NUMBER 25.

STUDENTS WILL DISCUSS FUTURE AT CONVOCATION

PLANS FOR NEXT YEAR WILL BE DISCUSSED THIS MORNING

All announcements and discussions of topics of interest to the student body of the winter term will be given at the student convocation this morning at ten o'clock, which will probably be the last meeting of the body for the year.

Twenty minutes of the hour will be given over to a discussion of the annual and an appeal will be made to the students to buy their books from the remaining number of 250 which remain to be sold, and the sales of which would care for the deficit in the cost of the book.

Of great interest to students will be a discussion of the pep squad which is being organized for another year. Plans announced two weeks ago were further developed at a meeting of the prospective members thus far selected which was held last evening. The interest and enthusiasm shown last night indicate that the success of the undertaking is assured which means that the Tech will have one of the snappiest and most elaborately attired pep squads in the State. The membership is unrestricted, except for interest and costume, and the organization promises to be one of the biggest, with a working membership of at least one hundred to begin the year with.

The matter of electing officers for the student association for next year will also be discussed at convocation this morning. It is probable that the election will be held Monday under conditions similar to those of the recent student body election. Officers for the remainder of this year were chosen. The constitution of the Student Association recently drawn up by C. W. Ratliff, John Forkner and Harry Montgomery, will also be presented for the approval of the student body.

Members of the Board of Directors will be present at the convocation this morning, and it is hoped that they will be invited to speak. It is hoped that the attendance of the student body will be large.

PRE-MEDS ENJOY PICNIC ON RANCH; ELECT OFFICERS

Members of the Pre-Medic Club were the guests of Dr. Studhalter and wife at a very delightful picnic Friday, May 28. A caravan of flivvers left the Administration Building about three o'clock and journeyed without serious mishap to Johnson's ranch, some miles southeast of Lubbock. Having arrived there and staked out the trusty steed, the mob proceeded to scatter out over the surrounding environment.

After an hour or two of wandering, during which time many of the members had turned geologists and searched for fossils, a wild honking of horns summoned the crowd back to the caravan. The discovery that someone had made away with the cat almost caused a riot, but the missing food was found before any damage was done. The guilty culprit was never determined, but the club has its suspicions.

Some conjectures as to the nature of the cats had been made during the afternoon; one party suggesting that a dainty salad of pickled dogfish washed down with a goodly quantity of formaldehyde would be appropriate. They consisted, however, of delicious sandwiches, ice cream, etc., and every one ate until he was delightfully miserable.

After the meal a business meeting was held and officers for next year were elected. They are: president, James I. Kendrick; vice-president, Ned Camp; secretary, Miss Annie L. West. After the business meeting the party adjourned, giving three rousing cheers for Mr. Studhalter, and returned to civilization.

Briefs of Towns Bidding for Tech Put on Display

Cases containing the briefs of the towns who applied for the location of the Tech have been installed in the lobby of the west wing of the Administration building. The collection contains briefs of the following towns: Cisco, Amarillo, Seymour, Plainview, Abilene, Menard, Ballinger, Floydada, Brady, Colorado, Lubbock, Stamford, Haskell, Post, Brownwood, Tule, Clyde, Munday, Vernon, Coleman, Buffalo Gap, Snyder, Wilson, San Angelo, Lampasas, Sweetwater, Paint Rock, Springs, Quanah, Miles, Spur and Memphis.

Judging from the amount of water standing in front of the Engineering building last week, it will probably be possible to add marine engineering to the curricula of the School of Engineering.

TECH STUDENTS CAST 'WET' BALLOT IN RECENT ELECTION TO DETERMINE PROHIBITION STATUS AMONG STUDENTS

"Move over, you're wet" is a familiar college expression. And it can be literally said of a majority of students in the political science classes of Dr. Jackson, if one is to judge from the votes cast in a recent election when ballots were cast in these classes. The election was nationwide among colleges, and was sponsored for the purpose of determining the attitude of college students toward prohibition, hoping that the pulse of the nation might be felt in this manner.

Out of 245 votes cast, slightly more than half of them favored the repeal of the Volstead Act entirely, or modification of the prohibition laws, or a t least light wines and beer. However, this situation is not amazingly strange inasmuch as a similar situation was found to exist among faculty members of Yale.

The election also had as its purpose the demonstration of the preferential ballot and the results were convincing that the use of this ballot assures minority representation in proportion to the minority vote cast. Nineteen names were submitted along with the amend-

CLUBS HOLD FINAL MEETINGS OF THE YEAR

Most of the clubs and organizations have had their final meetings for this year and have adjourned to meet the coming fall term.

