STADIUM FOR TECH SOON PROMISES THOMPSON MATADORS TAKES TWO FAST GAMES FROM EAST TEXAS LIONS

TECH TAKES TWO CAGE CONTESTS FROM EAST TEXAS

TEAM COMES FROM REAR TO WIN IN TWO FAST GAMES

The Tech Matadors nosed out ahead in the pair of battles with the East Texas State Teachers on the home floor, and gave the fans the most interesting games seen this season. The Matadors were certainly not without competition. The East Texans were with them from beginning to end in each of the encounters. Both teams had just played hard games and were expected to be played down but apparently neither combination was affected. A great display of sportsmanship and a scarcity of penalties were the features of both games.

Round One—29-25

The game faltered on the getaway as the Teachers had underestimated the strength of the Matadors and started their reserve crew. Very soon they discovered their mistake and threw in four new men. After this change the Matadors' lead was whittled down and the score saved back and forth with first one team and then the other on the long end. Both teams were in a fighting mood and both machines functioned with precision until they reached the range of the goal where all ability suddenly left even the best of players. Neither team shot with any degree of accuracy.

Pace, the fast Tech forward who has been shooting with uncanny precision in the past, had a night of it and pulled in favor of Hunt who went on a scoring spree and soon put the teachers on the short side of the score. Walker, Hemphill, Vincent and Jennings were giving their best and were playing great floor games. Hizz pulled Hemphill and placed Weaver at the pivot. The game proceeded as formerly with the teams on near terms. Hemphill and Weaver again changed positions.

Hunter saved the day for the Matadors. Jennings was just in the score column but the play of Walker, Hemphill and Vincent was worthy of commendation. The "powerful Percy" of the home team, the "Horn of the Citrus" covered the court like a blanket and had a hand in every play. The Matadors forged ahead just before the final explosion and the game ended with the heaters of the scorers and black on the long end of a 29-25 score.

Round Two—35-28

At the beginning of the second affair, Jennings put the Matadors in the lead, with a floor goal. The visitors followed up with a successful loss of accommodation. For several minutes the teams battled on almost even terms. The Teacher's scoring machine got its stride and jumped to the lead position.

Alma Pace, mainstay of the Matadors, had not fully emerged from the scoring slump into which he had fallen. He played a good game but was unable to count.

Hunter took his position and poured a stream of counters through the basket. With his support the home eagles began to snap at the heels of the leading team.

Jennings wished the netting for a double count and Hemphill repeated (Turn to Page 8, Column 3, Please)

GEORGE WASHINGTON
Feb. 22nd
1732-1799
Within the next day or two the nation will celebrate the birthday of its first president. George Washington is the nation's remarkable example of one who took advantage of every opportunity. At no time a personage of any surprising ability, Washington, by his persistent effort chiseled a niche in the hearts of his countrymen. Historians in the past several years have dealt harshly with Washington, but these self-same historians have merely emphasized the fact that regardless of the esteem with which a man is held he is still exceedingly human.

New York to Hear of Fame of Tech

Kathryn Bryarly of Dallas, was photographer with "her cow" during the present week. This photograph was made at the request of a correspondent of the New York Herald and Times. It is to be used in the columns of these two metropolitan papers. The correspondent had heard of the work of the Tech Student Dairy Association and desired a picture showing just how the students take their cow to class. Miss Bryarly consented to pose in the role of country maid.

Thus again Tech is brought before the readers of the nation. The world is interested in this school and it is only a question of time until the fame of the school is spread far and near.

Junior Prom To Be Elaborate Affair

Plans for the Junior Prom are rapidly materializing. The first dance honoring the Seniors of Texas Tech is to be given in the new assembly hall. Elaborate arrangements for decorating the hall are now being made.

According to the president of the Junior class an artificial ceiling with appropriate hangings will add to the attractiveness of the affair, which will be given in the near future. Mr. Nicklaus, the president of the Junior class urges all juniors to pay their dues in order to facilitate arrangements for the dance.

Owing to the smallness of the senior class the Junior class is planning to send out invitations to the various surrounding high schools. Such an invitation may well encourage the attendance at Tech of many of this year's high school seniors. Juniors who have not paid their dues are urged to do so at once.

Percy Denton says that Liquid Sylmarine makes the hair naturally curly. No argument there—we believe it!

Black eyes seem to be quite the vogue. Notice that Ransom Walker has one—guess he's not going over so big these days. These Tech girls are rough on little boys.

Extra! Extra! Mart Chamberlain had a date last week!

CARTER TENDERED MEMBERSHIP IN PRESS CLUB

Former Chairman of Directors to Be Honorary Member of Tech Writers' Club

Mr. Amos G. Carter, publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram has been tendered an honorary membership in the Texas Tech Press Club. Mr. Carter until his recent resignation, was chairman of the Board of Directors of Tech College. He has always been loyal in his support and very hearty in his co-operation with the school and his resignation is indeed a great blow to the college.

The Press club tendered Mr. Carter honorary membership in their association as a gift from aspiring newspapermen to one who has already ascended the ladder to success in his chosen field. Mr. Carter was the only member of the Board of Directors who was in the newspaper field in a major way and the Press Club have always looked upon him as their mentor.

The Press Club has been very active this term. The question of membership in the Texas Inter-Collegiate Press Association was begun by them and all indications at this time point toward success in this endeavor. The Writers have definitely decided to send representatives to the State Convention of the T. I. P. A. which convenes at Waxahachie in April. At this time Tech will present its bid for membership in the organization with very hope of favorable action on the part of the Press Association.

