Burton Crossen, junior commerce student from Dallas, were unopposed. Crossen filed the only petition for the office of business manager of the Toreador, and the other two candidates for editor of La Ventana, Dorothy Cantror, sophomore journalism student from Santa Anna, and James Savell, sophomore agricultural student from Stanton, were declared ineligible because of grade point averages.

The candidates will assume office at the beginning of the fall semester, 1946.

Tech Talent Is Presented To Vets

A program of Tech talent was presented at the meeting of Tech War Veterans last Tuesday evening, which was in honor of wives and dates of members. Sponsors for the coming year were elected.

Joe Meador was master of ceremonies. Appearing on the program were Jamie Trainer and Sue Son, who sang "Who's Gonna Kiss Your Two Pretty Lips"; "Smoke On The Water" and "Just Because"; to the accompaniment of Jamie's guitar; Pollyanna O'Neil played two selections on her accordion; Betty Bob Diltz sang and tapped; a trio consisting of Daine Pierce, Lamar Jackson and Bill Felty sang "Love Letters" and "Hubba Hubba"; and Marilyn Anderson and Peggy Williams did a tap dance set to Boogie Woogie music, accompanied by Jerry Taylor on the piano. Sam Nee Smith played for the trio the blues songs and the song and dance number.

A business meeting preceded the program, at which time sponsors were voted on by members. The new sponsors will be announced at the next meeting of the group, which will be on March 19, at 7:30 p. m. in C-101.

DORM TO HAVE DANCE

The residents of girls' dorm II are sponsoring a sport dance Saturday night from 8-11:30 o'clock. A nickelodian will furnish the music. All men students are invited to attend.

The Negro Question ...

The editorial below was printed in the March 1 issue of The Daily Texan, publication of the Texas University, and since the subject is of vital interest to all Techs and Texans, The Toreador reprints their column.—Ed.

It is unnecessary—and somewhat beside the point—to speculate on the ultimate outcome of the case that has arisen concerning the admission of Negroes to the University.

The issue is not whether Negroes shall attend the University—it is whether or not Negroes shall be given equal education opportunities in Texas.

This has been the issue for a long time. The people in position to settle the issue squarely and fairly have consistently sought to avoid making a final decision in good faith. When men such as Dr. Homer Price Rainey, former president of the University, Dr. T. O. Walton, former president of A&M and L. A. Woods, State superintendent of public instruction, recommended establishing equal facilities for Negro education their suggestions were hatched by the ever-ready charge: "Nigger-lovers."

What these gentlemen recommended more than four years ago was the conversion of Prairie View Normal into a first-class university. Since then the suggestion has been relatively ignored by the Legislators and never pressed by other State government officials, some of the men have been deposed, and until recently no mention was made of the matter. Now that the issue is being drawn into the open, the opponents of the men who originated this suggestion are beginning to revive the plan and present it as their own.

Irrespective of the sources of suggestions, however, the plans thus far presented to meet this issue are halfway measures that will not, and cannot, solve the issue. The major proposal, for example, provides only that instruction be provided at Prairie View when a request is made. By that provision an entire law faculty would have to be employed merely to meet the needs of the one aspirant who applied here. It is neither economical nor normally honest to suppose that such a provision is anything more than a "delaying action" to the granting of decent educational opportunity.

A positive view is needed. If the proper steps are to be taken the State should vote funds and provide for a first-class institution at Prairie View. It should set up a medical school, a law school, and such other professional schools and encourage Negroes to enroll. The State would benefit far more than it would lose from such an honest and open action of good faith.

If there is a lesson to be taken from this incident it should be that bigotry and prejudice is the inevitable road to trouble—open-mindedness is the only profitable approach. The bigotry that has retarded the obvious progressive action in this case may, ultimately, prove costly and damaging to the State, the University, and the people of the State.

Those Old Placards ...

Something that will require the services of about three janitors for three or four days on the campus is the cleaning of bulletin boards.

