SPACE SUCCESS!

Astronaut Orbits Earth Six Times

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. whizzed around the earth six times through space with robot precision today and landed safely in the Pacific Ocean.

It was a flight which prompted Schirra to exclaim at one point, "Hallelujah!"

And so the United States took another step, however small, toward a hoped-for landing on the moon before the end of this decade.

The beginning of the remarkable, almost trouble-free flight was viewed on television in 26 European countries, including nine behind the Iron Curtain, via the U.S.-owned Telstar communications satellite.

His flight time over the 170,000 mile course at 17,560 miles per hour was nine hours and 13 minutes, almost precisely as planned.

Indeed, his braking rockets were fired at 4:07:11 p.m. (EST), only two seconds later than called for in the final flight profile.

The 39-year-old Navy commander, inside his space craft called Sigma 7, parachuted into the sparkling Pacific Ocean about 275 miles northeast of Midway Island at 4:28 p.m.

So precise was the flight that Schirra came down within 9,000 yards of the aircraft carrier Kearsarge. Much closer and he could have landed on the flight deck.

As soon as his 63-foot diameter main parachute deployed at 10,000 feet, Schirra said, as have astronauts before him, "Boy, what a beautiful sight."

Schirra reported that he was resting comfortable while awaiting pickup by helicopters from the Kearsarge. There were only gentle swells in the area.

Schirra, in the Sigma 7 spacecraft, hit the center of a mid-Pacific bullseye 250 miles north-east of Midway Island.

The astronaut, still inside the capsule, was hoisted safely aboard this carrier in less than 43 minutes after landing.

The vast deployment of ships, planes and men in the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans to insure his safe recovery had proved unnecessary. Schirra came in right on target.

The hatch was removed from the space capsule, which had the words "United States" visible on its side, and the 39-year-old Navy commander stepped onto the flight deck.

It was in marked contrast with previous space trips of John H. Glenn Jr. and Malcolm Scott Carpenter. Both landed out of sight of the recovery vessels.

President Kennedy telephoned the Kearsarge from Washington while Schirra was still inside the capsule. He had to hold the line 10 minutes until Schirra could get to the phone.

The capsule, hoisted from the water by a crane, was lowered through the flight deck on a hastily arranged bed of old boxes and mattresses.

Schirra appeared slightly tired but told William Hayes, senior space agency representative aboard: "I feel fine. Just fine. A great trip. What a sweet little bird!"

Schirra went quickly below deck for a medical examination. Extensive tests and "debriefing" are scheduled while the Kearsarge makes a leisurely 72-hour trip back to Pearl Harbor.

One of the first things he did after reaching the ship hospital was to talk to his wife by phone. Jo Schirra and their two children followed the flight by radio and television in Houston, Tex.

The flight and recovery were tremendous feats of precision.

Schirra came down after the 160,000-mile flight so precisely on target that his capsule and big red and white striped main parachute were clearly visible overhead.

Within four minutes of the sighting, the capsule splashed into a calm sea off the port bow of the 41,000-ton Kearsarge.

Three frogmen leaped from helicopters into the ocean near the capsule five minutes later to attach a bright orange flotation collar to the capsule. Three minutes later, Schirra radioed to the Kearsarge that he wanted to stay with the capsule and be lifted aboard the carrier while still inside.

'Aw, Now They're Sendin' Humans!'

There's some monkey business going on in the space world nowadays and if it continues, a few chimps may have to go to the unemployment office. But Zelda, above, doesn't seem too dejected about astronaut Walter Schirra's orbits around the earth and return Wednesday. She belongs to Dorothy House, 5114 48th St. —Foreador Photo by Cal Wayne Moore

Lincoln Center -- New Art Mecca

By NANCY MILLER
Toreador Amusements Editor

The strains of Mahler's Eighth Symphony rose last week from a plot of ground on New York's West Side where only slums had stood in 1955, as Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic Orchestra heralded the opening of Philharmonic Hall in the new Lincoln Center.