At the present time developments for the Tech owned print shop are at hand. However, the Press Club is looking forward toward publishing the special legislative edition of the Toreador which will be distributed to all members of the Texas Legislature. This edition, if published will present the student's view point on the plan with the hope that the legislature will see fit to install such a plant in the college.

T. I. A. A. Leaders Best Matadors

The Canyon Buffaloes beat the Matadors in a pair of top-sided games on the Buffalo floor this week. The Buffs head the list in T. I. A. A. standing and are slated as one of the strongest teams in the state.

The Matadors will face the Buffaloes in another pair of encounters on the home court on Monday and Tuesday nights of next week.

B. S. U. STUDENTS OFF FOR HOUSTON

Representing the Tech in the Baptist Student union meeting which will be held in Houston, beginning today, Misses Vivian Bryant, Ruth Noah, and Marion Sansom, George James and Hubert Alexander left last night for that place. The students will maintain a Tech booth during the meeting at which literature regarding the Tech will be given out. The Toreador, the weekly college newspaper is also listed among the literature. The students will return Monday.

Watkins And Coleman To Fight For Greatest Honor In Gift Of College

From zero to fifteen hundred in less than two years is the history of the enrollment of Texas Tech. Needless to say the school of Liberal Arts has played a considerable part in this phenomenal growth of the institution.

The first student to be enrolled in the college was a student of Liberal Arts. As to the exact identity of this student authorities differ. Winfield Watkins of the Capitol of the World, Dallas, Texas, and Irvin Coleman of Venon, Texas, are the two claimants of this honor. Mr. Watkins came to Lubbock some months before school started and notified the authorities of his intention of being the first student enrolled in the college. As an aspirant for such an honor Mr. Watkins received much publicity and needless to say he was somewhat chagrined when he was informed that Mr. Coleman had also had claim to being the first enrolled in the school. He thought it may, to the school of Liberal Arts belongs the undisputed honor of having enrolled the first student in the college.

The last student to be enrolled in the college and the student who has the honor of being the fifteen hundredth student to be enrolled this term, was Eugene Wilson, who likewise chose the school of Liberal Arts for his endeavors.

Thus the conclusion is drawn that first of last the school of Liberal Arts leads in Texas Technological college. Just as we go to press we are informed that Mr. Coleman has challenged Mr. Watkins to a duel to decide the rightful claimant to the honor of being the first student enrolled in Texas Tech.

The duel is to be fought with slide-rules and milk-wads, the challenged to choose his weapon.

The seconds of the contending gentlemen are to provide ample seating space for all spectators. It is understood that the Schools of Agriculture and the Home Economics department have agreed to furnish sewing machines and milking stools for all that may have occasion to use them.

Mr. Watkins has stipulated that the loser of the combat must sever forever his connections with the School of Liberal Arts and enroll in the School of Engineering.

Col. E. O. Thompson, newly appointed member of the board of directors of the Tech, and sponsor of a drive for 500 scholarships for students, opening with his donation of two yearly awards of $250 each to students of the Junior class is shown above. Characterized as a "man who does things" and "a live wire" Colonel Thompson secured the students in convocation Thursday that Tech would be sporting a new stadium in a short time.

GAMMA KIDS SHOW PRELAW STUDENTS APTNESS ON SKATES OBSERVE COURT PROCEEDURE

The Gamma Pi Alphas entertained last Tuesday night with a "T-ling" skating party at the rink at the end of Main street. At promptly 9 o'clock the crowd gathered dressed as if for a fancy dance. Some wore overalls, some knickerbockers and sweaters and skirts. As soon as skates were put on the fun started. White others simply mopped the floor.

At 10:30 sandwiches and soda water were served. Most of the skaters became expert in going around the floor with a bottle of soda-pon in one hand and a sandwich in the other.

About forty boys and girls were present at this enjoyable affair. The party was chartered by Mrs. O. L. Slaton and Mrs. J. Thurmond Smith.

We have a few students in the college who seem to think they can become howling successes by merely howling.

Blessed are the pure in heart, but Anna Bell says you never hear much about them.

CALENDAR FOR WEEK

MONDAY: Matadors versus Buffaloes, Assembly hall, 8 o'clock. Senior class meeting, room 217, 5 o'clock. Home Ec Club party, Cafeteria, 7:30.
TUESDAY: Holiday. Matadors versus Buffaloes, Assembly hall, 8 o'clock.
WEDNESDAY: Press club meeting, room 209, 7:30.
SATURDAY: All-College Hop, Assembly hall, 9 o'clock.

The Senior Class will meet next Tuesday in room 211 at 5 p. m. At this time many things of an extremely important nature will be discussed. The Seniors are to decide the matter of Commencement arrangements and are to discuss the question of making a substantial gift to the college.

The President of the class, Mr. E. M. Barnett urges all members to be present at the time.

The Engineering society urgently requests all Engineers to buy tickets for the Big Feed to be given on March 1st.

LINEN EXHIBIT TO BE PRESENTED BY HOME EC

"Linen" was the subject of the program given at the Home Economics Club Friday afternoon. Miss Lena Stephens gave a very interesting talk on the history and beauty of Irish linens. Miss Lila Alford gave a very interesting talk on the beauty and use of Italian linens. Following the program Miss Irwin brought out some beautiful Irish and Italian linens which she has just received from the Nucuen School of Art in New Orleans. These linens will be on exhibition in the Art and Clothing rooms all of next week. One day will be given to the public to come in and see the exhibition. The Home Economics club is doing all that it can to offer more of such opportunities to its members.