During the last campaign for publications offices, and for some time past, large posters, advertising everything from a lost pair of pajamas to a veterans' meeting, have become plastered on various bulletin boards and posts throughout buildings on the campus. These signs were in all probability put up in all good faith, with their aim to inform students of different things. But, it is getting about time some that were put up at the first of school were taken down. The person who puts up the signs has the authority and it seems to us, the duty of removing from bulletin boards, all antiquated signs. Why not make a rule?

Friends are still gasping over the announcement of the secret marriage of Elizabeth (Umpy) Robinson and Hubert Bechtel on July 2 in Clovis, New Mexico. Both are former Techs, and Umpy was Miss Texas Tech in 1944.

Mack Elston was disappointed in the quart he won the other night. It was milk ... no wonder.

Elizabeth and Howard Schmidt make an attractive brother-sister combination. Liz is a commercial art major and it's rumored that she is quite interested in etchings. What about that, Liz?

Jean Porter, MGM starlet, was a campus visitor recently. She is from Big Spring, Texas, and was visiting Ann Talbot and Betty Bob Ditz.

Don Dudley, ex-Red Raider, returned to Tech campus as a visitor of Doris Cornelius. We wonder what Alan Nelson is doing now.

Winfred Hooper made all the girls swoon at Varsity Show try-outs Sunday. He's quite a crooner. Bill Kennedy got pretty excited Sunday afternoon when the stork gave him a false alarm. His wife is the former Jerry Shaw.

The Count is wondering who has who worried. MARVIN BROWN or EDNA UNDERWOOD?

TOM DOUGLASS is said to have a certain unmentionable object in his possession that belongs to PAT SMITH. What about that, HOLLIS?

BLACK AND BRIDLE members were pressing girl friends for the loan of the same unmentionable articles for some sort of initiation. MARY FRANCES BARNARD and CHARLIE SNURE are no longer on the steady list, but they are still good friends.

NEWELL REED of late the man about town, seems to be leading a double life. Have you heard about this, GLADYS?

JIMMIE JEAN BALDWIN has quit school to get married. She is marrying a local boy, PAT RYAN of Lamesa, in June. Congratulations!

BILLIE JEAN PRICE and SAMMY STOUT were together at the Engineers Ball. Twas quite a function, they say.

YVONNE SCOTT is sporting a huge sparkler from her Amarillo boyfriend. His name is DON BAGETT.

MARJORIE CREWS went home this weekend to break her engagement to her sailor boyfriend. She's been seen a lot lately with DARRELL FREEMAN.

JAMIE TRAINER was with her boss, PHILLIP KLEGMAN, Thursday night. Were you practicing, JAMIE?

Count has heard that DON CORNELIUS definitely has the hanky on JOHNNIE MAE SMITH. She too has that certain gleam in her eye.

CHUBBY COBB and his shadow, JERRY TAYLOR, are seen frequently on the Avenue. Looks bad.

NEW BOOKS

New Books Available at the Library This Week.

The American Mercury. The American Mercury Reader, 1943. A collection of stories, articles, and poems reprinted from the American Mercury of the years 1924 to 1944. A good selection chosen with an eye to permanence of interest and pure entertainment value.

Encyclopaedia Britannica. Contemporary American Painting 1945. A profusely illustrated book on American painting of the last 30 years. The illustrations, 42 of which are in color, are accompanied by brief discussions of the painters. Kunkel, Fritz. In Search of Maturity, 1943. A doctor's ideas about a psychological and religious approach to the problems of personality adjustment, to be regarded as one man's views rather than as an infallible guide, but a book which you will not regret having read. Waugh, Evelyn. A Handful of Dust, 1934. Not a new novel, but one that deserves reading and even re-reading.

White, Owen P. Texas, an Informal Biography, 1945. According to the introduction, "Texas was His (God's) challenge to the tall, the tough, and the ugly to come and get it. They came and got it." Not unadulterated history, but a colorful, almost lurid, picture of the live-

GRAMMA, WHAT BIG EARS YOU HAVE ...

