

Outlook Gloomy On 1943 Border Conference Football

Flagstaff Teachers Drops From Circuit

Five Teams Remain In Cactus Loop; Two Are Not Definite

THE Border Conference football prospects for the coming 1943 season took on a gloomier aspect as the Arizona State Teachers college at Flagstaff joined three other schools in canceling of their 1943 football schedule. The wobbly pins holding the Conference together still support five teams, two of these being in the doubtful classification.

The Lumberjacks withdrew for the same reason given by the other three schools. War has caused their enrollment to drop considerably, and has forced upon them the curbing of inter-collegiate athletics. Their resources are limited and college officials felt it best that their schedule be cancelled. Tom O. Bellwood, acting president of the college, stated that Maurice Moulder, head football coach, and Frank Brickley, head basketball mentor, would be retained by the college as faculty members. They will also be in full charge of intra-mural athletics on the campus.

New Mexico A&M, West Texas State, and Arizona State at Tempe have previously canceled their athletics for the coming year. With these four teams out, the Cactus Loop is indeed on the verge of extinction for the duration.

Texas Tech, Hardin-Simmons, and Arizona University plan to field teams next fall if there is no further drastic change in the status of colleges. These three will have representatives on the grid-iron as long as it is possible under existing circumstances.

Texas Tech's Red Raiders still remain untouched by the withdrawal of the above mentioned teams. Of that four, the Morganmen had but one game scheduled, that being with the West Texas Buffaloes; and already replaced with a contest with some service team.

The University of New Mexico and Texas Mines have made no definite statement as yet about their continuation of inter-collegiate athletics. They hope to field teams next fall, but will not decide definitely until that time.

Spring practice at Texas Tech is scheduled to begin April 5, but this may be canceled due to the occupation of Tech by the Army Air Forces pre-flight students. Coaches and staff are over-worked at present with the extensive physical education program being given these students, and time may not allow the continuation of spring grid drills as originally scheduled. A definite announcement is expected to be made soon by Morley Jennings, athletic director here.

DO YOUR BIT IN THE FIGHT

- ### KEEP YOUR RANGE IN FIGHTING TRIM
1. Wipe top burners with damp cloth after meals.
  2. Use mild cleaner only for enamel, aluminum and chromium burners. Rinse with clear water, dry thoroughly. (Removable top sections, when so equipped, should be screwed or bolted back firmly in place.)
  3. Should burner ports ever need cleaning, use stiff wire brush or gently insert small wire to remove food particles.
  4. Gas range burners last for years. Star shaped burners of even the oldest ranges can generally be kept working like new by occasionally boiling in solution of one tablespoon of sal soda to each three quarts of water. This should be followed by a rinse in hot soapsuds and clean water. Burner rods can be removed and cleaned at same time. Replace in exact original positions.

Steers To Play In Kansas City For District 6

Texas University's basketball team, which is co-champion of the Southwest Conference this year, will go to Kansas City March 28 to represent District 6 which is composed of Texas, Arkansas and Oklahoma. The selection committee for this district decided by a telegraphic vote, conducted by Chairman James St. Clair, to send Texas to represent it in the Western Region basketball tournament of the National Collegiate Association.

Star Telegram All Conference Team Now Chosen

The Fort Worth Star Telegram chose two Arkansas Razorbacks, and one man each from Texas University, Texas A&M, and Rice, to represent their choice as the best five basketball players in the Southwest Conference for the season just ended. Rice and Texas were co-champions of this year's circuit players.

The team as it appeared on paper was made up of Bill Tom Closs, Rice six feet six inch senior center; John Hargis, forward who topped the yardstick at six feet two inches, from Texas University; Gordon Carpenter of Arkansas, a senior forward who stands six feet seven inches tall; Clayton Wyne of Arkansas, a six feet four inch senior guard; and Leland Huffman, Texas A&M's six feet seven inch senior guard.

Closs was high scorer of the league with 190 points. He is also given credit for Rice's sudden burst to a tie for the pennant. The Owls seemed doomed to a lower ranking in the final conference standings, but Closs brought the team out of the slump they were in to tie the Longhorns for the title.

Hargis was the utility man of the co-champions and played every position on the team to wind up second in the circuit scoring race. Hargis was consistently among the regular high scorers on the Longhorn team. This was one of the main factors in his selection over his teammate, the flashy Tyler junior college transfer, Buck Overall.

Wynne and Carpenter were Arkansas' twin scoring threats. For the seasons individual scoring, Wynne edged out his taller teammate by two points, scoring 160 points, while Carpenter was a goal short with 158 points to his credit. Both men were smooth ball handlers, and showed up well in every department.

Huffman was the question-mark on the all-conference selection. He was a member of a second division team, but his total score for the season was 148 points, thereby giving him claim to the first five. Huffman was one of the mainstays of the Aggies' iron men, and was their main threat, as he was a consistent scorer and a smooth player. Tommy Tomlinson, who placed on the Associated Press All-Southwest selection, was barely nosed out of the first five on his team. Injuries and indifferent play kept him from making the honor section, however.

Corona Only Champ To Repeat As 1943 Golden Gloves Close

Port Arthur Lad Captures Title In Heavier Group

Janiro Is Favorite Of Tournament; Wins Over Jackie Graves

Some twenty thousand fans saw the 1943 Chicago Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions come to a close last weekend, and eight champions crowned in their respective divisions. These eight champs are the best in the world of amateur boxers, and will work as a unit when the Chicago team meets the New York championship team on March 31. These Chicago men were crowned after two days of fighting, and represent states and cities from various points in the nation.