The Social and Business Club, perhaps the most successful club in the College presented their last program for this year last Tuesday evening. It was in the form of a unique little play with a "dramatic personae" of only two characters. The play, entitled "Reform," was written and acted by Misses Viola Guy and Anna Belle Collins, who both their pretty heads about sociological problems and conditions for reform. However, in the end, their own views sufficed reform and all was well.

The club voted to place further restrictions upon incoming members when the meetings are resumed next fall. A date is to be set soon when new officers will be elected.

Another club which has functioned very successfully is the Press Club. Considerable interest has been shown in this organization, and the present members look forward to greater accomplishments next year. Their last meeting was held last Wednesday evening when it was decided to require prospective members to qualify for membership by submitting an original manuscript or more to the Club for consideration. The election of officers will be held at the first meeting of the Press Club in the fall term.

Student Comments On Dishonesty In Examinations

A remark is often heard concerning the integrity and honor among college students. The question of honor is one that should be thought of seriously by every student of the Tech because it is new an traditions and systems of precedence and systems of precedence are in the making. Not only will the reputation of the honor of the students go out into the field of business but in their own lives. In many cases it is not flattering. Yet the writer thinks the student body as a whole is of the better type but the people judge the whole to some extent by the low element.

At the present rate it will be a long time before the honor system will be possible and many things will have to be changed. It is most disgusting to sit in a test or examination and see or hear cheating going on all over the room. It makes a person feel there is very little honor left among the students here in Tech. Many students look upon cheating and copying as a way to get by temporarily and it is a very poor method at best for it is nine times out of ten substituting dishonesty for laziness or a desire to forego duty for some form of pleasure. In most cases it is not necessary because of inability for the students who cheat on examinations are smart enough to get the work as well as those who do get it honestly. As a rule information gained in this way does no good in the long run. Then why does a student sacrifice his or her honor for nothing when there is a not even a real measure of the value of honor except your standing in the world is based on it.

The writer realizes that it would be next to impossible to get a student body without some cheating and stealing members. Then the only logical thing for us to do is get after the way for us to do it after the way for us to do it in that way recommend others of that type to stay out.

The College received last week for use in agriculture courses a chart "Plant Food and Soil Management." The chart is issued to schools and colleges of agriculture by the National Fertilizer Association. The chart will be used in courses having to do with soils, fertilizers, as well as in agronomy and horticulture courses.

ments, with instructions to vote for seven members of a committee to regulate national prohibition, giving preferred places down the entire list. Those elected were H. C. Hoover, W. G. McAleer, Jans Adams, Al Smith, Volstead, Darrow, and vice-president Dawes.

Generally speaking, the voting was consistent in naming the several choices. If the voter favored repeal of the prohibition laws, he usually voted for the candidates known to be "wet."

There is no very great surprise that Tech students voted for light wines and beer. That they believe as they voted will be confirmed if one will listen in on a conversation as some of the fellows talk when the next "batch" is coming off, and relate their experiences in getting the proper combination of malt, sugar, etc. It is undoubtedly the greatest topic of conversation on the campus today.

But in warm weather, a young man's fancy lightly turns to thought of bygone days when he gulped down the contents of a bubbling glass without fear of being censured or criticized.

DIRECTORS ARE IN SESSION AT TECH TODAY

The board of directors of the Tech met in regular session here yesterday afternoon and this morning. The meeting was the first to be held here since the completion of the buildings with the entire board present. Yesterday at noon, they were entertained with a luncheon in the Home Economics dining room by the Home Economics faculty. Immediately after the luncheon the board voted into session for the afternoon. They met again this morning to complete business.

The entire board will be at the convocation this morning and will have an opportunity to see the student body of which they have executive power. Several short talks by the various members will be given.

The following members are present: Amon G. Carter, C. W. Meadows, Moss Newman, Mrs. J. N. Deane, Clifford Jones, R. A. Underwood, H. T. Kimbro, John W. Carpenter and Mrs. Chas. DeGroat.

Last Event In Forsenic Contest Is Held Yesterday

The last event in the Lynch Davidson Scholarship Contest was held Friday afternoon in Room 202. In this event the four men who contested were restricted to purely original orations developed from a subject of their own choosing. The men made very credible orations and were congratulated upon their constructive ability. The winner of the $250 scholarship will be announced officially at convocation on June 11, and the long but pleasant suspense will be ended.

Miss Ruth Partle, head of the Public speaking department, reports that there will be other oratorical scholarships offered next year, which will be an inducement to make TECH literary as well as athletic.

