Root Stresses Responsibilities Of Tech Veterans In Education

Veterans of World War II enrolled in colleges of the nation, including Texas Tech, have joint responsibility with school officials in preparing to care for all seeking an education under the GI Bill of Rights, T. C. Root, assistant to the president of Tech, told the Tech War Veterans association at a smoker Tuesday night.

"You are lucky to be in school today," Root said, pointing out that 500,000 ex-servicemen and women will be unable to find a college or university which has facilities to handle them immediately.

"You must take part in your government if it is to continue to be the kind of government for which you fought," Root told the veterans as he explained that 17,000,000 veterans are the electorate, the public, and not merely a pressure group. He told them that the veterans, as the people, could not expect special favors and that anything received for nothing would have to be paid for later by the veterans themselves. For this reason, Root said that the challenge to colleges and universities to provide for the tremendous expansion of enrollment is also a challenge to the veterans.

In the absence of Troy Davidson, commander, Jim Humphreys acted as master of ceremonies and introduced the officers and guests. Joe Meador made a short talk on the history and highlights of the Tech War Veterans association and urged that all veterans attend the meeting to be held Tuesday night in C-101 at 7:30. Summer officers will be elected. No dues will be paid for the summer and both men and women are invited to attend every meeting and to bring a new veteran.

Wool Process Lab is Set Up

A Wool Processing Research laboratory is being established by the animal husbandry department. The project was made possible by an act of the last legislature. Some equipment for the lab has already been received and most of the equipment has been ordered.

Ray C. Mowery, professor of animal husbandry, will leave Wednesday for a 10 day trip to observe work in other labs of similar nature. He will visit the Wool Show at Sonora on June 19 and 20, the wool lab at the State College of New Mexico at Las Cruces, the wool lab at Fort Wingate, New Mexico, and will attend a wool meeting at Salt Lake City, Utah.

New Books

List of Books Available at the Library This Week

Bishop, Morris. A Treasury of British Humor, 1942. One of the most satisfactory anthologies of humor that has been published. Includes many unfamiliar selections.

Cornish, Dorothy H. These Were the Brontës, 1940. A study exhibiting most of the faults of fictionalized biography, but quite interesting and well worth reading.

Forbes, Esther. Paul Revere and the world He Lived In, 1942. A biography of Paul Revere the silversmith rather than Paul Revere the hero of the American Revolution. Well written and inclusive. By the author of "A Mirror for Witches" and other skillfully written historical novels.

Heberle, Rudolf. From Democracy to Nazism, 1945. A study of this course of political events in Schleswig-Holstein from 1918 to the rise of Nazism, with emphasis upon the National Socialist party.

Knapp, H. E. Design Approach to Craft, 1945. A practical book on design and its application in various mediums. Profusely illustrated.

RAM DELIVERED

The animal husbandry department recently delivered a Hampshire Ram to Buri Little of Sherman. Little is a veteran student at Tech. He took the ram to his home farm.

Dr. Howard Hurnence, a Chemical Engineering graduate of 1935, visited on the campus the latter part of May. Dr. Hurnence is from Port Neches, Texas.

Famous Magician Mystifies Tech With Skill, Art

"A marvelous magician, John Mulholland, performed seemingly impossible feats before our eyes," a statement once made by Eleanor Roosevelt was repeated by many persons after the platform performance by Mulholland on the Ad Building green Thursday night. He presented magic of all centuries in his program, "Quicker Than The Eye," depending upon skill rather than upon obtrusive apparatus.

Mulholland, the outstanding magician of today, used old principles of mystification which are universal. For over 30 years, in this and other countries, he has used these principles of magic on kings, tradesmen, Chinese coolies, and now Tech students. Also an author, he has written a number of books and magazine articles as well as the conjuring section of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Mulholland was the first nationally known artist to appear on the summer artist course program. Next will be the National Music League Trio which will appear June 28.

New Dormitories To House 1400

Construction has started on the four new dormitories which will house 1400 students upon completion. They are expected to be completed by Sept. 1, 1947 unless materials become unavailable.

The projects will cost $4,000,145. The T. C. Bateson company of Dallas have the contract for construction.

Excavations for the basements have already been completed and concrete is being poured for the foundations.

The men's dorms are located just north of Sneed hall and will face College Avenue. The girls dorms will be located south of Craddock hall, also facing College Avenue.

Two unit wing formation buildings will be constructed. Wings of the dorms will extend forward from the building entrances, thus eliminating inside rooms. Each unit will contain 164 rooms. Separate dining halls for each unit will be served from a connecting kitchen.

