Student Council Takes Artist Course Numbers From Ticket Next Year

Governing Body Allots Sum For Defraying Of School Expenses

SEVERAL changes will be made in the student activity ticket for the 1936 fall semester, it was decided at a meeting of the Student Council Thursday night.

Under the new arrangement, the artist course tickets will not be included in the student activity ticket but will be sold separately for 75 cents each semester.

Set Dance Deadline March 25 was the date set by the governing group for the deadline on the tickets for the annual Fish dance which is to be held March 28 in the gymnasium.

Itemize Duca Besides items already listed for amounts from the $150 fee, the ticket includes $5.00 for athletics, 25 cents for student council activities, $1.00 for band and 75 cents for The Tormentor.

Educators To Gather Soon

Dean Gordon, Association Head, Will Preside At South Texas Parley

A Centennial of Higher Education in Texas will be the theme for the annual meeting of the Association of Texas Colleges at the St. Anthony hotel in San Antonio from April 24 to 25, J. M. Gordon, dean of men and arts and sciences at the college and president of the association, is to preside at the gathering.

The program includes addresses by Dean E. D. Jennings, Southern Methodist university; Dr. Frederick Eby, Texas university; L. H. Hubbard, president of Texas State College for Women; C. E. Evans, president of Southwest Texas State Teachers college; Pat M. Neff, president of Baylor university; and W. B. Bizzell, president of the University of Oklahoma.

At a banquet Friday night, educators who have been outstanding in higher education in Texas during the last 100 years will be recognized. Reports of the committees on standards and co-ordination and a business meeting will complete the program.

Dean Gordon returns to his office Monday after an inspection tour as a member of the standards committee of the association. He visited Abilene Christian college and McMurry college at Abilene Friday. He is in Cisco today for an inspection of Randolph Junior college.

Audience Favors Negative Side In Collegiate Debate

Two teams from McMurry college at Abilene debated the national collegiate question with local representatives in room 202 of the Administration building in an audience decision contests Thursday evening.

Franklin Weir, Childress, and Alec Beckley, Abilene, upheld McMurry in the first debate against Alton Hankins and Clay Thompson, local team. Tech took the affirmative in the first debate on the national question, Resolved That Congress should have the Power by a Two-Thirds Majority Vote to Override Decisions of the Supreme Court Declaring Acts of Congress Unconstitutional.

Pendleton Enters Debate Team In Florida Tourney Miss Anna Jo Pendleton, director of debate, has made tentative plans to take the first men's debate team to the tournament in Gainesville, Florida, April 14-17.

Women Students Elect Spraggins, Elder To Presidency Posts Lois Spraggins, junior home economics student from Sherman, was named president of the Association of Women Students, and Marjorie Elder, sophomore from Cuero, was chosen president of the Junior Council, in an election held last Wednesday.

Miss Spraggins defeated Lella May Zorns, of Meadow, journalism major, in the arts and sciences division for the association presidency. Miss Lehnberg won over Katherine Johnston of Lubbock; Miss Elder, Nell Walker of Memphis; and Lilla Marie Branner and Dorothy Walker of Amarillo.

Department Head Gives First Walk To Class In Period Of Ten Years

It's an old college custom for students to leave a room where a class is to be held if the professor is excessively late. "Walks" in the home economics division at the college have been rare.

Recently Miss Mabel Erwin, head of the department of clothing and textiles, gave her first walk in ten years. Having attended a luncheon for a visiting lecturer in the classroom of the Home Economics building, she arrived late for her one o'clock class. The students had walked.

She laughed and said, "Well, I think I can afford to give one every ten years." The incident is said to have made history in that division.

Local Judgers Enter Contest At Fort Worth

Junior Livestock Team Competes Today At Fat Stock Show

THE junior livestock judging team is in Fort Worth today to compete in the second largest contest in the world—the meet sponsored by the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show which began yesterday. The dairy team arrived in the downtown city this morning for competition there.