Lincoln Center, one of 69 art centers in the country either under construction or in the planning stage, promises to become a Mecca for aspiring students of drama, art, music, and the dance. Subsidized by both the government and private concerns, it is rising in New York, and is expected to be finished by 1966. Under the roofs of its five buildings, newcomers and greats from the United States and all over the world will find their chance to exhibit their talents.

The idea for Lincoln Center was born out of the need of the Philharmonic Orchestra and the Metropolitan Opera Association for new quarters, and is rapidly becoming reality under Lincoln Center Council Director, John D. Rockefeller III.

First of the new buildings to open was the New York Philharmonic Hall, home of the Philharmonic Orchestra. When the Philharmonic is not performing, the hall will be available to other orchestras, choral groups, jazz and folk musicians, film presentations, and lecturers.

The Metropolitan Opera House, to be finished in 1965, will house the Metropolitan Opera Association. When the company is not in residence, this hall will be available for the presentations of other companies.

The Philharmonic and the Metropolitan have been joined by the Juilliard School of Music, who, in accepting the invitation to join the center, agreed not only to concentrate on the most gifted young performers and composers, but to add a program in drama training.

Theatrical activities will be centered in the Vivian Beaumont Theater. This theater will become the home of the Lincoln Repertory Company which can present a wide variety of productions. The plays presented here will each be cast separately, and the star system will not prevail, as an inducement to new drama students. The Lincoln Repertory Company will be under the co-direction of Elia Kazan and Robert Whitehead.

Also in Lincoln Center will be the New York State Theater, which is planned primarily for the dance and operetta. During the 1964-65 Worlds Fair, when Lincoln Center will serve as the performing arts wing, the New York State Theater will present great performing arts companies from this and other companies.

Other buildings in the center are the Library Museum of the Performing Arts, and the Damrosch band shell for outdoor concerts. The Museum will house the music, drama and art and dance archives of the New York Public Library. The center, after completion, will present its "Festival 66" in the summer of that year. It is different from other festivals, in that great emphasis will be placed on new works in all branches of the arts.

Truly a temple to the arts, perhaps Lincoln Center will bring New York some of the artistic endeavor which has been scattered throughout the country as of late. At any rate, it is sure to be a Mecca for all aspiring artists.

FUN AND GAMES DEPT.—

In the course of our wandering around the campus we have discovered a new game ideal for filling up stray moments when you're filing your fingernails or combing your hair.

Anyone can play — all you have to do is make up silly slogans, either twisting around old cliches, or inventing new ones. Keeping an eternal ear cocked, we have heard such goodies as, "Don't hatchet your counts before they chicken," "People who live in glass houses should undress in the cellar" and "You can't put a shine on a sneaker."

Susan Knight, an old buddy of ours, contributed, "If a man who can't count finds a four leaf clover, is he entitled to happiness?"

Our nomination for best slogan to date: "If you don't want people to remember your face, go nude."

SATIRE FANS AND REPUBLICANS—A new book to gladden your hearts is now on the market, and we hope it makes the best seller list.

Entitled "JFK Coloring Book," it is a lampoon of the Kennedy Administration with, "inspiration by R. Nixon." Sample: Picture of LBJ sitting on a fence with instructions, "See the man in the big hat? He is very rich. He comes from Texas. He has a lot of oil wells. He owns a big ranch. He raises cattle. He raises horses. He raises lady birds."

Segual to "JFK Coloring Book" is "Executive Coloring Book," with such stabs at Madison Ave. as, "This is our product. It is an intractable friction connector," and on the next page, "this is our competitor's product. It is a nail."

Election Nears In Queen Race

Deadline for entries in the Homecoming Queen contest is Oct. 11. Entry forms are obtainable at the Ex-Students office in Tech Union. Any campus organization may sponsor a contestant.

Ten semi-finalists will be selected in primary balloting Oct. 17. Election of five finalists will take place Oct. 24. The winner will be announced at coronation time.