GOOD FORM SHOWN IN BOXING BOUT

Another all-college tournament was held Thursday night when the students engaged in determining the winners of the First All-college Boxing tournament. The contest was started on the campus at 8 o'clock. The main event drew the crowd into the gymnasium. All the bouts were fine exhibitions of good sportsmanship and officials were well pleased with the attitude taken by the boys. Each bout went for three rounds. In the feather-weight class Barton Atcheson won on points over Mathias Coker. In the light-weight class, James Atcheson outpointed Hayden Barron. Dr. Cornelius defeated Walter Schenck. In the welter-weight class, Charlie Woodbridge and Marvin Pynes fought to a draw in the middle-weight class and Pynes forfeited in order to avoid another round. This was the most interesting bout of the contest and both men were equally good and showed good form. In the heavy-weight, Vaughn Corley outpointed Everett Hale to win the title.

The judges of the contest were R. D. Campbell and Attorney J. E. Vickers. Timekeeper was Dr. George and Dr. Patton was referee.

These men will be proclaimed the title winners of their class and will defend them next year in another contest. Much praise should go to Dr. LeRoy T. Patton for his work in the many art this year and for his instructions given to the boys.

Several students who have been attending the agricultural college at Stephenville have been here this week. Several have expressed their intention of entering the school of Agriculture as Juniors next year.

Well, well! "The solemnity days have come. The saddest of the doggone year,"—with proper acknowledgments to some poet or another.

The first year of TEXAS TECH is drawing to a close, and yet its educational machinery will keep up its steady rumble throughout the summer session. Many of the regular session students have mustered up from some mysterious place the necessary "spizzerinkum" to remain during the summer. However, a large number are planning to "hit for home" as soon as possible so that they may attack their names and toes under Pa's table for a few weeks. Ma's biscuits ain't so bad after all.

Then, too, the life of a college freshman would be a bleak and bare prospect if it were not for the fond pictures which his fond imagination paints. Ah! the satisfaction of going back to tell the folks how proud they should be of him on account of the splendid record which he made while in college. Now he limited the campus and how he was the life of the party in the confines of exclusive society.

That brings to mind the fact that there seems to be some dispute as to which school of TECH has made the greatest progress during the year. Of course each will claim the distinction and we will admit that they put up some very strong argument for their respective sides.

For instance, the Home Ec-ers claim to have perfected a doughnut which is a model for utility. Not only is it a most delectable bit of cookery, but it may be used as a window weight or a paper weight, or even as a part of the pantry. And too, they are light enough that a mere child may handle them after only a year's training under a competent weight-lifting expert. However, the Home Ec-ers allege that they resent the current rumor that their Angel-food cake does not live up to its name. Well, one can never be sure of an Angel's taste anyway.

Now, the Liberal Art-ers base their claim of supremacy upon the fact that they have finally conquered the split infinitive. To more perfectly employ the English language has been their ultimate aim. They freely admit that they once spilt more infinitives than Lincoln did rails, but by dint of sheer force of mind, they have now, to almost entirely eliminate the bifurcated infinitive from their own original literature.

The Aggies report with pardonable pride that the unique machinery of the wheelbarrow is an open book to them. They are also firm in their convictions that the direction in which a team goes depends almost entirely upon which line a fellow happens to pull. They are of the opinion, too, that the horse is a wonderful instrument if only it were equipped with shock absorbers. It is such a shock to one's feelings to have to use one.

It seems that the Engineers have not been idle either. After exacting a pledge to secrecy, they divulged the information that they have invented a machine by means of which one may determine the exact density of all solid matters. They plan to utilize it in intelligence tests upon prospective engineering students.

So, everything considered, the four schools of TEXAS TECH have done very well indeed. With the aid of such powers of invention and accomplishment it is to be hoped that they will attain to even greater success next year.

Hereford Breeder Presents Tech With Purebred Heifers

Dean A. H. Leidigh of the School of Agriculture, and Mr. Stangel of the Department of Animal Husbandry visited Odessa, Texas, last week where they made a selection of two purebred heifers. The animals were presented to the Tech by Mr. John Gist, and were selected from his herd at Odessa. They will be used as foundation animals of the college herd of Hereford cattle, and will also be used in judging cattle of the beef type. The animals will be brought to the college by Mr. Gist next week.

Mr. Gist is one of the prominent breeders of Hereford cattle in Texas, and maintains herds at Odessa and Midland.

It seems that we are doomed to loss faith in the entire human race. Even Little Brock Brandon of the Innocent Face has proved that he is not the little angel that you judge him to be by looking at his face. Not so large a role was seen entering our fair city at the hour of 4 a. m. with one of the wildest of Lubbock's native daughters.

Ask Jodie McDaniels how he acquired the name, Jocko Jodie.

