Air Training Discontinued On Campus

War Department Orders Present Program Closed

Official Notice Received By President Jones

The 309th College Aircrew Training detachment will be discontinued on the campus by June 30, along with 80 other similar training units at other colleges, according to official notice received in the president's office Saturday.

A telegram was received by President Clifford B. Jones Saturday from Congressman George Mahon which said "Army advises all aircrew training in colleges being terminated June 30. There are no exceptions.

The action, the War department explained, affects only aircrew students and does not concern the training of AAF personnel in other college programs nor the Army Specialized Training program and the AAF Ground Crew Training program.

More than 40,000 students in the Aircrew Training program will be withdrawn monthly on a quota basis between now and June 30. Students in college on June 30 will be assigned to aircrew training at airfields in the AAF training command while awaiting preflight instructions.

Other Texas colleges which will be affected by the termination of the program are: Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college, Southwest Texas State Teachers college, West Texas State Teachers college and Austin college at Sherman.

As a result of the air force's decision to transfer 36,000 prospective aviation cadets to ground forces, and temporary suspension of the Army facilities will be adequate to handle the aircrew training after June 30.

Elimination of the college program will not adversely affect the efficiency of aircrew training. The Army's specialized training program plans to instruct 17-year-old enlisted reservists in the Army specialized training reserve program at colleges to be designated.

"Texas Tech has been exceedingly glad to make available to the government its facilities for the aircrew and the engineers to the extent of their needs," said President Jones. "Had they needed all of the facilities they would have been made available," he added.

"Since the directive names June 30 as closing date," he said, "the services of many colleges, including Texas Tech, will now permit making plans for normal accommodation of civilian students who gladly and promptly gave up their dormitories."

"It is contemplated," President Jones explained, "that Women's Dorm No. 2, which has been made available to the Advanced Engineers, will in future be returned to use of women students, and that Sneed and West halls, now being used as barracks for Aircrew members, will in the future be available to men students and such reservists as remain."

Naval Officers See V-12 Applicants From April 10-12

All men students who have received notice that they passed the V-12 examination taken March 15 should get in touch with the naval procurement party in the Hilton hotel Monday, April 10, according to Dr. H. L. Kent, administrative assistant.

"In order that navy officers will have time to see all applicants, individual students should report to the hotel their first free hour Monday," says Dr. Kent. "They should carry with them notice that they have passed the examination and all other papers necessary for consideration," he added.

College graduates who are interested in applying for commissions in the Navy should report April 11 or 12.

The Naval procurement party will be here April 10 through 12 to interview and process V-12 applicants from the Lubbock area and applicants for commissions in the Navy.

Chappelle And Leach Attend Ag Conference

Prof. R. L. Chappelle and T. L. Leach of the agricultural education department are attending a conference for vocational agriculture teacher trainers and teacher trainer supervisors in San Antonio this week. Purpose of this meeting is for post-war planning in the training of vocational agriculture teachers.

Sunrise Easter Service Is Held Sunday Morning

Sunrise Easter service sponsored by Tech Student Religious council will be held Sunday morning at 7 o'clock on the green south of the administration building. Reverend Albie Carleton will speak to the group of Tech students and faculty on "The Resurrection of Barabbas."

Tech's first president, Paul Whitfield Horn, inaugurated the first sunrise service, which was sponsored by the YWCA, whose sponsor was Mrs. John C. Granbury, wife of the head of the history department. President Horn gave the address at this service in 1927.

During the first years the college hymn, Oh College Mother Beautiful, whose words were written by President Horn, was sung at every service. At the service following his death a prose poem composed by him was read.

While YMCA and YWCA were active they sponsored the service. In recent years the religious council has sponsored it.

Annual Museum Meeting Is On Tech Campus

West Texas Museum association will hold its fourteenth annual meeting here Thursday, April 20. The meeting will honor Texas pioneers who came to the South Plains prior to 1901.

J. E. Hales, Texas rancher-author, will be the principal speaker. A native Texan, Hales is the author of several books on West Texas history, including a history of the XIT ranch, the life of Col. Charles Goodnight, and the life of George W. Luffield. At present he lives on his ranch near Spearman.