The annual Home Economic party which will be given Monday evening in the form of a Colonial party was discussed and plans made.

The next meeting of the club will be Wednesday evening at the Home of Mrs. Adkins on Broadway. Miss Mabel Irwin acting as hostess.

EL TORO

We may consider ourselves crazed. The tramping herd of Canyon Teachers college was not satisfied with beating the Matadors in two basketball games but they must "pour it on them" in every conceivable manner. And the team reports that every member of our neighbor institution engaged in the razzing (from the president to the most lowly slave). Our team was even discussed at chapel.

PRELAW STUDENTS OBSERVE COURT PROCEEDURE

In order to receive first hand information regarding actual court procedure, members of the Pre-Law club have been attending District Court for the past several weeks.

Judge Clark M. Mullen tendered members of the club a special invitation to "sit in" on the trial of cases coming up during the present term of court. The Faculty Advisors of the club accepted the Judge's invitation and urged all members of the Pre-Law group to attend court when possible.

Much interest has been shown by the boys in their observations and all are anxiously awaiting the time when they may sign L.L.B. after their name.

Navasota Man Buys Tech Pure Bred Hogs

That the fame of Tech is spreading is evident by the sale last week of a pure bred Duroc gilt by the Animal Husbandry Department to Dr. R. F. Chappell of Navasota.

Navasota is not more than fifty miles from the Texas A. and M. college at Bryan and more than five hundred miles from Lubbock and Dr. Chappell sent that distance for a Tech gilt.

We know some students who can hear pleasure knock with a feather but who could not hear duty knock if it used an axe.

Sign on Toreador office door: Detour, men at work.

All-College Frolic To Be Gay Event; Campus Organizations To Present Acts

The second annual All-College Frolic will be held in the high school auditorium on Thursday night, February 24.

Practically every club in school will take part in this gigantic spectacle and many individuals, talented along special lines, will help to make the program one of the best ever given in Lubbock. Numerous requests for seats have already come from Amarillo, Plainview, Post and Slaton.

Tickets will be on sale Monday morning. Tech students will be given special rates. Last year two hundred people were turned away. Students should make it a point to get their seats early.

COL. THOMPSON FORMALLY OPENS ASSEMBLY HALL

SPEAKER PREDICTS THERE IS WONDERFUL FUTURE FOR COLLEGE

Col. E. O. Thompson, the principal speaker at the dedication of the new assembly hall, Thursday morning, stated that a new stadium for Tech will soon be a reality. Continuing the speaker said that Mr. Amos G. Carter, who recently resigned from the board of directors was willing to dedicate his services toward obtaining such a stadium. Mr. Carter stated in the presence of Col. Thompson and Mr. Kimbro that he would be willing to join with three other men in fostering such a proposition.

The dedicatory address delivered by Col. Thompson Thursday was the second such address he has made in the history of the institution. On November 11, 1924, Colonel Thompson spoke at the laying of the cornerstone of the Administration building.

The speaker commended Tech upon the predominant spirit of cooperation and faith that they are displaying toward their college. He urged the student body to do all in their power to broadcast tangible information about the school.

Colonel Thompson has only recently been appointed to membership in the Board of Directors and he was visibly impressed by the astounding growth of the school. He pledged his unlimited support to all constructive measures to be taken by the institution.

"The point of all college education is applicable to the purpose of life," the speaker cautioned his hearers to observe frugality in matters of dress, stressing the fact that the years of youth are the formative period of ones existence.

Tech is sure to become the foremost school in the state, if the words of Col. Thompson are realized. "By the end of 1930 Tech will have materialized 5,000 students within a single year," continued the speaker.

Assuring the students that he was confident that by the end of his term, which expires in 1933, Tech will boast of a new stadium and the quadrangle will be completed about the administrative building.

Colonel Thompson greatly complimented the work of the textile department. He predicted at no distant date the employment of all students who are desirous of earning their own way in college. These students will be employed in the textile mills which will then be a very important adjunct of the institution. It is the hope of all concerned that Tech will shortly be able to offer employment to all worthy students in its own industries.

Shortly after the meeting in the new assembly hall, Col. Thompson addressed the Kiwanis club where he announced the donation of two $250 scholarships to be given to junior students. This donation is for junior students was made in order to influence worthy students to complete their college work. Colonel Thompson made a plea for Lubbock men to try and arrange for 500 scholarships for students of Tech.

Club Boy Wins Trip With Aid Tech Stock

J. J. Thornton, boy club member of Slaton, who was selected by the Texas Bankers association as one of the two boys is to make a trip to Washington in June.

Young Thornton had several prospects that helped him win this signal honor, and one of these was a Duroc gilt bought from the Animal Husbandry Department of Tech. From this gilt Thornton made a net profit of $127.50.

A.&M. Man Withdraws Following Editorial

Following an editorial comment upon the military situation at A. and M. college, L. J. Franke of El Campo, recently resigned his position with the battalion and withdrew from school. Franke was to have graduated from A. and M. in June and his withdrawal evidently came about as a direct result of his journalistic activities in the college.

"Y" DISCUSSIONS CONSIDER STUDES PROBLEMS

At a meeting of the Y. W. C. A. discussion group at Dock hall, Monday afternoon, February 14th, the girls decided that students were discourteous and impolite at times, not because they have not been well trained but because they are thoughtless. The girls made an effort in the discussion to arrive at some conclusion as to the cause for the thoughtlessness.