Too Many Ads? "No" EDITORS MUST RIDE Making Railway Fare

When you cast your peepers over this sheet, don't be alarmed at the amount of advertising. It isn't too much—we simply didn't have enough space. We are willing to admit that there is a "little more than the law allows," but this is the "railroad fare edition." In other words, you editors didn't care to walk home, so we tried to earn railroad fare in a strictly legitimate way. There is nothing missing from the regular issue but a little bull, so no one is getting stung. Finals are coming Monday and nobody has time to read.

The management of the TERROR has tried to publish a respectable and popular student publication. The work has been a pleasure to the staff, and at this time we wish to extend our sincere thanks to the readers who have been so patient as to persevere our efforts at journalism, to the students and faculty members for their encouragement and co-operation, and especially to the merchants of Lubbock who have given us their support, making possible the first student publication.

If you editors can hit upon some similar plan to be used to reduce railroad fare, we are likely to be with you again. Amen.

LA VENTANAS TO BE DISTRIBUTED NEXT MONDAY

YEAR BOOK IS STRIKING VOLUME OF QUALITY AND BEAUTY

The first shipment of La Ventanas, including 500 copies of Tech's first year book, arrived Friday afternoon and will be ready for distribution early Monday, according to Keys and Biggers, managers of the annual. The first copies of the press were received earlier in the week for the approval of the editors.

The year book is a striking volume in beauty and design. It contains 260 pages, 670 individual photos, and approximately 1,000 pieces of photography. It is the history of Tech's first year, told largely by pictures. Every club and organization in the institution is represented, most of the faculty members and more than 600 of the students are photographed within the beautiful cover. There are fifteen pages of color inserts and full-page photos of the Tech beauties. The volume is artistically arranged in sections bearing Spanish titles in keeping with the name of the book.

The quality of the book is striking and the total expense amounts to approximately $5,700. The cost has not been entirely met, but there are 250 of the books for sale at this time and every effort is being made to raise the needed amount. A part of the convocation Saturday morning will be devoted to the annual benefit, at which time the students who have not bought annuals will be appealed to by members of the student body.

During the past several weeks a number of events, social and otherwise, have been planned by the student body in an effort to raise funds. Wednesday night of this week was declared Tech night at the Palace Theatre and a part of the proceeds went to the annual benefit. The picture program was accompanied by musical and vocal numbers from a quartet of six-voiced men and the male quartet, all students.

Thursday night, the management of the year book sponsored a public dance at the Elk's Club hall. Tonight the home-going college dance will be given at Cheri Casa, and a large attendance is expected. It will probably conclude student social activities for the year, inasmuch as finals start Monday.

Students who have not reserved annuals are urged to look after the matter at once.

Cattle Breeders Visit Agg School

The School of Agriculture has had several prominent visitors this week. A party composed of Mr. W. B. Mitchell and son of Marfa, Texas, John C. Burns of Fort Worth, T. C. Ivy of Lubbock and J. W. Elliot of Kress visited the College Tuesday and were shown around the campus. The party was very much interested in the equipment of the Department of Animal Husbandry.

Mr. Mitchell and son are representatives of the Highland Hereford Breeders Association. Mr. Burns who was formerly head of the Department of Animal Husbandry of the A. & M. College of Texas, is connected with the American Hereford Breeders Association. Mr. Elliot is a breeder of Short-horn cattle and came to the Tech with a view to selling the Tech its foundation stock of Short-horns.

LARGE AND ENTHUSIASTIC CROWDS GIVE OVATIONS OF APPROVAL AT PRESENTATION OF FIRST PAGEANT

DIRECTORS ARE GIVEN MUCH PRAISE FOR SUCCESSFUL PRESENTATION OF WEST TEXAS DEVELOPMENT THROUGH ITS SEVERAL STAGES

"The Spirit of West Texas," a historical pageant depicting the development of West Texas in its various stages, was presented by the students of the Texas Technological College Tuesday evening June 1, to crowds estimated by newspaper reporters as from 6,000 to 10,000 persons, with the medium of 8,000 as a conservative estimate. Each scene in the first episode, "The West of Yesterday," was greeted with expressed appreciation. The pioneers or native West Texans present being carried back to bygone days when they lived the scene in reality were joined in their ovation of approval by the younger generation and transient citizens who were seeing the scenes enacted for the first time. Both generations were enthusiastic over the second episode which presented, "The West of Today," in which the Tech was the outstanding feature.

The presentation of the pageant was successful from every standpoint, and the directors, Misses Ruth Partle and Johnny Gilkerson, assisted by Prof. Washburn and Harry LeMaire directing the musical accompaniment of the orchestra and band, have been the recipients of much praise and commendation from every source. "The entire performance went off without a hitch," is the comment of a spectator, while a local business man remarked: "I never knew before just what they had at the Tech. I can appreciate the institution more since seeing the pageant."