Enroute Mowery's team did practice judging at the Johnson Hereford farms at Jackboro and the T. H. Holt farm at Decatur where they listed Shropshires.

Members of the livestock team are Leldon Hudson, Wellington; Raymond King, Floydada; R. C. Mitchell, Lockney; W. C. McAllister, Weatherford; and Hood Willis, Fluvanna.

Dairy team members are Pegues Houston, Stanton; Billy Mitchell, Snyder; and Ralph Riddel, Lubbock. Fine is coach of the dairy team.

Other juniors making the trip are Elva Hightower, C. C. Nunnally, Floyd Williams, Arnold Black, and Herbert Browder. Team members and other students who made the trip will remain in Fort Worth until Wednesday to watch the livestock judging, Mowery said before leaving.

Arizonans Here The University of Arizona livestock judging team did practice judging on the campus and in the vicinity of Lubbock Tuesday and Wednesday in preparation for the stock show where they will enter competition with Tech.

Tech will exhibit eight head of Holstein Friesian, nine Hereford and Angus steers, and 20 barrows at the exposition. They were shipped Monday said. W. H. Rodgers will be the first part of this week, he is in charge of the best cattle; E. Odell, barrows; and Lee Rogers, dairy cattle. All are employees on the college farm. John Manning and McAllister, students, will help care for the livestock.

"BELIEVE it or not," but Tech can at last truthfully boast of having something that no other college possesses. It is quite unique but not new for in reality it has been in the making since the day Tech's floors were first thrown open over ten years ago.

Up to now it has gone by many titles but none have stuck. However, it is the aim of this new organization to be so well established that it will become a part of this younger Tech's history, setting a tradition that will be followed down through the many years to come.

Press Club Hears Aggie Professor At Next Meeting

J. O. Ellsworth, head professor of agricultural economics and farm management, will speak on "Economics As Related to Advertising" at a meeting of the Press association to be held Monday night at 7:30 o'clock, in room 214 of Administration building.

Eids for the "Leap-Year" dance, to be held March 27, will be distributed. Only members who have paid their club dues are eligible to invite guests, Burnice Walker, president, said. Since this is the last meeting in which to complete plans for the dance, Walker urged all journalism majors to attend.

Officials Of Show List New Features

Visitors to this year's annual engineering show, to be held April 17-18, will have a chance to see the latest developments in analysis of grain structure of steel and brass. Elmo Knudson, show representative from the mechanical engineering department, reports.

Microscopic photographs will be made of cast iron, wrought iron, high carbon steel and other types of iron and steel. The grain structures of the different types will be compared by the photographs. One thousand of the photographs will be distributed to visitors.

Show visitors are to view the work of the mechanical department first, as in other years, Knudson said. They will have a chance to see many new features, including work in a new course of metallography.

Five Students Make Final Arrangements For Trip

Patricia Patterson, Mary Scott, Anita Matheson, Eron Gafford, and Quannah Lewis have made arrangements to go with Miss Ruth Pirtle on the annual tour of the East sponsored by the speech department of the college, Miss Pirtle is head of the department.

The excursion includes New York, Philadelphia, Washington and points north and south on the bus routes chosen for the trip.

Education Society Hears Discussion By Barnett

"In applying for a teaching position, apply for one which is vacant," was the opening remark of the address which Dr. Albert Barnett, professor of education and head of the teachers' placement bureau, gave the Education society Thursday night.

"You are presuming a great deal to apply where positions are full to think you will get one, unless the superintendent is a personal friend of yours," Dr. Barnett continued.

Dr. Barnett emphasized the point that the thing an applicant must get is a personal interview with the superintendent and "sell" yourself. He also said to prepare both physically and mentally for the interview.

Among pointers that Dr. Barnett gave were to be on time for the interview and get to the point at once. If you can, get your interviewer to do most of the talking. Barnett said. Avoid appearing over-anxious to get the position, and avoid staying too long, he added. A general discussion of the subject followed the talk.