Amateur Night Talent Wanted

Students wishing to compete in the all-college Amateur program, which will be held Thursday evening, June 20, on the Ad Bldg. Green, are asked to contact Dean James G. Allen, chairman of the summer Recreation committee, before Monday night at 7:30, at which time auditions will be held in the Aggie auditorium. Three prizes will be given to the winners who will be chosen by student judges and audience applause.

"There will be special non-competitive numbers just for entertainment," says Dean Allen. Student activity tickets will admit students who wish to witness the show.

A committee composed of students will hear the auditions and plan the program. Serving on the committee are Troy Caldwell, Joe Meador, Bea Green, Randy Rutledge, Ava Stangel, Robert Pardue, Panze Butler, and John James Haynie.

This is the second all-student amateur program to be held during the summer session. Last June the program consisted of vocal, dancing, instrumental numbers, and novelty acts. Jackie Cogdill, John Ewing and Bill Ligon were among the winners.

17 Class Sections Added; 2,285 Enter

The final enrollment for this semester is 2,285. The increase in the enrollment has brought about the addition of 17 new sections of classes to various departments on the campus, and several new laboratory sections in the Chemistry department.

Casa Linda Announces Officers For Summer

The Casa Linda Club met June 5 and elected officers for the first summer term. Plans were also made for social activities for the summer. The new officers are: Angela Kvaton, pres.; Oma Bavousett, vice-pres.; Avis Fuchs, secretary; Cherylone Roberts, treasurer; Glenna Beavers, historian; Corinne Stimson, business manager; Joreen Kocurek, reporter; and Hazel Wells, social director. New members are Nina Mae Aler, Joreen Kocurek, Peggy Kocurek, and Dorothy Harvin.

Congress Asked For Approval By September

Pay for every student of Texas Tech enrolled in elementary and advanced ROTC units is planned by the War Department and the Congress has been asked to approve the program. Lt. Col. Ludlow C. Adams, commandant of the Tech units has been advised. Start of the new setup is sought for next September.

Students in freshman and sophomore elementary, or basic courses would be paid at a rate equal to commuted rations, or about $20 per month, while those in junior and senior advanced courses would receive the commuted ration plus $125 a day for 32 weeks a year, or a total of about $400, under the program. Final details, it was said, will be announced after the Congress acts on certain phases of the program.

Texas Tech during the war offered only elementary ROTC work but next fall advanced classes in signal and corps of engineers will be held. Applications also have been made for advanced units of aviation and infantry and Congressman George H. Mahon of the 19th district of Texas has announced the War department will approve them within a short time.

Requirements Listed

The War department announcement said admission to the senior ROTC units at Texas Tech and other institutions will be voluntary, with citizenship, acceptance by the school as a regular student, physical fitness, passage of screening tests, maintenance of scholastic averages and signing of contracts to complete the course required. Age limits of 14 to 22 years, inclusive, at the time of enrollment, except veterans of World War II between the ages of 19 and 26 enrolled in college prior to Jan. 1, 1930, are set.

Advanced students would be required to attend an eight-weeks summer camp, receiving pay of a private first class. Uniforms for students in basic courses will be furnished, while advanced students must supply their own uniforms.

Commissions To Be Granted

Under the new program commissions from the ROTC will be granted.

Gift From Aggies To Honor Heroes

At the last meeting of the Aggie club, members voted to give the unused portion of their breakage deposits to the Aggie Club for the purpose of providing seats for the Aggie Memorial Auditorium.

The Tech Board of Regents approved the request that the auditorium be dedicated to the memory of students of the division who were killed in World War II. The board also approved the plan to equip the auditorium by donations from students, alumni and former students.

At the Aggie club meeting, a fund of $100 was allocated to be spent for a suitable plaque to hang outside the auditorium.

Hurrah! For The New Band Shell

Our thanks to the Senior class for the band shell are late, but sincere. We needed one, as anyone who ever sat with an aching back through a band concert in the stuffy gym knows. The student body in years to come will appreciate the gift as much as we. And at the moment, it looks as if a lot of us will still be the student body in years to come.

Which brings us to the problem of a location. Let's hope that this band shell rates as fine a place on the campus as the water tower. Oops! There's that word; swore we wouldn't say it again.

Which brings us to the often asked but still unanswered question, when are we going to get a campus plan of construction that won't be outgrown every five years; one that will be faithfully adhered to, and one that will keep its water towers in the back yard. Uh oh—there it is again; we were talking about a band shell.