Less than two hours time was consumed in the presentation, which was remarkable considering the many different scenes and the fact that approximately 500 students were used in the performance. A large platform with a higher elevation for the Queen's throne was erected at the south entrance to the main porte of the administration building, and a spotlight attracted the attention of the audience to the center of action. The decorations were elaborate for an outdoor performance and very attractive.

Seats were arranged for about 2,000 persons and the remainder of the audience found seats on the ground or remained in cars during the pageant. President Horn, who had been confined unable to participate in the ceremony, several days, was driven to a vantage point in the semi-circle formed by the audience, where he sat throughout the performance.

The coronation of Miss D'Ann Sammons as queen of the pageant was probably the most impressive scene of the entire evening. Preparations for this event were quite elaborate, and the climax of importance was reached when Dean J. M. Gordon, acting in behalf of Dr. Horn, who was unable to participate in the ceremony placed the jeweled crown upon the head of the kneeling Queen and declared her queen of the campus to be honored by her many subjects. To the Queen's court came a party of Spaniards and a dance was given for her pleasure. The Tech of the future passed before the court, then the entire cast of characters passed back in review to pay honor to the newly crowned queen.

The pageant opened with a vision of the empire that preceded the development of the west into the empire of today which gave way to twenty-two little girls who represented the flowers that grew on the Plains before the coming of man. These nodded only to the winds that have swept this great expanse since the beginning of time.

The Pilgrimage of Coronado and his meeting with Spanish men, Mexican Coolies, and Mexican and Indian women in his bold adventure of 1540 featured the third scene. Vanishing Indian was featured by the Hunter's Dance. The Indians were followed by the pioneers in a prairie schooner, and they in turn by the cowboys who prepared a camp supper about the chuck wagon.

The coming of the farmer concluded the first episode, the feature of the scene being an old time square dance, music furnished by a violin and guitar.

The second episode opened with a representation of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce which has been one of the greatest factors in the development of the West of today, including the securing of the Tech in its list of accomplishments. Then came the quest of the Tech, all of the thirty-nine towns making application for its location being represented.

The coronation of the queen and a review of the pageant concluded the evening's program.

The pageant will be an annual affair, and the directors are looking forward to the time when there will be more funds and better equipment for such undertakings.

Farm Bureau Head Presents Tech With Holstein Dairy Calf

Mr. James T. Orr, President of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association, this week presented the School of Agriculture with a Holstein-Friesian calf. The calf is a descendant of Tilly Alcarra, champion of all breed milk and butter fat production, and will be one of the foundation animals of the Tech dairy herd. The calf will be delivered next Wednesday according to Dean Leidigh.

CHECKING UP—AND OUT

With the approach of final exams for the spring term next week, students are beginning to check up preparatory to checking out for the summer vacation. We wonder how the ledgers are going to balance? And when we start to check out for home, what portion of the material we take with us is going to be labeled "excess baggage"?

Many students will probably have well balanced ledgers, having gotten as much in return for the year in the school as it has cost them to stay. But others will not look so good. And none of them will be what they should, considering the many and great opportunities that have been offered to us within the past year. For many it has been a year of work and profit; others have neglected their work and lost. For many it has been a year of educational gain associated with recreational enjoyment; for others it has been a period of late hours, dissipation and waste. Those who have made proper application of their time will leave with a clean ledger and with evidence of what they have paid for. But others will find that they have dearly paid for a number of things which they cannot use—excess baggage.

Many of us will return another year with a determination to accomplish more and to profit by the errors we have made this year. But the most regrettable thing about the whole affair is the fact that others are leaving us undergraduates who will never return to complete their college education.

which the students placed in them at the beginning of the year. Students who have seen the new La Ventana recognize it as a well arranged, carefully edited, and beautiful book, and the product of much work and expense.

Keys and Biggers, and members of their respective staffs, are to be complimented and praised for the success of the first year book and the service they have rendered the Institution. Student publications are the most lasting of student activities, therefore those who have the responsibility of their management are the objects of more criticism than other student leaders. Naturally, a few individuals are going to find room for complaint or criticism of some kind. But the student body is indebted to Biggers and Keys for a delightful record of Tech's first year and should show the proper appreciation of their work.

CHERI CASA COLYUM

CHERI CHASA COLYUM

Forsyth (Knavel) Seems that all the Dukes of Dukedom have come amongst us. Lawd, Lawd! It sure takes a bunch of us to pour Johnnie and Harry and Buddie Burroughs into them Tuxes—O! most majestic Queen, even so art thou escorted by a troupe of ex-farmers and printer's devils—thou art most gorgeously protected.

It is with much regret that we listened to "Unc" Johnson's announcement that he was going back to God's Country. Everyone in the house and every student who has had the pleasure of "Unc's" acquaintance likes to see him go. He has been one of us.