Responsibility For Education Rests On Shoulders Of Students In College

TOO often most students are prone to point their fingers at instructors and professors and accuse them of being responsible for their failure to get an education.

True, the faculty members have their faults. True, they could correct most of them. But have you ever taken inventory? No? Then face these facts for yourself before blaming your poor grades upon professional shortcomings.

Professors have problems of their own. They, too, are often handicapped by deficiencies in the same educational system that involves you as a student.

WHEN students attend classes in a sleepy stupor, they should refrain from placing responsibility of a dull class period upon the professor when their mind is dead to the reception of facts.

The professor has the right to assume that students have come to school to acquire knowledge. It is the student's responsibility to get the information given in the professor's lectures and through lessons assigned for daily work.

Often the facilities are numerous where-by a student can arouse interest in a subject upon his own initiative. One of the better ways is to keep up with assignments so as to be able to understand lectures and discussions.

As one writer has said, education cannot be made so attractive that the student may sit placidly by and drink it down like a glass of lemonade.

"Of course, I don't intend to refuse the money when it comes, but I don't think I'm really entitled to it," Prof. Donald Gates of St. Thomas college offers original comment on the bonus payment.

Today's Thought

IT has been said that man's laws often work to the advantage of those smart enough to break them without incurring punishment. But Nature acquits no offenders—her laws are all enforceable. And self-preservation is Nature's first law.

The Fraternity Question

THE question of fraternities on the campus has always been a debatable one at the college. Whether Tech profits by being a non-fraternity school is still an open question.

Perhaps the greatest criticism hurled at the fraternity is that it tends to cause cliques and factions in a school and encourages members to look condescendingly upon one who is not a member of any organization.

CERTAINLY some of this is true, although much of it is magnified. To say that only snobs belong to a fraternity would no more be true than to say that a student who does not belong is modest and democratic.

Such a "smart-aleck" group is found in every institution, and credit, or discredit, must be given them as the bitterest enemy of any club or fraternity.

FRATERNITY brothers have a better opportunity to form lasting and beneficial friendships and acquaintances that will help them in later years when their college career is finished.

Student Forum

EX-STUDENT VOICES HIS OPINION Amarillo, Texas, March 9, 1936.

To the Editor: Due to my status as an ex-student rather than an active one I should probably tend to my own business rather than dabble in yours.

I want first to congratulate the management of The Toreador on its continued progress and improvement. The semi-weekly naturally fills the need much better than the weekly and the features have improved vastly over that of the first few years of publication.

Your policies, too, have my approval. When I read last fall that you planned to stand on your own feet and voice your own sentiments I rather doubted that you would hold your job long if you did.

Now, regarding the yellow sheet propagandists. Certainly their methods are wrong and they deserve criticism for their attitude and the means they used to express it.

I have no patience with those who complain that they have to pay a fee to vote. My observance is that those who would be interested enough in politics to vote will arrange in some way to obtain the privilege and those who complain the loudest when they cannot have what they want (because they can't have it) are the most indifferent.

This is not a bid for publicity. I simply had this on my mind and wished to get rid of it. Yours for a greater Texas Tech. Sincerely, G. M. W.

"The chance is exceedingly remote." Dr. Harlow Shapley, director of the Harvard Observatory, doesn't believe the newly-discovered "Deipote Object," smallest (one-third mile in diameter) of the heavenly bodies, will ever collide with the earth.

One Minute Interviews

Question: What do you think of the student poll tax required for voting?

Virginia Will: If a person is interested enough, he will pay a reasonable fee to vote.

Arnolia Server: Registration fees should serve as poll tax.

Hermona Shadle: Why not? Cecile Parsons: Seniors should be given tax-exemption certificates.

Lois Paulsel: A democratic school should not contend with such a practice.

Aubrey Loyd: I do not like the idea.

Mary Kate Couch: Paying a poll tax in college will prepare you for American citizenship. It is a good habit to form.