Walter S. Posey, president of the local First National bank, will be chairman of the afternoon session of the meeting which begins at 4 o'clock in the museum. The meeting, consisting of reminiscences by pioneers, will be open to the public.

Hales' address will be at 8:30 p. m. in the museum and will also be open to the public. Luncheon will be held at the Hilton hotel at noon and a chuck wagon supper in Aggie grove at 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening. Pioneers who came to the Plains prior to 1901 will be guests of the association.

Members of the museum's board of directors are as follows: W. G. McMillan, president; J. E. McLaughlin, C. E. Maedgen, Mrs. Roscoe Wilson, Sam G. Dunn, vice-presidents; James G. Allen, secretary; Mrs. C. D. Eaves, treasurer; W. C. Holden, director; Hubert L. Allen, Sam C. Arnett, R. C. Hopking, J. T. Hutchinson, George P. Kuykendall and C. J. Wagner, directors ex-officio.

Tech Art Institute Sponsor Exhibit

An exhibition of small oils and water colors sent out by the Texas Fine Arts association of Austin is being sponsored by the Texas Tech Art Institute. The pictures are exhibited in West Texas museum and will remain there until April 23.

First prize-winner in the exhibit was Frances Skinner's oil painting "The Torn Shack." Miss Skinner is a native of Dallas where she received most of her training as an artist.

Other paintings include "Abandoned Farms" by Dow Simpson; "County Ear County," Harriet Trantham; "Mexican Girl," Margaret Tupper; "Cotton Bolls," Patty East; and "Spring in the Southwest," Vera Wise. All pictures in the exhibit portray life or scenes in the Southwest.

The Art Institute will hold its annual local art exhibit from April 15 to May 1. All artists of the South Plains territory are invited to exhibit their work in this show. A fee of 50 cents will be charged to exhibitors who are not members of the institute.

Position Open For English Prof

The Department of State wants names of persons who are qualified to teach English in Latin American countries. Dr. W. B. Gates of the English department reports.

To be considered for these positions an A. B. degree or its equivalent, a working knowledge of Spanish or Portuguese and some experience in teaching English or foreign languages are necessary. Men should have an indefinite draft deferment.

Inquiries should be addressed to the Division of Cultural Relations, Department of State, Washington 25, D. C.

Metropolitan Baritone Is On Artists Course

With Tuesday night's performance at Lubbock High school auditorium, Igor Gorin will close this year's artist course program. The metropolitan baritone, whose program begins at 8 o'clock, is a native of the Ukraine, having come to this country a few years ago.

Gorin opens his program with "Troppo Soavi I Gusti" by Francesco Cavalli, "She Never Told Her Love," by Joseph Haydn, and "La Danza," by Gioacchino Rossini. The second part of the program includes "Fortunio," Andre Messager, "Si Tu Le Veux" by Koehlin, and two Polish folk songs. He sings one aria during the performance, "Di Provenza il Mar," from Verdi's "La Traviata." After the intermission, Gorin's performance starts with a group which includes "The Crying of Water" by Campbell, "Dipton," "One Little Cloud," Mildred Lund Tyson, "A Little Song of Life," Albert Hay Malotte; "The United Nations," Shostakovich; "Burlak (The Drunkard)," a Ukrainian folksong; and two songs of his own composition. He will also sing "None but the Lonely Heart," which has proved popular with Lubbock audiences.

Robert MacDonald, who will accompany Gorin at the piano, will play three piano solos as part of the program, "Caprice d'Alceste," (Gluck-Staens), "Reflets dans l'eau," (Debussy), and "Arabesque," by Leschetzky will be offered by MacDonald directly after the intermission.

"Ten years ago," Gorin says, "an opera and concert singer could afford to be a fat little man who stood still on the stage and occasionally punctured his singing with a wave of the hand in this direction or that, but today's opera and concert audiences expect their singers to be good actors as well.