Well, customers—this is the last Colyum of this nature you will gaze through this year. Beh! as this is the last edition of the Toreador, and owing to the fact that we all are about to repair to our respective places of abode we will not trouble you again with this line of patter. But don't think that you're through with us—we'll all be back next year with our sun-burned backs and everything.

We were all agreeably surprised Sunday night upon being visited by our old friend and hall-mate, Pop Johnson of Sweetwater. Pop has been engaged in the filling station business in that fair metropolis, and he says that he really would rather wear corns in his hands handling text-books than juggling tire-tools.

Mrs. Summers and son Edwin returned Saturday afternoon from a few days' trip to Denver had other northern points.

Lieut. H. E. Killin returned Sunday from Amarillo where he took an examination for a commission in the regular army where he will be next year.

Look who's here—We're glad to have Jim Stander with us—Jimmie occupies the suite at the head of the stairs and is most always at home.

Ha, Villians, at last we have come upon thee!

For some weeks the inmates of the Cheri House have been annoyed and aggravated by some vagabond's rampages through the rooms. Upon these occasions beds were discovered to have been dissembled and carried to different parts of the house as well as the personal effects of the occupant being strewn about the room.

But Tuesday night these aforementioned culprits were caught red-handed. They turned out to be none other than our own dear little "Cherry Top" Winston and Gordon Thomson. These young men had seen fit to stay from the pageant and to go on a general "tear". After they were sleeping peacefully, they were the recipients of a bath towel in the mouth to stifle their outcries, and wrapped only in a bath robe and a pair of B. V. Ds, taken to the Tech Cafe and turned loose to walk home—minus the bath robes. A solitary policeman sauntered forth from the cafe and upon catching a glimpse of the scantily-clad figures gave chase. But a pile of steel window sills near the new Lubbock Hotel afforded the elusive chaps a place of refuge until the arm of the law gave up his quest for "Hoosgow Meat". A badly tattered gunny-sack divided between the lads gave them ample protection from the chilly night air until they arrived home two hours later.

Mr. L. O. Horne of Blackwell visited Wednesday with his son, Ogden.

Now wasn't that Duke's Mixture at the pageant Tuesday night.

Yo, ho! Big hop tonight at the Elks.

24 LETTERS ARE GIVEN IN BASE BALL AND TRACK

TOTAL OF 55 LETTERS ARE PRESENTED IN ATHLETICS

At a recent meeting of the Athletic committee, 24 letters were announced to be given to the members of the baseball squad and track team. These are the final letters for the year bringing the total during the first year up to 55. Twenty-three of these were given in football, eight in basket ball, 11 in baseball and 13 in track.

It is the plan of the committee to give letters for other sports next year. Tennis will be included in this and probably wrestling, tumbling and boxing.

Only a few men lettered in baseball because of their scholastic standing. Several good players were out a major part of the season because their grades did not meet the standards set by the committee. Only one man was unable to participate in track because of his scholastic standing.

Out of the fifty-five letters given this year, ten men made two letters each. Nine of these men lettered in football and either baseball or track. The following men earned two letters: Football and track, Carpenter, Reed, Woodward, Woodbridge; Football and basketball, White, Dennison, football and baseball, Nicklaus, Hamilton and Hill, Track and basketball, Walker.

Last one of the year. Our first Home Going Dance. Hope you are all out and hope that you have a wonderful time.

Well, well, guess we had better cut this line of patter and leave a little room for something else. We want to leave the impression that everyone of us appreciate our privilege of being associated with "keeping the old ball rolling" around these parts. Good-bye and plenty good luck. Let us see your smiling face again next September.

No man in school made three letters this year due to the fact that every sport was overcrowded and conditions kept some of them down. There were one or two men who probably would have made three letters or more had they been in school the entire year or kept their grades above par.

The following men were announced as lettermen in baseball: Curtis, catcher, Amarillo; infielders: Hayden, McKinney, Nicklaus, Amarillo, pitcher: Amarillo, Rigney, Lubbock, Hamilton, Mrs. Hill, Alford and Waller; Platoon: outfielders: Hardwick, Eufolo, Oklahoma, Marshall, Lubbock, Blackburn, Shamrock and Watkins, Ralls.

The following men were announced in track: Weights, Carpenter, Sudan, Gilkerson, Lubbock and Reed, Vernon, Dashes, Woodbridge, Dallas, Burroughs, Lubbock, Walker, Vernon, Distances: Neill, Cleburne, Woodward, Comanche, Moore, Lubbock, Brown, Corral, Lubbock, Hordies, Christian, Lubbock, Jumps, Davis, Spur.