Verna Crump: I believe that the payment of the compulsory fee should entitle a student to vote in the student election.

Marie Zimmerman: It is just a little unfair.

Mary Dee Miller: I think that it is an unnecessary evil.

Dan Corbin: I think that the students should not be required to pay for voting because it somehow kills the spirit of democracy that is supposed to exist on the campus.

Rosemary Duff: I think that it should be abolished. Few students knew anything about the poll tax.

Lovie Beavers: I am opposed to it.

Catherine Royalty: It is unfair and certainly not in keeping with the principles under which this college was founded.

Johnie Katherine Snider: Every student should be given the right or privilege of voting when he pays his registration fee.

Jewell Hughes: Voting should not be restricted.

Jackson Says Raiders Will Play Centennial Football Game

Matador Officials Seek Opponent At Exposition

By BOB CANNON Sports Editor

A personal visit down to the Hardin-Simmons headquarters by this department discovered a few interesting things concerning the Hardin-Simmons-Tech game as proposed by the Cowboys head nabob, Gib Sandefur. Mr. Sandefur, we understand, decided that it would be interesting to play Tech at any cost. So he tried the Centennial bosses after he discovered that Tech had not secured an opponent for October 31. With vigorous speech, typical of the Baptist eloquence, Gib suggested the idea of Hardin-Simmons being Tech's foe, and to build the game up as the classic of West Texas.

The other hullabaloo including telegrams, and letters that have been sitting into the Tech athletic office suggesting that Tech should meet Hardin-Simmons on that day are more of Mr. Sandefur's ideas. Dr. W. A. Jackson, Tech's athletic chairman, sent us word from Dallas that Hardin-Simmons and not the Centennial was raising all of the dust about the proposed contest. He also verified our information received in Abilene that Sandefur was behind the whole deal.

Primarily, the object of Hardin-Simmons desperate attempt to book the game with the Matadors is not a money making project for the Cowboys. Rather, it is their last chance to get Tech on their schedule and attempt to defeat the Red Raiders with their "wonder" team, which, if the truth be known, may be tough, but hardly tough enough to stop the veteran Red Raider eleven next fall. After next year the Cowboys know that their last chance in beating the Raiders will be lost for many days, but it is a pity that the Mats will not be given the chance to spank the ambitious child.

Tech owes a lot of consideration to the Cowboys, though. They certainly respect the prestige that they have had during the last few years in being able to play the Matadors. With the Raiders on their schedule, the Wranglers could say that their future was in the making, but now their football future has just passed.

And if you really want to know the main reason why Tech will not play the Cowboys again, it is simply this: The Cowboys cannot guarantee a decent sum of money, regardless of how many Taylor county fans storm the Cowboy stadium. Not more than $1,700 can be realized by the Matador athletic department, even though the rivalry between the two schools is so great. The money profit made by Tech has never been more than the above lump sum. So what is the value of playing to a big crowd every year with the percentage of profit never getting any larger? Either there must be a lot of free tickets or something is screwy somewhere.

Loyola Of The South May Battle Tech At Dallas During Jubilee

RETURNING from a conference with Texas Centennial athletic officials in Dallas Thursday, Dr. W. A. Jackson, chairman of Texas Tech athletic council, announced that "in all probability one of the Matadors' important inter-sectional games next fall would be transferred to the Centennial Blue Bonnet Bowl in Dallas."

The exact date and the game which the officials discussed has not been officially released as yet, but the Tech athletic councilman began negotiations with inter-sectional foes for the Centennial game, Dr. Jackson said.

Offer Dates

Centennial officials offered October 3 and 31, and November 26 as open dates for the Red Raiders, Dr. Jackson said. Tech is ticketed against Oklahoma City university October 3 in Lubbock. October 31 is an open date. On November 26 Loyola university of the South will be met in New Orleans. The councilman said that the Loyola date would be considered first.