The President, Lucile Davis, appointed Stella Mae Lanham and De Ann Sammons to formulate some fundamental rules of polite society to bring to the next meeting. The membership will be drilled in these rules. The first week in March will be set aside as "courtesy week". It is hoped a large number of the girls will be interested. The girls will give a group of boys an opportunity for participation in this discussion.

CONSTRUCTIVE LIBERAL ARTS

In this, the first of the special school editions of The Toreador, we wish to call attention to the fact that despite any friendly rivalry which may be caused by these special editions, we must not lose sight of the fact that we are all students of Texas Tech. Hence, we have desisted from making any disparaging allusions to the other schools of the college. Such allusions would be, in no wise, constructive, and might conceivably cause hard feelings.

The students of the college naturally have a preference in the matter of the school they attend, and expression of such preference is commendable, in so far that any such criticism is constructive. Throughout the present edition of the Toreador we have strived to present only the constructive side of the various schools, and any success we may have is dependence upon the editors of the other special editions.

Believing that an academic view of the School of Liberal Arts and its attendant problems will be of great value in an edition of this kind, we have asked Dr. John C. Granbery to prepare a paper upon the subject. This paper, which Dr. Granbery so graciously prepared, is well worth the perusal of the entire student body. Dr. Granbery's paper Art in the School of Arts is presented below.

ART IN THE SCHOOL OF ARTS

An interesting question has been raised as to why Art has been banished from the School of Arts. Strictly speaking of course this is not absolutely true. The body of English literature calls for aesthetic judgements. Foreign language may be carried far enough for the student to appreciate its literary offerings. Public Speaking includes dramatic work. Music is offered, but finds no place in the list of subjects required for graduation from the School of Liberal Arts.

Relatively the accusation is well founded. The curriculum is not at all constructed about Art as a center. When Art enters, it is by the back-door or window or over the transom. Any recognition given it is merely incidental. The School of Liberal Arts is neither "liberal" nor artistic.

What would it mean to give Art a worthy place? An answer is found in the education of ancient Athens. Boys were given physical training and taught music. One prime purpose of the former was to develop ease, grace and bearing, poise, symmetry—in a word, to realize the Athenian ideal of Beauty. Music was said to be for the culture of the soul as gymnastics was for the culture of the body. It had a broad scope, including all that came under the patronage of the nine muses, for example, literature.

"The School of Liberal Arts," we are told "aims to afford its students a liberal education in the humanities and sciences." Historically the idea probably comes from the Middle Ages, when the "Seven Liberal Arts" included the trivium, grammar, rhetoric, and dialectic, and quadrivium, arithmetic, geometry, music and astronomy. The reference to the "humanities" is interesting. The expression comes to us from the Renaissance. A writer of the time explains the Latin word "Humanitas" as referring to "the pursuits, the activities, proper to mankind."

It is a matter of frequent observation and remark that while America excels in some things, many peoples lacking much that we possess both in material goods and moral qualities, nevertheless surpass us in the realm of the aesthetic. It is this defect that our education should overcome.

Next school-year the department of Philosophy proposes to offer an advanced course in Aesthetics, extending through three terms. In this connection, and to serve other groups, the Carnegie Corporation has been asked to give the Tech the benefit of its carefully collected hundred-thousand-dollar art collection, and notice has been received that the Tech has been put down on the waiting list, already long.

Much has been said about the service of the Tech to the Plains and to the State of Texas as a whole. Included in the contribution that we are to make will there be the broadening and deepening and enriching and beautifying of life through the restoration of Art to the School of Liberal Arts? JOHN C. GRANBERY.

YES, TECH IS GROWING

The announcement comes from the office of the Registrar that enrollment in the college has reached the fifteen hundred mark. Think of the remarkable growth of the school. Less than four years ago a dream. Today a vivid reality moulding the lives of one and a half thousand men and women.

Such wonderful growth causes one to stop and think.

Is all this growth stable? Is the individual growing with the college? Ah! That's the question. A college, like the proverbial chain, can be no stronger than its weakest member. A weak student injures many and holds back the college which he should be striving to help in every way possible.

The fact that the initial enrollment of Tech was made up of many transfer students who realized that a college could only be as strong as the student body making it up, possibly tended to stabilize the institution during its trying first year.

Our ideals must grow as the school grows. We must build for the future. Possibly the Student Council was right in saying that the institution was too young to attempt Student Self-government. If we are too young now, we must grow with the years, and be ready to accept any responsibility that is rightfully ours. Tech Students and Tech ideals must grow with Tech, else there will be no growth of Tech.

WILL TECH SET A PRECEDENT REGARDING HAZING

Have you seen any hazing lately? There is very little, if any hazing being done at the present time. Of course this is a wonderful thing for the Freshmen. Is it a wonderful thing for the college? We do not intend to say that it is. On the contrary we do not intend to say that it is not. There are students who hold divergent opinions on the question.

The thing that we intend to say is simply this: "There is very little hazing now going on at the Tech. Will Tech set a precedent for many colleges of the Southwest?"

It has been said by someone (and perhaps more than one, that a real live college could not exist without hazing. Dr. Horn, our president, has said that if it were possible to have college without hazing it would be possibly in Tech because we have no traditions to overcome. It appears that we will have no hazing. At least there is very little hazing at the present time.