We understand that one of our very prominent College citizens is very deeply indebted to one of the popular little co-eds of our institution. The young lady states that this young man owes her the sum of one dollar in payment for wagers that she has won from him. She remembers that fifty cents of the amount was won because she was not ticklish.

She remembers the winning of this bet very vividly but she does not remember how the other was won. We hope that she remembers how the other fifty cents was won so that she may collect the debt in full.

Who would ever have thought that Rex Keys would have a family quarrel. Everything seemed so peaceful there. We understand that the difficulty was settled out of court and we hope that things will soon get back to normalcy.

It seems that our Little Johnnie Forkner has lately developed a very strong taste for coffee. He says that it is sure sweet. We also understand that this particular Coffee is pretty hot. We'll admit that Coffee at the right temperature is not hard to take.

Speaking of cooperation, the clocks in the Home Economics building evidently don't know the term. Each has a separate and individual schedule. Who is responsible?

G. O. P. Congressional Candidate On Stump

DOERNE, Texas, June 4. (P)—Support of the policies of President Coolidge, a larger and better Federal building for San Antonio and Federal highways from San Antonio to Corpus Christi, Rockport and Arkansas Pass, were promised by Fred E. Knetsch of Seguin, candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in an address here Thursday night.

The speaker declared his opponent, Harry M. Wurzach, did not mention the name of President Coolidge during his speech at San Antonio last week.

WOOL AT AUCTION

LONDON, June 4. (P)—A good selection amounting to 8,741 bales was offered at the wool auction today. There was active competition chiefly among continental buyers. Current prices were well maintained.

FRANCE PLANS LOAN

PARIS, June 4. (P)—Minister of Finance Peret intends to launch a large consolidation loan abroad at the end of the year to provide for re-imburement of the national defense bonds. He told the finance committee of the Chamber of Deputies today.

Efforts are being made to arrange a radio telephone conversation between King George and President Coolidge, which may mean that George will have to do all the talking.—Indianapolis News.

SENATE TAKES UP FRENCH DEBT FUNDING OFFER

BITTER FIGHT AGAINST RATIFICATION IS IN PROSPECT

WASHINGTON, June 4. (P)—The $6,347,674,000 French debt funding agreement is now up to the Senate, with a bitter fight against ratification in prospect. Without waiting for action by the French parliament the House late yesterday approved the settlement by a vote of 236 to 112. Previously it had refused, 202 to 40, to send it back to the ways and means committee pending action at Paris. Regarded as one of the administration's pet measures, the bill of ratification is expected in many quarters to add a number of days to the current session of Congress, despite efforts of leaders to expedite adjournment. This and farm relief appear to be the major barriers to the desire of many members who are up for re-election to get home to take personal charge of their campaigns.

Opponents of the agreement fought it vigorously during the two days it was before the House.

As in the House, Senate opponents are expected to base their objections on the liberality of the terms, which spread the payments over 62 years in annual installments graduating upward from $30,000,000 until the full amount, which includes interest, is paid. Proponents of ratification hold that the agreement accurately reflects France's capacity to pay, while opponents contend that this not the case and that it is unfair to American taxpayers because the United States, in borrowing the funds advanced to France, agreed to pay 4 1/2 percent interest on most of the principal, whereas the settlement provides for a much lower rate.

Young Men Hold Decision Of War Wilbur Tells Grads.

ANAPOLIS, Md., June 4. (P)—The decision of war lies in the hand of young men. This was the message of Secretary Wilbur today to the graduating class at the academy.

"If you that you are hazarding much in surrendering something of your liberty to the unknown demands of your nation, what shall we say of the hazard of the nation in placing its destiny in no small degree, in your hands?" the naval secretary said in his prepared address. "Have you done anything which justifies the government on this expression of confidence? I am handing you an opportunity and a duty to command young men who need in the naval service the clearness of vision, the spontaneous co-ordination of mind and muscle peculiar to youth. If by your command, by your example and your present every young man under you not only becomes better fitted to perform his duties aboard ship, but also becomes a more sober, a more industrious, more moral, more spiritually minded man, a better citizen as well as sailor man. You will have lived up to the high privilege accorded you by the government and by the ruler of men."

Prospects Good For Big Cotton Crop At Slaton

(To The Lubbock Journal)

SLATON, June 4.—The prospects for a bumper cotton crop are better through the Slaton territory than ever before, since cotton has been grown on the Plains, according to the unanimous opinion of farmers who have been interviewed. They say that they have had the best of seasons in the ground before the cotton was planted and that the recent rains, have caused the cotton to come up and start its growth in a very short time. Without another drop of rain from this time until the fall of the year, the cotton crop would be a fairly good one, they say, but with an occasional shower, they will make an enormous amount of cotton.