Which brings us right back where we started, to write a thank-you-note to the Seniors, not to dig at the you-know-what. So to the graduates of '46 go our gratitude and thanks for a thoughtful gift, the much needed band shell.

Any girl interested in a mere infatuation, contact Rudolph Rice.—(paid adv.)

Students down in the tea-sipping country are playing a game called "Stinky-Pinky." A stinky-pink is a two word, rhyming definition. They must have been thinking of registration day at Tech when they called a long line of sad people, a "solemn column." On second thought, who was solemn? We were a "mad scad."

Button Powell was alive Monday morning. The Professional Girl's sorority dance was a huge success. Purely coincidental, of course—these two statements getting into the same paragraph.

But Jackson went home right after mid-term and fetched himself a wife, but both Jacksons are here for the summer.

Jean McGregor was stopping traffic on the avenue with a very tanned and very bare shoulder. That rumor about all beautiful girls coming from Dallas is easy to believe.

Tech Kids Have Big Front Yard

If you are run over in front of Doak Hall by some young'uns playing cops and robbers, don't just sit there. Pick up your books and run because, likely as not, those were only the robbers and the cops will be right behind them. There are 18 children ranging in age from three and a half months to 16 years living in Doak Hall with their parents, who are enrolled in Tech for the summer.

So don't feel ancient if you see a 12 year old playing tennis or running around the campus. Quit worrying, he doesn't go to school; he just lives here.

BOAR DONATED

The animal husbandry department recently received a Duroc Jersey boar pig from Duane Boenig of Converse, Texas.

Boenig is a 4-H club boy who exhibited the grand champion barrow, the grand champion pen of three and the grand champion litter at the Houston Fat Stock show in 1945.

This pig is of the same breeding as the grand champion barrows.

June Arnold to J. D. Stevenson in Clovis. June was a journalism major in Tech.

Joyce Kilpatrick to K. E. Drake. Mrs. Drake is a former Tech student.

Virginia Shoemaker to Warren Waldrip. Virginia is a commercial student at Tech and is employed at the First National bank.

Jeanne and Wyn Baker are back in school for the summer. They tried out Colorado last spring and didn't like and came back to a good school.

Question of the week—how many does Anne Bates have on the string?

No, no girls. Ya see it's this way. Reginal O. Webb is married. His wife is a Tech grad, one former LaVerne Legate.

Been having some trouble with your baseball, T. M.?

Here's an example of a good steady couple. Elaine Head and Glenn Ivey. Hats off to them.

Our friend, Charles Senning, is going to teach psychology at TCU so rumor has it. He graduated last year from Tech and got his Master's this year while serving as Assistant Dean of Men.

Fae Beth Hill is going to be married July 12, and this'll get you... They are going to live on a ranch!

Nell Anthony and Joe Huff took those fatal vows last Saturday evening at her home. She surely has lots of friends—parties, parties, and more parties.

"I walk alone" Caldwell is sweating out the mail deliveries. Jane Burnes is in far away Fort Worth town. Troy Boy plays solo—so low.

Joe Horne has been residing at the Country Club recently—golf tournament, you know.

Degrees Needed For Commission In Tech's ROTC

ed only to students completing four years of education on the college level. A professional degree will be required for commission in the case of all those receiving initial commissions in the professional branches. Young men desiring a commission in a branch of service not located in their college may secure such commission by attending ROTC camps of the appropriate branch. This would mean a textile engineering student at Texas Tech may be commissioned in the quartermaster corps, even though no such ROTC unit is located at Tech. Commissions will be granted only to young men who are 21 years of age, or older.

Under the setup at Texas Tech, academic credit in military work will be awarded toward a degree.

Commissioned and non-commissioned Army personnel, together with civilian advisers and consultants, would carry out the program. Texts and equipment would be provided by the War department and assistance in providing adequate buildings is planned.

Under the program, the elementary courses will consist of three hours per week for two academic years of 32 weeks each, while advanced work will include five hours per week for two 32-week academic years, plus the eight-weeks summer camp. World War II veterans would receive pay in addition to any assistance under the GI Bill of Rights.

The program is set up under the assumption universal military training will be continued. Modification is expected to follow final Congressional action on the draft.

That boy with a smile from ear to ear is Ridgell Lee. He was married early in June and brought his wife to Tech for the summer. Her name is Marie and they live in Doak.

What's this we hear about thirteen transfers from TSCW residing in Dorm No. 2? Wonder how that school is getting along since all the SMART gals came to Tech?