STUDENT OPINION

Often the question, hazing has been asked, "are you a good sport?" Then to make the question more specific it has been changed to "does Texas Tech have a student as a whole that are good sports?" Any loyal student will answer in the affirmative, but as a group did they play the part of a good sport in the last game with the Sun Houston Bearkats? Of course the Matadors were clean sports from start to finish—but how about the students who razed the referee? Were they good sports when they were shouting rotten-throw him out—give us a chance and other remarks that were a disgrace to all good sportsmanship.

The writer does not think that such action was the true spirit of the majority of the student body. It seems that a few started the razing and the others joined in without thinking of what they were saying or what the visiting team as well as the visiting public would think. The situation may be summarized thus—coaches Freehand and Higginbotham know what to do when a referee fails to give the Matadors a fair deal, so let us be sports and prove to the visitors that we are good sports who will abide by the rulings of the referee.—Etheridge Eagan.

COLLEGE INN COLYUM

Did Miss Phycos find her king? Evidently from the popularity of some of the girls since the party Friday night. Really it is surprising how a little thing like a party helps to make some people feel as though they belong to each other and just can't live without each other. Me for more parties.

Did you ever see such a good gang of boys and such good sports? Just couldn't have had the party without them. Hurrah for our guests!

Better still, look forward to the day when Chink Burnett settles down with his six little girls and seven little boys. Won't be long now until Rollo takes his wedding trip. Jerry Merrell is being educated for the stage, he will give an act in the College Lyceum. Sam Dunlap with his mighty muscle is studying for the profession of a blacksmith. Melvern Hunter, after he has broken all the girls' hearts will be a rich old bachelor. He won't be by himself for Edna Younge is doomed to be an old maid school teacher. Ma Mae Tom is gathering her trousseau for a trip around the world. Hannah Jacobson is looking for her dark, young man.

Oh! It was so much fun. After we have returned all the clothes we borrowed and find our own we will start making plans for the next all-college dance.

Doctors have been frequent guests.

An "ed" with a little moustache made beer from five gallons of mashe. Along came the sande. Rolling over the lande. And filled his beer full of trash.

This rambling rhyme sifted its way through the key-hole of the public's door office during the blowing period between classes last Thursday. It seems as if the blowing was being done in tones commonly heard in the Navy. The wind and sand carried the big end of the discussion while the town and locality in general care in for their respective parts.

The staff wishes to suggest that this ambitious brewer borrow a nice clean cloth and a barrel hoop and spread it over the "workings." This information is usually given gratis but none of the staff is averse to simulating efforts of amateurs.

Problem: Find the little moustache.

at College Inn this week. Miss Elois Sneed returned from the West Texas Hospital Wednesday after an attack of the appendicitis. Her mother of Lubhart is with her now. Miss Ruth Officer has been ill for several days. Miss Estelle Hutto is still suffering from the mumps but is feeling better.

DOAK HALL DOINGS

Margaret Shurt's mother decided that her darling was slowly starving to death so she sent US some chicken, cake, etc. Maybe you think we didn't have a big feed! I think that all mothers should understand the amount food for the whole dormitory—as Margaret's mother did. Furthermore I think that this should be done on the average of once each week. Why, when we were eating that chicken we decided that we even liked NECK!

When Valentine day came more often. Never saw so many boxes of candy in my life. Sure and glad that some of the girls have beaux because even me! I'm getting fat off their candy.

Thelma Ann Gill says that as soon as she is out of the hospital she is going back to the skating rink. Says she likes to skate and she's not particular who she falls for!

Sam Dunlap will come by and sing to us every once in a while but we notice that he always stops at College Inn first—wonder why? Just the same we appreciate the music!

Miss Wilson says that she can marry anyone she wants to and she hasn't decided yet whether she will marry C. W. Stinker, Satchel, Russell, or Jeff. But anyhow she is going to get married and all you girls had best watch your men!

You might wonder why Kate Benn was so uncomfortable at the game Wednesday night. I don't wonder, I know. She sat very close to one of her boy friends and his other girl.

I wonder why Margaret doesn't appreciate Clyde as she should. What a chin ingratitude is.

Asy the Doak Hall Maids why they can't have blind dates.

We wish that Valentine day would come twice a year so the living room of the dormitory would always be decorated with pretty flowers and the girls would not have to buy desert.

Do the boys at the T. P. House always receive their callers as vigorously as they do prima donnas? They may not the next time.

CHERI CASA COLYUM

Did you ever send a letter to that girl back home every day for a month and then not get a valentine? Red Huff did.

Johnnie Clingingsmith was found out in the back yard last Saturday night when it was raining so hard. He was barefooted and without a shirt just out there sitting on a bucket. When approached by one of the boys he was found to be squeezing mud between his toes and playing in the water. Scotty walked up to him and asked him what he was doing. Johnnie looked up at him with squinty eyes and said: "Isha fack, I believe people have more fun than anybody."

Curtis Reese and Slagle have been sitting around at the skating rink lately. Curtis cuts off the mantel and Slagle is sore all over.

The cake sheer at Doak Hall surely is fine gauged.

Dead Eye Dinks and Bob Moore also hang their ties in the same apartment with Slagle.

My heart goes out to Pud, he lives with Cootie and that's worse than living with a radio fan.

Joe Anderson is still a woman hater; he hates to be without one.

Speaking of rains, it rained candy at College Inn last Tuesday night. You try serenading them awhile. I'm flattered.

Look out for that German Tuesday morning, Cliff Lane and that hot band of his are going to play again. They are mean melody makers.

Frank Stone reads Love Story magazine, but Red Smith enjoys Western Story. There's a reason.