"The dramatic aspects, it goes on to say, 'of singing have assumed such great importance within recent years that there are many singers who are now able to score tremendous successes with voices no better than average because their histrionic ability is outstanding.'"

Charles Kullman opened the 1943-44 school year's Artist course program in October. A famed metropolitan tenor, Kullman was as charming a performer as Tech audience has ever heard. Soldiers at the Lubbock Army Air field were also privileged to hear this performer, as he sang for them during his stay in Lubbock.

The General Platoff Don Cossack chorus was the second group of performers. Dressed in the uniform of the Cossack warriors, they offered much color as well as an excellent program to their audience.

Min Slavenka was to have opened the spring program, but due to train schedule, she did not arrive and the program was called off. In her place came Ethel Bartlett and Rae Robertson, duopianists, whose performance delighted every member of the audience.

Major Elmer Tarbox is a former Tech football, basketball and track star known over the nation as Elmer "The Great." During his senior year in Tech he was named an All-American in national football ratings and voted Texas' most outstanding football player. ### Cunningham Spoke At Press Club

"A character must have color, must fit the plot, and must really live," Dr. A. B. Cunningham told Press club members Tuesday afternoon. He spoke on the importance of characterization in fiction writing.

"Taking real life situations and writing them into stories sometimes makes interesting reading," he says, "but most author's trouble lies in the fact that they use real characters which have very little personality." Most fiction writing is biographical or autobiographical, but only characters which are interesting and colorful in real life can be used.

Veteran Of 28 Combat Missions Visits Tech Campus This Week

Ex-Red Raider Maj. Elmer Tarbox has recently visited in Lubbock and on Tech campus during a leave from his present assignment in the United States.

Major Tarbox was accompanied by his wife, the former Miss Maxine Barnett. Mrs. Tarbox also attended Tech.

Tarbox is a former Tech football, basketball and track star known over the nation as Elmer "The Great." During his senior year in Tech he was named an All-American in national football ratings and voted Texas' most outstanding football player. His career on Tech's gridiron was under the coaching of Pete Cawthon now with the US Navy.

In 1939, when he received the All-American rating, he was graduated from Tech. Immediately following his graduation he went to work for the Ford Motor company of Lubbock and then went to Randolph field where he became a flying cadet and received his wings.

In March, 1942, he arrived in China with the first American Volunteer group under the command of Brig. Gen. Claire L. Chennault. When the United States entered the war, the AVG became a regular fighting unit of the American Army, and Tarbox was assigned to a B-25 that he named "Jap-Nightmare."

A bullet through both legs. From his mission on his return, 30 bullet wounds were counted in his plane. He was hospitalized several months following this injury. After his release from the hospital, as he was not physically able to fly at that time, he was put in charge of an engineering unit behind the lines. At the same time he was appointed bombardment officer, air inspector and engineering officer for bombardment aircraft. Afterward he was allowed to fly six months as a special project, arriving by plane Dec. 12 and rejoining his duties to Wright, Patterson fields and Fort Dix. The special engineering project he is now concerned with has to do with improving bombing aircraft for offensive attacks on the Japanese.

"The first 'Wobble-gun' was made with suggestions by Major Tarbox. Also he devised extra bomb racks for the B-25.

Tarbox says the men overseas have only two things to think about—their job of winning the war and an overwhelming longing to come home.

He has been reassigned to Wright field, Dayton, Ohio, and is to report there April 11. He went to Lubbock from Lubbock where he and Mrs. Tarbox will spend the remainder of his leave in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Tarbox.

Again Goodbye...

AGAIN we Techsians must say goodbye to soldiers with whom we have shared our campus. A part of the aircrew students are leaving us for parts unknown and the others will soon follow. All of us consider their stay here a fortunate one.

Tech can be proud of again having served its country in a time of need. Its offer to the Eighth Service command, two of its best dormitories, its newest building and many trained faculty members, was accepted for use by the 309th College Aircrew Training detachment. For the past year this program has been functioning in cooperation with the college. Likewise we Techsians accepted our responsibility of regarding these pre-flighters as neighbors and became accustomed to their presence.