As I see it . . .

by johnnie lu raborn

I want to bring up the subject of the age-old art of breaking dates. Do not scoff, fellow scoundrels, there are those people who at one time or another find it imperative to break a date. The "finesse" one employs varies in degrees with the seriousness of the situation (in other words if you want to see them again or if it's not a big thing.)

There ARE many legitimate reasons why one must break a date. These we have plenty of. It is the colored, stretched, and not too substantial ones that we need. One prime example is the "campused" story. You have 20 late minutes, three FSO's, two FSO's and you are chained to your room upon pain of death if you leave. This sad tale may not be believable but your date must give you credit for imagination.

Now, let's try the approach from the man's side. Tell her that as a serious student, it is your duty as a gentleman and is your duty to devote this particular time to studying. Throw in a few lines about your seriousness of purpose by giving up this date. She won't believe it either but if you are eloquent enough about your intellect you might "snow" her.

Sad tales or snow jobs really won't work in these situations. Bad as I hate to admit it, if you must break a date tell the truth as far as possible. The consequences won't be nearly as bad.

AS I SEE IT

Have you heard the latest date dilemma on the campus? With our new phone system we have need for accuracy in lining up dates. Girls—be sure to tell the boys which dorm you live in.

One soul went to Weeks Hall, exactly at the hour appointed, called his date and announced his presence. Thirty minutes and one furious girl later he found out that she lived in Doak. Don't laugh, it happened to me.

AS I SEE IT

Let's hope there will be no broken dates or mistaken dorms this weekend because a flurry of activity will start Friday night and last until Sunday.

The Phi Delta Theta "Roaring Twenties" party is scheduled for the Caprock Hotel Friday night from 8-12 p.m. The Caprock will also host the Kappa Alpha Order "Shipwreck Dance" from 8-11. The Sigma Chi fraternity is giving a "Flintstone Dance" at the Holiday Inn East from 8-11:30 p.m.

Saturday marks the formal occasions of two of Tech's fraternities. The Delta Tau Delta "Playboy" dance is at the Holiday Inn Parkway from 8-12 p.m. The "Black and White" Dinner Dance of the Kappa Sigmas' is also that night at the Lubbock Country Club from 7:30-12:30 p.m.

Pi Kappa Alpha joins in a listening party at Buffalo Lakes with a picnic before game time. The SAE's are having a rush dance that night in the Coronado Room.

Sunday the Fiji's are having a spaghetti supper at Klapp Park at 6 p.m. The Pikes are having a picnic this afternoon at Johnson's Ranch.

AS I SEE IT

Four sororities are taking pledge retreats this off-game weekend. Kappa Alpha Theta will remain at their lodge, while Pi Beta Phi goes to Amarillo to the Episcopal Church center, Zeta Tau Alpha and Phi Mu go to Ruidosa, N.M., for the weekend.

Pi Phi's will have an open house today from 6-8:30 p.m. Gamma Phi Beta will have a Coke party Friday at their lodge from 4-5:30 p.m.

ACCOUNTING SOCIETY

The organization meeting of the Tech Accounting Society is slated for 8 p.m. today in C&O Bldg., room 126. Guest speaker for the occasion is Mr. L. C. Carothers, district accounting supervisor for Southwestern Bell Telephone. The meeting will be to sign members for the fall semester, according to Grover Anderson, club member.

SIGMA DELTA CHI

Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society for men, will meet at noon today in the Anniversary Room of the Student Union.

ing party is planned by the Newman Club Saturday at 3 p.m. at Johnson's Ranch. A truck will take the members to the picnic from Newman Hall. All Catholic students are eligible to attend.

EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

The Student Education Association will meet today from 7 to 8:15 p.m. in the Agriculture Memorial Auditorium.

The program will consist of a discussion on "The Teaching Opportunities Abroad." Dr. David Vigness and Dr. Roland Sifert will be the main speaker for the evening.