During the last ten days considerable pressure has been put on the Tech athletic department by the Hardin-Simmons university officials at Abilene for an engagement with the Red Raiders in Dallas October 31, Tech's original Centennial date. Numerous telegrams, letters, and other correspondence from state officials and Chamber of Commerce executives have urged the Matador officials to book Hardin-Simmons at the Centennial on that date as a part of the West Texas Day celebration.

Tech Refuses

Dr. Jackson went to Dallas early in the week to discuss the matter with Centennial officials. Tech officials have refused to sign a contract with Hardin-Simmons because the Cowboy athletic department will not agree to Tech's financial demands.

Fans, Students Raise Funds For Hurt Grid Hero

Knoxville, Tenn., March 14.—(ACP)—Almost completely incapacitated as a result of severe brain injuries suffered in the Thanksgiving Day game with the University of Kentucky team, Herbie Tade, star University of Tennessee center, is in the care of a famous New York brain specialist today, while students and football fans of both state push a drive to establish a fund for his care.

One thousand dollars has already been raised to defray present expenses, and if in the judgement of the New York specialist Tade's case is hopeless, additional money will be sought with a view toward establishing a permanent trust fund for the injured gridiron hero.

Tade was hurt in the closing minutes of the Kentucky-Tennessee game last fall. Throughout the last half with Tennessee far behind, he had been the main pillar of defense and one of the explanations of his almost fatal injury is believed to lie in the fact that he had so completely played himself out.

FINAL first round basketball games are slated on the Intramural program today with the favored Night Owls, representing LaFonda, tangle with the tough Aggie aggregation at 3 o'clock in the first game of the afternoon.

At 4 o'clock the Centaurus will meet the ME's in the second game, and beginning at 9 o'clock Sunday morning, the Silver Keys are scheduled against the winner of the ME-Centaurus game.

Beginning at 10 o'clock Sunday morning the first round consolation games commence with the Water Moccasins slated to play the Wranglers. Immediately following the Tennis club wrangles with the Kemas. During the afternoon the remainder of the first round matches will be played off. The bracketing of the eliminated teams is to be posted at the officials desk.

Second round games in the championship division will start Sunday afternoon, Aubrey Butts, intramural director, said.

"As soon as your team has completed first round playing," the director said, "inquire as to when and what time your next game will be scheduled. It is required of all teams to be on the floor at least five minutes after their scheduled playing time."

Semi-final matches in both championship and consolation will be played Tuesday night. The final game will be played off Wednesday night, Butts said. Quarterfinal games are carded Monday.

Gordon Continues Pace Setting In Tennis Club Meet

The inter-division tennis tournament has been whittled down to the quarterfinals after a week's play in the men's singles bracket. Marshall Gordon, ace Tech racketeer, continues to set the pace in the singles race, besides seeming certain to retain his top position on the Tech varsity squad. Gordon won the first quarterfinal match when he eliminated H. A. Bozeman, 6-3, 6-0.

Results of second round matches: Gordon defeated Jack Fox, 6-0, 6-1; Aubrey McCarty stopped Lee Roy Mosley, 6-3, 6-2; Harry Jordan eliminated Woodrow Powell, 6-2, 6-2.

First round results: Willford Lance beat Weldon Parker, 6-3, 6-2; Lee Roy Mosley stopped Nugent Brasher, 6-3, 6-2; Aubrey McCarty was over Ray Hynds, 6-1, 6-3; Larry Taylor defaulted to Jack Huffmeyer; Joe Richardson eliminated Skiles Thomas 6-3, 6-2; Artie Hicks beat Fancher Uphaw, 6-3, 6-1; Harry Jordan beat L. G. Raney, 6-3, 7-5; Bruce Bozeman defeated Bobby Watson, 6-3, 6-2; and Forrest Weimhold lost to Aubrey McCarty, 6-3, 6-2.

Grid Faks

(Editor's Note: How much do you know about football? If you were the captain of a team, and a question over some technicality of the game arose, could you be certain of the officials' decision.