The hit of the tournament was Tony Janiro, the 16 year-old slugger from Youngstown, Ohio. Janiro registered his 27th consecutive victory in the tournament featherweight finals by sending Jackie Graves, last year's bantamweight champ, sprawling to the canvas. The knockout Janiro got early in the fight was the deciding factor in the three-round battle.

The only champion to repeat was Morris Corena, hard-hitting Texan from Fort Arthur. Corona, last year the winner in the 135 pound class, moved into the 147 pounders this year, and completed his march through the tourney with a first round knockout of Charles Busalacchi of Milwaukee. Corona told his seconds that he would end the fight early because fans wanted to see a new champion crowned, and he realized that a close decision would not be in his favor.

He came out of his corner fast as the bell, shot a left to his foe's jaw, crossed a right to the same spot, and then stood back while the referee counted the man out.

Three Cleveland men came through to take top honors. Janiro was some of these, winning the featherweight title. Chuck Hunter in the lightweight class and Samson Powell, last year's AAU champ, in the middle weight class, both came through to cop top honors in their divisions.

Two Fort Sill, Oklahoma boys walked away with titles. They were lightweight Barry Darby, who rallied to decision Matt Hammon of Minneapolis in the finals, and Earl O'Neal who gained the nod over Gene Rozerts in the bantamweight group.

Reedy Evans, Chicago artist who earlier in the tournament had eliminated defending champion Tom Attra of the 175 pound class, was crowned new champion of that weight after knocking out William Zielke of Camp Grant, Evans, dubbed by sports writers as the most unpopular man in the tournament, won one of his fights by knocking his man out while his opponent was attempting to touch gloves with him in the customary fashion. He was booed by the Chicago crowd in every fight of his campaign.

Tom Attra, ex-champion of the lightweight division, is from Austin, Texas. He defeated J. D. Kirkpatrick in the finals in Ft. Worth's state tournament.

The tournament was the fourth one for Corona who won the welterweight title. The Texas team placed fourth, and made a very good showing during the tournament. None of the winners knocked out, and only two were floored during the entire round of fights.

Following is a list of the Texas fighters and how they performed. Jose Andres, Flyweight—Won two fights and lost one to the new champion, Pvt. Barry Darby, Oklahoma, in the semi-finals.

Pvt. Krankie Montoya, Bantam—Won over a National AAU champion and lost in a close match with a finalist, Pvt. George Roberts of Camp Grant.

Sgt. Manny Ortega, Featherweight—Lost on points to his first opponent, a 1942 champion. Hubert Gray, Lightweight—Won three victories and lost on points in the semi-finals.

Morris Corona, Welter—the only Texas boy to win a championship. Pfc. Emil Zoltak, Middleweight —Lost in his first battle to Finalist Harry Joyce of Memphis. Pfc. Tom Attra, Lightweight—Lost on points in the quarter-finals to champion Reedy Evans of Chicago. Pfc. Gene Poletta, heavyweight—Lost opening battle to a Cleveland fighter.

A new class in pre-radar is scheduled to begin March 18. There will be 40 students in the class and two new instructors will be added. The class prior to this one received basic instruction in San Antonio; this class for the most part, is coming from Las Vegas, N. M. The group that is here now will change to the day shift March 15.

WAR BOND QUIZ

Q. How many coowners of a Bond can there be?
A. War Bonds may be issued in the names of only two individuals as coowners, and the registration must be in the alternative, such as "John X. Smith or Mrs. Mary Y. Smith," without any qualifying words or phrases.

Q. If a person who already holds War Savings Bonds up to the limit for the current year should inherit additional Bonds, could they be registered in his name?
A. Yes.

Q. How can I be sure that I can get my money back if I buy a War Savings Bond?
A. The full faith and credit of the United States Government are pledged for payment of both principal and interest. Your Bond is just as sound as the Government itself.

Q. If the owner of a War Savings Bond dies, how is collection made?
A. In the absence of a co-owner or beneficiary in the registration, the bond will form a part of the registered owner's estate, and will be paid to persons entitled to share in the estate under local laws as provided in the regulations.

Remember—the longer you keep War Bonds, up to 10 years, the more valuable they become.

IN THE NAVY they say:

"BEAN RAG" for meal pennant
"TOP SIDE" for the highest full deck

"DITTY BOX" for the box a sailor uses to keep personal possessions
"CAMEL" for the Navy man's favorite cigarette

CAMELS ARE TOPS WITH ME—THEY'VE GOT WHAT IT TAKES IN RICH FLAVOR AND MILDNESS!

FIRST IN THE SERVICE
The favorite cigarette with men in the Navy, Army, Marines, and Coast Guard is Camel. (Based on actual sales records in Canteens and Post Exchanges.)

The Zone—where cigarettes are judged

The "T-ZONE"—Taste and Throat—is the proving ground for cigarettes. Only your taste and throat can decide which cigarette tastes best to you...and how it affects your throat. For your taste and throat are absolutely individual to you.

Based on the experience of millions of smokers, we believe Camels will suit your "T-ZONE" to a "T." Prove it for yourself!