FRIDAY NOON FORUM

Friday noon forum begins its year of meeting with Mrs. Charles Gibson, Republican committeewoman, who will speak on "The Importance of the Second Party in Texas." The luncheon will meet in the Student Union workroom. Reservations for a meal must be made by 10 a.m. Friday.

Council Suggests Buses For Each Organization

The Student Council is advocating the chartering of a bus for each organization planning to attend the Tech-TCU football game in Fort Worth next weekend.

"Going by bus will exclude the problem of a place to stay overnight," Charlie Aycock, Council president said.

Groups wishing to charter a bus must contact Aycock or Jerry Parsons at the Student Council office any afternoon from 1-5 p.m. The group must have 36 people going on the bus.

"The Student Council has received the assistance of several men's dorm associations and women's dorm association," states Aycock. "The dorm association presidents are helping us with ticket selling campaigns within the dorms. The dorms can also take their own buses if they want to."

Buses will leave the Tech campus around 12:30 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 13 and will arrive in Dallas at 8:30 a.m. Saturday.

Students will have their choice of attending Six Flags Over Texas or the Texas State Fair during the day. They will meet on the buses at 4 p.m. to go to TCU for the game.

Speed is an asset to the ball carrier in football, but the Texas Safety Association says, speed is NOT an asset in heavy traffic. Make sure your speed is reasonable and prudent for existing conditions. Take your time when traveling to and from the ball game and be extra cautious in traffic congested areas.

Milton Expert Teaches Here

By CAROLINE ENGLISH
Toreador Staff Writer

A light blue book called "Milton" will be used in sophomore English classes for the first time this fall. The unique thing about the new book is that the author of the text is teaching at Tech.

He is Dr. James Holly Hanford, of Princeton, N.J.

A visiting professor, Hanford is considered an authority on John

DR. JAMES H. HANFORD

... visiting professor, is author-expert on Milton.

Milton. Dr. Hanford has taught in several colleges and universities and written a number of books on the English poet, but has never lectured to classes using his book.

"I'll have a chance to look back and see how many foolish things I said," the white-haired professor laughed. He added that he hoped his advanced students would bring him up to date.

During his term at Tech, Dr. Hanford will lecture not only to his students and the sophomore English classes, but to the general public in night lectures on Milton. He is scheduled to speak on "The Living Milton" at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview at the school's Scholastic Honors Day Friday.

He uses a dictaphone to record his lectures and then has them typed for his notes.

Even an authority can have difficulty lecturing on his pet subjects, Dr. Hanford admitted.

"It seems the more one knows about something, the harder it is for him to speak on the subject without using notes," he declared.

And Dr. Hanford knows much about Milton. He became interested in the poet as an undergraduate at the University of Rochester in New York.

"One of my instructors asked me to read more of the poet's works. Back in those days, we studied Milton in high school, too," he remembers.

His interest in Milton led him to many parts of the world.

Like the Stratford-on-Avon pilgrimages of many Shakespearean enthusiasts, Dr. Hanford has made his own pilgrimage — to the only extant house where Milton lived.

"The London town house of Milton no longer exists, but in the country there is a cottage of Milton's which has been made into a shrine," he said.

But Dr. Hanford didn't leave Milton there.

"I visited Italy, following Milton's trail, he added, "visiting the places Milton visited and examining historical records there."

From his research on Milton, Dr.

Hanford has written "A Restoration Reader;" "The Poems of John Milton;" a biography, "John Milton, Englishman" and the text used by researchers, "Handbook On Milton," a book which Dr. Hanford plans to revise.

Milton and English literature are not the only teaching subjects of Dr. Hanford. He once taught courses in the history of Britain and the history of criticism at the University of Damascus in Syria from 1959-1960.

Syria's university is just one of the long list of colleges where Dr. Hanford has taught. He is a visiting professor at Princeton University and has taught courses at Harvard, Princeton, Columbia, the Universities of Texas, Chicago, and California. From Tech Dr. Hanford will go to teach at Penn State.