In fact, we soon learned to forget our grudge against making an 8 o'clock class in the cold dark mornings, for the joyous notes of song that rushed forth from the marching choirs on their way to classes added warmth and humor to our sleepy heads. From the aviation students we learned many new words to old tunes, and looked forward to hearing them sing as they marched along. We will miss the beautiful Air Corps song that lifted our spirits and accelerated our steps.

Although the passing of the aircrew men often caused confusion and our being late to classes, we will remember them and will wish them well on their new assignments. Each time we saw them marching in the militaristic manner, we were sure to become conscious of the fact that we were at war and that Tech was playing its part.

The fellows are not anxious to leave Tech, for many of them feel that they hardly know it. Their training here, however, will cause them to have an everlasting memory of our school. We can truly say that we have offered them our very best cooperation with the program, and they seem to have appreciated it. There is no one to blame for its being brought to an end.

Probably the canine Techsians will miss the future fliers most of all, for they were best of friends. Each dog was a favorite of a squadron, and no dog was neglected or abused. Over a year ago when the detachment was initiated here on the campus, the dogs immediately became their companions.

When these uniformed students leave, our ROTC boys will again take over the daily flag raising and lowering performance. For we Techsians, as we cross the campus, like to look up and see the flag waving in the breeze. It stands for a great deal that is not expressed in words, and this was realized more and more by the presence of the aircrew students. Many of us attended retreat in the evenings, the sight of the color guards and the flag plus the band music, caused us to respect our country even more, and our patriotism was thus stimulated. We will surely not forget these flier-students, and we thank them for having such an influence on our lives.

We have hopes that the war will not last forever and that many of them may return as regular Techsians to share in our traditions and fun. Our invitation is extended along with a promise that our relationships will be on an even more friendly terms. There is only one regret and it is that we did not get to know them as well as we would have liked, but we feel and hope that their stay was not in vain. What they do in actual combat service will be merit enough for Tech.—G. J.

Thinking Of Quitting...?

ARE WE Techsians slackers? Such a question may make us "huff-up" as if our hair were rubbed the wrong way. We are apt to automatically defend ourselves by pointing out what we have already done in the war effort, from buying War Bonds to supporting the Red Cross drive. Yet, the question remains unanswered as to what we contributed to the recent scrap paper drive?

While the Boy Scouts of Lubbock were out answering their call to duty for our country, we Techsians were deaf and blind or, at least, apparently so. Those of us in social clubs were playing ball Friday afternoon, those of us who are members of service clubs and supposedly anxious to accomplish things on the campus were in our rooms, on the avenue consuming cokes, or walking about in a daze. None of us moved a finger to lift one piece of scrap paper that clutters our campus, rooms and classrooms.

The fact that we have done our part in the past, rolling bandages, donating blood, buying bonds, giving to the Red Cross and playing hostess at USO functions is not enough for us to pat ourselves on the back and sit down waiting for someone to wake us up when the war is over. What if one of the Marines on Guadalcanal shot ten Japs and then lay his gun aside with the idea that he had completed his job and would let someone else have his chance at killing that many. Where would our Navy be today if it went on a sit-down strike after its victory in the Marshall Islands battle.

We Techsians can never say that we have done too much, for we should not think of quitting until the job is finished. We have a war to win just the same as all other American citizens. The call to duty—be it a scrap paper drive or something bigger—should be a challenge.

Maybe it is not too late to answer the call. Tardiness is better than negligence. If the Student council wants to show what it is made of, then why does it not inquire as to whether our efforts in gathering scrap paper would be in vain. Such a campaign should be a personal responsibility of each Techsian. Let us right our wrong and not let it be said of Techsians that we are slackers! —N. W.

Life With The Exes

Pfc. Jesus H. Cruz recently was graduated from the Kingman Army Air Field Flexible Gunner school near Kingman, Ariz. Private Cruz entered the Army on Oct. 23, 1942. Lt. (j g) John Hulien Lankford has been reported killed in a plane crash while on active duty in the Southwest Pacific area. Lieutenant Lankford, pilot of a dive bomber, had been stationed in that region since he was shipped out of San Diego, Calif., Aug. 1, 1942. He responded to a call for volunteers for a special mission and was believed to have been operating from an aircraft carrier when the crash occurred.