Sidney House says that skating does not agree with him. He got a spained arm out of the deal. Try your feet awhile Sid.

Eg Craver saw his motto is wine, women and song. Anyone would know that Eg can't sing.

Spivis is writing poetry. His first attempt will be, "Ode to a plate of Beans."

Tech Visitors To Meet In Tourney

Seventeen county chess teams are to be the guests of the college this week in the annual basketball meet of district number 2 of the state interscholastic league which will be held Friday and Saturday. All games are to be played on the assembly hall floor. Preparations have been made for the meet by Coach E. Y. Freehand and close competition is expected in all of the contests. Finals in the tourney will be held Saturday night.

The following counties are represented: Andrews, Baileys, Gaines, Yoakum, Cochran, Hookley, Terry, Dawson, Lynn, Garza, Crosby, Motley, Dickens, Hale, Floyd, Scurry and Lybbock.

So many try to kill time by trying to talk it to death.

Y. M. C. A. IS INTERESTED TOO

The Y. M. C. A. discussion group met Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of discussing the Scripture in its relation to Tech student problems. The discussion was led by the leader of the group, Eugene Jordan.

Five minute talks were made by Price, Womack, Abernathy, Morrison and Mr. Eaves and Dr. Read. "Y" has chosen as its definite aim in Tech to supplement the work of the pastors of the city in giving to the students a concrete and workable contact with the Scriptures.

Informal discussion groups meet each Tuesday afternoon at 5 p. m. Next to learning how to express what you know, discovers the English student in sociology, comes to learning how to suppress what you don't know.

Jimmie Stanford, slave of '30 of Memphis, visited with friends on the campus this week, stopping off here on his way to California.

Pi Gamma Mu Hears Local Barristers

Pi Gamma Mu, the first honorary fraternity on the campus held its regular monthly meeting last Friday night at the home of Mrs. Ned Camp.

The two visitors presented their version of the problem before the body and they both made many able remarks on the subject.

At the last meeting several applicants were received into the organization. They were: Miss Ruth Horn, Mrs. R. T. Groves, Miss Evelyn Scarborough, Mr. J. W. Jackson, Mr. Alton Hutson, Mr. H. A. Cooper, Mr. Elton Thomas, Mr. Lowry, and Mr. Tom B. Morrison.

The next meeting of the organization is to be devoted to a discussion of the social aspects of literature. This discussion is to be led by Mr. R. C. Harrison of the English department and Miss Ruth Horn.

"A WOMAN HATER" GOES GOOD WITH SOCK AND BUSKIN CLUB

Dr. L. A. Pfeuger's direction, "A Woman Hater" made a good showing with the Sock and Buskin club in their regular meeting, Tuesday night. The play was translated from the original German play by Dr. Pfeuger.

DEBATE TEAMS SELECTED

At the final tryout for the debating team, held in room 202 after the Sock and Buskin meeting, Tuesday night, E. E. Jordan and J. Sewell were selected as the two students to represent the school in the debate against Texas Christian university.

Katherine Bryarly Is Winner of Sales Prize

Ogden Horne, business manager of La Vesta, announced Wednesday that Miss Katherine Bryarly had won the sales contest conducted by the annual for the sale of the year-book.

Miss Bryarly will receive the $25.00 in gold which the annual staff agreed to pay to the winner of the contest.

Tech Enrollment Reaches 1500

The last report from the registrar's office places the total enrollment of Tech at 1,500. Eugene Wilson who recently enrolled in the school of Liberal Arts was the 1500th student to be enrolled this term.

There now 830 students in the School of Liberal Arts. The School of Engineering has 280 students enrolled.

Showing that the women are rapidly taking their place in the cloisters of the school, the report shows that 943 men are enrolled against 557 women. This is a favorable increase of women over the 3-1 ratio maintained by the men of the college during last year.

Miss Conley Hostess To Gammi Pi Alpha

Miss Virginia Conley was hostess to the Gamma Pi Alpha club last Thursday evening when she entertained the club and a few friends with a bridge party at her home on Main street.

The house was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and pot plants. The valentine miff was carried out in the tallies.

After four games of bridge were played it was found that Jane Mast had won high score. She was presented with a lovely colonial powder box. D'Ann Sammons was given consolation—a clever valentine.

A delicious salad course was served to the following: Ina Dalrymple, Ruth Sutton, Jane Mast, Rosalie Beth Bennett, D'Ann Sammons, Elys George, Katherine Bryarly, Blanche Bradley, Alice Ann Rix, Evelyn Posey, Mrs. Lavance Bacon, Edna Young, Audrey Phillips and Frances Conley. Virginia was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. A. B. Conley.

La Mesa Róndula Presents Play

On February 10th La Mesa Róndula club met in a business session. After the transactions of business the members received an invitation from the Club sponsor to attend a play given Thursday night by some of the public speaking class, and directed by Miss McGee.

The play, "The Trysting Place" was a very great success, and much credit is due Miss McGee as well as the seven characters of the play.

Several applications for membership in the club were made within the last week, and these will be passed upon at a future meeting of the club.

MISS HARPER HOSTESS TO FEBRUARY GROTTO IN VALENTINE BIRTHDAY PARTY

Gathering around a large table which carried out the Valentine motif, the students who were born in the month of February, cut their big cake yesterday as guests of Miss Katherine Harper, director of the college cafeteria.