Tech Coeds Hear Call Of The Wild

Little Red Riding Hood's bitter experience with the big, bad wolf should serve as fair warning to Tech lovelies. For, aside from the drugstore howlers of college fame, several coyotes—sans sheep clothing—have been found in the southeast pasture of the college property.

In their various activities, therefore, it is suggested that the young ladies of the campus take great pains to identify the fictitious from the genuine, keeping in mind the old adage—"all that glitters is not gold." In this particular instance, the coed would definitely prefer a coin of a duller hue. Although it is unnecessary to follow Red Riding Hood's rather thorough line of questioning in distinguishing between the two species, it might be the better part of valor to have any potential "wolf" present his credentials—howling should be eliminated from the campus entirely. Shall whistling may still be acceptable, since it has been definitely proven by science that coyotes do not possess this habit.

Direct in contrast to their human counterparts, the Tech coyotes are shy, preferring to live a nomadic existence. They are the pursued rather than the pursuer. This specific trait may be viewed as comparative or contrasting to their Tech brothers, in accordance with the reader's own views. Despite their apparent docile nature, the majority of the Tech students and the faculty feel this wolfish addition to the campus is expendable.

No such statement has yet been made concerning the Tech Male Animal.

Letter Writers Must Sign Names

Notice is given this week by the Toreador that all letters to the Editor are required to be signed by the student or students responsible for their having been written.

Several letters have been received, addressed to the editor, with no signature. According to rules of the Publications committee, all letters to the editor shall be signed and must stay on file in the office of The Toreador for one school year or nine months.

Students who do not wish their name to appear under their letter should so state under their name. Any person wishing to have a letter published is required to do this.

Mary Love Walker, January graduate in home economics, has assumed duties as home economics teacher in the Loraine high school. On the campus she was a member of Tau Beta Sigma, Future Teachers and Home Economics club.

Rev. John S. Rankin, who holds bachelor and master degrees from Tech, is the new pastor of the Monroe Baptist church, following service as a chaplain in the Army.

W. A. King, who holds bachelor and master degrees in agriculture from Tech, has been named assistant manager of the cattle, sheep and swine departments of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show in Fort Worth.

Raiders Take To Field For Spring Training

73 Aspirants Vie For Places On '46 Team

Seventy-three aspirants for places on the 1946 Texas Tech Red Raider football team reported at the first session of spring training...

All the lads were suited up after a fashion, but some late comers found themselves issued basketball shoes as the supply of grid shoes to fit was exhausted.

A goodly group of onlookers who came out to see what Tech might have commented with favor on the beefiness of candidates and were cheered by the number of former stars going through their paces.

Lettermen of last fall were mixed with Double-T men of former years and a large sprinkling of freshmen in the workout.

Back in the harness after two or four years in the armed forces were Red Raider stars of former years, including: Roger Smith, Rising Star, sterling back for Tech in 1941 and later an all-service back while at LAAP.

Max Walthal, former Lubbock high school star and captain of one of the Lubbock great teams; Tom Fittle, Lubbock, 1943 star at Tech; Tuffy Nabors, Lubbock, rated as one of the best centers Tech has had...

Other former Tech athletes of note were also in uniform, while a number of freshmen who expect to be first-string competitors also were around.

Daily workouts, all open to the public, will be from 3:30 to 6 p.m.

Lena Mae Austin, home economics graduate of Tech, recently assumed new duties as home management supervisor for the Farm Security administration in Memphis, transferring from a similar post in Bowie.

Is All-Star ...