Lt. Norman E. Hancock has been encountered in his Hellcat. The intrusion happened when he was returning from the Jan 1 carrier-based strike on Kavieng, New Ireland. Four Zeros jumped him leaving their calling card, a 20-mm that lodged without exploding and a stream of small bullets that ripped the plane's wings and stabilizer and penetrated the carburetor. However, Hancock dipped the plane sharply, dived at top speed through cruisers' fire and returned to his carrier unhurt except for a few cuts. The Zeros refused to follow the Hellcat through the ack-ack fire of their own cruisers, thus Lieutenant Hancock, who has been awarded the distinguished flying cross for action in the Gilbert Islands, was able to throw off his opponents.

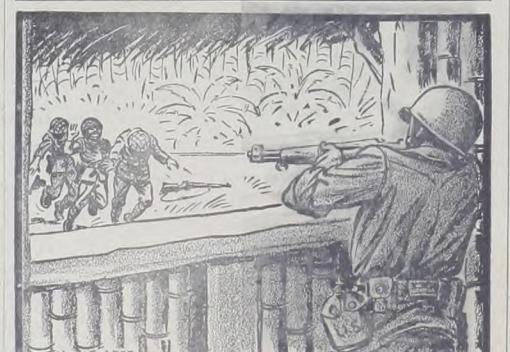

Capt. Julian Williams, a chemistry graduate, recently returned from Cassino, Italy. Ensign W. L. Gardner is an executive officer aboard the U.S.S. LCI (L) 571. ## AMERICAN HEROES BY LEFF

Three Japs killed with one bullet was the score of Marine Pfc. Nicholas Silvo while defending a small village somewhere in the South Pacific. Silvo dropped the trio as they approached Indian file and then bagged two more before the swarming little men's rifle fire put him out of commission and he had to be hospitalized. Our boys are making the best use of the ammunition which you help buy when you invest in War Bonds. Help pass them more of it.

2.... Another

By COUNT MEOUT

Well, my chil'uns, spring has sprung, and that is the only excuse I have for the lack of energy, information, etc. It seems that I don't get around much any more, no naturally I don't know much spicy gossip this week.

However, spring fever can't keep one from noticing the forlorn look on many coeds' faces now that the preflighters are going to leave. VICKIE MARTIN, DOROTHY FOSTER, ADELE BENTLEY, and MARIE DOLLAR are looking exceptionally sad over the prospect of losing their curfew, heart throbs. Wonder if PHERBA JORDAN is getting her cadets straightened out, sort of confusing isn't it? MERLE JOHNSON seems to be carrying the torch for someone. Maybe trying to win the man's heart by way of his stomach. I wonder how much success she had on the captain who came to dinner the other night.

The MAXINE CRADDOCK-CHARLIE STEED case is getting kinda serious these days. Maxine, you know that girl who had a college education than a home in South America, or had you. Those who have been wondering about the surprise LOU mentioned Sunday, will be interested in knowing that it will be in the form of a dance pavilion to be constructed on or near the circle. That is of course if you have faith in the source of this information, which is the honorable VIRGIL MIERS, who always prefers to put your mind at rest.

Wonder if it was HALLIE CRUMS or EARL CHRISTIE'S family that was here over the weekend? Here's hoping that both families approve and bless the future union. THOMAS HORTON, one couldn't help but notice that you look like the first aide students have been practicing on you. Here's hoping that you survive the preflight dance and have no further ill effects.

Cadets seem to haunt Doak hall now, the engineers must have kept some of them off, but now it seems they like the place better than flies like honey. Three of them left with LOUISE INCE, BETTY HERRING and JERRY BLUNDELL Sunday evening. MICKY GILLILAND and MARTHA WILSON also were seen with cadets. BETTY RAY FURGESON rated one of them, too.