Miss Paul W. Horn, Miss Margaret Weeks, dean of the school of home economics, and Mrs. J. C. Granbery, presided over the table and dipped punch. The following students were present: Misses Bess Johnson, Bill Pease, Lila Underwood, Mildred Traylor, Lila Jeanne Meek, D'Ann Sammons, Thelma Ann Gill, Anna Belle Collins, Wynona Jones, Mamie Lou Toyton, Iola McPherson, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Abbott, Mrs. Alice Chilton, Mrs. Ethel McCauley, Mrs. John C. Granbery, Mrs. Paul W. Horn, Miss Margaret Weeks, Monte Wharton, Olive Rudd, Collins, Moorhouse, C. W. Ratliff, and the hostess, Miss Katherine Harper.

Members of the Faculty Committee on Student Publications are working out a system for the election of heads for the various student publications. This committee is being assisted by the Press Club which has only recently completed a compilation of the methods in force in the different major schools of the state.

Election of heads for these publications are to be held at the earliest possible moment after the committee renders its report. Members of the committee when pressed for a statement regarding the result of their efforts were very reticent. They disclosed, however, that the material collected by the Press Club is being used in their efforts to arrive at a solution of the problem.

SPANISH PLAY GIVEN ON THURSDAY NIGHT

As a feature of the Spanish club meeting, Thursday night, a Spanish play was given. Prof. C. B. Quila, head of the department, announced yesterday the play which was acted by students of the department was given in the language only and is entitled "El Médico Inesperto." The play was directed by Miss Katherine Sower and members of the cast are: Santanis, S. H. J. Womack, Caballero, J. T. Altieri, and Senora, Miss Maybelle Hutson.

SECOND ANNUAL ALL-COLLEGE FROLIC TO BE STAGED AT HIGH SCHOOL HERE THURSDAY NIGHT

MANY MUSICAL ACTS AND DANCING SPECIALTIES HAVE BEEN PREPARED FOR THE GALA OCCASION BY THE STUDENTS

The Second Annual All-College Frolic will be presented Thursday February 24th, at the Lubbock High School Auditorium. Last year the management was forced to turn away over one hundred and fifty people after the Lindsey Theatre had been filled to capacity.

The Tech Frolic rivals the Texas University Variety and in its scope presents even a greater number of acts. The management under the personal direction of Miss Ruth Pirtle, has labored long and diligently on this years presentation and they promise over two hours of enjoyment. Over one hundred people will appear on the program. The talent assembled contains the best Thespian talent of the entire institution.

The scene for the first act will be laid in a Spanish cabaret and the members of the Spanish Club will furnish the cast. This act is under the direction of Professor Marshall of the language department of the college. Miss Marshall has had much experience in presenting features of this nature and has spent much time in Europe. She reports that a very elaborate setting is being constructed and that much time has been spent in making the necessary costumes for the act. Wine will flow freely (on the stage) and Spanish dances will be a feature of the entertainment. Many beautiful señoritas and dashing and dashing caballeros have devoted much time during the past month in training for this act and it will be presented with the abandon so characteristic of the Latins.

One of the features of the program will be a pantomime presented by the members of the Gamma Pi Alpha club. This is the newest club on the campus and is made up of eleven of the most popular co-eds on the campus. Their spirit of co-operation is very commendable. These girls have spent with emphasis. The rest period found the score column balanced—17-17.

The Matadors jumped into the lead at the beginning of the second half and were never nearer thereafter. The Tech sharpshooters were active. Hunter passed the ball through the steel from any position. It was his right to talk and he certainly emitted a flow of chatter. His teammates, realizing this gave him the ball whenever it was possible.

The penetrating offense of the Teachers got through the Matador defense often enough to stay within easy reach of the dashing bull-eyes. All of the counters made by the visitors were rung from near the goal.

Both teams shot with more accuracy than in the first game and the final shot found the score larger and the Matador lead greater than in the initial encounter. The time expired with the Tech team heading the weighty end of a 35-28 score.

much time on their act and have gone to much expense in getting the proper costumes.

It is the plan of this club to give in pantomime their interpretation of the popular songs of all ages. This includes every song that has stirred the bosom of mankind or has made his name a household word. The most recent creation of Tin-Pan-Alley, Little Red Riding Hood, Realism is the keynote of the production and as the club did not boast of a red haired girl, Miss Rosalie Beth Bennett has graciously consented to transform her raven locks to the necessary Titian hue.

Mr. Don Murphy of the English department, recently of Greenwich Village, will render the songs as the ravishing co-eds offer their interpretation. This is Mr. Murphy's first public appearance in the city and Lubbock is indeed fortunate to be permitted to hear the premier offering of such a celebrated vocalist. Mr. Murphy is one of the most popular members of the faculty and is recognized as a man of much artistic ability. He appeared recently before the Dramatic Club of the college and made the biggest hit of the season.

As a special feature of the second annual All-College Frolic, Miss Pirtle has been extremely fortunate in securing the services of a ballet dancer of statewide note. The exact identity of this danseuse is not to be revealed until the night of the frolic, but Miss Pirtle assures the students of the college that in this act she will present one of the most talented exponents of the art of terpsichore, to be found in this part of the state. Costumes for this special feature of the program have been ordered especially from a celebrated costume designer in Chicago. The management of Tech's frolic believe that they have in this number an act worthy of many big time vaudeville houses. It is only due to the prestige maintained by the past dramatic presentations of the college that the management was able to persuade this young lady to appear on the program at this time.

The Ag. Club is offering a decided innovation in the way of a stellar group of old time fiddlers and nimble foot buck and wing dancers. Lovers of the old time folk songs and devotees of negro spirituals will, indeed, be in their glory during the presentation of this number.