But Lubbock and Texas Tech campus are something new to Dr. Hanford.

Buildings in Lubbock and on the campus are equipped with the newest things, he remarked, and the campus gives everyone a much elbow room, not often found in many northern campuses.

Class Officers, Student Council Candidates Open Campaigns

man Council members-at-large will be elected Wednesday.

Petitions for 22 Techsians to fill the three Student Council vacancies have been received by Karen Anderson, election chairman.

One representative position in each of the schools of Agriculture, Business Administration and Engineering is open.

Class officers will be elected from the list of 88 students who filed petitions will be accepted until noon today, and campaigning will get into full swing in the afternoon.

Posters and campaign tags will be the only publicity media used by the candidates. There will not be a student body convocation before the election.

It's SF-Yanks Today

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The San Francisco Giants won the National League championship Wednesday, scoring the winning run on a bases-loaded walk in a four-run ninth inning rally that beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-4 in their sudden death playoff for the pennant.

The Giants, winners of the best-of-three playoff, 2 games to one, meet the American League champion New York Yankees in the first game of the World Series at San Francisco Thursday, starting at 2 p.m. EST (1 p.m. Lubbock time).

The Giants, who won the opening game of the playoff 8-0 but lost 8-7 Tuesday, trailed 4-2 going into the ninth inning Wednesday before taking the lead when Dodger reliever Stan Williams walked Jim Davenport with the bases loaded.

The walk forced in Felipe Alou with the run that put the Giants in front 5-4. An error by Los Angeles second baseman Larry Burright enabled San Francisco to get an insurance run before Ron Perranoski got the side out.

Matty Alou singled to open the inning, but was forced at second base by Harvey Kuenn. Walks by Ed Roebuck to Willie McCovey and Felipe Alou loaded the bases. Willie Mays cracked a sharp liner back to the mound that Roebuck knocked down, but was unable to hold, allowing the first run of the inning to score.

Williams replaced Roebuck, but Orlando Cepeda drove in the tying run with a sacrifice fly before Davenport worked Williams for the key bases-loaded walk.

Billy Pierce, who won the first game for the Giants with a three-hitter, came on for the Giants in the ninth and set the Dodgers down 1-2-3 to preserve the triumph for another reliever, Don Larsen. Roebuck was the loser.

The Dodgers had pulled ahead 3-2 on a two-run homer by Tommy Davis in the sixth inning and made it 4-2 in the seventh when Maury Wills singled for his fourth hit, stole second and third and came home on a wild throw by Catcher Ed Bailey on the steal of third.

Tech's gonna win tonight for sure. It's just a matter of colors.

To 40 guys white will be the color, while another 40 will be trying to convince a lot of people in general and one man in particular that red looks better.

REDS BATTLE WHITES

At 7:30 p.m. tonight the "reds" will battle the "whites" in the Picador's yearly intra-squad football game at Jones Stadium. And considering several high school all-staters will be displaying their wares, it should be a goodie.

"I've divided them up just about as equally as I can," said freshman football head Burl Huffman (he's that man in particular). "But with the few workouts the boys have been through, I still can't tell who's going to do what. Tonight will tell."

Tramps Ready

Tech's Saddle Tramps will be on hand to give the cheerleaders a bigger voice, but Tramp President Joe Stevens urges all Techsians to see the game just the same.

"I hope we have a whale of a crowd," Stevens mused. Admission will be free.

The game tonight is a preliminary to the season's opener against the University of Arkansas freshmen in Little Rock Oct. 11. A week later, Oct. 18, the Tech frosh will make their home debut against the Hardin-Simmons B team at Jones Stadium.

West Texas State B will host the Picadors in Canyon Oct. 25, the Rice freshmen come to Lubbock Nov. 3 and the North Texas State freshmen will furnish the Picador's final opposition in Denton Nov. 16.