HERBIE SAD-SACK, a Easter bunny, formerly belonging to ANN HOWARD, has taken up room and board at the Porter house. Wonder what your engineer would think about that, Ann? JO McDUFF thinks the taxi service after 1 o'clock is awful, or does she?

JEFF JEFFERIES can't seem to make up his mind or does he want to? First, he is with JACKIE TOLLESON, then it is RUBY TOM RHODES, then JACKIE again. It keeps one guessing, does it not. BILLIE BROWN and JOE BERRYMAN are going steady with high school coeds these days. JACKSON SISK was offered his pick of dollies belonging to BETTY FOSTER.

EILEEN ARTMAN seems to be keeping ex-Techman JIM HUTCHINS company while he awaits his call to the Naval Air Corps. LUCILLE MELTON and TROY CALDWELL make a nice looking couple. Wonder if anything will come of it?

JACK HORTON is threatening to avenge wounds received when one MARY TROY move a ladder most vital for Jack's descent from an attic. He managed to get down and Mary is trying to manage to stay out of his way.

Could be that MAXINE DEARDORFF's smashing a fender the other afternoon was a result caused by dreaming of two letters received from a departed engineer.

Thus it has come to pass that ETHEL DAVIDSON and BOB BOYD have parted company. CHARLENE TAYLOR does not seem to be grieving over the loss of one's engineer; in fact, she hides the secret most coeds crave, for she is never without a date unless commander of the Eighth Air Force in England, and the intensely opposed American attack on Berlin March 6. He won the Distinguished Flying Cross last summer, and he wears the Silver Star, the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters and the British Distinguished Flying Cross.

Lt. Birto R. Brumby, '39, after completion of four-engine bomber pilot training at Liberal Army Air field in Kansas, has won the rating of airplane commander and has qualified to lead the combat crew of a Liberator bomber. He won his wings and commission at Frederick, Okla.

WAVES Teach Navy Pilots Gunnery

WAVES operate synthetic gunnery training devices — not actual aircraft machine guns — but this girl is finding out what the real thing is like. Hundreds of Navy fliers who today are shooting down Jap and Nazi planes received their primary machine gun training under tutelage of the girls in Navy blue. The Navy needs — and needs now — thousands of girls for exciting, as well as prosaic, jobs with the WAVES. Information is available at any Navy Recruiting Station or Office of Naval Officer Procurement.

Americanism As A Pattern And A System

Americanism is a pattern of life. It is an ever-expanding system which is the grand total of the pooling of the interests of all of us in the United States, modified by the geographical and climatic conditions of this wonderful land of ours. Americanism insures to each of us freedoms-freedoms which, until very recently, had been accepted without due consideration for their importance or how they had been won. But to iterate them now is to she wants it that way. It must be marvelous to be so — is the word "charming." Come to think of it, wonder what happened to OLETA THOMPSON, and if she gave the preflighters' ring back it surely did no good to have it and not be able to wear it. The members and pledges of DFD, LAS CHAPS, and SAN SOU-CI did a good job of being hostesses at the USO Sunday. They seemed to have had fun doing it. MARGARET ANN BELL, MADELYN WEETH, JOHANNANA WILLIAMS and JOHNNIE BELSHER played some fast and furious ping-pong or table tennis. MARIE HUNSICKER and NANCY EVERLINE must have caught up on their bridge playing after four steady hours.

Each and every one of us owe guard duty in the preservation of our glorious heritage — representative democracy. Each and every one of us are part of that greatest of all checks-public opinion. So, let us maintain an active part in public opinion, thereby maintaining Americanism.

It is surprising, then, that our democracy fundamentals have not only withstood the great shocks of conflicts both powerful and petty, foreign and domestic, but that those very foundations also have been strengthened and upon their footings sturdy walls of principles have been erected until today there stands a structure which safeguard us who are so fortunate as to be within its compass?

All-Conference Star Is Now Flying Major

Former Red Raider All-Conference basketball star, Maj. Leonard Bowman Roper has received the Air Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters after completing 10 combat missions.

Major Roper is a Flying Fortress pilot and squadron commander of the 8th Air Force in England.