GARLAND HEAD

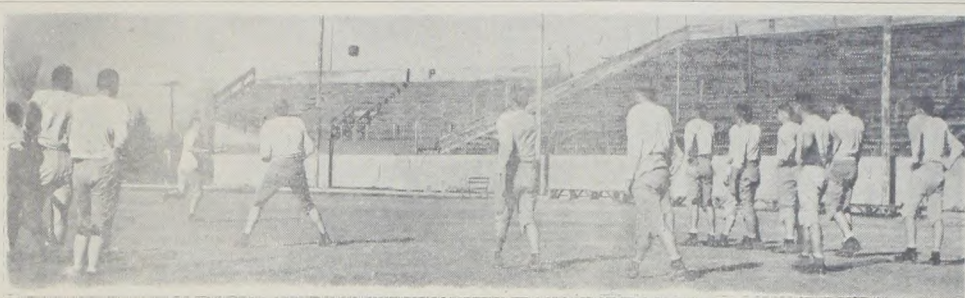

Head Is Named To All-Stars

The University of Arizona, first postwar basketball champion of the Border conference, claimed three of five places on a conference all-star team named this week.

Arizona, defeated West Texas Teachers 44-37 in the title game of the conference tournament March 3, New Mexico downed Texas Tech 49-44 for third place.

Dr. E. L. Larson, conference commissioner, announced these all-tournament selections in balloting by coaches of the top four clubs:

First team—Forwards Link Richmond and Fred Enke and Center Tim Ballantyne, all of Arizona; and Guards Jay Malone of West Texas and Garland Head of Texas Tech.

IF THEY STARTED—It's early to do any predicting on the Texas Tech Red Raiders for next fall, but this quartet shown in the lower picture, with their coaches, would be a good starting backfield.

Raiders Pile Up Total Of 1,278 Points To Opponent's 1,071 During 1946

Tech's Red Raider basketball team piled up 1,283 points against 1,071 during the season which ended with 15 victories and 10 losses statistics disclose.

Jay Kerr, who played in all of the 25 games, was high point man for the season, netting 108 baskets and 33 of 59 free throws for 248 points. Garland Head, named to the Border conference team, trailed him with 80 baskets and 41 free throws of 66 efforts for 221 points.

Gene Hardey, who also played in all games, made 75 baskets and 28 of 51 gift shot tries for 159 points; Bill Kelley tabbed 44 baskets and 30 of 45 free throws for 129 points; while Ardis Barton, competitor in all games, racked up 43 baskets and 24 of 55 free shots for 116 points; Jiggs Jackson's 44 baskets and 18 of 31 free throw efforts brought him 106 points before he was called into the Army after 15 games.

The team made good 223 of 432 free throw tries. Other point men of the year included: Teachers and Guards Marvin Bordenkin and George Genung of Arizona.

Floyd H. Richards, Tech graduate, is a candidate for district attorney of the 69th district, he announced recently at his home in Dalhart.

Marvin L. Collins, for three years a Tech student, has become a candidate for district clerk of Collin county. He is a war veteran and was a prisoner of the Nazis after the battle of the bulge.

Stratford Wins Regional B

Stratford High school nosed Abernathy high out with a close 29-30 score to win the regional class B basketball which was played in Tech gym Saturday night.

Stratford won over Flomot and Abernathy over Bovina in the semifinals. Flomot edged out Bovina 39-33 to win third place in the regional class B tournament.

Other Class B teams who have won their regional meets are Eula (Clyde), Perrin, Mt. Enterprise, Sweeney, Woodsboro, Johnson City and Marfa.

Stumpy Hamilton and Jess Cearley were officials for the tournament.

From The Bench

Spring football training brings out the same old story every year—each college thinks that all other schools are trying to steal their football players.

At present this situation exists in the Southwest conference. Everyone was lead to believe that Bob Hanes had enrolled in S. M. U. Now we hear he is pledged to Texas U., and the Steers say that T.C.U. tried to steal him or something to that effect.

Next we will be hearing that one school is offering Ford Convertibles with Blondes to match in an effort to induce the high school talent to play ball with them.

Since Tech isn't a rich school, the athletic department can't offer the athletes anything more than an education, but that is the thing that counts... automobiles wear out.

If you haven't been out to see the men working out for football, you are missing something. Coach Morgan has more beef on the field than can be found on the 6666 ranch.

Backs and guards are five deep, and there are several very good men out for each position. Most of these men have hair on their chest, too, no more of those smooth face football teams.