The two girls' dormitories will choose from their number the more venue like couples said to rival those chosen by the famous Flo Ziegfeld. The girls have been working on these acts for weeks and are prepared to cause discontent among the newly weds as well as those whose nuptials have long since been forgotten. As to the costumes to be used in these acts—the less said, the better.

These are but five of the twelve acts which will be presented on the frolic program and from their scope one may easily obtain an idea of the character of the program.

Remember that the date has been changed from the 25th to the 24th. Remember that the place is the Lubbock High School Auditorium. Remember that more than one hundred and fifty were turned away from the doors last year after the Lindsey Theatre had been filled to capacity. Remember that if you miss it you will miss it and will spend the rest of your life regretting it.

FOODS CLASS DOING MUCH PRACTICE

As their laboratory work for this term, the sophomore class in foods of the school of home economics is preparing a series of breakfasts, lunches, dinners, buffet suppers and teas in the next two months. Miss Jennie McCrery, professor of foods and nutrition said yesterday. Two of these have already been prepared including a formal breakfast yesterday. The home economics faculty are inviting various members of the faculty of the college and hope to include every member before the series is completed.

Attractive menu decorations and motifs are being worked out for the meals and the various holidays and days observed.

Beneath the spreading knowledge tree,
The wise collegian stands;
Far wider spreading pants has he,
With time upon his hands,
And the bone between his flapping ears,
Is thick as iron bands,
—Author too well known.

Track Prospects Loom Brilliant

Prospects for an exceedingly good track teams are in evidence on the Matador cinderpath. There are eight men back from last year; among them are some of the best track men in the state. They are Christian, high and low hurdles; Walker, dash, low hurdles and broad jump; Brown, high jump and relay team; Neal, half; Davis, pole vault; Moore, quarter mile. He will probably run the mile also this year; Reed, on weights and Burroughs broad-jump and 440 man.

Among the brilliant new material that is showing is Rosy Edmonds of Spur, who set a new record at State last year in the shot put. Rosy is also good with the discus and javelin. Fisher, of Memphis, comes here with a big reputation as a dash man and will probably give Walker some competition. Other men who are expected to show fleet stuff are Ironhead Hamilton of Grubbs; Stockton of Amarillo, high hurdler and jumper, and Tadlock, pole vaulter from the same place. Doug Smythe fast dash and quarter man from West Colorado. He comes here with a good record to uphold.

There are about 15 men out for the quarter. No doubt the relay will make some good trips and these fellows want to go. There are only two of last year's relay team back. The first meet will be at the Fort Worth fat stock show sometime in March.

The Matadors will have a well balanced team this year and should bring back to the arena some important trophies. As yet they have no captain and are handicapped by lack of equipment and a bad track. However, the track is being worked over at present and several important dual meets will be held here during the season.

ENGINEER'S FEED TO BE ANNUAL AFFAIR

Tickets for the Engineer's Banquet to be held on Tuesday night, March 1st will be on sale Wednesday, February 23rd in the lobby of the Textile building and at the business office. The tax will be $1.50 per plate. Those eligible to attend are members of the Engineering Society, all other students registered in the school of Engineering, wives of engineering students, Engineering faculty members and their wives and any engineering graduate now in Lubbock who may desire to attend. The banquet will be held at the Hotel Lubbock. The management must know the number to prepare for by Thursday. It is the intent of the Engineering Society to make this banquet an annual affair.

It seems that non-skid peas, electrically heated potatoes and broiled leather belting should be in order for such a feast. It is rumored that Jimmie Biggers will be on hand with his slide rule for the sole purpose of measuring bites and length of toasts.

All Engineers should attend this feed if it is at all possible. The one thing is the only impossible thing in sight. The "wherewith" and an appetite are the only two things necessary. Every Engineer has an appetite.

A representative of The Home Ec. Club felicitates the school of Engineering upon their generous invitation to all the girls of the college. This young lady is merely jealous of the feed the boys are going to get as she had planned to go if her "friend" had been allowed to invite one of the fairer sex.

Tech Still Looks Good to Wandering Studes

Well, they all come back later or sooner.

Chuck Collins, erstwhile trumpeter and director of numerous orchestras on the campus and in numerous cities, visited friends in Lubbock Sunday.

Chuck now holds forth in the thriving little city of Berger, where men are tougher than the strings on Nero's fiddle, where a shot in the back is worth two in the leg, and where baked beans are two for a quarter (if you are lucky enough to get a seat in the hushery). He says that the oily lads and lassies are not so particular as to the kind and the age of the music served with their dances so he gives them the new ones such as "Yes Sir, That's My Baby," "Memphis Blues" and some more of the good ones.

When the sun shines, Chuck plays other grafts and trades assisted by none other than Happy Davy of Sweetwater, who shares his bunk with him. "Just as soon as I accumulate a small fortune in this Greasy Klondike," says Chuck, "I'm coming back to Tech."

NEW SET PLANNED FOR

With the constant need of the dramatic room by various organizations of the college, Miss Ruth Pirtle, director of dramatics and public speaking at the college is at work on the designing of a new stage set for the room. The class in dramatic technique, designing sets for the room and one will be submitted in the near future. Each student is designing a set.

Dramatics are taking an important place in the life of the college and more stress is to be laid on such activities, according to the plans of the officials of the college.

A small boll-weevil lays a dozen eggs at a time, the biology stude discovers. The aggies are going to tell the hens at the poultry plant about it.