Since the Air Medal award is made in the European theatre for five bomber combat missions, his decorations carry a story. Roper was a captain and squadron operations officer. He had no plane to pilot on the Aug. 17 attack on Schweinfurt so he went along with one of the crews as a tailgunner. During the air battle which engaged the American raiders he shot down a German fighter and for this received his third decoration.

Roper went overseas last April. He received commendations signed by Winston Churchill, RAF Air Chief Marshal Porter, Generals Arnold, Marshall, Eaker, Anderson and Williams for his part in the Oct. 2 attack on Emden.

At last reports he had finished his eleventh mission.

Ex-Techsan Jenkins Is Now Flyer

Former Student Receives Praise From Commander

Lt. Col. Jack S. Jenkins, who is a former Tech student, has recently been commended for "great devotion to duty" by Maj. Gen. W. E. Kepner, commander of the 8th Fighter Command in England.

Jenkins left Texas Tech in his senior year to enlist in the Air Corps and was commissioned at Barksdale fields in 1939. At present he is air executive at his fighter base.

He has already been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters. The recent commendation said that Jenkins took off to escort heavy bombers on withdrawal from enemy territory. Extremely bad weather required a long period of instrument flying and all but 14 P-38s, led by Jenkins, returned to their base. The 14 continued "through nearly impossible flying conditions" to meet the bombers and rendered valuable support, in spite of "the meagerness of their numbers and gigantic task before them."

Jenkins received the DFC for 30 combat missions and the destruction of two German planes. Two of his four Air Medal awards were for 10 combat missions each one for the destruction of a Messerschmidt while escorting bombers over Muenster and another for shooting down a Focke-Wulf on a fighter sweep over Lillie, France.

"Texas Ranger" was the name Jenkins gave his fighter plane that was smashed last fall after he flew fighter cover for a bomber attack on Bremen. Heading back over the English Channel on one good engine, he ran into a 140-mile headwind and was almost out of gas when he reached a strange air field. His hydraulic brake system having been shot up, he was forced to make a belly landing.

Jenkins is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jenkins of Leveland.

Paleface Bow Part Of Late Museum Exhibit

Ben Moore, O'Donnell naturalist, will exhibit a number of Indian relics at the West Texas Museum during the museum association meeting April 10. Moore is one of the early settlers in this part of Texas.

He will exhibit his paleface bow, from the Quannah Parker family, made by Parker's last wife. In the group will be the Geronimo bow, the quiver of which was made by Geronimo's mother a hundred years ago.

A flint-tipped arrow from the hands of Chief Hunting Horse, of the Kiowa, will also be on exhibition. Moore plans to bring the headress of a Comanche chief, feathers from an eagle's tail, a tom tom, shaker, hawkfoot and porcupine quill for frightening evil spirits, buckskin moccasins, ladies high boots, a pearce pipe, and a group of five konahs which are miniature cradles representing five different tribes.

He will probably exhibit all four generations of Cynthia Ann Parker's photographs, a picture of Geronimo in colors, and arrows from Kiowa, Apache, and Comanche tribes.

Parsons Attends Cotton Meeting

L. E. Parsons, head of the textile engineering department, attended a committee meeting of the Cotton Research congress in Dallas, March 25. Purpose of the meeting was to set a time and place for the fifth annual Cotton Research congress. Parsons is a member of the exhibit committee, which decides on type and display of exhibits to be shown at the congress. Dates were set for July 13 and 14, at the Baker hotel in Dallas.

The largest north-to-south stretch of land in the world is made up of North and South America, extending from the Arctic to the Antarctic Oceans.

Pinkerton Is Campus Visitor

Lt. Thurman Pinkerton was a campus visitor this past weekend while he was on leave.

Lieutenant Pinkerton is stationed at Camp Claiborne, La. He is an engineering officer.

Pinkerton received his commission early this fall from Ft. Belvoir, Va., and has since that time been stationed at Camp Claiborne. He took a degree from Tech in petroleum engineering last year.