D. F. Eaton, Lubbock County Agent, was in Slaton today and he affirmed the growers' statement. He said that we had the finest of prospects and that he expected the greatest cotton crop ever seen on the Plains for this year.

SENATE ASKS HALT IN ACTION OVER DRY ARGUMENT

WASHINGTON, June 4. (P)—Indefinite postponement of all proposals for modification of the dry laws and for a national prohibition referendum was recommended today by the Senate prohibition committee.

This action still is subject to approval by the judiciary committee of which the prohibition committee is a part, but it is expected to concur.

The report of the committee, drawn by Chairman Means, said the eighteenth amendment was ratified according to a proclamation of the Secretary of State and "we believe this amendment a morally right and economically wise."

"The advocates of modification of the present prohibition laws propose to weaken the same. They seek to directly or indirectly authorize the manufacture and sale of intoxicating beverages. This is contrary to the spirit and intent of the eighteenth amendment."

The committee's decision did surprise the modificationists. In anticipation of it they already had introduced several of their bills as amendments to the administration measure for lightening enforcement, now on the Senate calendar.

NEW RAIL BILL IS GIVEN TEST

Watson-Parker Plan Will Act On Demands of Trainmen For More Money

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, June 4.—The recently enacted Watson-Parker bill for settlement of railroad labor disputes will get its first test in passing upon the demands of 80,000 trainmen of Eastern railroads for a 20 percent wage increase, refused by the railroads.

Officials of the carriers involved told representatives of the brotherhoods of conductors and trainmen yesterday after a two-day conference here that the increase is not justified in view of present operating expenses.

Under the Watson-Parker bill, drawn up by the railroads and rail unions, the next step is for President Coolidge to appoint a mediation board of five men, replacing the abolished railroad labor board, to whom arguments will be submitted as soon as it is appointed. Meanwhile, no strike vote will be taken, nor will there be any interruption of train service.

ODES TO COLLEGE INN

If at first you don't succeed Try, try again, I'll be back next year, To find that promised man.

—Ruth Officer.

Here's to College Inn, I've had many a date, Never on time, But always late.

—Edna Yonge.

I've had my pick of sweethearts, And with them I've had much fun, But after I've tried them all, I find there's only one.

—Billie Nell.

If you would grow thin and fairy like, Go with me on my fifty mile hike.

—Maud Dee.

Oh! the trouble I've had, In days gone by, When I've done my dancing, On the sly.

—Anna Belle.

No one in College Inn can forget me, To say the least, For I've supplied you every one, With many a mid-night feast.

—Lilla.

Here's to College Inn Where I've had so much fun Never am still, But always on the run.

—Punk.

Teaxs Tech you've furnished me with with a man, To carry out my future plan.

—Tid.

I'll never forget the days in College Inn And the times I've had, Slipping out—and slipping in.

—Ruth Benedict.

Oh! Heavens above, if I had never come here, I'd never fallen in love.

—Agnes.

I've had my fun this year And for most of it, I've paid pretty dear.

—Murl.

From College Inn I hate to go, For I've enjoyed playing at the game of Romeo.

—Frances.

I like 'em big, I like 'em small It makes me no difference, Just so they play football.

—Stella Mae.

Here's to College Inn, Which I'm leaving too soon, I furnished the music, While others did spoon.

—Dennise.

From College Inn I've had may a rebuke, But I love it still, For its left me my "uke."

—Lucille.

To stay in College Inn, And have peace with me abide, I declare I'll never take, Another midnight ride.

—Evelyn.

In College Inn, There's always room, For me and my fellows, To study and spoon.

—Oneta.

From College Inn, I've gained my hopes, Take it from me, I know my "ropes."

—Margaret Oliver.

In College Inn, I like to lodge, But best of all I like my "Dodge".

—Mildred.

College Inn, I think you're great, And as for the girls, They're just first rate.

—Edna Haughton.

Always in College Inn, I'd like to abide, I've enjoyed every minute, Especially that bicycle ride.

—Louise.

To College Inn I'm glad I came, Tho' I've not been here long, I've gained much fame.

—Tencye.

College Inn I think you're fine, Within your walls, I've lost no time.

—Dorris.

College Inn here's to you, Within your walls, I'm neyer blue.

—Ilene.

Here's to the girls, That will always win, Tho' I've not been here long, I've caught the spirit of College Inn.

—Grace.

College Inn we'll always remember Tho' now we must say goodbye, We hope from June to September, Will hurry and fly by.

WE THE CO-EDS OF COLLEGE INN.

It seems that the pageant started a few romances. Take for example the case that was started between Peeddy Ashby and his partner, Melba Crawford.