Coach Pete W. Cawthon is giving the same questions three times a week to members of the varsity football squad, and for the benefit of the fan, the new column "Grid Faks" will be run. The answers can be found on page four.

1. Team A has used its allotted number of timeouts, but tackle Brown is injured and he is removed from the game. Is any penalty attached?

2. Team A has used its allotted number of timeouts, but tackle Brown is injured. Trainer B works on him, and he is able to stay in the game. Is there any penalty?

3. How long may a timeout last?

4. How long is a team allowed to remain in a huddle? How long (See GRID FAKS, page 4)

For Digestion's Sake...smoke Camels

WHEN YOU VENT the books hour after hour and day after day, the strain and tension seek for a weak spot—so often digestion. You'll find that smoking Camels aids digestion.

Smoking Camels Helps to Ward Off Indigestion Caused by the Breathless Pace of Modern Living

Faster—faster—faster goes the modern rush. People are "always on the go." No wonder indigestion visits so many from time to time. People can't seem to pause for proper eating. But here's one simple step every one can take! Smoke Camels for the sake of the positive beneficial effect Camels have upon digestion. Camels stimulate and promote natural processes of digestion. And above all, with their matchless blend of costlier tobaccos, Camels bring a supreme enjoyment of mildness and flavor.

Modern life in one of its most attractive phases—the beautiful Trianon Room (above) at the Ambassador in New York. Louis, maître d'hôtel at this celebrated dining place, says: "Our guests come to the Trianon Room from New York and from all over the country. It is interesting to see how they agree in preferring Camels. Those who enjoy dining here also appreciate the delicate flavor of the finer tobaccos in Camels. Camels are an overwhelming favorite at our tables."

NO FRESH FOOD HERE—the Morrissey during an Arctic expedition. . . Harold McCracken, leader, says: "Stomach upsets are a constant hazard. I've discovered that smoking Camels at every meal and after helps digestion."

"DELIGHTFUL with meals and after," says Betty Chase, star figure skater. "Camels make food taste better and help digestion along. And certainly smoking a Camel is one of life's most agreeable experiences."

Leales Formal Dinner, Student Council Dance Features Weekend Card

Wranglers Fete Officers Tomorrow; DFD Has Outdoor Affair

A LAS LEALES club formal dinner, an all-college dance sponsored by the Student Council, both this evening, and a breakfast tomorrow morning honoring old officers and new patrons of the Wrangler club comprise diversions for this weekend.

DFD pledges commenced this weekend's social whirl last evening with a weiner roast at Buffalo Springs. Other activities included an informal party attended by Las Armonias club members and sponsors, and a meeting of the Community Young People's group, which danced at Seaman hall.

Armonias Entertain
Hostesses for the DFD outing consisted of Elizabeth Elalock, Mary Jo Muller, Margaret Brassell and Louise Fortenberry, escorted by Glenn Stevenson, Ed Thompson, Clyde Thompson and Maurice Wiginton.

Progressive games and refreshments were features of the party given by Las Armonias club at the home of the club president, Austin McDonald, 3306 College avenue. Sponsors, Dr. and Mrs. D. D. Jackson, Mr. G. C. Galbraith, Mrs. J. F. McDonald, and Miss Dollie Clements attended with 39 members.

List Guests
At the Las Leales club formal dinner this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Chimayo room of the Hilton hotel, a St. Patrick's day color motif will predominate in decorations.

New members and Dr. and Mrs. Bradford Knapp, Dean and Mrs. J. M. Gordon, Misses Margaret Weeks and Mozelle Craddock and Mesdames Bennie Buford, Elizabeth Young and E. L. Robertson are invited as special guests.

Those in charge of the evening's program are the club president, Ruth Senter, and Allie Eason, program chairman.

Recent affiliates are Pauline Edgett, Doris Townsend, Wylene Nelson, Dorothy Barrington, Virginia Will, Helen Davis, Dorothy Spence, Mary Katherine Couch, and Hazel Pollard.