Dallas Advertising League Presents Books To Library

The Dallas Advertising league has presented the Tech library with four books on subjects relating to advertising. Radio as an Advertising Medium by Dygart, The Way to Design by Ignatz Sahula-Dycke, An Outline of Advertising by Dr. Richard T. Ely and Advertising Ideas by John Caples were the books.

Tech Coeds Form Mutual "Black List"

Are you a perpetual complainer? Do you always break promises? Do you make "catty" remarks? If you are guilty of any of these faults, you are on the "black list" of a number of Texas Tech coeds.

In an informal survey made among women students on the campus, each girl interviewed expressed an opinion on some trait or habit which always annoyed her, no matter who was responsible for the act.

For instance, do you flirt? Just because you happen to be double-dating with your best girl friend, does that necessarily mean you can place your claim on her boy-friend? Many of the interviewees seemed to think not, since they labeled flirting as their pet hate.

Or perhaps you are walking down the street, and pass an acquaintance. She speaks with a friendly "Hi," only to be rebuffed with a neat cold shoulder. This trait of haughtiness was voted most disliked by one-third of the girls interviewed.

Mother and dad may not realize you are an up-and-coming young woman of the day, but your classmates are aware of the fact. That "cute" baby talk which is your stand-by at home only disgusts the girls with whom you associate. "Even you best friend won't tell you," but they will think it, anyhow.

Saturday night you had "the most wonderful time" with that charming fellow who is visiting here. In fact, you could think and talk only about him all day Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, and on through the week, until your friends know so much about him that they never

Ex-Student Visits Tech

Wayne Kittley, former employee of Tech press and ex-student of Tech, visited the campus this week-end.

Kittley worked in Tech press for two years and attended Tech three years as a journalism student. He resigned his position as the co-editor and publisher of the student "News".

He wanted to hear his name mentioned again. After this performance is enacted several week-ends, your roommate will be ready to remove her clothes to that vacant room down the hall.

Chewing gum is "hard to get" these days, but you don't have to let everybody know you have some. If you will only stop to think, one pop of the gum can annoy six persons sitting around you in the show, while fifty popping will reduce those persons to nervous cases. In the meantime your name will be "mud."

You are right most of the time. True, you did tell Jane that that dress was the same downtown color, but she wouldn't believe you. She had to find out for herself. So when she returned, you said, "I told you so." You don't realize it, but you may have made an enemy for life by saying those four little words.

A few other pet dislikes expressed were those of being two-faced, dishonest, selfish, gossipy, conceited, self-centered, or overly pessimistic. Of course you hadn't realized that these little things can add up to something big, but now you can check to see just how many nerves you have grated on during this past week. How do you rate as a pleasing personality?

Tech Geology Survey Found Most Complete

Tech's report was the most complete furnished in a recent survey of geology graduates in service, according to K. C. Heald, chairman of the National Service committee of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists. Heald commended Dr. Leroy T. Patton, head of the geology department, on his report at a recent meeting of the association in Dallas.

Dr. Patton has kept files on Tech geology graduates since the opening of the college in 1925. The report dealt with information of geology graduates in the armed forces, their rank, branch of service, and similar data.

Canteen Course Qualifies Twenty Girls For Canteen Work With The Red Cross

Twenty girls completed the Red Cross canteen aide course which has been offered by Phi U, announced Dr. Mina V. Lamb, assistant professor of foods and nutrition. The ten-lesson course started March 2 and ended last night.

With a small additional amount of training, these students will be eligible to qualify as full-fledged Red Cross Canteen workers. During the course, they have worked with the local Red Cross Canteen corps in serving food and coffee to inductees at the Lubbock center. At one time, they prepared 150 sandwiches of different kinds to serve the inductees the next day. Recently, the class experimented with one-dish meals. Other features of the course were studies in food sanitation, purchase and storage, and simple meal planning.

This course will be offered again during the fall semester of 1944 if there is a sufficient demand, says Dr. Lamb. It is open to girls from every division. Members of the spring class were equally divided among the divisions of home economics, arts and sciences, and commerce.