Noted Economist

ONE of the principal speakers at the New Mexico-West Texas conference of International Relations clubs at Albuquerque Friday and Saturday was Dr. Otto Nathan, lecturer in economics at New York university. Nathan was formerly economic advisor to the German Reich. President Roosevelt named him to his Emergency Committee for Employment when he came to this country in 1930. Several students from here attended the sectional conference.

HURT IN WRECK

Velma Anderson, home economics graduate last year, was in a local hospital Saturday through Tuesday for treatment of injuries received when her car overturned on the road between Lubbock and Seminole. Her condition was not serious, and she has returned to her home in Aspermont.

Hudson, Hermona Shadle and Eleanor Hodges.

Watch charms will be given as annual awards to the president and secretary-treasurer of Wrangler club at a 9 o'clock breakfast tomorrow morning in the Chimayo room of the Hilton hotel. Marcus Halsey Jr., president, and Ralph Penney, secretary-treasurer, are recipients of these gifts.

Grid Faks

is a team allowed in putting the ball in play?

5. The game is about over. Team A punts, and the ball is still in the air. Defensive team commits a foul, and at the same time the timekeeper shoots the gun. Has this game ended properly?

6. When is a substitution complete?

7. Team A kicks off, but the ball is recovered by Team B eight yards from the kickoff. Does Team B get the ball?

8. Team A kicks over the goal line, and then recovers the ball in the end zone. Is it a touchdown, a touchback, or what is it?

9. When is a man on the line of scrimmage?

10. After Team A has completed a shift, can a backfield man be moving? If so, in what direction can he be moving?

11. How many men shifting constitute a shift?

12. When the Matadors shift, they all come to a second stop. Then the ends move in or out. How long must they be at a standstill before the ball is put into play?

ANSWERS TO GRID FAKS

1. No penalty if he leaves game.

2. Yes, unless injured played is removed, it is a five yard penalty.

3. Not more than two minutes.

4. Fifteen seconds in huddle; thirty seconds in getting ball in play.

5. No, the game must end free of foul by defense, unless it is declined.

6. When he reports to umpire and is approved by his captain.

7. No, he must go ten yards, unless touched by opponents.

8. It is a touchdown.

9. Both feet, or one hand and one foot, or both hands up to or within one foot of the ball.

10. He must be moving directly or obliquely toward end line.

11. Two or more constitute a shift.

12. There is no definite time, but he must be stopped the moment the ball is snapped.

Matador Band Plays On Tour

Annual Spring Trip Sends Organization To West Texas Districts

band journeys to Monahans for a morning concert, followed by appearances in Fort Stockton and Iraan.

Appear At Winters

Thursday the delegation is to appear in McCamey and Big Lake, and that evening in Winters. The following day will see the band playing two concerts in Abilene, and Wiley plans to present the musicians at Abilene Christian college Saturday morning.

Wiley outlined the program for each concert. The numbers to appear on Schubert's "Rosamunde Overture"; a clarinet solo, Verdi's "Rigoletto Fantasy," by Bob Dickason; Jesse's "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers"; Carlton Colby's "Headlines—A Modern Rhapsody"; Kramer's "The Whirlwind," a flute solo by David Humphreys; "Memories of Stephen Foster," arranged by Calliet; Boccalari's "Fantasy di Concerto," a baritone solo by Robert Fielder; and DeNardis' symphonic poem, "The Universal Judgment."

Travel By Car

The entourage will travel in two busses and an automobile, Wiley said. This is the second annual spring tour he has arranged. Last year the band went to a number of cities in the Panhandle and on the North Plains.

GETS CAMP JOB

Eloise Lancaster, home economics graduate of 1934, has been appointed on the staff of Camp Mary White at Roswell, N. M., for this summer. She will work either as a dietitian of the camp or with one of the unit heads as a counselor. Miss Lancaster has been teaching home economics at Slaton.
